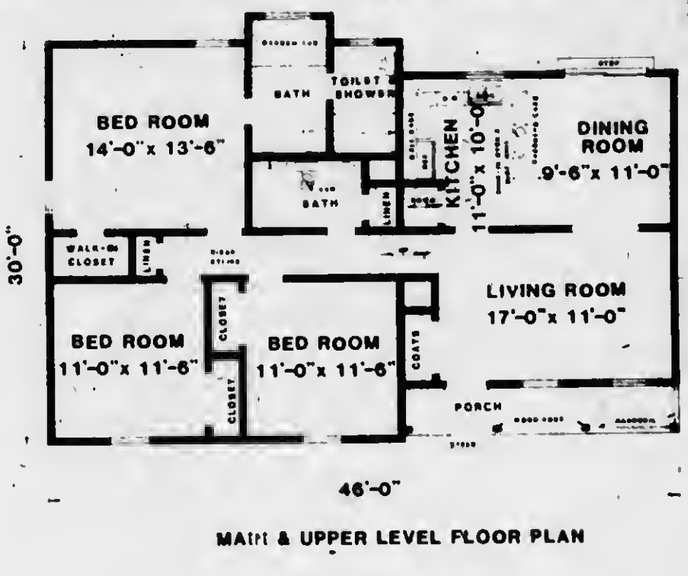
Luxury Features In A Small Economical Home

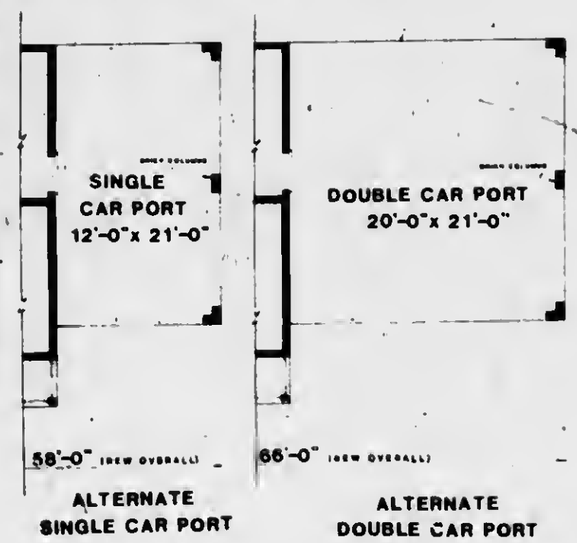
MULTI-LEVEL PLAN OFFERS MANY ALTERNATE CHOICES

FEATURE HOMES



© By W. D. FARMER, A.I.B.D.

A sloping lot is ideal for this plan. Entrance is to the family area of the home where a large living room, dining room and kitchen are shown. A short flight of stairs directs you to three bedrooms and two full baths. The master bedroom boasts a large garden tub and separate commode-shower area. Two lavatories are included in this bath. The central full bath services the remaining two bedrooms, and a disappearing stair is shown to attic storage.



The lower level can be utilized for a double garage or an extra bedroom, bath, playroom and larger laundry and storage area. When rooms are finished on the lower level, a single or double carport may be built from the main level of the plan.

The ranch exterior is constructed of combined brick and horizontal siding and there is a front porch suitable for sitting.

The plan is number 286 SL. It includes 1,263 square feet on the main and upper level and an added 780 square feet totaling 2,043 square feet, if you choose to finish the lower level. This lower level space is economical to build. All W. D. Farmer plans include special construction details for energy efficiency and are guaranteed to meet FHA and VA requirements. Aluminum Nails May Save You Grief

It doesn't have to happen. But it often does. Rust from nails stains and streaks paint and ruins the work you've done such as carpentry, repairs and improvements around your home. The good news is there's an answer to this problem that costs next to nothing: aluminum nails.

Aluminum nails won't scar the beauty of paint or natural wood.

Aluminum nails are economical. You get up to three times as many nails to a pound as steel nails. Made of special high strength alloys, aluminum nails provide all of the necessary strength for recommended applications. They come in a complete range of sizes, with unique gripping designs not available in steel nails.

Aluminum alloy nails may save you work, time and money in the long run. According to the Aluminum Association, they won't ever rust away. They also won't stain or leave unsightly rust streaks. This eliminates the need to repaint—saving you money on repainting costs. They won't discolor natural redwood, cedar or cypress. You can prepaint the nails to match your siding color or paint over them later. Should you ever decide to move into a new home, aluminum nails will show a prospective buyer your concern for long-lasting value.

For a free brochure, "Pound For Pound," write to the Aluminum Association, 900 19th St., NW., Dept N, Washington, D.C. 20006.

Beef Stew Provides No-Watch Cooking

A savory stew simmering on the range provides a pleasing aroma on a cold winter day. And once you put together all the ingredients it practically cooks itself in a little over two hours. That gives you plenty of time to relax, handle household tasks or get some extra work done.

To prepare European-Inspired Hunter's Stew simmer flavorful beef in a red wine vinegar and garlic flavored broth. Then add fresh vegetables like onion and carrot. Serve this ethnic stew as a main dish with a crusty whole grain bread. Add a mixed green salad to complete the meal. On a cold, crisp, wintery day, this delicious stew is worth the wait.

European-Inspired Hunter's Stew

- 1 1/4 pounds beef for stew, cut into 1 to 1 1/4-inch pieces
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 4 slices bacon, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1 large onion, thinly sliced
- 2 3/4 cups water
- 1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1 1/2 cups sliced carrots, cut 1/2 inch thick

Enjoy European-Inspired Hunter's Stew on a cold, crisp, wintery day.

Combine flour, salt and pepper; dredge beef. Cook bacon in Dutch oven until crisp; drain on absorbent paper and reserve. Brown onion in drippings 3 to 4 minutes. Remove with slotted spoon to small bowl; reserve. Brown beef in remaining drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water, vinegar, garlic and bouillon cube. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1 1/2 hours. Add carrots and continue cooking, covered, 40 minutes. Add reserved onion and continue cooking 10 minutes or until beef and vegetables are tender. Stir in reserved bacon. 4 servings. 486 calories per serving.

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Decorate A New Home At The Old Address

"If only walls could talk," people say. And sometimes they do. They seem to say that a room is larger than it really is, or brighter or cozier. It's a fact—choosing new wallcoverings can be an inexpensive way to give your home a new look.

Lighter, brighter colors tend to open up a room and make it look larger, decorating experts agree. Deeper colors can offer a cozy retreat or add drama. Borders and fabrics help create interesting accents.

Whatever wallcovering you choose, your home decorating venture needn't be expensive when you buy direct from the wallpaper supplier. Using the mail order service offered by Priced-Rite Wallcoverings, retail costs can be drastically reduced to wholesale-direct prices. The service offers over 250,000 brand name patterns, many with coordinating borders and fabrics. All orders are shipped in a matter of days. For ordering information, call toll-free: 1-800-634-6330, ext. 42, with the brand name, book name, pattern and page number.

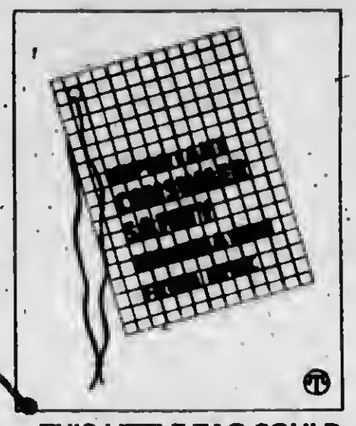
Fire Safety at Home a Do-It-Yourself Project



In an effort to lower the number of fires and fire losses, American industries have been called upon to try to fireproof everything in the home. Makers of mattresses, carpeting, draperies and children's sleepwear, for example, have dramatically altered their products.

So, too have manufacturers of upholstered furniture who have spent the past 12 years looking for ways to make their product more resistant to burning cigarettes. Only 2% of home fires start in upholstery. It is interesting to note that 80% of these fires, at least, are preventable. Data shows that 80% of fires in upholstered furniture are started by burning cigarettes abandoned by smokers who generally are sleepy or affected by alcohol, recreational drugs, or medication.

The "safer" upholstered furniture carries a hangtag that states: IMPORTANT CONSUMER SAFETY INFORMATION FROM UFAC. UFAC, the group of industry leaders who have spearheaded this effort, also warn consumers on the hangtag to: REMEMBER TO PRACTICE CAREFUL SMOKING HABITS. FOR EARLY WARNING, EQUIP YOUR HOME WITH PROPERLY PLACED SMOKE DETECTORS AND MAINTAIN THEM REGULARLY.

Most fire losses. . . loved ones, irreplaceable personal and family treasures, homes, increased insurance rates. . . can be avoided.

MAKE SAFETY FROM FIRE YOUR NUMBER ONE DO-IT-YOURSELF PROJECT.

THIS LITTLE TAG COULD SAVE YOUR LIFE.

ENTERTAINING IDEAS

Helpful Household Hints

By Nancy Beaham

Relatives coming for a visit to your home have a tendency to strike a resounding note of fear among even the bravest of single people. Inevitably you will find yourself playing host to your family, including Aunt Kate. Now what do you do?

Nancy Beaham

Whatever you do, you'll probably want to give your house the once-over before your guests arrive and do the same. Actually, entertaining is a perfect excuse to clean whatever you've been avoiding since last year. And you know how your Aunt Kate hates a messy place! On behalf of the Faultless Starch/Bon Ami Company, I offer these easy tips to help single people with cleaning.

If you're playing host or hostess, it's a fair bet that you'll be spending a good amount of time in the kitchen, whipping up wonderful foods and making spectacular messes. Has the non-stick cookware Aunt Kate gave you lost its finish? Before she arrives, boil a solution of 2 tablespoons of baking soda, 1/2 cup of liquid bleach and 1 cup of water. Wash, rinse and then recondition the cookware by lightly rubbing it with vegetable oil. It should be as good as new when Aunt Kate rings the doorbell.

Cigarette burns in wood furniture can be treated with wax or oil-based polish. Or a burn can be blended in by rubbing it with a soft cloth and a dab of mayonnaise. Do you remember telling the guests at your last party to "just put your drinks on that magazine on the table?" Now, several pages of the magazine seem to be a permanent reminder of that evening, firmly glued to the wood finish. Don't worry, though, they can be removed with salad oil. Pour a few drops at a time on the spot and let them sit for a few minutes. Rub with a soft cloth and polish as usual.

Be sure to clean the bathroom, too. You know Aunt Kate will be pulling back the shower curtain to check your bathtub. To clean the porcelain and shower tiles, use mildly abrasive Bon Ami cleanser. Bon Ami won't scratch the porcelain's delicate finish, but it will eliminate bathtub rings. To remove hard water deposits from fiberglass, sprinkle the cleanser on a wet sponge. Gently rub and rinse with clean water.

Thanks to these easy household cleaning tips, you will be ready for your relatives. Now relax and enjoy your visit, especially with dear Aunt Kate.

For a free booklet of more than 30 cleaning tips, write to: The Faultless Starch/Bon Ami Company, 1025 West 8th Street, Kansas City, MO, 64101, and ask for the booklet, "When You Care About What You're Cleaning."

Hints for Homemakers

A New Way to Shower

Making a splash with homeowners: energy-saving hand-held showers that can keep you from feeling all wet when you get your water utility bills. What's more, many homemakers have discovered what Europeans have long known—that hand-held showers:

Hand-held showers make bathing baby easier for all.

- Are a more pleasurable and practical way to shower. You can change spray settings to massage tense muscles. Use the attachment to shampoo your hair—or just use it to shower while keeping your hair dry.
- Are great for bathing baby or family pets.
- Make it easy to water your plants.
- Can be used to clean the tub.
- Save money and energy because you use less water and it doesn't have to be as hot.

Personal care showers that are popular with many families are the Great Vibrations models. Easy fingertip control lets you switch sprays instantly. The convenient "hold" position temporarily stops the action and helps to save water.

Relaxing, refreshing and very verstile: hand-held showers may be able to pick you up when you're feeling all washed out. They're at local home centers and hardware stores.

Cooking Up a Kitchen That "Works"

Almost 7 million homeowners this year will be looking at their kitchens more critically than ever before, as they gear up for remodeling or building a new home, according to industry statistics. They'll be looking at overall design elements to make the most of their space, and if they're smart, they'll be looking at the space-saving accessories available in today's kitchen cabinets.

Since kitchen planning and design is something most people do only a few times in a lifetime, the kitchen design experts at Riviera Cabinets, one of the nation's leading cabinet manufacturers, offer these "tips of the trade" in selecting cabinet accessories for maximum space utilization:

- Be sure to include assorted drawer sizes: narrow and shallow for silverware and utensils, wide and shallow for placemats, narrow and deep for bakery goods.
- Be on the lookout for wasted space in corners: select lazy susans that offer both useable storage and convenience.
- Include a tall, narrow base cabinet for storing cookie sheets and serving trays.
- If you "stock up" on canned goods, plan on incorporating at least one pantry unit for easy, visible storage.
- Sliding shelves in base cabinets can provide access to hard-to-reach space, and can even double as a "pantry" if you don't have room for an actual pantry unit.
- Glass-front doors are dramatic and different, but only if you display items neatly, and aren't cramped for space. Think twice before including these expensive "extras."
- Make sure all shelves are adjustable, and order extra shelves in case your storage needs change in time.

If Heat Pumps Aren't That Efficient, Why Is The Gas Company So Worried?

It isn't as if we're trying to put the gas company out of business.

On the contrary, gas heat is very important in northern Illinois.

The problem is that gas furnaces are wasteful. Especially when winter temperatures climb above 32 degrees. And during the northern Illinois heating season, temperatures are above freezing nearly two-thirds of the time.

Fortunately, that's when a heat pump added to your furnace really shines.

When outdoor temperatures are above 32 degrees, the electric heat pump can be three times as efficient as the best furnace.

The reason is that heat pumps heat by collecting warmth from the outside air and pumping it inside. No matter how cold it gets, there's always some warmth in the air. Heat pumps just move it from one place to another.

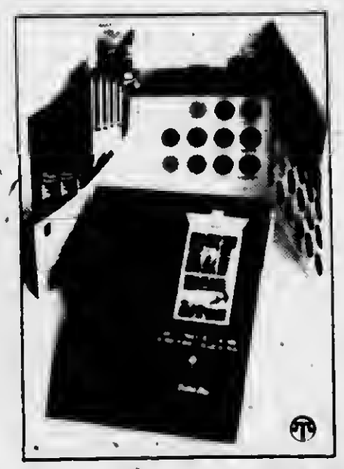
In the summer, the heat pump reverses itself, moving warm air from the inside out.

Presto. It's a whole-house air conditioner.

Try that with a gas furnace sometime.

Still, good as a heat pump may be, when it's extemely cold outside, your furnace is a pretty effective source of heat.

That makes the most efficient system a dual fuel system. A furnace for very cold days. A heat pump for cold, warm and very warm days.



Now how can the gas company be upset about that?

New Brochure Helps Pick Authentic Colors

Do your walls boast a rosy outlook—or do they have the blues? Picking the proper paint colors for authentic home restoring, renovating or redecorating can be easy with the help of a colorful new brochure.

The new eight-page brochure shows documented uses of 72 authentic colors over a 200-year period of American history. The Authentic Colors of Historic Charleston palette is the result of three years of extensive research by Dutch Boy Paints in Charleston, South Carolina. The city of Charleston was chosen for the research and color palette name because of its perseverance through some of the most difficult episodes in American history—tropical storms, earthquakes, Civil War shelling. After each catastrophe, Charleston shored up and rebuilt. Today, it's one of the few cities in the U.S. where five most popular architectural styles come together in such close proximity.

The handy new brochure details which of the restoration colors in the palette are appropriate for certain types of use. For example, by using the brochure as a guide, homeowners will know Classical Deep Mauve is most appropriate for interior woodwork of Classical Revival architecture, while Walled Garden Brick is appropriate for several interior and exterior uses in Georgian/Colonial, Federal and Classical Revival styles.

Proceeds from the sale of the brochure are donated to the Historic Charleston Foundation to further restoration projects in Charleston. For a copy, send $3.00 to: Dutch Boy, P.O. Box 15178, Cleveland, Ohio 44115.

The Oak Lawn Kiwanis recently had as their speaker Chief of Police, Frank Gilbert. Chief Gilbert has been in office for one year and talked on the functions of the Oak Lawn Police Department, future plans of the new safety building that will be constructed, and the number of accidents and arrests,. comparing figures between 1986 and 1987. Chief Gilbert stated that one of his men, like himself, has completed training at the FBI Academy. The meeting concluded with a question and answer period from which the members of the Kiwanis learned about our laws and rights as citizens of the Village of Oak Lawn.

Ballots made of broken pottery were used by the citizens of Ancient Athens to get rid of unpopular politicians. Whenever 6000 or more were cast, the official was sent into exile for 10 years.

Citicorp savings leading residential mortgage lender in Illinois

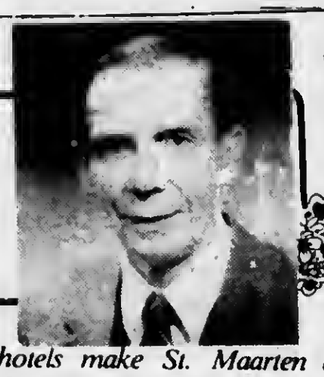
Citicorp Savings of Illinois, since first breaking onto the Chicago financial scene in 1984, has captured the top spot in the residential mortgage-lending market.

Among a fragmented market of more than 400 competitors, Citicorp has maintained a leadership position for more than three years and now holds more than 10 percent of the $9 billion Chicgao home financing market.

"By providing cust omers with superior service," said Loren Smith, chairman of Citicorp Savings,"we were able to boost loan volume nearly 62 precent from 1984 to 1986. With the introduction of innovative produets, such as Mortgage Power, we've gained an even stronger foothold in this important market."

To Citicorp Savings, superior mortgage service means offering consumers fast loan approval, streamlined processing with less paperwork, special relocation assistance and potential savings on service charges. Consumers also have a wide variety of loan options to choose from, including jumbo loans for larger purchases, bridge loans that help buyers apply current home equity towards a new home, and adjustable rate mortgages that make owning a home more affordable.

An extensive branch network, combined with four mortgage sales offiees and 14 Mortgage Centers, has also contributed to Citicorp's suecess, providing consumers and real estate brokers with easy access to Citicorp's mortgage specialists.



Further, Citicorp Savings of Illinois has earned consumers' confidence based on the financial stability and credibility of the Citicorp-Citibank name. "Consumers and brokers know that they can trust us," said Smith. "They know that we have an excellent national reputation as a knowledgeable mortgage provider with the financial strength of a global institution."

Consumers also choose Citicorp Savings because it provides one-stop-shopping convenience. "Many of our mortgage customers become checking, savings and IRA customers," said Smith. "It's the convience of bundling all their financial services under one roof that keeps our customers coming back."

Citicorp Savings of Illinois operates 60 branches throughout the state, including 46 in the Chicago area. With assets of $5.6 billion, it is one of the state's leading consumer financial institutions.

Peak season in the Caribbean always results in a shortage of air seats and hotel space so early reservations are essentials. Although many people find it difficult to plan more than a month or two ahead, it's to your advantage to give us as much lead time as possible.

Airline seats often fail to keep pace with demand to some of the more popular destinations, resulting in a change of dates or simply disappointment. Some resorts are always booked a year ahead, as difficult as that might be for some of you to believe, and the air space goes even faster. So, if you've been thinking about a vacation in the Caribbean or Mexico, this is the time to make your reservations.

St. Maarten is always a very popular island and is always heavily booked. Beautiful beaches, gambling, good duty free shopping, lots of sightseeing and excellent hotels make St. Maarten a favorite with many people.

Anitgua a scenic island, also offers gambling, fine hotels, good shopping and great beaches. There are lots of packages which include air fare, transfers and hotel accommodations, but you'll still find last minute reservations difficult to obtain.

There's Aruba, with beautiful beaches, water sports and gambling, Barbados, where many hotels offer fully equipped kitchens for those who prefer housekeeping facilities or just like to have a kitchen for snacks and lunch, Puerto Rico, where night life never stops, and dozens of other places to spend a winter vacation. Don't forget St. Thomas, St. Croix, St. Lucia, Bonaire, Jamaica, St. Kitts or the Cayman Islands.

Above all, don't forget to make your reservations early and avoid disappointment. Call us now; anticipation is half the fun!

Savings and loan report growth

Southwest Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago reported record growth for year-end 1987.

"Asset, savings, mortgage, and net-worth increases were among the highest in Southwest Federal Savings 105 year history," stated Richard E. Webber, President.

The Association reported the following year-end results-assets grew 15.3% to an all time high of $206.2 million while net savings grew nearly $14 million-an increase of 27.8%. Southwest Federal also reported after-tax income of over $3.1 million which increased the Association's net-worth to a record high $15.9 million.

"Southwest Federal Savings net-worth is now 9.94% of savings balances which is substantially more than the amount required by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board," stated Webber.

It was also reported by National Thrift News, a trade publication which evaluates thrift institutions throughout the United States, that Southwest Federal is once again a "High Performance" association ranking it among the top 10% of all savings and loans in the United States that are in the same asset group.

Southwest Federal now operates four offices, including its' new Oak Lawn office at 9640 S. Pulaski Road, the Main Office at 3525 W. 63rd Street in Chicago, the Hometown branch at 4602 Southwest Highway, and the Manor Division at 5830 West 35th St. in Cicero.

PUBLISHER'S PEN

These next two weeks will be an exciting time for me when I campaign for Robert Dole for President. Recently, I have been asked why would I be as brazen as to endorse a candidate. My reply was that as Publisher I am not endorsing any candidate but that I have given the freedom to use my journalistic advantages for the personal candidate of my chose. Robert Dole, I feel will support the ideals and services which will help all the people in America. He is more concerned about the deficit of this country than any other Republican candidate. The democrats have been saying it all along, "let's control the deficit in this country and help our children of tomorrow have a better place to live." I just happen to be Republican because I find that this is the best vehicle for translating my ideas into a government for the people, by the people. I also believe that sound money management will be our goal with Dole.

At this time we at Village View Publications would like to announce that we are now a weekly newspaper serving Oak Lawn and neighboring suburbs. We believe in the economic slump, more people will want to read the GOOD NEWS Village View has to offer the community. As policy in the past, we will not endorse any candidate nor will we exploit our idea or ideas within the community.

Recently we heard that many of our friends and associates have had sorrow in their life. It is at this time we would like to extend our deepest sympathy to Alice Ihrig whose beloved mother had passed after a long illness. Also a fellow board member, Gracc O'Connor whose husband passed away following a lengthy illness.

Condolences to the family of Thomas Fitzgerald. Tom was the husband of our former salesperson Georgean Fitzgerald.

Get well wishes are in order for our dear friend Jose Gallardo. Jose underwent surgury and told me that he will be fine and up dancing with me soon. Jose is somewhere in the 80's, and that we know because he said he rode with Pancho Via.

Sporting a cast on her ankle is Linda Gray of Oak Lawn. Linda said, "she sure does sympathize with people who have broken their ankle. It sure hurts. Of course tearing tendons and ligaments doesn't help ease the pain.

Lee Daniels introduces Elizabeth Dole

Elizabeth Dole

Friends of Lee Daniels support Elizabeth Dole

Friends of Lee Daniels, approximately 1000 strong, supported the Illinois House Minority for Lee's annual fundraiser.

Elizabeth Dole, guest speaker, spoke in behalf of her husband Robert Dole for support he will give to human service programs.

"He knowns only too well of the unfortunate circumstances that can take over our lives. Robert Dole is a strong leader and a leader who will be good for our country," stated Mrs. Dole.

Elizabeth's sense of humor with a southern drawl will more than likely win support in the South for Robert Dole. Two individuals who are not afraid to voice their opinions on human interests are Mr. & Mrs. Dole. Is America ready for such frankness?

"Your vote in the Primary March 15th is most crucial," says Elizabeth Dole. "We need to elect our delegates for Dole in order to receive the nomination for President. Let's support our delegates for Dole and win in Illinois."

McCarthy opens headquarters

Joseph J. McCarthy, a family therapist in private practice and Supervisor of Worth Township, a Republican candidate for the United States House of Representatives in the Third Congressional District, hosted a grand opening of his headquarters, 6200 West 95th Street, Oak Lawn, on February 14.

McCarthy is a graduate of Loyola University. He has served in various school districts as a teacher, administrator, and also several universities as an adjunct professor along with his practice of family therapy, sexual dysfunction and substance abuse therapy.

McCarthy's views are conservative in nature. His major concerns are: education, economy, and tax reform. McCarthy feels the family unit is the major concern for the future of our country.

His great concern, is the aquisition of small business government contracts in the Third Congressional District.

McCarthy feels that through enhancement in the Medicare Program, Senior Citizens could receive adequate reimbursement which creates more spending power and still provide the necessary medical and catastrophic coverage for the eldery.

McCarthy sees the lack of adequate Congressional representation as a great concern and will present an alternate program on the varied and important areas facing the young and the old in the Third Congressional District.

Let's help our seniors

The Senior Citizens in this country have done their bit for America. With fighting foreign wars... working for a living.. raising children and educating them, and giving their all for America. Senior Citizens are the "Heroes" of yesterday.

These seniors should be treated with the greatest respect. They should never be turned down for a job, or a position because of their age.

If some of the "boys" in Washington are millionaires, and some politicians can give hundreds of millions of dollars to foreign countries; yes, our tax payment money, then some politicians can start givingus some of the benefits of this country. I mean money, and benefits, and opportunities, and security in our old age. Let's start giving hundreds of millions of dollars to the "SENIOR CITIZENS IN AMERICA."

Sincerely,
John Dillon /s/

Village Views

Sports Feedback

Dear Editor:

Village View Publications distributed a magazine highlighting the sports programs at Richards and Oak Lawn Community High School.

The High School Highlights was a result of Annette Dixon's idea to have business and education work together on a project that would benefit both the educational community and the newspaper. Oak Lawn Community High School students that volunteered to work on the sports magazine were able to get on-the-job training in the various aspects of the publishing business. By their efforts the sports magazine became a reality and through the ads from local businesses, the High School Highlights was made available to our students and members of the community.

This publication helped to recognize the dedication of the men and women who coach and the achievements of boys and girls who have participated in our athletic programs. Our thanks to Village View Publications for helping us spread the good news about the students and staff of OLCHS.

Sincerely,
Dominick A. Frigo
Superintendent

Sports Feedback

Dear Editor:

I want to express my appreciation to the Village View for taking the initiative to recognize High School sports in the Oak Lawn Community.

Athletic competition is an important dimension of a high school education. It instills discipline, commitment and loyalty among athletes and between athletes, coaches and their school.

Sports provide the real opportunity for many young people to learn a leisure activity that can provide them with an opportunity to promote their own physical and mental fitness for many years in the future.

Perhaps this sports magazine can take an appropriate step in recognizing and promoting sports as a very worthwhile high school activity. I applaud your efforts to recognize our youth who have stepped forward to take an active part in high school sports.

Sincerely,
Romayne Baker

Support Superconducting Super Collider

Dear Editor:

Rarely does the entire Illinois Congressional Delegation write a letter to the editor, but we feel strongly that Illinois citizens should be proud of our state's selection as one of the "best qualified" sites for the Superconducting Super Collider (SSC) being planned by the Federal government to further probe the mysteries of high energy physics.

Illinois ranks at the top in the SSC selection process because of the combined efforts and hard work of our scientific community, the Illinois Congressional Delegation, Governor Jim Thompson, the Illinois General Assembly, and many local public officials. Our six competitors are Arizona, Colorado, Michigan, North Carolina, Tennessee, and Texas.

Why are we so hopeful that the Super Collider will be built in Illinois, when we allready have the Fermi National Laboratory at Batavia--the world's largest particle accelerator in operation today? The answer is simple: Fermilab and the Super Collider will compliment each other, at a sizeable savings to the taxpayer.

We are mindful that Fermilab will remain at the forefront of research until the SSC comes on line. In the meantime, it is our job to convince the decision-makers of the logic of using Fermilab as the injector facility for the Super Collider. In other words, what we in Illinois are proposing is to take an allready outstanding science facility in Illinois and build on it and the existing infrastructure as we enter this next stage of research in high energy physics. In the process of doing this, we can save the taxpayers a minimum of $500 million, which would have to be spent to duplicate Fermilab in any other state.

The Super Collider is the United States' key to unlocking the mysteries of high energy physics. Moving up to this next level to research will allow us to continue to build on the scientific gains we've allready made. Building the SSC will also reap benefits in superconductivity, magnet design, computer analysis and a broad range of other scientific and technlogical spin -offs. Building the SSC in the United States will mean that gains from our scientific discoveries will pay off in new jobs and industries, allowing us to keep our competitive edge in world trade.

The Europeans and the Soviets are busy developing their own high energy colliders which will surpass anything we now have in America. We cannot, and must not squander our lead in scientific research to foreign competition by delaying construction of the SSC.

Aside from the pure scientific discoveries generated by high energy physics research, there is a human side to the information gleaned by the experts who conduct this research. Their efforts have brought us radio, television, and nuclear medicine.

Closer to home, the research at Fermilab during the last 20 years has laid the foundation for the superconductivity field--which itself has now developed into a $250 millon a year industry in our country. Superconductivity technology has many potential applications, such as cheaper electric transmission line costs, high speed rail transport, and separation of metals from garbage.

Fermilab has been a principal contributor to the medical field and the treatment of cancer. Hundreds of patients have been treated for cancer at the Fermilab neutron cancer therapy facility. Sophisticated imaging techniques, including the Magnetic Resonance Imaging device (MRI), have resulted in part from work at Fermilab. The MRI is used to determine the precise size and location of tumors, and is an excellent diagnostic tool for multiple sclerosis. CAT scanners and the MRI have increased the use of proton therapy in the treatment of tumors.

On the immediate practical side, more than 8,000 jobs in construction, manufacturing, services and retail trade will be generated with the construction of the SSC. Once it is in operation, approximately 3,000 scientists and staff will be needed. State and local tax bases will increase due to the revenue generated by the additional work force. In addition, Illinois' many universities and schools will benefit from the presence of the SSC in our state, offering advantages to students and faculties in the field of scientific research.

In summary, the Superconducting Super Collider is important to our state of Illinois and our country. The project will bring worldwide prestige to the United States, as well as economic and educational benefits to Illinois.

Illinois and the United States are the world leaders in particle accelerator research. We in the Illinois Congressional Delegation are determined to keep that partnership intact - and to keep it here at home in Illinois where it logically and reasonably belongs.

Our fellow citizens can be surc that the SSC will remain a top priority for all of us, and that we in the Illinois Congressiona! Delegation will do everything possible in the months ahead to see that our state is ultimately chosen as the site of this largest scientific research project ever built. New scientific frontiers await, and we in Illinois must be prepared to do our part to conquer those frontiers.

How do you like school?

Tom Adcock said, "It's O.K., sometimes it's annoying."

Gina, how do you like school and Mr. Lonosky? "It's fine, not the greatest. Mr. Lonosky is O.K. and the teachers could do some improving."

The teachers don't try to hurt you just to teach you a lesson, they are just diseiplining you for your own good.

Tom Sealion on the other hand hates school. He wants to be in 7-2 (7-2 is another section of the seventh grade) with all his friends).

But, I know all kids in Tobin want more fun stuff such as school danees, parties, and more freetime. Students of Tobin also want less homework and the right to ehew gum and eandy in elass because it doesn't affeet the learning process.

federal shortages to local governments.

That our local governments can no longer count on our share of federal funding is by now old news. The federal shortfall, however, is exacerbated by local government's unwillingness or inability to fairly tax and collect from its own revenue base.

The revenue cupboard is bare in part because of outmoded collection processes. One county ordinance opens up loopholes so that influential property owners can slide by for years without paying their fair share of taxes. Yes, it' also a fact that political insiders and politicians pressure local tax agencies to delay and write off collections, lowball assessments, and routinely grant hefty assessment reductions on appeal.

Ethics in government is more than pious sloganeering; it's a fiscal issue that affects the taxpayer. Local government, for example, lost millions of dollars in the 1976-81 Board of Appeals scandal that resulted in convictions for 25 officials and tax lawyers.

Until the slack in the system is tightened up, local political leaders should be held accountable for revenue shortages. Too often all we get is a cry of "federal shortfall" or a painful "quick fix" of higher taxes.

Sincerely,
Jeffrey Paul Smith

Homecare an essential part of health care systems

By: Pamela L. Trost, R.N.
Personal Nursing Service

Homecare has become an essential part of the health care systems. Home is the best place to recuperate from surgical procedures, or remain during a long term condition.

Personal Nursing Service has been providing homecare since 1984. Our service is available 24 hours per day, 7 days a hours per day, 7 days per week. We have a staff member to meet every need you can identify!

Registered Nurses come to your home and evaluate your situation. Then talk with your physician and develop a plan of care which best suits your needs. The Registered Nurse will coordinate the other service members, who will form a team effort to meet your homecare needs.

"STRESSFULLNESS" (Cassette Tape)

BY JACKI MARI $7.95

Everyone goes through stressful times, but there is a way to control and overcome it. First we have to learn to recognize it when it is destroying our happiness. Some of the causes for stressfulness could be financial problems, love problems, dealing with children, parents, bosses and friends...job related problems...medical problems...the list is endless and it is different for each person.

Jacki's tape on STRESSFULNESS allows the individual person to identify what is going on inside them...then find there way out of this crippling mental-emotional anxiety, in the privacy of their own environment. There are no easy answers to life's problems , therefore, this is not a one-time LISTENING, but should be played until the person has dealt with the stressfulness effectively. IT WORKS!

We specialize in books & tapes on Self-Help and Metaphysics, and sell a wide variety of QUARTZ CYSTALS. We sell all of JACKI MARI's books and tapes and will mail them if you can't come in to the shop. Call 636-2233 for information.

Will Your Auto Dealer Take You for a Ride?

By Arthur Milton

It's difficult enough to buy your wheels from a used or new car salesman.

You always wonder: Am I getting the car of my choice at the right price?

The main concern is not only the amount of interest you will be paying over the length of the loan, but are you buying extras that you really don't need, don't want and can't afford.

I am talking specifically about credit life insurance or credit disability insurance.

Credit life insurance is a racket, insulting the intelligence of the American consumer. It is nothing but high-cost term insurance, decreasing as does your automobile loan, with a prohibitive premium added to the total amount of your loan.

To add insult to injury, the borrowing consumer winds up paying high interest on the high premium, which makes it even more ridiculous.

Unlike the terrible abuses of whole life cash value insurance, credit life chicanery is an abuse of term life insurance, selling the coverage at rates inflated four to ten times the cost of term insurance. Importantly, the rates in many instances are even higher than whole life cash value life insurance.

The cost can run into hundreds of unnecessary dollars. Isn't it awful that I must indict life insurance companies and the banks and finance companies that serve as vendors—and who get the bigger share of the ripoff profit?

The gullible borrower who consents to having his or her loan insured by credit life insurance doesn't know that banks and finance companies often deliberately purchase the most expensive credit life insurance they can find. They pass the costs, of course, on to their borrowers because that inflates their commissions, and gives them bigger premiums to charge high interest on.

If you happen to be in the "showroom" and you are told by the salesman that you must take this credit life insurance, don't believe it.

It's a ripoff and you don't need it if you have adequately protected your family with low-cost term insurance.

Well, here it is again, where a little education on how to spend your hard-earned dollars can reap big rewards. Getting a dollar's value for a dollar spent can be your key to financial independence.

Arthur Milton, a consumerist with 43 years experience in the life insurance industry, is the author of 14 books, including "How Your Life Insurance Policies Rob You."

Fluid Maintenance Essential

You shouldn't drink and drive—but you should buy your car a drink now and then. Checking under the hood saves money and trouble. A good schedule:

- Radiator coolant—Monthly. To fill, winter or summer, add a 50-50 mixture of water and anti-freeze, which contains rust inhibitors and enables your air conditioner to work properly. Change radiator fluid at least once every two years to preserve anti-rust ability.
- Windshield-washer fluid—Twice a month, more often in bad weather. Good fluids include a cleanser and anti-freeze.
- Engine oil—Every third gasoline fill-up. Add or change as needed. Most cars now call for 5W-30 viscosity (flowability) for general all-weather driving. Providing superior protection over a wider range of temperatures are modern synthetics like Mobil 1; they're made from a few pure chemical "building blocks" chosen for lubricating excellence—instead of being refined from thousands of hydrocarbons that work together more or less.
- Monthly—Battery water (if your battery is unsealed, allowing refilling), and fluids for automatic transmission, power-steering, brakes.

CONSUMER CORNER

Life Insurance—How To Shop For It

Life insurance consumers today are confronted with more choices than ever before. However, shopping for the right life insurance can be much easier if a few simple guidelines are followed. Here's a helpful shopper's guide to tell you whether you need life insurance, what's available, and how much you need.

First, who needs life insurance? The principal reason to buy life insurance is to provide an income for your dependents. Historically, life insurance has been sold as a man's product but today, women working both in and out of the home also need insurance protection. In addition to protecting your dependents, life insurance can also be used to accumulate savings for retirement or other purposes.

How much is enough? Obviously that's up to each individual family, but a recent survey showed almost 40 percent of American households had less than $50,000 of coverage. It is best to check with your insurance agent to determine how much is enough.

What's available?

There are essentially two types of insurance—term or temporary insurance and permanent or whole life insurance. Term insurance provides pure death benefit protection. It builds no cash value. Whole life combines death benefit protection and savings accumulation.

One form of whole life insurance that can be attractive is called universal life. According to David E. McPherson, Executive Vice President of Allstate Life Insurance Company, universal life is a flexible life insurance policy that combines permanent protection with a tax favored cash value or savings accumulation fund. The savings accumulation fund is credited with an interest rate which is usually greater than current money market rates. The interest credited is not taxed unless funds are withdrawn before death.

Choosing the right life insurance for your family needn't be confusing. By following a few basic rules and working closely with your insurance agent you can make the sensible choice.

BEWARE OF THESE FINANCIAL FALLACIES

Did you sell all your stocks because of the recent panic on Wall Street? According to one report, you're not as likely to make as much money over your lifetime as the people who held on to their stocks.

The report was based on two different studies done this year by professors at a leading Canadian University. Their figures show that the individual who buys good stocks and holds them over his lifetime is likely to make more money than the individual who tries to sell at every high point and get back in at the bottom.

The professors claim that although the theory of buying low and selling high is a good one, the problem is that you would have to pick these points precisely and be right 80 percent of the time to equal the record of the person who just bought and held. That's why many investors have started their own investment club. They know that investing regularly, usually once a month in carefully selected companies, can be profitable. Many have built substantial supplemental retirement accounts. For a free brochure with more information, write: Investment Clubs, P.O. Box 220, Royal Oak, MI 48068.

Warning: Panic Can Be Dangerous to Your Financial Health

After the October crash, it may seem like everyone has sold their stocks and quit investing. Many investors, however, were glad that stocks were made available at bargain prices. According to the National Association of Investors—a non-profit, volunteer organization that offers stock installment purchase plans—these investors are the ones who buy stocks every month on an installment plan, regardless of whether the stock is going up or down. When the breaks happen, they get more shares for their money. They continue to invest regularly for a five-, ten-year or longer period, and often see a fall in the market and how the investment multiplies again when the market is strong.

KIWANIS GOOD DEEDS TOP $73.5 MILLION

As Kiwanis clubs mark the community-service organization's 73rd anniversary on January 21, Kiwanians have something special to celebrate. During the past year, Kiwanis clubs raised and spent more than $73.5 million on service activities.

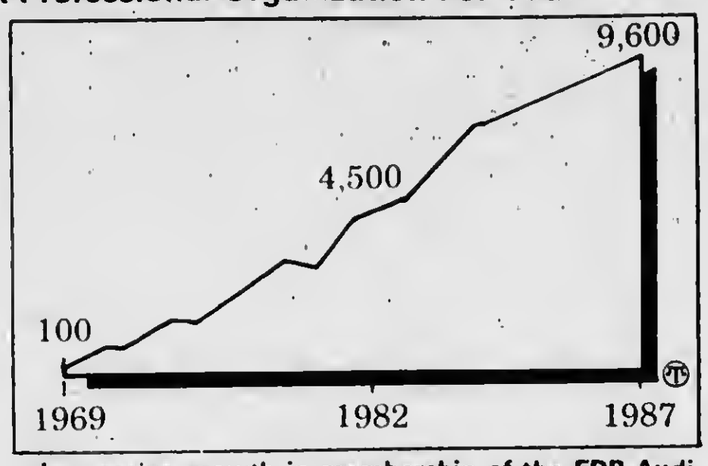
"Achieving the $73.5 million mark is very gratifying," said Anton J. Kaiser, president of Kiwanis International. "But money alone can't measure the full extent of Kiwanis service. Our members also contributed more than 22 million hours of personal time as volunteers. You can't put a price tag on that kind of personal involvement."

The first Kiwanis club was founded in Detroit, Michigan, in 1915. The distinctive name was coined from an American-Indian language of the Detroit-area and means, approximately, "we get together." Today the service organization numbers more than 8,400 clubs with 315,000 members in 71 nations.

"Any unmet need can be the focus of a Kiwanis service project," said Kaiser. But the common emphasis among Kiwanis clubs is service to youth, especially underprivileged children.

Kiwanis clubs are sometimes thought to be business organizations, but that is a misconception according to Kaiser.

"Many Kiwanis members come from the local business community," Kaiser said. "But we also have teachers, ministers, public officials, military officers, and quite a few retirees. In Kiwanis, the common bond isn't business, it's fellowship and a desire to serve the community."



Anton J. Kaiser
President
Kiwanis International

The $73.5 million raised by Kiwanis clubs came from a myriad of fund-raising projects, including pancake breakfasts, Peanut Day, TV auctions, fishing derbies, and light bulb sales.

"All the profits from Kiwanis fund raising go to support service activities in the community," said Kaiser. "The club's organizational expenses are covered by member dues. So when you participate in a Kiwanis fund-raiser, you know that your purchase or donation will benefit the community, not the Kiwanis club."

NEWSWORTHY TRENDS

Joining-Up: Is A Professional Organization For You?

Impressive growth in membership of the EDP Auditors Association, a worldwide group of computer control specialists.

Americans have always been joiners. But there is a trend developing in which many professionals, who want the comradeship of a social club and the career benefits that come with furthering their education, join professional organizations—which provide the combined opportunity for both.

Traditionally, professional organizations provide many benefits to members. They sponsor educational seminars, conferences and professional forums. Annual conventions or meetings offer members the opportunity to interact and take advantage of shared knowledge. Members participate in the free exchange of information about techniques, practices and problem-solving methods relative to the profession.

Frequently, the organization is a source of information on the latest developments in the field. Generally, an organization will publish journals sent to members as a benefit. It's common for the association to fund research to help the profession grow.

One of the most important benefits of joining a professional organization is the level of integrity members agree to uphold. A code of ethics is usually drawn up and followed.

Electronic data processing (EDP) auditors who want to get ahead in the field are joining the EDP Auditors Association. Members have access to seminars, conferences and professional forums on EDP-related issues. They are supplied with information on the latest developments in the field of information systems auditing.

Members learn a lot about the field just from interacting with fellow professionals at annual meetings. This year a Conference on Computer Audit, Control and Security will be held on April 10-15, in Atlanta, Georgia. The 16th Annual Conference and Membership Meeting will take place in New Orleans, Louisiana June 13-15. In addition, the title of Certified Information Systems Auditor, a prestigious designation, can be obtained by passing a rigorous certification exam.

Perhaps the most important benefit of belonging to a professional organization, such as EDPAA, is the prestige associated with it. Not only does your membership point out your dedication to the field to prospective clients or employers, it's also a designation that will impress your friends.

For free leaflets about joining the EDPAA, write to 455 E. Kehoe Blvd., Suite 106, P.O. Box 88180, Dept N, Carol Stream, IL 60188-0180. It could be your entry into a new level of career and personal growth.

Businesses Spark Movement To Regional Communities

Business leaders see companies flourish in communities like ours where working and living merge into a productive compatibility.

A good example: what's happening in Peoria.

"Playing in Peoria" back in the days of vaudeville meant performers had to please the discriminating tastes of demanding Peoria audiences. If acts were successful in Peoria, they were almost certain to be a hit in the rest of the country.

People began to think of Peoria as the ultimate "representative" area—the one metropolitan area which reflected better than any other all the many strengths and diversity of America and its people.

Today's Peoria Area is an excellent place to live and work.

Businesses are discovering that highly trained workers want to live in Peoria, and that their productivity is higher in the area.

Many first-time visitors to the Peoria Area are surprised at the natural beauty of the area. "We have seen nothing like this in our travels," wrote Father Marquette of his 1673 passage through the Peoria Area on the Illinois River, with its two lakes and surrounding bluffs and trees.

Peoria always has been a cultural center, boasting dozens of performing art groups, arts and science centers and historical landmarks.

Peoria has one of the oldest and most established symphony orchestras in the nation, its own Civic Opera and a respected Civic Ballet Company.

Lakeview Museum for the Arts and Sciences, a focal point for Peoria's cultural activity, houses an extensive collection of artwork and historical artifacts, and counts among its touring exhibits the work of Rembrandt, Rodin and Grandma Moses.

A strong commitment to education is evident in the Peoria Area. There are 12 colleges and universities within 50 miles, and two major institutions in the immediate area, Bradley University and Illinois Central College, serve more than 20,000 full- and part-time students. Eureka College, a private liberal arts school located within 20 miles, boasts such noted alumni as President Ronald Reagan.

Peoria's medical facilities are unequalled anywhere in the Midwest. Peoria is a center for innovative medical care and the medical management of severe illness or injury, transplants, medical education and research.

Peoria is fast becoming a center for the establishment of high-tech and biotechnology firms. For example, United Scanning Technologies, a firm that specializes in infrared thermography surveys to detect leakage areas, recently relocated to Peoria. Translogic Inc., a California-based manufacturer of aerospace devices, is building its first plant outside of California in Peoria's Pioneer Park complex.

The Peoria Area recently formed the Agricultural Research Development Corporation, which encourages private development and marketing of products developed at the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's Northern Regional Research Center, and will expand use of the patents into the private sector.

Free brochures about Peoria today are available from the Economic Development Council for the Peoria Area, 124 S.W. Adams Street, Peoria, Illinois 61602.

Opposition to late bar hours

By: Brian Begy

A majority of the Oak Lawn Village Board of Trustees reaffirmed their opposition to the late hours of bars and taverns. The show of force was sparked by a request by P & R Town and Country Liquors for a 4:00 a.m. license.

The owners of P & R Town and Country said a 4:00 a.m. license was necessary for them to recoup expenses in remodeling the tavern. They were unsure that they could remain profitable with only a 2:00 a.m. license.

Trustees Ron Stancik, Jay Bergamini, and Michele Collings were against the 4:00 a.m. provision of the license, "as a 4 o'clock license I have difficulties," Bergamini said. The trustees supported a 2:00 a.m. version of the license, but not a 4:00 a.m. one. "Two o'clock is late enough," said Collings.

Trustee Ed Barrow however, supported the businessmen. He sympathized with their problems in meeting their costs and supported the 4:00 a.m. provision for that reason.

Barrow supported the idea of granting the license for a limited period to determine if there would be problems. Mayor Kolb lent a measure of support by pointing out that the license would come up for renewal in one year, and a re-evaluation would be possible at that time.

Barrow felt the businessmen could be reviewed in on year and reissued the license again "until I saw you misused it".

While Barrows felt there would be no problems from P & R Town and Country Liquors, the other trustees disagreed. Trustee Stancik felt that the businessmen should prove there will be no problems and that they require a 4:00 a.m. license. When asked what specific proof was required, Stancik refused to say exactly what was necessary. "It's up to you," he told them.

Oak Lawn Recycling Contest

Trustee Jay Bergamini has introduced a contest to promote recycling in the Village of Oak Lawn.

The rules for the contest, which begins in March and lasts through June, are as follows:

The contest will be conducted during one week each month, from a list of names randomly selected. Five winners will be picked, one for each pick up day that week. On each pick up day during a selected week, Village personnel will inspect the first household on the list ina participating area. If the household inspected has placed their recycling container out for collection and the container is at least 50% full, the household is a winner.

Every winning household will receive a cash prize. The winning household from the participating area with the best percentage of recyclers will receive $300. The winners from the other areas will receive $100, $50, $25, or $0 based upon their area's percentage rating.

For contest purposes, each pick up day is considered one "area". The area with the highest percentage of households who recycle on that pick up day will determine who received the top prize of $300.

Prizes will be awarded to the winning residents by the Tin Man at a Board meeting of the succeeding month.

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

Copyright 1988 by Jacki Mari

Aries/Scorpio

You look back in time and see where you could have done better. This is a time for such reflections, and then make a plan to improve yourself, achieve your goals, etc Someone in Gemini will be there to help, if you ask!

Taurus/Libra

Although "dwelling in the past" is not good there is something back there that will resurface. Like Aries Scorpio, there is much to look at and then make changes. Remember, you are "sailing your own ship" and, you are not a "carbon copy of anyone"!

Gemini/Virgo

Your financial picture is brighter. Other people may come to you for financial help. I suggest you be totally involved with your own needs at this time. This is not selfish, it is reality in action.

Cancer

The wise men knew that a person should always approach something in two avenues; only then can they make a right choice! You will have to, and you are ready to meet new career challenges and come out on the plus side.

Leo

I give you a new thought to consider: your "true family" are those people who love you, encourage you, help you and even chastise you when you need it. This message comes clear to you soon. Health improves and so does your self-image.

Sagittarius

An Aries and a Cancer person to deal with firmly! You must speak up! You could be entrapped in a commitment that you have no business making! This includes dealing with emotional stress of someone you love.

Capricorn

Be aware that you are about to become popular, and with this comes responsibility. It appears that you will have to adjust to a new schedule, career opportunities and to having more money to spend (not a bad problem to have!).

Aquarius

You will have to deal with "domestic needs" and purchase things necessary. Check the warranties before making new purchases. A vacation time should be planned. Leo will help you if you ask.

Pisces

You feel good, look good and want to get out more. There is nothing worse than a sad face, so, don't wear one! Look back even to last year...realize how far you have come and how much more you have to offer!

OL Cab Program

The Village's subsidized cab program once again entered the spotlight as Trustee Michele Collings expressed displeasure with the program, which is currently going forward.

Under the program, the Village would provide reduced cab fare for senior citizens and the handicapped. There has been much debate and criticism from many seniors about the choice of a cab program rather than a bus. The arguments state that a bus is more economical to operate and, despite the Village subsidy, many seniors still cannot afford cab fare. Trustee Collings felt the Village should "look at a bus service" as a possible solutions.

The current version of the plan provides for a not-for-profit corporation handling the arrangements, then reimbursing the Village for costs. "These are not public dollars," stated Village Manager Richard O'Neill. The Village would, in fact be quite seperate from the not-for-profit corporation, and would not be dirctly overseeing operations. The Village and the corporation would be "seperate and distinct" according to O'Neill.

Despite this division, Trustee Jay Bergamini felt that it wasn't quite clear enough. He predicted that the Village would be the "recipients of the compliments and complaints," not the corporation.

National Safety Council News

Parents often kid about "surviving their child's teen years," but in actuality it is teenagers who are having a difficult time living through their adolescent years.

While the medical profession has made significant strides in reducing death by organic illnesses and infectious diseases among teens and young adults, natural causes are not among the top three killers of this age group. Accidents and violence are.

Tragically, the top three killers of adolescents are preventable. Accidents, homicides and suicides hold the number one, two and three spots respectively, with accidents accounting for over 50 percent of all deaths among young people.

According to the National Safety Council, during 1986, 36 percent of all teenage drivers were involved in a motor vehicle accident. The death toll was 8,500 teenage drivers. And, alcohol played a part in well over 50 percent of all teenage motor vehicle accidents.

The National Transportation and Safety Board reports that one teen is involved in an alcohol-related accident every 10 seconds. Alcohol is also a prevalent factor in teen drowning, crimes, murder, suicides and suicide attempts.

Studies show that the leading poor health and life-threatening habits teens indulge in include:

--Alcohol abuse. The average age for the first-time use is 12.5 years. More than 3 million of the 10 million alcoholics in the U.S. are teenagers.

--Drug abuse. Marijuana, because of its low cost and ready availibility, continues to be the drug most used by young people, with the exception of alcohol. However, while cocaine carries a high price tag, cracksells for about $10 for two beads, making it more affordable to teens.

--Tobacco abuse. Ninety-five percent of smokers start before the age of 20. The use of smokeless tobacco, or snuff and/or chewing tobacco, is also on the increase among the nation's young. The Illinois Department of Public Health reports that 28 percent of 11th grade males use smokeless tobacco. The average age for trying smokeless tobacco is 11.3 years.

--Poor fitness and nutrition habits, including eating disorders.

The Country Companies offer several free wellness/stress management and teen driving safety programs. For more information on scheduling one at your school or for a civic group in your area, contact the Country Companies, Community Education, at the home offices in Bloomington at (309) 557-2836.

GOP press conference held

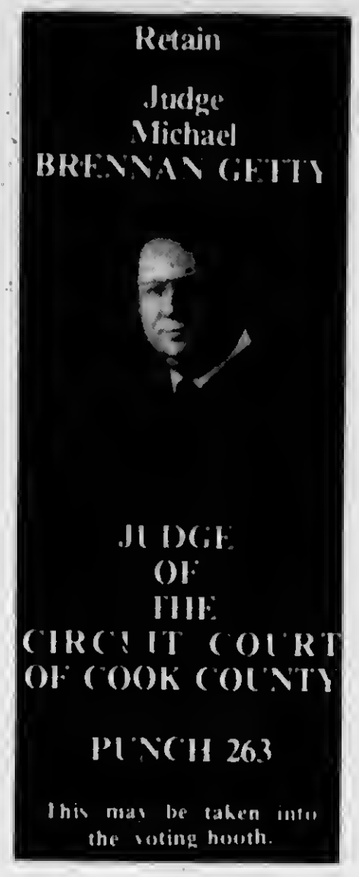
A press conference was held on March 7 for a "get out the vote" drive for the March 15th Republican Primary Election.

The candidates at the conference included Terrence W. Gainer, an uncontested candidate for State's Attorney; Bernard L. Stone, Recorder of Deeds; Jane Barnes, current State Representative for the 38th District; Don Totten, Cook County Republican Chairman; and Anne Ziekus, candidate in the Primary for State Representative for the 47th State Legislative District.

According to Terry Gainer, the reception for Republicans in the suburbs is good. "There is a different philosophy among the voters and they want to see a change," said Gainer.

Bernard Stone was the main speaker at the conference. When asked why the majority of candidates on the ticket were white males, Stone responded by saying that the candidates were chosen on the basis of qualification, rather than religion, gender, party affiliation or residence. Some of the qualifications include best campaign, best credentials and an ability to attract voters.

This is unlike the democratic party, whereas, you have to fit into certain categories.



When asked regarding race, gender, running on the county ticket, Totten responded that the Republicans slated a black candidate in 1986 and he came in last in the black wards."

Stone said that he was drawn to the Republican party because, "it's a party of inclusion and not exclusion." He has asked voters to "judge me on my qualifications, being a real estate lawyer for 35 years and a real estate broker for 36 years, he feels extremely qualified for the position.

Stone is getting more support from the Southwest Suburban papers, whereas his opponent is getting more support from the Metro papers. The metro papers seem to be getting even with me because of the vote against lights at Wrigley Field.

People believe if you use the same pillow your dog uses, you will dream what he dreams.

Pointing to a record of reducing the inventory of cases in his court by 25 percent in the last five years, Associate Judge Wayne D. Rhine, now seeks election as a full Circuit Court Judge in Cook County.

Judge Rhine says he chose to become a jurist because "the legal profession has been good to me and I felt that I could add something to the court system by utilizing the things I had learned to institute new procedures for more efficiency".

Prior to becoming a judge, Wayne Rhine practiced law for 17 years, specializing in civil litigation, criminal matters and divorce. UNDERSTANDING OUR ECONOMY

Invest on a Shoestring

Ask the average person how much you need to buy stock in one of America's major corporations and the answer you will likely get is several thousand dollars. Actually, it's more like $25 to $50. You can buy stock in many corporations by starting with just one share and continuing on an installment basis.

Actually, the practice of making small regular investments over a long period of time is one of the soundest procedures an individual can follow in building a securities account. Stock prices zoom to new highs every five or six years, and then tend to drop off for several years. They tend to be down much of the time and the person who invests regularly, good times and bad, tends to buy many bargains and have low average costs.

The National Association of Investors, a non-profit, volunteer organization of individuals, working with a number of corporations has set up a plan in which you can buy stock with small periodic payments. For information write Low Cost Investment Plan, NAIC, P.O. Box 220, Royal Oak, Michigan 48067.

Open Letter To Voters

Dear Voter:

The Primary Election will be held on Tuesday, March 15, 1988.

Harry "Bus" Yourell is a Democratic candidate for Commissioner of the Metropolitan Sanitary District. I am writing this letter to enlist your support and to encourage you to vote for Bus.

Bus is uniquely qualified for the office he seeks. He has accomplished a great deal as a public servant for the voters of Worth Township, the state, and the county.

He has serve as a State Representative for 19 years. During his service as a legislator he introduced and enacted into law many bills which have benefitted his constituents.

He has served as the Cook County Recorder of Deeds since 1984. During his term, he fully computerized the Recorder's office, and improved the administration of that office.

I know that he has the expertise and administrative capabilities to serve the citizens of our township and county as a Sanitary District Commissioner.

I urge you to support him by taking a Democratic ballot on March 15 in the Primary Election, and punching 191 for Harry "Bus" Yourell.

Letters To The Editor:

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the entire St. Laurence School-Community, I would once again like to express our gradiitude to Village View Publications for the many articles and photographs that positively accentuated both athletic and academic honors, individual and teams, attained through the school year thus far.

Publicizing the seven league championships accomplished in varsity football and hockey, winning sophomore titles in cross-country, soccer and basketball, and capturing city-wide league honors in Varsity and Junior Varsity bowling made our student-athletes, the coaching staffs, parents, alumni, and the many friends of the school very proud.

Efforts initiated by the Student Council that involved the student body render help to the less-fortunates and needy, as well as those physically and mentally impaired. Specifically; successful clothing and food drives, two blood drives to off-set critical blood shortages during the cold months, aid to the Kiwanis Club and Knights of Columbus, as well as volunteer work and fund-raising help to assist Misericordia Home, gave great satisfaction to all who worked in and supported these activities. Again, Village View Publications highlighted a side of students of which the general public is not aware.

Articles acknowledging the school's award-winning band, and the recognition of individual scholarships bestowed on students further nurtured a sense of pride.

While many of the articles and photographs expressed the obvious pronouncements of achievement, an allegorical, or less apparent sense of pervaded the litany of plaudits.

Unmentioned were the seemingly endless hours of practice, the infinite amount of time invested in planning and organizing events, patient and sacrificing parents who consistently shuttled their sons back and forth on school days weekends, with late meals being "the rule" rather than the exception, student discipline to burn the midnight oil in preperation and to complete homework assignments and study for tests.

Thus, the publicity received has a duplicitous effect that instills a deep sense of pride that is appreciated in a most substantive and meaningful way by everyone associated with St. Laurence High School, and we sincerely thank you.

Sincerely,
Robert C. Koziel
Publicity Director

NEWS FOR VETERANS

Veterans' Entitlements

Many veterans of the Vietnam War are eligible for entitlements some of them may not know about. They can expect these entitlements thanks in part to efforts by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in encouraging Congress to formulate and pass legislation.

As a result of the organization's encouragement, Congress has developed and adopted special legislation for Vietnam Vets that include:

- Priority hospital care for Agent Orange veterans.
- Expansion of the scope of the multi-million dollar Agent Orange epidemiological study to include exposure to other herbicides, chemicals, medications or environmental hazards or conditions.
- A three year extension of the Readjustment Counseling Program.
- Two extensions of time period for Vietnam Era veterans to use their GI Bill entitlements for apprenticeship, on-the-job training and vocational and secondary education.
- Increased job training and job placement help.

The U.S. Congress realizes those who served in Southeast Asia were thrust into conditions unlike those of any previous conflict or war.

Veterans can get more information on other veterans' entitlements before Congress by writing to: Veterans of Foreign Wars, National Headquarters, Broadway at 34th Street, Kansas City, MO 64111.

NEWSIGHTING

DROPPING T.V. SERIES: J.J. Starbuck-well, this was boring, too much copying of other programs. It was "destined to fail". Highway To Heaven-Our "angel": Jonathon was becoming "too mortal" of late. Cheeseburgers and Sex! St. Elsewhere-has gone Elsewhere and, it's about time. The flagrant sexual abuse was not a very good role model for people of any age!

DROPPING THE STANDARDS: To reach racial equality and balance, many "standards" have had to be dropped or at least modified. What does this do for the people as a whole? We are told that there "aren't many good Teachers, Lawyers, Doctors, Hospital Care, Government Officials, etc., etc., etc. It even showed itself in the Olympics! We the people are getting a lot of "quantity" and not enough "quality"!

DROPPING VOTES: With all of the Candidates running, a lot of money is being "wasted" because many of these people have no chance to win. But, what do they get in return? Government jobs, speaking at Seminars, colleges, etc., writing books, free travel and public acclaim, fame! And, all of their "loyal" followers will have their "votes dropped on" someone they may not even like. But, that is the prerogative of the candidate who is running for office. They "can" put those votes wherever they want to. And, you can be sure it will be with the Candidate who promises them some/or all of what is mentioned here.

DROPPING A HINT: Governor Thompson is not through his ordeals in dealing with the Dan Ryan issue. He has to understand that the word "minority" does not mean "Black", but all of the people who have been "left out" of mega-buck enterprises!
And, I am Alyn

Pucinski proposes courtroom conversion to full service

Aurelia Pucinski, Democratic Party candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County, recently proposed converting suburban courtrooms into full service facilities.

"The idea would be to have the suburban courts take up such tasks as handling uncontested divorces," Pucinski explained. "This would make the courts convenient to suburban litigants, while at the same time reducing drastically the tremendous backlog of cases which so clog our court system."

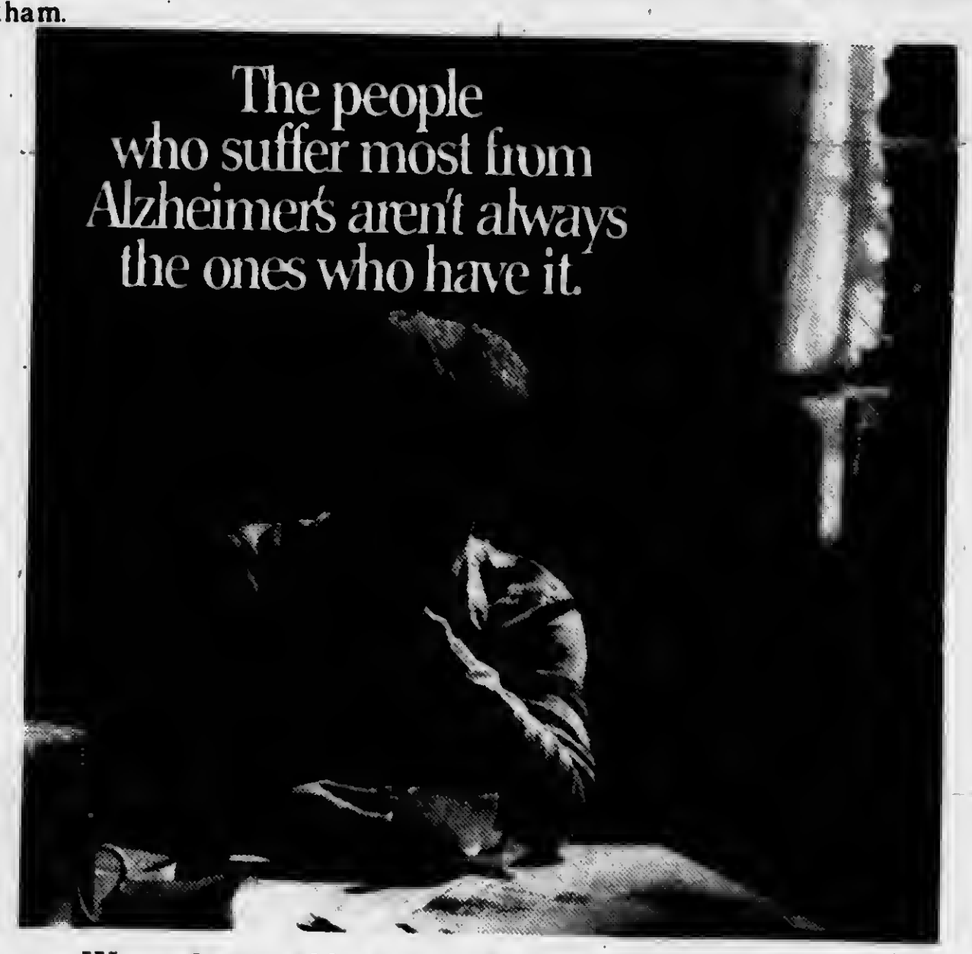
Under present procedures, the suburban courts handle almost exclusively only traffic cases, some criminal cases and civil cases involving less than $15,000. The Pucinski plan would be to expand the use, without having to duplicate files. A courier system would allow suburban filing of pleadings, which presently can only be filed in the Loop, from the suburban courts to the clerk's offices in the Loop, thus making it easier for attorneys and their clients to avoid lengthy trips to the Loop to carry out routine legal business.

The Pucinski recommendations are in addition to a 20-point plan to make the courts more accessible to the public.

In addition, Pucinski has called for improved conditions for women who are in and who use county government. These include a drop-off room for use by litigants with children who must use the Domestic Relations Division.

"Domestic relations cases could be tried at the suburban courtrooms," Pucinski said, thus avoiding long trips to the Loop courts. "Drop-off rooms are possible in the suburbs, too," Pucinski added.

The suburban courts are located at 5600 Old Orchard Road, Skokie; 7166 N. Milwaukee, Niles (which is to be replaced by a facility under construction in Arlington Heights); 1500 Maybrook Drive, Maywood; 10500 Oxford, Chicago Ridge; and 16501 S. Kedzie, Markham.



Toys

One fine day on a classy cul-de-sac,
Inside of the brown and white striped mansion,
A young, blonde-headed boy in a sailor suit,
Sliding down the wrought iron and oak staircase
Inside the sunny and formal conservatory.
Spread across the polished walnut grand piano,
Four regal toy soldiers, also a train.
A young blonde-headed boy in a sailor suit
Clutches the painted wooden opulent toys
Walks to the tall French doors,
He pushes aside the light blue drapes

In the yard, beyond the lily pond
And the statue of Venus,
Is Mummy and Daddy playing tennis
A young blonde-headed boy in a sailor suit,
Quickly walks past the marble fireplace to greet his parents,
Four regal toy soldiers, also a train,
Now set on a Louis XV armchair,
Quietly await for his return.

The controversy over the fate of Cook School reappeared Tuesday night. The Board was split as to what should be done about the school. The repair costs for the school have made tearing it down a realistic proposal.

Many of the trustees supported studies into the fesability of repairing the school. Trustee Jay Bergamini was a staunch supporter of repairing the school over demolition. "It does need some work," he conceded, but he said he was "concerned" about proposals to tear it down.

Trustee Ronald Stancik proposed that feasibilty studies be made as to the structure of the building. The Village may be wasting money on repairing what may be fundamental problems with the structure. Without a good idea of potential costs, "we might be throwing our money away," said Stancik.

Bergamini felt that a study would be worth little. His opinion was that no study could be completely accurate. He feared that people may be too eager to tear down the building and "make a parking lot out of it".

Beer sale at Oak Lawn Fest

Raises question of profits

By Brian Begy

Emotional debate broke out at Tuesday's Village Board of Trustees meeting over what organizations would be allowed to sell beer at Oak Lawn Fest in July. There were also concerns raised over whether the Village was getting enough money for allowing the sale of beer.

As the situation currently stands, six clubs will be allowed to cooperatively sell the beer. Those are the Lions, O.L. Rotary, Kiwanis, Sertoma, the O.L. Athletic Association and the O.L. Police Club.

Unlike last year local businesses will not be allowed to sell beer or wine.

Last year the six clubs made a profit of $38,626 and split it six ways. This does not account for the total profits according to Trustee Joe Vogrich. He claims that the businesses made $42,000 last year.

This brings the total profit to over $80,000, a sum that Vogrich feels is too large for the clubs to earn.

Vogrich complained that the Village's share in the profits was not enough in relation to the amount the clubs are expected to make.

Fred Stoettner spoke in the clubs' defense, citing payments offered to the Village. A $10,000 payment offer was made to the Village in exchange for the privilege of selling beer. The offer included a payment of $5 per barrel of beer sold. Nearly 480 barrels of beer were sold last year. A repeat performance would bring the Village nearly $2400.

Trustee Ron Stancik felt that with $80,000 to split, there was no need for only six clubs to be involved. "There is room for everybody," he said. That comment was made when it was mentioned that the O.L. Fire Club withdrew from the arrangement Due to the absence of the businesses from this year's fest, there should be more than enough money to split between service clubs, according to Stancik.

Vogrich charged that the Village has been subsidizing the fair as a means for O.L. businesses and organizations to profit. This viewpoint was rebuffed by three other members of the Board who mentioned that the Village has, according to some sources, broken even on every Fest since 1983.

Village View Newspaper extends our sympathy to the family of Mary and Jim Boyajian on the death of Mary's mother, Ruth Sweeney of Beverly. May she rest in peace.

Past birthday greetings to all Pisees employees of Village View: Frances O'Connor, Michele Gartman, Chris Pluta and Jim White.

Every weekend Village View Newspaper will be distributed at the 26 dropoff eenters, in and around Oak Lawn, as they have been in the past. We would like to thank all the proprietors who extended this service to us and who are eontinuing to service our community readers.

With our editorial material, we will need your help! Please advise us as to the eopy you wish would remain and which copy can be improved!

Would the readers be interested in a poliee blotter, headline grabbers, stories, ete. Pros and eons are eoming to us and personally I enjoy seeing the newspaper without all the negative news we ean read and see on eable news. Village View Newspaper has boasted of being a souree of good news.

Last month a number of complaints were received from students who called to eomplain about a so called "police trap" between the blocks of 98th & Central to 104th and Central.

It was brought to my attention of a variance of speed limits between a six block radius.

Between two sets of railroad tracks, there is a speed limit of 20, 30, 40 within these six blocks.

When driving north from 106th & Central, one may believe the speed limit is 40 MPH unless one is familiar with the area. On 104th St. and Central the speed reduees to 30 MPH and at 101st the school zone begins with a 20 MPH zone and again a posted speed of 30 MPH at 98th and Central.

What the students are angry about is that a poliee (unmarked ear) is assigned to this location eaeh day, thereby ticketing many offenders.

After listening to this teenage problem, I deeided to write about the so called "POLICE TRAP".

Personally I agree with them that it surely is a problem, but the squad ear has kept them alert to their gas pedal.

Residency Requirements Under Fire

By Brian Begy

Onee again, the residency requirement for Village employees surfaeed again at the Board of Trustees meeting Tuesday night. The room erupted with protest several times throughout the meeting, largely due to this issue.

Much of the evening's debate was due to a request by a Publie Works Department employee for relief from the requirement. He felt that beeause he lives very close to the Village boundry, and eannot afford to move, he should be granted an exemption.

Current Village ordinances hold no provisions for such a request. The current laws only provide for required residency within six months of hiring, after which additional six month extensions may be granted. This blocked any sort of a move to grant such a relief, but a laek of trustee support would have prevented it anyway.

Later in the meeting a measure to clarify the Village code concerning the residency requirement rekindled opposition to the program. The clarification requires Village employees to remain residents of O.L. throughout their employment.

Many Village employees see the residency requirement as unfair in its benefits granted to department heads. The department heads are granted "limited exemptions" aceording to Trustee Ron Stancik.

The current Village code allows exemptions to department heads if they 1) have unique skill, 2) if the skill is unavailable from Village employees, 3)if the exemption is in the best intrests of the Village, and 4) if the department head agrees to move into the Village if he moves anywhere, anywhere

The Board generally was in favor of tightening the residency requirement, despite concerns raised by the U.S. Justice Department. "Our employees must remain in the Village." said Stancik.

Russo Asks For Debates

Congressman Marty Russo, 3rd District incumbent, recently thanked the voters in the recent Democratic primary for their overwhelming support of his candidacy for an eighth term in Washington. "It is most gratifying to have been given a 10 to 1 mandate by the people in the district," said Russo. "This primary has been a prelude to what is, in essence, another primary this fall, since my Republican opponent then will be a former Democrat."

Russo will be opposed in this fall's general election by Joseph McCarthy, who was unopposed in the Republican primary. "I congratulate Joseph McCarthy on his successful switeh to the Republican party and his campaign, and propose that the two of us engage in a series of debates." Russo said these debates, "would be a clear signal to the people of the 3rd District that they are choosing between two candidates committed to an open and informative presentation of the issues."

Russo further expressed a hope that debates and the whole of the upcoming campaign would project a positive image which all too often is missing from today's political arena. "Candidates should indicate willingness to confront the issues facing this nation. While they may occasionally disagree as to solutions, it is important that they participate in a full and open airing of positions so that people can make an intelligent decision based on knowlcdge and pinned to a confidence that is the candidate's responsibility to create."

Russo indicated that the details of the debates should be worked out between the two campaign committees and he would be waiting for his opponent's response.

Older People Still Going Strong According to Blue Cross Survey

Older people are more active, satisfied, involved and optomistic about the future than comonly thought, according to a statewide survey of older Illinoisans just relcased by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois.

The 502 older Illinoisans who participated in the survey rangc in age from 70 to 102 and come from throughout Illinois (45 percent from Chicago and suburbs; 31 percent from Central Illinois; 13 percent from Northern Illinois outside of metro Chicago; and 11 percent from Southcrn Illinois). Half of the rcspondents are widowed and 43% arc married. Nearly half (47%) live alone and 40% live with thcir spouses, while another 3% live with their spouses and other family members. A vast majority (86%) have children and virtually all of these respondents have grandchildren, as well. The group reported over 1,100 great-grandchildren among them.

The survey revealed that:

‡ 89% of respondents say that they are often (78%) or sometimes (11%) satisfied with their current lives.

‡ 89% say that they are able to work; 88 percent of these respondents list volunteer activities for community, charitable, health or church-related organizations and 36 percent list paid professional, business or service employment.

‡ 92% say they are physically active and report a range of activites that includes sports, socializing, volunteer work and related activities, as well as hobbies.

‡ 75% say that their health does not interfere with doing what they like most. Of those who do find that their health interferes, 55% reported having devcloped new interests to compensate:

‡ 80% project a positive sclf-image, pointing to their high level of activity (48%) or personal qualities, such as optimism, zcst or sense of humor (32%) as signs of their vitality.

‡ 96% say that people rely on them to do things often (60%) or sometimes (36%).

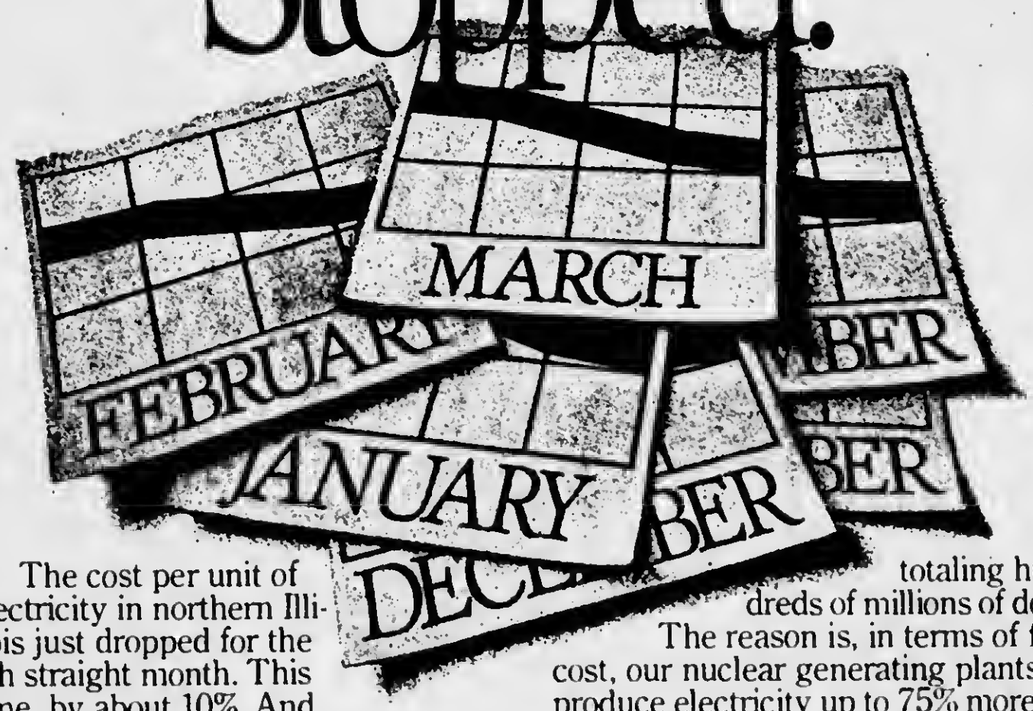
‡ 95% say that they are asked to give advice often (47%) or sometimes (48%); 95% say their opinions influence others often (33%) or sometimes (62%).

‡ 97% attend social events often (71%) or sometimes (26%); 46% listed social activities related to clubs, lodges, and community, civic and women's groups and 54% listed social events related to church or temple. Many respondents (11%) mentioned educational activites as social outlets.

‡ 91% see friends often and emphasize relationships with others (family and friends) as a major source of satisfaction and pride.

‡ 75% participate in recreational activitics often (42%) or sometimes (33%); 50% of those respondents listed a participation sport such as hiking, swimming or cycling as their recreational activity.

‡ 89% cite a specific accomplishment they would like to achieve in the future, such as becoming more active in community service or civic leadership (22%); traveling or pursuing new interests (15%); working or remaining productive generally (14%); even writing a book (6%) or completing a formal education or gain knowledge independently (4%).



The survey also highlighted how older people themselves view aging. A great many respondents (20%) view age as an asset. As one 75-year-old respondent put it: "It's a great advantage. I am at the height of my powers. My age and experience have givcn me the knowledge which I am now able to share with others..."

Another 24% of respondents view age as nothing to be concerned about-neither a burden nor a barrier.

And 32% reported changing their cating habits in recent years, apparently in accordance with contemporary wisdom on nutrition eliminating or reducing the intake of sugar, fat, cholesterol, salt, red meat, high-calorie food; cutting overall calorie consumption; or incorporating more fruits and vegetables into their diets. The group appears to eschew the potential health risks associated with smoking, as well: 87% say they rarely or never smoke and 11% said that they cut down.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield developed the "Golden Anniversary Salute," of which the survey was an important part.

The Price Of Electricity Started Dropping Last October. And Hasn't Stopped.

The cost per unit of electricity in northern Illinois just dropped for the 6th straight month. This time, by about 10%. And that means for the 6th straight month you saved money on your electric bill. A look at the fuel adjustment credit on your monthly statement will tell you just how much.

Costs first dropped last October. November saw a decrease of more than 5%, while December costs were as much as 8% lower. Both January and February savings reached more than 9%.

The months ahead will bring even more reductions. Overall, you, our northern Illinois customers, will see savings totaling hundreds of millions of dollars.

The reason is, in terms of fuel cost, our nuclear generating plants can produce electricity up to 75% more economically than traditional coal-burning facilities. And those savings are passed on to you.

So even though these nuclear plants helped us meet your all-time record electrical demand both last summer and this winter, the big story isn't how much electricity they can generate.

It's how much savings.

Be ready to make some definite decisions in work related areas; changes are coming and have to be delt with. Scorpio and Libra and people in the media (in some form) play a part.

Taurus/Libra
There is not time like right "now" to make travel plans with loved ones. Be more cheerful, open-minded. You can expect some very encouraging news about your career soon.

Gemini/Virgo
You can rely on people to help you if you ask. It seems that there is an "aura" of peace and tranquility around you and other people who share your home. Libra and Leo are in the picture. And, there is more cash!

Cancer
You have come into a time of "reflection." You might be reliving your past. Don't stay in the past however, because there are no answers that can help you back there. A Leo person will be there for you!

Leo
Many people have only recently come to know "the real you." It appears that you are in demand. And, there is more money for you, a new career offer, and, you win someone's love and respect.

Sagittarius
You may have to travel (suddenly) with someone to a far distanced place. Be prepared and be willing. Libra and Taurus involved and, a sit-down with superiors.

Capricorn
A wise man said, "all good things come to those who wait." It appears that "your wait" is over! So many wonderful things coming your way! Be happy, you have earned it!

Aquarius
If the load of responsiblity is too great you should re-evaluate your circumstances, and then ask for help. You seem tied into yourself, perhaps afraid to admit that you need help. Let Cancer people become involved as they are excellent influences for you.

Pisces
Sometimes we have to look beyond the obvious. It seems that your psychic insights are working overtime; and they are right! Scorpio, Leo and Aquarius people can become invaluable to you!

Cook County Undersheriff James E. Dvorak(right) and Sandra Furie, Director of Special Projects for Urban Gateways: The Center for Arts in Education(left), congratulate Mitch Fink, a senior at Marist High School, for winning first place in a poetry contest on youth volunteerism and participation.

Youth Action Award

Mitch Fink of Oak Lawn was presented with a "YOUTH IN ACTION AWARD" by Undersheriff James E. Dvorak and John W. Lee III of the Chicago Youth Centers. Mitch, a senior at Marist High School, received the award for his poetry at the February 25th conference entitled. "Youth in Action: Tomorrow's Energy Today." Mitch's poem, "A Pleasure for a Pittance", won first prize in a contest entitled, Get the Urge to Serve.

Dr. Violet Malone, keynote speaker and professor at the University of Illinois' Cooperative Extension Program, inspired the youth with an insightful and humorous speech, motivating the teenagers to make a difference in their cities, state, country, and world. Dr. Malone pointed out that "People are not born leaders; people learn to be leaders because they see a chance to make a difference."

Perhaps Mitch Fink says it best in his prize winning poem.

...We, as a society of youth, Have much to offer, But this potential may never he realized, Unless we get the urge to serve. The rewards, insignificant as they initially seem, Gratify the innermost human need, The desire to satisty the altruist, Which burns within our souls...

Oaky Sweetstuff: Here comes some plain talk advice...you are going to the wrong places! Dress up in your best outfits, and go to places that count! I also suggest that you get interested in some of the expensive sports. Take classes. You belong in the Jet-Set scenario.

Fed Up! writes: Ever since women's lib has come into our lives, men don't open doors, or for that matter aren't even polite to women. I am a man and I believe that women should be cherished...you know, taken care of! Are there any such women left? I make about 40 thousand a year, have a home paid for, 2 cars and a Van, and I love to travel. And, I ask, WHERE ARE THEY?

Fed Up!: You sound like quite a prize, and there ARE women who would love to have a man like you as a mate. The way you write sounds like you might have put ads in the local papers! Long term care can add up despite Medicare

Approximately one million Americans each year become impoverished due to the costs associated with long-term illness. Within this group, more than two-thirds are elderly.

Eighty percent of Catastrophic Health Care expenses are for long-term care provided outside hospitals. Medicare pays for only one percent of nursing home costs.

For illnesses that may require long-term care, all Americans are at risk, since insurance for the following is simply not available:

--the 20 million Americans who suffer chronic heart conditions.

--the 10 million Americans with chronic lung disease.

--the 10 million children with chronic health conditions.

--the 5 million Americans who have cancer.

--the 3 million Americans with Alzheimer's disease.

--the more than 2 million Americans who suffer chronic mental illness.

--the 500,000 Americans who have Parkinson's disease.

--the over 4 million accident victims who require hospitalization and therapy each year, nearly 500,000 Americans of whom are left permanently disabled.

--the 700,000 Americans with cerebral palsy, the 100,000 with Huntington's disease, and the more than 50,000 with Lou Gehrig's disease (amyotrophic lateral sclerosis).

Currently, once a person becomes terminally ill, it is unlikely that the person will become self-sufficient. Most private insurance coverage and Medicare benefits come to an end. Meanwhile, under this scenario, we have seen life savings depleted and victims fall into poverty in order to qualify for Medicaid. The average allowable assets under Medicaid are $3,000 for a couple and $2,500 for an individual. The current cost of nursing home care ranges from $15,000 to $70,000 and averages around $25,000 a year.

THE COOK, THE TURTLE AND THE SEA

A Short-Short Story

By: Mike Phillips

Timothy Nguyen, A bald-headed Vietnamese, about twenty-five, five feet one, one hundred and twenty pounds, was a cook on the tramp steamer CHULONGKORN, out of Bangkok, until a few seconds ago when two of the crew, on orders from the captain, picked him up and sent him flying overboard, some fifty miles out ot Tortuguero, Costa Rica, at high noon.

He had cooked a cod fish stew with prunes that killed three of the crew and gave ptomaine poisoning to the others, seventeen in number, the captain included. Also, and this was unforgivable, he was not stricken because he had not eaten the concoction. When the survivors recovered after four days in bed, and they buried the dead at sea, the captain forged Timothy!s death certificate, and after Timothy was sent flying and screaming, arms flailing and feet kicking, eighteen satisfied, happy men stood in a line at the rail to watch the cruel sea swallow the runt.

But Timothy did not drown, to their disquietude, for he landed onto the shell of a one hundred year old, four hundred pound, big as a dining room table Chelonia (a fancy name for green turtle). Timothy was frantic. He wanted to live. For the first time in his life he addressed a vague power which he felt to be stronger than himself.

"Don't dive under, Turtle, or I'm dead!" he implored.

The turtle, a female, her calipee intact, no easy feat with poachers everywhere, sensed the little man's inner turmoil, felt sympathy for him, disdain for the sailors, and kept him afloat for seventy-two hours, through hell and high water, until he was rescued by a big ship.

She felt sad as he was being lifted aboard.

If you long for luxury without mortgaging your house, you'll be delighted to hear this dream can be attained quite easily, just head for Mexico where the favorable rate of exchange continues to attract Americans in record numbers. In fact, perhaps I should add that your dream can best be realized if you book early!

Mexico offers something for everyone in virtually any price range. Acapulco is the largest resort area with the greatest number of hotels so you're more likely to find something within your budget if you're looking for an economical trip.

Other resort areas such as Cancun, Puerto Vallarta, Ixtapa, Mazatlan and Manzanillo also have their own special atmosphere. It's simply a question of personal preference in hotels, activities, price and time which will result in selecting the perfect spot for you. Although many tourists are most interested in beaches and water sports, there's ample sightseeing for those who want something else to do. It's easy to arrange day tours to other resorts or, in fact, to visit Mexico on an escorted tour. You might even wish to combine a few days in Mexico City with a stay at a resort, it's easy for us to arrange.

Regardless of your personal preferences, I know we can find the ideal trip for you. Mexico is great on a beer or champagne pocketbook so call us and see how much your dollar will buy. Remember, though to call us as far ahead as possible so that your first choice won't be sold out.

Letters To The Editor:

Dear Editor:

On March 12th, over 800 Veterans and their families held a POW MIA Rally at the Veterans Memorial (State & Wacker) Chicago, at 12 noon.

The organizations of Vietnam Veterans of American, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled Vetcrans of America, American Legion, and Vietnow all united together to rally for Freedom of our POW's and MIA's.

All the major TV networks were informed about this rally WBBM CBS (2), WMAQ / NBC (5), WLS ABC (7), WGN (9), and WFLD (32), and not one showed up to cover this important human rights issue.

At about 2:15 PM, the group marched down State Street to the Richard J. Daley Center where the parade ended.

It seems to amaze me that those who fought for American Freedoms are never covered by the television news media, but those who want to take it away always are.

I was always under the impression that the press was supposed to report the news in an unbiased way not suppressing certain parts of stories or events.

Wake up Television! America is held hostage. Seventeen of your own journalists were captured in Cambodia, during April and May of 1970. Dana Stone CBS news, Welles Hangen NBC news, and Sean Flynn Time Magazine are just a few that were left behind. Everyday you suppress the POW / MJA issue you turn your back on Fathers, Brothers, Husbands, and Sons. Everyday we wait is one less day of hope for our POW's.

One day one American POW will be brought back to Freedom and tell about the torturc and imprisonment he or she endured and that day I'll be able to face them and say I knew.

Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter 153

Dear Editor:

Its time for Senior Citizens to take notice that: He who gets most of the good things in life, including money, is one who understands that, power is absolute: "money goes to power and power goes to money."

We can use our power by voting on election day, and any day there is an election, we must vote for our friends; for the politicians who are in office to help good Americans; to help us by giving us life time jobs; money to buy homes; to raise our families; to be secure in the later part of our living. We want security...happiness...and security in our old age. And, the politician who helps us, we must remember to help him.

Sincerely yours;
John Dillon

Letter to the Editor:

I'd like to feel that the great majority of American citizens share my total disgust over the domination of the United Nations by Soviet Russia, which makes a total mockery of it by controlling decisions through the slavish support of its satellites in the voting. It steadfastly refuses to contribute to any U.N. peace-keeping projects, projects madc necessary by Russia's constant efforts to subdue nations by infiltration, crafty deception or outright brutish, militaristic force. Of deadly significance also is the outstanding fact that, located in the U.N. is a central Communist espionage agency, no fewer than 275 Russian spies using it as the base for their operations against us.

Absolutely outrageous, therefore, was the vote of the U.N. assembly to condemn American intervention, not against the people of Grenada, but against what proved to be an immense concentration of Communist military might, ready to take over the island and the small nations in the area. And who, among intelligent and thoughtful persons in every nation, can forget the exultation the civilized world felt when Russia was caught red-handed positioning in Cuba deadly missiles intended for our destruction.

Since America owns the U.N. building and pays for its maintenance as well as the largest share of the United Nation's expenses, it is clearly within our legal right and power to evict these ungrateful, scheming bullies and close down a continuously failing operation, a tragic farce.

Our national self-respect would be refreshingly enhanced and "calling the shot," at long last, against ruthless Russia and her subservient, cowardly allies would merit the acclaim of freedom-loving people everywhere.

The illness and passing of Dan Jansen's sister had to drain him mentally and physically.

They should add one more gold medal to the 1988 Winter Olympics...to this Great Skater, Dan Jansen, who should be given the Gold Metal for Courage. Yes, Dan Jansen, you will always be a winner in the hearts of all Americans.

Dan Jansen, please don't give up. We will all be waiting and watching for you in the 1992 Winter Olympics. May your life be trouble-free and may good follow you around.

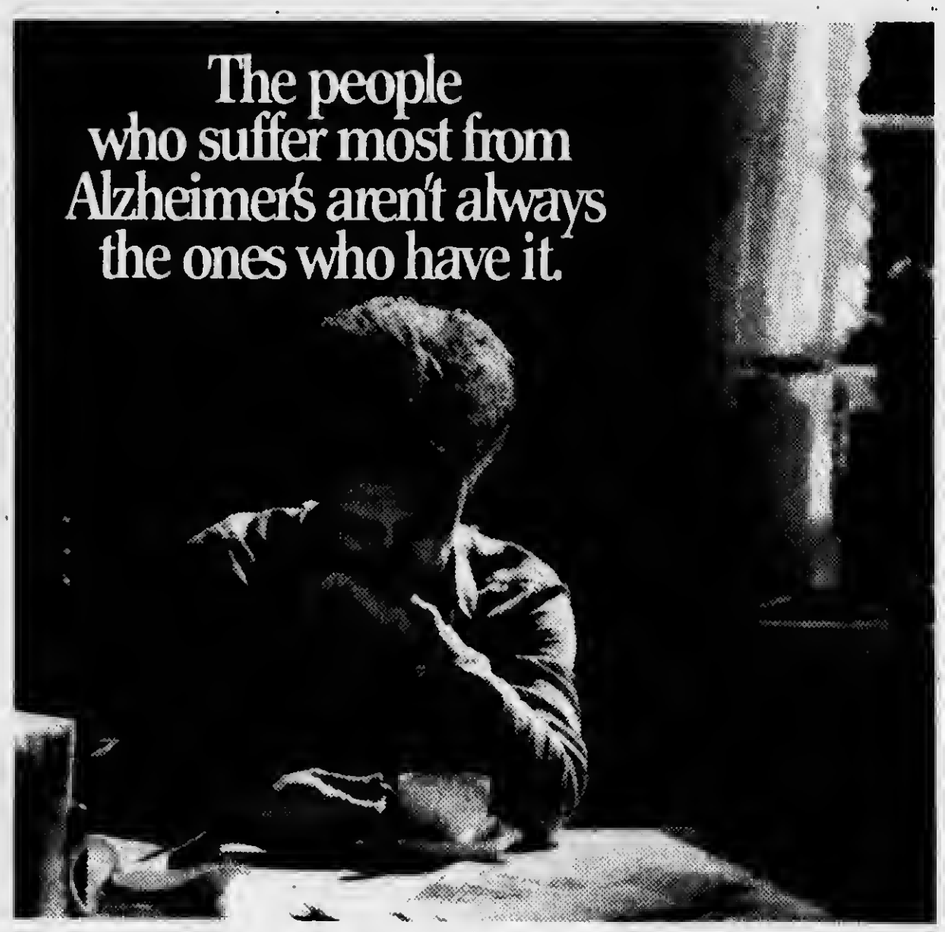
NEWSLIGHTING

WHO'S ON FIRST?



Looking down the road, I can see the Cubs playing in a new location! The lights issue won't just go away...after all, there are people involved that want to keep a sane and peaceful home area. Who considers them? Not all of the people in Chicago, or in Illinois, for that matter, go to see the Cubs play baseball! Yet, they are expected to help "fund" the cost of installing lights. Eventually, the lights will go out...again!!

OAK LAWN may bc looking at a lot change! Apparently, the Village Officials have made it public that people who work in Village Government will have to take up residency within 6 months (it was a year), and that means Oak Lawn will add new residents, increasing it's population. At one time, it was ideal for people to be able to work near home and not have to travel long distances to work. But, the demand for the available jobs has reached out to other areas. Towns and Villages just aren't offering as much as they used to. The people who helped to build such places are now being "left oft of local job opportunities." But, then, this is progress?

A recent well-funded and highly praised study on safety belt usage found that..."75% of the drivers had been wearing belts when their accident happened." That is very impressive, but contrary to the way it was reported in the study, the wording told me that seat belt wearers had 3 times as many accidents as those not using seat belts. Go figure! What do you think? I'd like to hear from you. Write to me at P.O. Box 39, Oak Lawn, Il. 60454

American Cancer Society Crucade

In a peace-making attempt, American Cancer Society Illinois Crusade Chairman, Martin Ozinga, Jr., "drove" ACS' Evergreen Park Unit Chairman, Eric Bunt, out of Oak Lawn.

Ozinga explained that recently he attended the Oak Lawn Unit's annual fundraiser, "Great American Low-Fat Pigout." While there, he spotted Bunt scouting for fund-raising ideas for his unit. Ozinga jokingly commented to Oak Lawn Unit Chairman, Pat Vlasis, that for a donation to the Cancer Society he'd personally drive Bunt from the pigout location, Jack Thompson Oldsmobile in Oak Lawn, to Bunt's place of business in Evergreen Park, Capitol Federal.

In a comical "run out of town" Ozinga did just that, pulling Bunt back to Evergreen Park in a child's wagon donated by Hawkinson Ford. Ozinga's offer received a $25.00 donation to the Oak Lawn Unit from Linda Swedberg. Ozinga commented that the Evergreen and Oak Lawn Units enjoy a friendly competition. He further stated that "The 1988 Illinois goal has been established at $10,150,000, and efforts like the Oak Lawn Unit Pig-out and the Evergreen Unit's upcoming Dinner and Auction on May 4th at Beverly Country Club are the grassroots events that help raise the funds to meet the Illinois goal."

If you missed the "Pig-out" and are interested in attending the Evergreen Unit's Dinner Auction, for ticket information please call Jean Blasi at 422-6700.

Sister Marie Shefchik

Self Defense Against Illness

T'ai Chi (pronounced Tie-Chee) is a form of martial arts that is used for relaxation rather than self defense. Sister Marie Shefchik, RSM; a retired nun formally teaching home economics is now teaching martial arts for better health.

Sister Marie's classes are designed for the older adult in mind. The classes are conducted on an eight week basis. There are two forms of T'ai Chi: the modified form and the classical form. The classical form is more elaborate and less repetitious than the modified form.

T'ai Chi is to give a person peace and to relieve tension. It is a gentle art form which energizes and strengthens the internal systems of the body, thereby cultivating high spirits within the individual. It will help the joints, muscles and the circulatory system within the body.

Sister Marie Shefchik began teaching the art of T'ai Chi five years ago. "I saw it demonstrated at a workshop and I wanted to work with older people." She had been studing the art for nine years, before she began teaching, but says "that one can never stop studing and learning."

According to Sister Marie, T'ai Chi is different from other forms of martial art. It is a more gentler art than the other forms.

Members interviewed from Sister's class stated "they have positive feelings since they have been on the program."

Pat Nassin of Oak Lawn says "my doctor suggested T'ai Chi. I didn't think it would work, but it did. It lowered my blood pressure and has relieved my tension."

Another Oak Lawn brugge is in her second eight week program and finds it very relaxing and enjoyahles. "It's good for balance and I feel less stressful."

Many of the senior citizens within the group commented that they have been able to sleep better, and their blood pressure has lowered.

Loraine Deherry has only been a part of the class for four weeks and says that she felt the difference right away. "I can move around a little hetter and it has helped my spine."

The classes are in three levels with each one building on the other. Each class lasts for one hour and takes place once a week.

An introductory program for new registrants will take place April 23rd from 10:30 to 12:30. For further information, call Sister Marie at 874-3489.

HAPPY EASTER!

Spring brings flowers, love, etc. Seen at Summer West was Rose and John Stella celebrating their 42nd anniversary: Happy anniversary.

Vacationing for the Alderdens will be a real treat. For they will vacation with relatives in Los Angeles soon.

So nice to be young, the Explorers Troop, at St. Gerald Parish will be vacationing in Kentucky on the 4th of April.

Congratulations to Yvonne (Pecor) who recently gave birth to a baby girl. Yvonne and Carlo live in New Jersey.

We just heard of several weddings coming up for July. Future brides keep an eye on our bridal supplement which will be circulated for April 15th weekend.

This column is dedicated to all the train buffs! For many years I have heard of train collectors, but since I am not a train collector, I can tell you why I am not one!

Growing up many years ago in the city, park districts and activity centers were unknown, unlike the present time. Therefore, when I was a child, many of my friends would roast hot dogs and marshmellows and play by the tracks in the summer. Of course, in the winter we would slide down the embankment on a cardboard box.

A dreadful experience took place one year, when a corpse was discovered by my friends and I. It was the last time we went to the railroad tracks.

As a teenager in Evergreen Park, at 10:35 p.m. every evening, on my way home from work, I would have to wait for the train to proceed before I could walk across the tracks to go home. At that time I lived at 98th & Washtenaw, Evergreen Park.

We all have experienced that feeling before!

And now since my office is at 109th & Central, it takes two train tracks, to cross, before I can arrive to work or arrive home.

As I was waiting for approximately 35 minutes for the train to chug along, Wednesday, March 30, at 11:35 p.m., it certainly wasn't in vain.

Reading letters, checking on correspondence, and planning an outline for this column, were just a few things I accomplished.

Now you may ask why was I so patient? Only because I had no other way to get home other than crossing those tracks at 98th & Central Ave.

Unlike our neighbors in Evergreen Park, we do not reap an outstanding fine for train delays. Another regret is now everyone will know why I am not a train collector or train buff.

Letters To The Editor:

The Contra Question

To The Editor:

The office of President of the United States of America is the most important and prestigious in all the world. Please! Don't demean it! Being a lifelong Republican, I supported President Jimmy Carter during the Iranian crisis and received a commendation for it.

For the illustrious 219 and Congressman Jim Wright, who voted against contra aid, went against the United States of America ,, and who supported Nicaragua and the Russian Empire..REMEMBER...freedom is everything, and it is the ONLY thing.

Years ago we traveled on the Pan American Highway in Central America. Brownsville, Texas, is closer to Nicaragua than it is to San Diego, California. We will be driving our cars and pick-up trucks to the next war. From Brownsville, Texas to Nicaragua is only two days by car.

To the Democrats of Illinois who switched to Republicans, welcome aboard! What has taken you so long? The G.O.P. is the party of the working class and middle class people.

Sincerely,
Henry S. Latas

Questions for Jackson

Dear Editor,

With Jesse Jackson looking more and more like he could be the death wish candidate of the Democratic Party, why won't the media ask him the following questions?

1. Why would Jesse say that Yasir Arafat is an educated, urbane, and reasonable person whose commitment to justice is an absolute one?

2. Why has Jesse insisted that capitalism is a bad system and that by means on a class strugge "we" can force redistribution of wealth in the U.S.?

3. Why has he said that Fidel Castro is the most honest courageous politician he has ever met?

3. Why has he said that the Berlin Wall is a monument to a crisis in communication?

5. Why do his economic programs often lack specifics, particularly the pricetags?

6. Why did Jesse oppose the American liberation of Grenada?

Several years ago, former Vice-President Mondale said that Jesse got a kid-glove treatment during the 1984 presidential campaign because he was black. You know what? The same thing is happening again!

Lipinski views Jackson

William Lipinski, the Democratic commiteeman of the 23rd Ward, is known as the most conservative of Democratic congressmen. Jesse Jackson, on the other hand tends to be a more liberal democrat. Because of this conflict of interest, will Lipinski support Jesse Jackson in the democratic primary.

Lipinski, was a supporter of U.S. Rep. Gephardt who has recently dropped from the presidential race. Lipinski is now certainly a conservative since he indicated on his recent votes.

Will Lipinski support Nunn, or Cuomo, if either person is drafted at the convention in Atlanta in July? Call on your Congressman today.

Senator Simon speaks out in support of health care

On March 17 in Washington, U.S. Senator Paul Simon, D - Ill., brought his landmark home care legislation before the Senate Budget Committee. His proposal would extend Medicare health insurance to cover long-term home expenses of millions of chronically ill and disabled Americans.

The Long-Term Home Care Family Protection Act, which has been introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives by Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., would fund the new coverage by lifting the "cap" ($45,000 in 1988) on income subject to the Medicare payroll tax of 1.45 percent--a change that would affect only those 5 percent of workers who earn more than $45,000 in individual income (not family income).

"This plan would support the heroic efforts of America's families to care for their own, and it would not raise the deficit one cent," said Simon, who introduced the bill on August 6.

Simon has long been an advocate for additional support for the health needs of seniors and chronically ill children and adults with disabilities. "This plan would give new options to chronically ill and disabled Americans of all ages and their families faced with having to care for ailing or disabled family members - situations that now routinely crush America's households with debt," said Simon.

"Medicare provides virtually no protection for older Americans who need long-term nursing care, either at home or in nursing homes," said Simon. "It provides no help to the wife whose husband needs round-the clock attention because of Alzheimer's Disease. It's not right that after a lifetime of hard work, of supporting yourself and raising a family, that the onset of health problems shoud cost you your independence. But that is precisely what happens to many of our parents and grandparents. It is time to offer that independence and to protect our families."

LOOKING AHEAD WITH Jacki Mari
PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

Copyright 1988 by Jacki Mari

Aries/Scorpio

It may be time to go over the household needs, repairs, etc. And, if you want to make some changes, you should consult other family members. You might want to get rid of things they want! Taurus can be a big help.

Taurus/Libra

Suddenly, you feel like everything is coming your way, and you appreciate this. It shows! Much better family relationships too. Aries helps, and someone who wants you to travel

Gemini/Virgo

Pay attention to paper-work that can help settle matters. You need to understand all, not in part, of what is expected of you in written detail. Libra helps and a very influential person too. Check luggage, you too could be traveling.

Cancer

You may feel like you are walking on a tight-rope, but this is only temporary. A decision is made, and you will soon be free to make other plans, and have an easier rest of the month. Cancer person aids.

Leo

There is nothing worse than "not knowing" what you are expected to do, especially when it comes to helping others that ask your help: give of your time for listening and that is all you "can do." Gemini involved. Money comes to you quite suddenly.

Sagittarius

Kindness is expressed to you, and you will be grateful, and this comes in the form of money, perhaps. You can make great strides by putting priorites in order. You may be a little "scattered", let Leo help you!

Capricorn

Direct communication is needed, not to have to depend on others to speak up for you. This message comes clear soon. Money and health, and a better attitude are showing. It would be best to stand on your own and not expect help, still, Aquarius offers.

Aquarius

For some people, the Psychic Reality is so "matter of fact", they don't realize that it is working for them! This is the case now. You will know not only what to do, but when to do things, and the reasons for your doing them. Leo helps and Pisces too.

Pisces

You know what you want, and who you want to share things with you. You have found your talent and must work with it. Profits come through these talents! Be aware that some new person has recognized your worth. Perhaps a Virgo person, or a Scorpio.

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE, BY PHONE OR BY MAIL, CALL 636-4578. My books and tapes are available at the Pyramid Book Mart, 3580 West 95th Street, Evergreen Park, Ill. 60642, 636-2233. These can be mailed to you also. Ask about my latest book, "Phoenix Rising," a must for the "searching mind!"

MARIST SCHOLARS NAMED

The Western Golf Association has recently awarded Chick Evans college scholarships to outstanding caddies in the Chicago area.

The scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis considering caddy record, the need for financial aid and the high school academic record.

This year, three seniors from Marist High School were awarded Evans Scholarships. Timothy Luzzo of Crestwood, a caddy from Midlothian Country Club, will be attending Marquette University. Also attending Marquette will be James Chomiak, a Beverly resident and caddy from Ridge Country Club. Finally, Edward Ryan of Oak Lawn a caddy at Ridge Country Club will attend Northern Illinois University.

Ask Kira

"Wants to Have a Baby" writes: "I want to have a baby, but, as a single parent! I just can't see getting married. But, I have this over-powering desire to have a child. I just can't ask some guy to accommodate me!"

Dear wants to have a baby..."it is really not good for a child to be conceived without love. No, you can't just ask a guy to 'accommodate you', for, it would be his child too! Any decent self-respecting guy would not go along with your idea. There are some people who will do this for you however. So, put an ad in the paper! Be sure to stipulate, no strings attached, service me only."

"Want to be a Writer" writes.. "I want to be a writer, and I feel that I could be. I would write about every rotten person I can find information on and expose them for what they are! I would begin with politicians and then judges and lawyers. I have just finished journalism school but I feel I am talented. Is this a good first start for me?"

"Writer!", "go for it! There are many first time writers big in journalism, and what could be more sensational than your idea? But, be sure of your facts!" Ask Kira: write to me in care of this publication. Keep letters brief and to the point.

"PHONENIX RISING"

$4.50

By JACKI MARI

"Phoenix Rising" (the destiny of a soul) is Jacki Mari's latest book which helps to answer many questions that affect our lives and thoughts. The phoenix is said to be a mythological bird which is immortal and arises out of its own ashes to live again...and again...and again.

This beautifully written book tells of the lessons the Phoenix had to learn throughout its many lifetimes, and shares them with us so that we can relate them to our own experiences in living life. To quote the Phoenix - "Of all the things I have learned - the more important learning was when I did forgive!" (And we ALL know how difficult it is to learn this lesson.) This is a "must" book for all who are searching for answers!

We specialize in books and tapes on Self-Help and Metaphysics, and sell a wide varitety of QUARTZ CRYSTALS. We also sell all of JACKI MARI'S books and tapes and will mail them. (Phoenix Rising will soon be available on tape.) Call 636-2233 for information.

The weddings of the eighties: Tradition blends with innovation

The bride of today knows what she wants. Whether she walks down a long aisle in an antique Victorian gown, or is married in a tailored suit of her favorite color, she is planning her wedding at a time when couples are expressing whom they are by the way in which they choose to celebrate their marriage.

The weddings of the '80s are unique in that, although there is a trend toward the traditional, at the same time there is a strong tendency to cast convention aside.

It is no longer unusual, for instance, for a bride, being married for the first time at the age of 35, to opt for the large traditional ceremony and long white gown that were once considered appropriate only for a much younger woman.

But today's bride often comes to her marriage with many years of education and career behind her. A lot more savvy and sophisticated than a young bride of 21, her tastes are more mature and her direction more defined.

She may be an investment banker, a doctor, or head of her own small business. But whatever her career goals may be, they are most likely as important a consideration in the marriage as those of her husband.

While it is an advantage to have more defined goals before marriage, so that both people have a clearer sense of whom they are and what their needs may be, at the same time, it means that there may be a greater need for compromise.

If it is a two career marriage, chores will need to be shared and perhaps an extra effort made to spend quality time together despite two often-hectic schedules.

It is less and less likely that the bride of today will marry the boy next door, or even a boy from the same town, as was the norm in the past. For, as the average age of brides increases steadily, it is more and more probable that she will meet her husband at college or on the job.

Chances are she's from Iowa and he's from California, an increasingly common situation which has brought about innovative ideas in wedding planning, such as the weekend-wedding. At this sort of wedding, events such as barbecues and sightseeing trips are planned for guests who travel from near and far to celebrate with the bride and groom for an entire weekend.

What this says about the new trend in weddings for the '80s is that more than ever before they are a personal reflection of whom the bride and groom really are, reflecting their tastes, attitudes and dreams.

Today, whether the couple is 19 or 45, there is a new confidence, freedom and ease in the way in which they choose to celebrate their marriage.

Whether it's a large, formal traditional wedding, an outdoor picnic wedding in the country, a small intimate ceremony followed by cocktails and elegant hors d'oeuvre or a big weekend bash, today the choices are endless.

What this means is that, with the freedom of expression and the unlimited imaginativeness that characterizes the marriages of the '80s, today the wedding of your dreams is more possible than ever before.

Marriage and pearls:

The wedding day symbolizes the beginning of a life-long commitment and everlasting love shared between two people. It's a time of joy and celebration, a day in life when perfection is a must.

It is important, then, that nothing on that hallowed day be faked. Jewelry chosen for the bridal pair should be central to the occasion and no less real than their heart-felt love.

Traditionally, the pearl has been long associated with love, marriage and good fortune. It's no surprise that precious pearls given to the bride on her wedding day have become the most treasured of heirlooms for generations after.

From Mark Antony and Cleopatra to Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor, these cherished gems have woven an almost magical spell of romance since the dawn of time.

Cultured pearls possess a lustre and beauty that reflect and intensify the radiance of the bride's inner glow. They are available in a wide variety of flattering lengths.

A single strand choker, for example, is well-suited for a high, round neckline, while a matinee or opera length necklace has better proportions for a high standing collar or a plunging neckline. A luxurious bib of several stunning strands of cultured pearls is an opulently alluring way to highlight a deep, scooped neckline.

A universal language of love

During the early 19th century, the language of love was often spoken through flowers.

Prior to the marriage vows, smitten suitors courted their sweethearts with carefully selected bouquets that conveyed thoughts like "Love at first sight" (one single thornless rose), "Will you marry me?" or the announcement of a pending marriage was represented by the combination of one red and one white long stem rose tied together with ribbon or lace.

Prenuptial and wedding flowers symbolize the beauty of marriage, and the growth of love and devotion between you and your groom. You can make your wedding day extra special by choosing blossoms that convey your love to everyone involved.

Matching up the rainbow of rose colors and "definitions" that will express your thoughts is one of the most delightful aspects of wedding planning. To get your thoughts on the right track, the fresh-cut rose growers of the United States and Canada provide these suggestions:

• For your groom—Everyone knows a single rose means "I love you;" nothing could make a more perfect statement.

The roses you carry in your bouquet can also send a private message to your groom. Red hybrid tea roses (the long stemmed variety) signify "I'll love you always," coral or sonia roses denote "enthusiasm and desire." You may want to give him a boutonniere with one red and one white rose bud, to symbolize your "unity."

• For your parents—At the end of the ceremony, prior to walking down the aisle with your new partner, present your parents with a bouquet of roses in full bloom.

This colorful and sweet smelling gift expresses your gratitude and says, "Thanks for everything: we won't forget what you have done for us."

For newlyweds, their parents are a tremendous source of comfort during the hectic times before the wedding. When you feel especially grateful for their love and support, let them know.

After you arrive at the honeymoon destination, send a "thank-you" arrangement to each set of your parents. This unique arrangement should be all pink roses which convey "perfect happiness."

Emergency spotcleaning

It's every bride's nightmare: You're wearing your dream wedding dress and someone accidentally splashes you with salad dressing or douses you with wine.

Bride's magazine has this advice to make sure a wedding-day spill doesn't ruin your big moment:

Act fast to keep a stain from setting. Don't rub the spill or expose it to extreme heat—instead, a few quick blots will take care of the worst of the problem. What to blot with? That depends on the stain.

Fight water soluble stains with water. Perspiration, champagne, wine and other beverages are common water-soluble spills. Their cure: Put a towel under the fabric and blot top with a damp cloth, preferably wrung out in a light solution of white vinegar or detergent and water.

Don't rub, because it can break fibers—especially the delicate fibers of many wedding dresses.

As soon as the stain is gone, blot dry to prevent a ring.

An extra hint for wine stains: Put damp salt on the spot. Let the salt dry, brush it away.

Use cleaning solvents on greasy stains. Lipstick and other cosmetics, perfume, salad dressing, chocolate, and various foods respond well to dry cleaning solvents or spray-on spot removers. Sprays or solvents can be found in purse size in any drugstore—it's a good idea to carry one.

The beginning of Easter

by Michele Gartman

Spring is in the air, and along with Spring comes Easter. Because of the inaccuracies of the early calendar the precise date of the first "East Day" is unknown, except for the fact that it was celebrated in Spring.

Easter is a Christian holiday celebrating the resurcetion of Jesus Christ. It is considered the most important Holy Day.

Easter is derived from the word Eastre, the goddess of Spring. The holiday is usually celebrated between March 22 and April 25. On Easter the children collect candy, chocolate bunnies and hunt colorful Easter eggs.

Many symbols are associated with Easter. The Cross is a symbol of the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ. Hot cross buns are a popular favorite at Easter, with a cross of icing on the top of the bun.

The Lamb is eaten at Easter as a symbol of Jesus, taken from the Bible as Jesus being the "Lamb of God."

One Easter tradition is that the lights of the Catholic churches are put out on Good Friday. On Easter eve, the Easter candle is lit and this candle is used to relight all the other candles in the church. Each person in the church is given a candle and they all share the lighting of those candles with the Easter candle.

The early Christians of Mesopotamia were the first to use colored eggs. Ancient Egyptians and Persians dyed eggs to give to friends at Easter: Later in history, Europeans colored eggs red to represent the joy of resurcction. In England, messages and dates were written on eggs and then exchanged. In the 1800's candy eggs with a window and tiny scenes inside were popular.

The Easter bunny is believed to have derived from Germany. The legend is that a poor woman dyed some eggs during a famine and hid them in a nest for her children. Just as the children discovered the nest a big rabbit leaped away. The story spread that the rabbit had brought the eggs.

Carrot-Nut Muffins Make It An "Ease-ter" Brunch

The Easter Bunny will wiggle its nose in anticipation when these scrumptious and quick-to-fix Carrot-Nut Muffins are baking. Prepared with shredded carrots, chopped walnuts, and Bisquick baking mix, they're ideal for an Easter Sunday

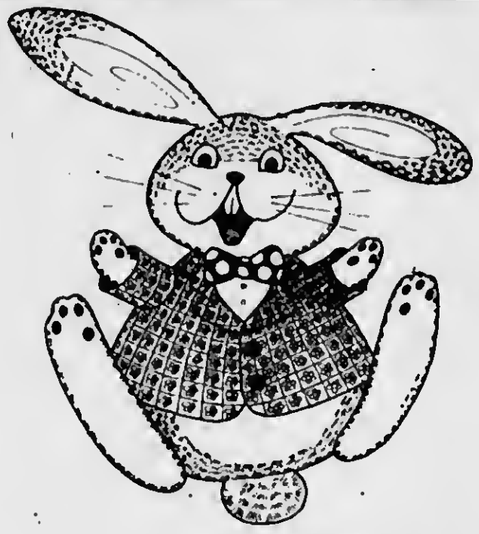
Whether they accompany a quick breakfast of scrambled eggs and fresh fruit or an elaborate Easter brunch, homemade muffins add a special touch that can't be duplicated by packaged muffins.

Carrot-Nut Muffins With Cream Cheese Spread

Heat oven to 400°

2 cups Bisquick baking mix
1/3 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup shredded carrots
1/2 cup milk
2 tbsp. vegetable oil
1 egg
Cream Cheese Spread (below)

GREASE bottoms only of 12 medium muffin cups, 2 1/2x 1 1/4", or line with paper baking cups. Mix baking mix, brown sugar and walnuts; reserve.



BEAT remaining ingredients except Cream Cheese Spread in medium bowl; stir in walnut mixture just until moistened. Divide batter evenly among muffin cups.

BAKE until golden brown, 21 to 23 min. Serve with Cream Cheese Spread. 12 muffins.

CREAM CHEESE SPREAD: Mix 1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened, 1/3 cup sugar and 1/2 tsp. almond extract until smooth.

An Easter Message

by Michele Gartman

What is to become of a world which comes together through the presence of love and hate constantly fighting against each other? The negatives and positives coming together constantly to form a never ending war among men. Since the beginning of time man has fought against each other; against those who trespass against them and invade their precious territory. The animals that walk among their earth also suffer within the hand of man. These animals who also will kill to protect their homeland. They are perhaps the ones that we have listened to. For we have learned to do that which they have done since the beginning of time. It seems as though we were placed upon this earth filled with hatred and anger since the times of Genesis; since this time we have always been at war. Not only among our brothers but we have been at war within ourselves.

It seems that in this war it is the innocent who suffer the most. Those with love always in their hearts and those who are constantly suffering. The politicians and leaders of the countries, making up our planet, protect their territory by sending the youngest of men to fight their fights; to breath their last breaths for a cause that is not theirs, one that does not end. Yet the politicians presidents, and generals remain to cause further destruction. They, along with the scientists, produce boms so destructive that just one can destroy a world. Even with that knowledge they continue to produce hundreds and place them in our space. A space that is not ours to take. The only purpose of these bombs is to destroy and kill leaving only scars of a once thriving world. And while these bombs kill the innocents, those leaders that produced them, the politicians, presidents and generals protect themselves by living in fortresses built beneath the earth.

Will the world ever be a peace? Will men ever stop maiming and killing to prove who is stronger? Will there always be people starving and homeless while the rich dote over their money and power. How much longer must those who strive for peace be made to suffer for the hatred and greed among the powerful? There is too much hatred and not enough love and forgiveness. For the pride of man shall always remain to control their hearts and bring destruction to the world. For this shall always be the story until the end of time or until there is no one left to kill.

NEWSIGHTING

April 3, 1988

It's so unusual it's newsworthy...the food at the Family Table in Oak Lawn(formery the Regeney) is so good you just have to try it!

Does the name Harold Thomas mean anything to you? Last January a New Mexieo eopule offered him a job, a plaee to stay, and meals. He had lived in a shaek along the Chieago River, wore old elothes, and ate in soup kitehens...and it was so very eold. The "plaee to stay" was an 8' x 30' trailer in New Mexieo...not bad, if you ask me. Now he eomplains it was just a plaee to stay and a meal. He felt like a "robot." And his eomments have been published nationwide...guess the word "grateful" just isn't in his voeabulary! He's already back in Chieago, and I wonder if he'll make a better man of himself now. I hope so, but I have my douhts. I'm sure there will be more about him in times to come.

I'm not sure about this, but I thought I saw the look of absolute fear in the eyes of Jesse Jaekson...if this is true, I would conjecture that he is either afraid of injury, assassination, or the offiee of the Presideney itself...He has no political baekground whatsoever...and the possibility of his new title being "Rev. Mr. President" is elose at hand. I am even wondering if his efforts to acquire the offiee of the Presideney of these United States has been mueh more sueeessful than he ever intended! Careful, Jesse!

Help Your Heart

American Heart Association

Aspirin and Heart Disease

Remember the old saying, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure?" The significance of that time-honored philosophy continues to grow, especially when the illness that's being prevented is this country's number one killer — heart disease.

Reducing the risk of heart disease by not smoking, controlling high blood pressure and lowering hlood cholesterol levels has always been important and remains so. But the Physicians' Health Study recently released by Harvard University has added another preventive measure to the list — aspirin.

The result of the study with more than 22,000 physicians showed the risk of heart attack for participants who took aspirin every other day was 47 percent less than those who received a pill containing no medication. While earlier studies showed a link between taking aspirin and a decreased risk of a second heart attack, a definite link is now established between taking aspirin and a reduced risk of an initial attaek.

That's the good news, but there are risks for some people taking aspirin to offset their chances of heart attack.

The study showed that hemorrhagic strokes (bleeding into the brain) occurred more frequently in the aspirin group than in the placebo group. Because of this finding and other health risks associated with using aspirin, the American Heart Association has made several recommendations regarding aspirin intake:

- You should not decide to begin taking aspirin every other day until you have consulted with your doctor.
- If you decide, with your doctor's approval, to begin taking aspirin regularly, be sure you know aspirin's possible side effects. Your doctor can tell you what they are, and be sure to report any side effects to your doctor without delay.
- Since aspirin prolongs bleeding, it should be regulated if you're scheduled for even a simple surgical procedure or dental treatment, and the attending physician should be made aware of aspirin intake before treatment. The effects of a single dose of aspirin may last for as long as 10 days.
- All other risk factors for coronary heart disease and stroke should be determined and a program begun to reduce those risk factors.

Aspirin gains an important new role in preventing heart attack, but it is not a miracle cure in the many-sided battle against all forms of heart and blood vessel disease. However, controlling high blood pressure, lowering blood eholesterol, not smoking and taking an aspirin every other day could be worth more than "a pound of eure." It could mean your life.

McDonald's Supports McAuley

In July, 1983, Mr. Dan Rodman, owner of three McDonald's restaurants, (10320 S. Kedzie, 10549 Cicero, and 11850 Pulaski) was asked to respond to Mother McAuley High School's request for support from the local business community. Rodman, a McAuley sports enthusiast, knew many McAuley students personally as employees and customers of his restaurants.

He responded by making a pledge to donate $1000 a year for five years in support of the school's athletic programs. A new weight training room was dedicated to Rodman and bears a plaque as a tribute to his generosity.

Opening his first McDonald's 24 years ago, Rodman has made himself and his restaurants open to community and school-related projects. In December when Rodman completed his five-year pledge, the McAuley chorus conducted by Ms. Paula Kowalkowski performed an impromptu Christmas concert for McDonald's lunch patrons. Before leaving the restaurant, McAuley students took a break to enjoy a typical high schooler's favorite lunch---McDonalds' hamburgers courtesy of Dan Rodman.

Mr. Dan Rodman, owner of three local McDonald's restaurants, presents Sr. Corinne Raven, Executive Director of Mother McAuley High Schol with a $1000 check in support of the Mighty Mac athletic programs. This check was the final installment of a 5 year, $5000 pledge.

Meeting Report

By:Brian Begy

In th eold westerns, if the townsfolk had a problem with the sheepherders or cattle ranchers, they would hold a town meeting. Ed Barron, 4th district trustee has brought the town meeting back in the form of regular meetings with the constituents of the 4th district.

Barron has been holding these meetings since September on a monthly basis at the Vilage hall. The first trustee to do so, Barron feels this is an effective means of maintaining communication with his constituents.

He says he receives most of his information about the problems in Oak Lawn through these meetings.

A self described "maverick" Barron takes the job of opposing many programs and projects put forth by the Oak Lawn Coalition Party of whom three of the six trustees are members, as well as the Mayor and Village Clerk. Barron describes his role as "a spokesperson for the opposing point of view."

Barron feels that his communication with his constituents is his main advantage. He has lived in his district for 24 years and feels that many of the 9800 people living in the 4th district know him personally.

He feels that this enabled him to win his election by a margin of nearly, 2 to 1.

He was in the "right place at the right time."

Since then, he has encountered problems. He complained that support from trustees Collings and Hefka has decreased over the years, making the role of opposition increasingly difficult.

Oak Lawn Business Survey Results Tabulated

By: Michelle Latanski

Last May, the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce conducted a survey concentrating on the stability and future of the Oak Lawn business community. Concern for the future economic development of the areas existing businesses prompted the Chamber of Commerce to embark on this project. In charge of this project was Faisal Rahman PhD. of the Graham School of Management. Dr. Rahman designed and conducted this study especially for the Oak Lawn business sector.

The business survey was conducted during the months of April and May, 1987. The questionaire was sent to 1189 licensed businesses throughout Oak Lawn. The response rate was 21%. An additional questionaire was sent to those businesses described as "the heart of Oak Lawn", located between 50th and 54th Avenue, along 95th Street. The response rate was 35.4%.

Tabulated results conclude the majority of the respondents seem satisfied with the current mix of retail stores in Oak Lawn. However, this may be deceptive considering many families shop retail stores in Chicago Ridge Mall, as well as other area malls. Moreover, two retail stores cited Carsons and Marshall Fields as highly desirable to Oak Lawn residents. Impotant to note. Carsons will be opening at Chicago Ridge Mall.

The most alarming data to come out of the survey was the concern that sales of more than half of the business either decreased or stayed the same over the past year.

Certain factors influence a substantial amount of respondents towards spending more of their retail dollars in Oak Lawn. These factors include the "availability of parking, uniform shopping hours, better marketing and merchandising, improved appearance, competitive prices, and a wider and varied selection of goods."

Although service needs such as groceries, medicine, physicians, dentists, banking, insurance, and attorneys, are being met locally, the future of the business sector warrants high consideration. Residents oppose any particular area of downtown being designated as "Oak Lawn Downtown". This is apparent because "downtown" to many people is associated with a negative connotation.

According to Dr. Faisal Rahman's study, the best way to reach the Oak Lawn shopper is "either through local papers or direct mail".

Daley Praises Court Ruling

Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley praised Wednesday's ruling by the Illinois Supreme Court upholding the right of the county to restrict the location of pornographic bookstores and other so-called "adult" businesses away from residential areas.

The state's high court agreed with Daley's argument that the county's 1981 zoning ordinance does not violate constitutional guarantee of free expression and communication.

As a result of Wednesday's court decision, businesses will now remain closed permanently.

The high court's ruling ends a five-year court battle between Daley and the "adult" businesses which began in 1983 when the state's attorney filed a lawsuit seeking their closure under the 1981 zoning ordinance.

Residents around the businesses complained of being harassed by customers, including sexual propositions, and of being exposed to explicit materials against their wills.

The one issue in which the court sided with the defendants was the section of the ordinance that would have allowed such "adult" businesses to locate in commercially zoned areas--as opposed to industrial zones--if they obtained a special use permit.

But in striking down that portion of the law, the court in effect made it impossible for such businesses to locate anywhere other than industrially zoned areas of unincorporated Cook County by eliminating the possibility of a special use permit.

Hartigan wins decision in pyramid case

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan's continuing attack on illegal pyramid schemes in Illinois is strengthened by a ruling he recently won from the Illinois Appellate Court, Second Division.

The appellate court ruling vacates a 1987 Cook County Circuit Court order that ruled in favor of Unimax, Inc., 1230-32 Remington Road, Schaumburg. The appeal of the circuit court order stayed court proceedings in Hartigan's February 19, 1987 lawsuit against Unimax and its President, Tim Dern, of Roselle, Ill.

Hartigan's suit alleges that Unimax and Dern are violating the state consumer fraud law which prohibits pyramid schemes and chain referrals.

On May 8, 1987, the court entered an order which questioned the allegation that the operation of Unimax constitue a pyramid scheme, and the litigation was stayed pending an appellate decision.

"The appellate decision my office won today is an enormous victory for Illinois consumers," Hartigan said.

"Unimax has been using the 1987 circuit court ruling to create the impression that its operations were declared legal and legitimate. Today's appellate court decision makes it clear that consumers should be wary of Unimax and any other operations with similar plans.

"Today's decision also enables my office to move ahead with stopping Unimax's illegal activities and seeing to it that consumers Unimax has taken advantage of are reimbursed."

"Unimax tried to deceive the court the same way it deceives consumers--by claiming that it runs a marketing plan or shopping club, under which consumers can purchase various products and services at a discout."

"I have argued all along that the primary inducement for people to join the plan is to receive money for recruiting other persons. This is what makes the plan an illegal pyramid scheme."

"Each person who joins Unimax must pay an initial $36 fee, a monthly $36 fee, and an annual $14 'literature fee.' By paying these fees, the consumer is designated as a 'subscriber.'

"However, the consumer can also sign an agreement to become a 'marketer.' As a marketer, a consumer must recruit three additional persons, each of whom pays Unimax the required fees. In turn, these new members are each expected to recruit three additional fee-paying marketers, and so on.

"Each marketer is to be paid a commission from the fees paid by each new recruit. Unimax advertises that when a marketer has completed nine levels of the pyramid, the commissions could total $104,364.74."

"This figure is totally absurd. In order for a consumer to receive that amount, it would be necessary to recruit 29,523 persons."

"This is why these get-rich-quick schemes are illegal. Consumers are persuaded that they can make huge commissions by recruiting new members, but in reality they are bucking completely unrealistic odds."

Hartigan's February 19, 1987 lawsuit asks for a court order halting Unimax's illegal pyramid scheme activities, appointing a receiver, and requiring an accounting of Unimax funds so that restitution can be made to defrauded consumers.

The suit also asks for a $50,000 civil penalty for each violation of state consumer fraud laws, plus court costs.

Cub Seeks New Members

Last year, the Citizens Utility Board (CUB) saved the average northern Illinois consumer $110 on their electric and gas bills. But those battles have left CUB broke, in debt $75,000.

With Commonwealth Edison asking for a record breaking $1.5 billion, 33 percent, annual rate increase, consumers need CUB more than ever. CUB will continue to fight Com Ed, but we need consumers' help.

CUB is funded soley by contributions from Illinois citizens who join the organization. If CUB is going to put up a strong challenge to Com Ed, it needs new members. That's why we are taking advantage of a new state law that allows CUB to solicit members through inserts in state government mailings. A fantastic response to those inserts from consumers across the state would give CUB the resources it needs to keep fighting.

Consumers can count on CUB to represent their interests and work for lower utility bills. But now, CUB needs to be able to count on consumers, too. Please join CUB and help us beat utilities like Com Ed.

Membership information can be found in your next license plate renewal form mailed out by the Secretary of State's Office. Or, call CUB at 1-800-222-2822.

Ask Kira

"Gimmie a Break!" writes: "I have been seeing a gal for about three months. She will not let me meet her parents, or even her friends. I don't know where she works. I have asked her many times about herself, she tells nothing. Still, I think I love this girl, but, she is a mystery. We only see each other once a week, meeting in different places. I keep wondering if she is married!"

Hi there Gimmie: When a person's life seems "lived in the dark," and they refuse to open up to you, there are several possibilities: A. They are married. B. They want no strings and C. They fear being hurt, so they keep relationships aloof. There is a number 4, they may be on the "wanted list" and are running from the law.

"Says Yes Too Much" writes: "When I was thirteen, I began dating.. I am now seventeen and have found a man I really love. I guess we share some of the same friends, or 'used to be friends', and he found out that I said 'YES' too much. Now he wants to break off with me. Should I try to save this relationship?"

Dear Says Yes: Tell him, "when I was a child, I thought like a child, hut now I am an adult and I think like an adult", and if he doesn't hear the message, it's his problem, not yours. But, do not try to explain any further, it won't do any good. If he is an adult, no doubt he may have said "YES" once too often.

"Wants More" writes: "I was married for ten years to someone who loved me, never cheated, etc., but, it wasn't enough! I left him for an exciting man, a wonderful playmate. But, he will not work. Lately, I find myself wanting my ex-mate back. He was at least a reliable, steady man. My new guy is cheating on me now. Should I go back?"

Dear Wants More: Do you honestly think that this ex-mate will take you back? And, if he does, can you be true to him? If you "wanted more when you were with him, what makes you think that there won't be someone else who offers more-again?" It would be a good idea for you to be on your own and not invade the lives of others until you know what you do want! Other people count too you know!

Ask Kira: Write to me in care of this publication.

A Miracle at Medjugorje

(A little hamlet of Medjugorje, Yugoslavia) Copy. 1988 by JMari

In a puhlication that reaches to 7 million people, a series of "interviews" with "seers", namely, children who had "visitations from the Madonna (Mary)" is told. Wayne Weible, who calls himself a "Lutheran Prostestant", either converted to Catholicism or is just telling his story, and is excited about the "messages received by the children" enought to have gone into this research full-time. He says that "since 1981 the Madonna has been visiting with the seer-children regularly." Her messages simply state that this world must have "peace." He goes on to say that the Maddonna also wants people to "pray for the souls in purgatory" (a definite link to Catholic doctrine), and that: people should not judge their path by their priests. If a priest is not Holy, they conclude that there is no God." And the Madonna is reported to have gone on to say, "you do not go to church to judge the priest, to examine his personal life. You go to church to pray and hear the Word of God from the Priest." Would this mean that people like Bakker and Swaggart are also to be exempted from holiness, and can do whatever they want to in their personal lives, immoral or not, as long as their words speak of God? At the time these "interviews took place" there were no issues about Rev. Bakker and Swaggart, and it would be good to know what the Madonna might have said about this. It appears that this message was more for the Catholic Priests' benefit. The Madonna gave some "Secrets" to the seer-children, some were private, and others related to what would happen in this world. Other visions have "occurred, in Fatima, Portugal, or in Lourdes, France," resulting in "warnings to the human-race" to "come together in peace." Wayne Weible has successfully taken a series of interviews with the seer-children and written a book that he asks no money for, only the cost of handling and postage, however, he is apparently involved with the Medugorje Center, 8917 Cedar Lane, Prairie Village, Kansas, 66207, which puts out a list of VHS and BETA Video tapes, cassettes, publications, books, posters, etc., that range in price from $2.00 to $50.00. The Madonna is said to want people to now visit "some of the seer-children" on the 25th day of a month regularly. Also, she was reported to say that "All Souls Day" (November 2) does not free all of the souls at taught, but many can ascend from purgatory and enter Heaven on the Christmas Day Celebration (Dec. 25th). Many people are visiting this Communist Country, climbing the hill to where the Madonna appeared, and some are now claiming that they are being "healed" on the hill. The surprising thing about this story is that the Catholic Church is so reluctant to admit to such Miracles, yet, allows itself to be the "Travel Agent" for the Medugorje Pilgrimage (Catholic Travel: 4701 Willard Ave., Suite 226, Chevy Chase, Md. 20815) Secrets of such importance should be revealed to everyone, if in truth they truly exist, and not held solely by one Faith, if these Secrets foretell of doom and gloom for the entire world, or, total destruction!

IRS Opens New Office In Ford City

By: Brian Begy

The Internal Revenue Service officially opened a new office in the Ford City Plaza on Monday, April 4. The facility was opened to better service taxpayers in the south side, according to I.R.S. District Director for northern Illinois R.S. Wintrode, Jr. who was present at the opening.

The opening comes as the April 15 filing deadline approaches. Despite fears of mass, late filing, the I.R.S. reports that so far this year they have received the same number of returns as they did at the same time last year.

Still, nearly 1.5 million returns from northern Illinois alone, fully 40% of the total number of returns, have not yet been received by the I.R.S. The I.R.S. estimates that 5% of filers won't make the deadline and will instead opt for a four month extension.

Despite these problems, I.R.S. Public Affairs Officer Steve Mongelluzzo feels that the public is more aware of their taxes and that they are taking taxes into consideration long before the filing season begins.

Mongelluzzo reports the success of an I.R.S. tax guide as an indication of public awareness. The I.R.S. reports that nearly 16% of taxpayers wrote to the I.R.S. for a handbook on the Tax Reform Act of 1986.

Taxpayers are also calling the I.R.S. with questions about their taxes. Wintrode reports that the new office's phone in help line has received approximately 11,000 calls per day. That number is expected to top 20,000 per day before the end of the tax season.

Wintrode defended the I.R.S. phone operators who have been accused of low accuracy. He estimated their accuracy rate to be 75%, and felt that while it could be better, "that is, not too bad" considering the tax law changes.

He explained that the phone operators receive two and a half weeks of classroom training on the tax law, in addition to multiple mini-sessions lasting between one and two hours each.

The I.R.S. hires their staff as early as July. The facility employs some 230 phone operators and Taxpayer Service Representatives, a 30% increase over last year. The I.R.S. is already seeking employees for next year's tax season.

Taxes '88

Taxpayers Ask IRS

These are typical of questions asked by taxpayers and are presented as a public service of this publication and the IRS.

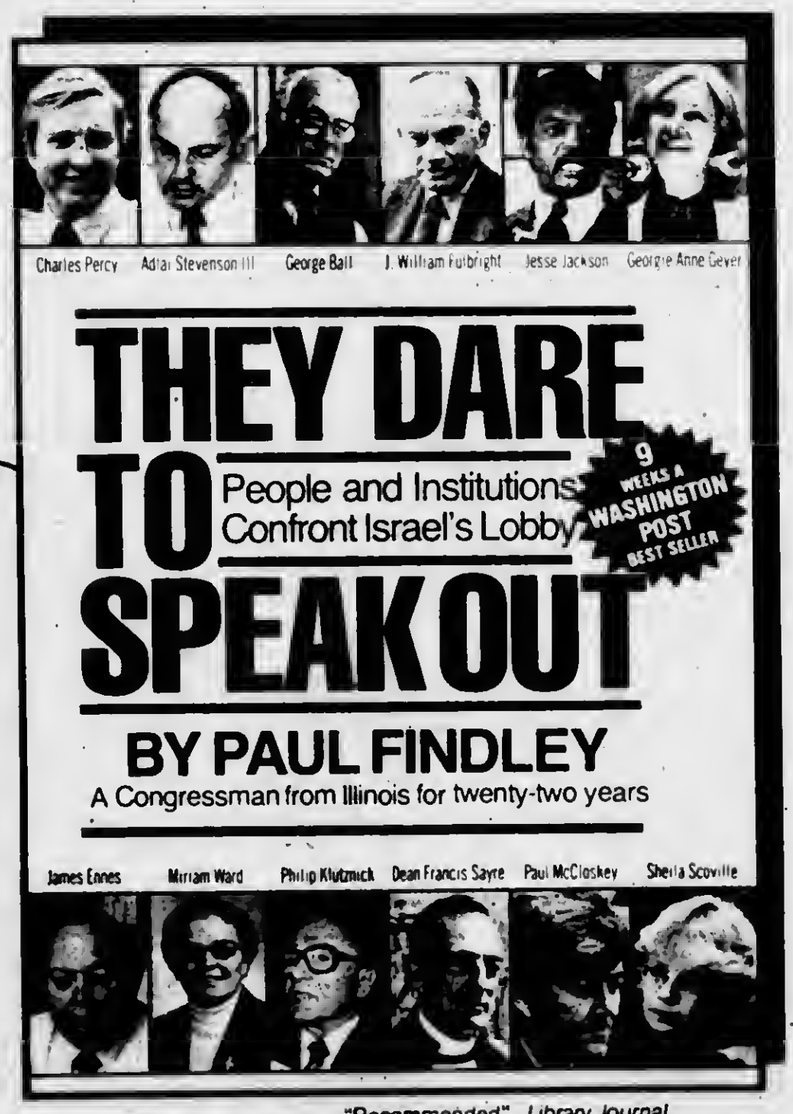
Q. I completed my tax return this year and found that I owed money. This came as a surprise to me. How can I avoid this in the future?

A. If you have not already done so, you should consider changing your withholding allowances by giving your employer a new Form W-4. You may do this at any time during the year. You might want to use Publication 919, "Is My Withholding Correct for 1988?" as a guideline. You can get a free copy by using the order form in your tax package or calling toll free at 1-800-424-3676.

Q. Do you have any advice? My tax return seems to get more complicated each year. My records are getting more voluminous. I'd like to file as early as I can.

A. Many taxpayers use the tax package sent to them by the Internal Revenue Service to keep important records as they receive them. Keep tax information together in one place and update your tax records during the year.

Q. Are there any records I should keep in the event I am audited? How long should I keep them?



A. You should keep records that support an item of income or a deduction or credit until the statute of limitations runs out for a particular tax return. Generally this is three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the date the tax was paid—whichever is later. Keep copies of your filed tax returns as part of your records, along with property records as long as that property may affect your tax returns.

Q. Are there any situations that might require my keeping records longer than three years?

A. Yes. Records of property transactions, such as the purchase or sale of a home, should be kept for as long as they are material. Sometimes the basis of new or replacement property depends on the basis of old property. In this case, documents showing the basis of both the old and new property should be retained.

Q. OK. I have completed my 1987 tax return and I think I understand how the Tax Reform Act of 1986 changed things for my 1987 tax return. How can I learn about changes that may affect my 1988 tax return?

A. The Act has many significant effects on tax years after 1987. For example, in 1988 there will be only two rates, 15 percent and 28 percent; only 40 percent of personal interest will be deductible; and the personal exemption will increase to $1,950. Publication 920, "Explanation of the Tax Reform Act of 1986 for Individuals," has more information. You may order it using the order form in your tax package, or by calling toll free 1-800-424-3676.

April is Cancer control month

April is Cancer Control month. Cutting the ties to bad health habits is one way to take control of cancer. Just as important, though, is knowing the "seven warning signs of cancer," as well as screening and early detection guidelines. Together, these provide the basis for taking control of cancer in your life.

Cancer usually shows no signs or symptoms in its early stages. However, the presence of a symptom also does not mean that cancer, if present, has begun to spread. The "seven warning signs of cancer" are:

1. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
2. A sore that does not heal.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Thickening or lumps in the breast or elsewhere.
5. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Obvious change in a wart or mole.
7. Nagging cough or hoarseness.

The presence of any of these warning signs is not proof you have cancer; however, if any of them persist for longer than two weeks, you should consult a physician.

Besides knowing the warning signs listed above, it is also important to know the screening guidelines accepted by the National Cancer Institute. Keep in mind that these are only guidelines; they may be modified depending on a person's medical history.

More information can be obtained by contacting Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER.

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

$175,000 GOING ONCE...$300,000 GOING TWICE...and what is next for the firehouse at 540 W. Washington, which once housed Engine Co. No. 2 (part of the history of the fire at Mrs. O'Leary's barn). The law firm of Illinois House Speaker Michael J. Madigan put in the low bid, representing a partnership, and John Gorman, former 48th Ward aldermanic candidate, put up the high bid. Looks like Chicago politics as usual...but Madigan should know about the "pereeption" of something in the news...Not so good, Mike!

IN TANDEM...someone wants Meese out...and at the same time we are seeing a MAJOR intrusion into the International drug market - right, again Meese! I wonder if he isn't just doing too good of a job, and that's why "someone" may be trying to get him out of office. It wouldn't be the first time.

DAY OF RECKONING...where are you? The issue of Separation of Church and State continues to he ignored, overlooked, forgotten, avoided at all costs, and the primary rolls on. This matter will have to he dealt with...for the sake of the Constitution of these United States. I think it's possible the very election in November could he postponed until this vital matter is resolved, "if" there is a member of the eloth running for either of the major offices. This precedent setting type of postponement would come ahout only because the right people wrongly dragged their feet, again.

And I am Alyn

Letters To The Editor:

Judge Bellows Says "Thanks"

Dear Editor,

I want to sincerely thank your newspaper and the voters in your area for contributing so much to my recent primary election as a judicial candidate.

Through your superb cooperation and the keen interest of your many readers, I was extremely successful in receiving seventy-five percent of the vote that was cast for any judicial candidate. I am even told that this high percentage was more than any other candidate for any public office in Cook County received in the primary of 1988.

Through my campaign manager, Edward F. McElroy, I was able to spend time with you and your staff. I'd had told me many times over that the community papers are the ones that the people read. The job that you have done in creating this interest is overwhelming.

Again, may I thank you and assure you and your readers that I will serve you well.

Sincerely,
Carole K. Bellows

Reader Speaks On Jackson

Dear Editor,

It never fails to amaze me how, or why, the national media uses words like routed and fantastic. The case in point I am referring to is the recent "amazing triumph" of Mr. Jackson in Michigan. The media has reported that Mr. Jackson received about 55% of the votes cast and that now he must be taken seriously as a presidential candidate. From what I have observed, the media has failed to talk (or write) ahout how many votes Mr. Jackson actually got. In fact, he reeeived ahout 120,000 votes out of about 220,000 votes east. Granted the pereentage is impressive, but there are about 6 million voters in Michigan! Somehow I just don't feel that words like "amazing triumph" are justified when he got just 2% of the electorate.

Sincerely,
P. Peffley

NOVA Needs New Members

One of the nation's most effective advoeates for the rights of crime victims is eurrently undergoing financial difficulties and urgently needs additional public support to remain a strong voiee in the criminal justice system, aecording to Cook County State's Attorney Riehard M. Daley.

NOVA, the National Organization for Victim Assistance, needs an influx of new members to eompensate for the redueed availability of federal grant monies, Daley said.

"Since 1980, NOVA has served as a national voice for the victims of crime, fighting for improved services and better laws all across the country," said Daley, a member of the group's board of directors.

"Now, after eight years of successful efforts to help crime victims, NOVA needs some help of its own to continue this valuable work," he added.

Membership in NOVA costs $30 a year.

NOVA is a private, non profit organization which provides a voice for victim interests in the U.S. Congress and state legislatures, offers, direct assistance services to crime victims, and helps in the training of local victim help programs.

The group responds to an estimated 10,000 requests for help each year and has established an emergency fund for people suffering extraordinary financial problems as a result of being victimized by crime.

NOVA also pioneered the use of a Community Crisis Response Team, made up of volunteer professional counselors who are sent to communities that have been traumatized by violence, such as Edmond, Oklahoma were a postal employee killed 14 co workers in 1986.

Over the years, NOVA has worked with a large number of other advocacy groups, including the National Coalition Against Sexual Assault, Mothers Against Drunk Driving, Parents of Murdered Children, and the National Center on Missing and Exploited Children.

Next year, Daley is scheduled to host NOVA's annual meeting, to be held in Chicago from Aug. 6-10.

NOVA actually began in 1975, founded by a group of individuals who had been working with crime victims through rape crisis centers, domestic violence shelters, prosecutors' offices and community organizations.

In late 1979, NOVA received a small federal grant enabling it to establish a national headquarters in Washington, D.C. and broaden the scope of its activities.

For information on membership, contact NOVA at 717 D St. NW, Washington, D.C. 2004, (202) 393-6682, or Daley's Victim/Witness Assistance Unit at 890-7200.

Oak Lawn Fest beer profits still bring questions

By Brian Begy

The controversy over the sale of beer at July's Oak Lawn Fest reached new volumes at Tuesday's O.L. Board of Trustees meeting.

Trustee Joe Vogrich, 5th verbally attacked a cost report offered by the Special Events Commission organizing the sale. "I've lost faith in the Commission" Vogrich said.

As the arrangement currently stands, six of O.L.'s service clubs will be granted the exclusive right to sell beer and wine at the Fest. The six are the O.L. Rotary, Kiwanis, Sertoma, the O.L. Athletic Association, and the O.L. Police Club.

At last year's Fest, O.L. businesses were allowed to take part in the sale, further dividing the profits. Last year the clubs received a total share of $38,626 to be split six ways. At the last Board meeting, Vogrich estimated this year's profits will approach $80,000. The clubs will split the $80,000 six ways, netting increased shares due to the absence of the businesses.

When the commission provided its estimates of the costs of running the beer sale, Vogrich strongly disagreed. They estimate that $10,000 of the $80,000 will be spent on various expenses such as the construction of the bars and consumption by the Fest workers who will not be charged.

"They've got serious problems." says Vogrich, who pointed out that 12% of the total profits will go unaccounted for due to these expenses. Vogrich felt that this was "an insult to my intelligence."

Mayor Ernest Kolb defended the commission against Vogrich's attacks. Kolb suggested that rather than attack the commission, he should "work with these people!".

A proposal to award the contract for supplying the beer to Southwest Distributors was postponed to a later date.

A proposal by Homewood Distributors to provide the beer caused the delay. Homewood has catered to the Oak Lawn Fest in past years and has a history of a good performance.

Because they represent Anheiser-Busch, Homewood may be capable of securing the Budweiser Clydesdale horses.

A representative from Homewood Distributors estimated the Clydesdales can draw approximately 600 extra people per day over the normal crowd.

The Board opted to delay the issue to the April 26 meeting when a definite answer on the Clydesdales can be given. Vogrich reminded the Board that there is still time to back out of the beer sale program with the clubs. "It's not too late to get out of this."

On March 22, Sward School at 97th Street and Brandt Avenue, opened the doors for the parents to the Annual Open House.

The Student Council and the Fourth Grade Class held fund drives selling candy and house plants.

The Open House gave parents a chance to talk to the teachers and check out the computer room the school has.

On March 26, Sward also had this year's School Carnival. Both adults and children look forward to this event every year.

A fun fill day of games, prizes, clown faces and Bill Hoffman and his Animal Kingdom performance were among a few of the attractions.

This column is dedicated to the Older Adult. The month of April is Senior Citizen month.

Often we hear of aging parents expressing to their children that they are concerned about their health, or the changes that are taking place within them. Too often, we do not hear exactly what they are saying, or possibly meaning.

Easter Sunday, at Sacred Heart Church in Palos Hills, I had, the privilege of attending Mass with the family and enjoying the liturgical musicians group at 10:00 a.m.

It was during that Mass at the Offertory, that four related individuals were bringing the gifts up to the altar. A parent, two teenagers, and a grandparent were selected to do this. Because of the slow movement and the use of the cane; the young parent motioned for the elder woman to remain seated as she started to get up.

The hurt look on the elder woman's face certainly reminded me of the hurt that must have taken place when Mary, Jesus's Mother, saw Him at the tomb.

Why did I relate this story to the crucifition, only because it reminded me of how we can crucify our elderly, not with thorns, but with unkind words and actions. Of course, and then be repentive at their death.

Easter was a day of glory "for the Lord has risen". Let's arise and think of the extended kindness that can be shared by all of us this month and always.

At Tuesday's Village Board Meeting, the Board voted unanimously to deny a parking variation on 5516-18-20 W. 95th Street.

There is direct proof of the existence of at least 100 billion billion stars...and we're still counting.

Teenager of the year named

In December of 1987, Village View Newspaper awarded a young man, Teenager of the Year. In looking over our records, we sent him a certificate, but there was never a mention of our winner. We are now taking this opportunity to announce Edmund Ted Rochford, a junior at Brother Rice High School. He is currently in the Honors Program and participates in many extra-curricular activities such as Dungeons and Dragons Club, Intramural Basketball and Yearbook staff.

As a member of Cor, a teen club at St. Linus, Edmund attends meetings and helps with the club activities.

Edmund was awarded the honor of being Teenager of the Year 1987 by being involved with Explorers and Boy Scouts at the St. Gerald Parish and his involvement at the St. Linus Parish.

Congratulations Edmund.

Letters To The Editor:

Merit Selection

Dear Editor,

Over a year ago Governor Thompson appointed a task force charged with drafting a proposed state constitutional amendment that would establish a merit selection system. Since then, the reality of judicial corruption in Illinois has become more and more grim. We have seen firsthand the results of an electoral process which makes judges beholden to political leaders and campaign contributors.

After a year of study and deliberation by the task force, the Governor has unveiled a merit selection bill. Common Cause/Illinois commends the task force and Governor Thompson for reaffirming their commitment to this important issue.

Common Cause/Illinois has long supported merit selection of judges in Illinois. We advocate a "local option" provision-voters in each judicial district would decide whether they wish to adopt a merit system or continue to elect judges.

The federal government appoints federal judges and two-thirds of the states have some type of merit selection process. What do they know? They know that:

*In an electoral system, a judicial candidate's political qualifications may have more to do with being elected than a candidate's judicial abilities.

*Merit selection brings to the bench a higher percentage of women and minorities than any elective system.

*In an electoral process judicial candidates frequently receive campaign contributions from lawyers and others who may later appear before them in court.

*Merit selection has checks and balances that minimize political influence, while judicial elections give politics every opportunity to assume a major place in the courtroom.

Senate President Rock and House Speaker Madigan have blocked merit selection bills in the past. They cannot be counted on for support now. Merit selection threatens the dominant role that they and other party leaders play in slating judicial candidates.

It's up to us--the citizens of Illinois--to confront grim reality and say with our voices and our votes, "We want a change!"

Sincerely,
Jane Baker
State Chairman
Common Cause/Illinois

Jesse under fire

Dear Editor,

While the Rev. Mr. Jackson has given the same basic speech hundreds of times in his quest for the Democratic nomination, has anyone taken the time to examine what the man is saying? Instead of looking to see that some of his positions are contradictory, that some of his comments are confused, or that they are plain gibberish, we hear what a great speaker he is and how he can get a crowd going.

The Rev. Mr. Jackson likes to say that any number of things in this country have "crashed." One of the things he says that have "crashed" is the shipbuilding industry in this country. They haven't, but Jesse doesn't know that yet. What he fails to note is that the Navy keeps this countrys shipbuilding industry going. The goal of the Navy is a 600 ship fleet. The Rev. Mr. Jackson would abandon that goal. If that were to happen, the shipbuilding industry in this country would really crash!

Another item Jesse is confused about is the treatment of American farmers and how farms are closing down. Farms are closing down, not because we import food as Jesse says, but rather we produce too much food. He says that farmers want higher prices. Fine, but does he realize that along with higher prices to the farmer comes high prices for the poor - the people he wants to help.

The next time you hear a Jesse speech, listen to what he is saying in between the rhymes!

Sincerely,
P. Peffley

O.L. Board of Trustees reverses position on bar

By Brian Begy

The O.L. Village Board reversed its position on late bar hours at its meeting Tuesday night.

In a sharp reversal of previous policy, the Village Board of Oak Lawn awarded a 4:00 a.m. liquor license to P & R Town & Country Liquors at its Tuesday meeting.

Despite the usual opposition by the Trustees, the traditional nature of the clientel at P & R Town & Country Liquors decided its fate.

While many establishments with 4:00 a.m. licenses have problems that lead to multiple police calls, they have had no such problems. Trustee William P. Hefka, 1st, pointed out the absence of problems from this particular establishment as a reason why they should be granted the license.

P & R Town & Country has been in operation since 1952, and has never been a problem.

Trustee Ron Stancik, 2nd, cited the problems associated with 4:00 a.m. licenses. "4:00 establishments tend to have more troubles" according to Stancik.

Mayor Ernest Kolb disagreed with Stancik, and felt that there are no real problems. "This is a good town," he said. Kolb pointed out that the O.L. Police received only five complaints on New Year's Eve.

When the matter came to a vote, the Board was split 3-3, when Kolb cast the deciding vote in favor of the license.

McCarthy and Russo agree to debates

Joseph J. McCarthy (R-Oak Lawn), candidate for Congress in the Third District, Saturday agreed to a series of debates with his opponent, Congressman Martin Russo (D-South Holland).

United Way study assesses needs for area

Oak Lawn has been chosen as one of five areas to pilot a new community needs survey for the United Way of Suburban Chicago. The survey should help standardize the process of assessing needs in anticipation of receiving United Way Funds.

The survey which started April Ist, will target three groups, each with its own questionnaire. The residential survey will include 304 names randomly selected by a computer. Those selected will get questionnaires in the mail. 150 community leaders will also receive a mail survey.

A randomly selected group of 304 persons, to be surveyed by phone, is planned for the evening of Monday, April 18th. A letter of introduction for the telephone survey will be sent to one-half of those to be telephoned. The third group to be surveyed will include key professionals from a wide range of agencies who are knowledgeable about human needs in Oak Lawn. This group will be questioned by telephone and by arranged personal interviews.

According to Tom Siedis, Needs Assessment Chairman, all responses and names will be kept in the strictest confidence. Some of the questions are highly personal and people can decline to answer, but we hope people will respond for the good of the community. Siedis says he hopes to have all responses by the end of April, after which they will be fed into a computer and a final needs report prepared shortly thereafter. Persons willing to assist with the telephone survey may call 425-8799 after 7:00 PM.

"I'm So Excited" writes;
"About a year ago, I bought a lottery ticket, and misplaced it, but recently I found it again. I discovered that I had won five numbers. I just found out it is still good. But! My friend says she went halfsies with me. I don't recall this. Should I split this with her?"
Dear Excited:
Actually, the ticket is yours! You can share it with her if you want to, but, if you have no recall that she did split the cost for it, you are not obligated to give her any of the money. It seems to me that the decision is also an "exciting one."

"Found Out He Lied" writes:
"My husband purchased some property from our savings. He said he didn't do this. But I found out he has been taking money all along and investing it. I also found out he has had a girlfriend for two years! I was heartbroken, he has been lying to me all along. His girlfriend's name is on the property. I am filing for divorce, but I want that property. It was our money that bought it! Do you think I have a chance to get it?"
Dear Found Out:
Check with an attorney. I think you will get a portion of the property, however, her name being on the papers, you may only get one half of his share of it, even though it was yours along with his, that purchased it. I am surprised that he was able to carry on an affair for two years before you found out about it. There "had" to be signals that something was wrong!

"Jeff's Girl" writes:
"I have a very happy relationship, but, my best friend just can't get a date no matter how she tries. She is going to a special party. She asked me if she could ask Jeff! I was shocked, and hurt that she would even ask such a thing. I don't know how to tell her what I think about this. I don't want to sound petty or selfish, but this is too much to ask a friend, I think. How can I tell her without making myself look unfeeling?"
Dear Girl:
There are two letters to you answer..N..O! She may have a hard time getting dates, but to even suggest that you share your guy is imposing on your relationship. Have you asked Jeff about this? Some people "DO" these things, but they are rare! One gal did this and lost her beau to her friend! If you can't say NO! then say, "I don't think this is a good idea" and dismiss it from your mind.

Miracle at Medjugorje

Copy. 1988 by JMari

As previously reported, The Madonna (Mary, mother of Jesus the Christ) began to appear at Medjugorje in Yugoslavia in 1981, and continues to appear to "seer-children" on the 25th of a month. Her messages bespeak of "Peace" and "Praying for the souls in Purgatory." As promised, here are some of the Madonna's statements to the seer-children: on why "she" appeared at Medjugorje, a little Hamlet in Yugoslavia, a Communist Country, the Madonna's answer was, "I have chosen this parish in a special way. I want to protect you and guide you in love. Therefore, I ask for a total conversion of the parish so that the pilgims can find a fountain of conversion here." (This has led many people to go to Medjugorje, and perhaps convert at that location.) Still, there are no hotels there, no hotels and few eating places, and transportation is difficult. A question comes to mind here, "does the Madonna want all believers to find their way to this particular place?" This would "create" a tourism interest in this location. But, being a Communist country, and having to get a visa, etc., may not allow most people to go there. The Madonna surely should have anticipated this. When the Madonna first appeared to the seer-children, she was asked "who she was", she answered, "I am the Blessed Virgin Mary." The seer-children said, "if you are Our Lady, stay with us. If you are not, be gone!" They claim the Lady smiled and stayed. When asked if the people should pray to her, (Mary), they were told, "Please pray to Jesus, I am His Mother, and I intercede for you with Him. But all prayer goes to Jesus. I will help. I will pray, but everything does not depend only on me. It depends also on your strength, the strength of those who pray." It is suggested that "believers (believe) as if they see...believe firmly." When the seer-children asked about healing (of a boy), they were told, "let his parents believe that he will be healed." This would indicate that people "can be healed by firm belief IN healing." Then asked about "Hell", the Madonna said, "souls who go to Hell (a word that literally means grave or hole in the ground), have ceased thinking favourable of God-have cursed Him more and more. So, they've already become a part of Hell, and CHOOSE NOT to be delivered from it." It appears that "we" have a choice! My next comment will no doubt surprise you, the reader; the Madonna was asked about the Devil. They were told that the Devil had a "conversation" with God, and "the Devil was given One Century, and he CHOSE the 20th Century!" If this be true, then past religionists who were preaching hell-fire and damnation until the 20th Century were misguided, for the Devil was not loosed in their time. Therefore, many people died or went to their death in false beliefs, suffered loss of goods, lands and reputation, burned at the stake as heretics, etc., all in vain or for someone else's gain! Namely, the church laws, or the leaders of the churches.

Shell Oil Company makes good on restitution

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan announced that Illinois received approximately $3.2 million in restitution from the Shell Oil Company for oil overcharges in violation of federal regulations. Hartigan's efforts in oil overcharge cases have to date resulted in more than $144 million in restitution for the state.

"These funds are earmarked for energy conservation programs which would normally be funded by general revenue funds. This releases the general revenue funds for use in other state programs benefiting all the people of Illinois," Hartigan said.

Hartigan is one of three state attorneys general on the executive committee of the National Association of Attorneys General that represents the states in oil overcharge cases.

The $3.2 million for Illinois resulted from a settlement between Shell Oil, the state attorneys general, and the U.S. Department of Energy. Shell had violated the Economic Stabilization Act of 1973. The Act, which was in effect from 1973 to 1981, set a fixed price for crude oil and differentiated between "old" oil and "new" oil. The problem became apparent when major petroleum companies charged "new" oil prices for "old" oil.

Since damages to individuals cannot be determined, federal quidelines specify that state energy programs benefiting the general public be funded with the proceeds.

Taking Aim on Drug and Alcohol Abuse

Two-thirds of American youth try an illicit drug before they finish high school. By the 12th grade, over one-third of adolescents have illicitly used a drug other than marijuana. Experts estimate that one in five 14 to 17 year-olds is a "problem drinker." These statistics offer a grim reminder of the need for attention to a stubbornly persistent adolescent problem: substance abuse.

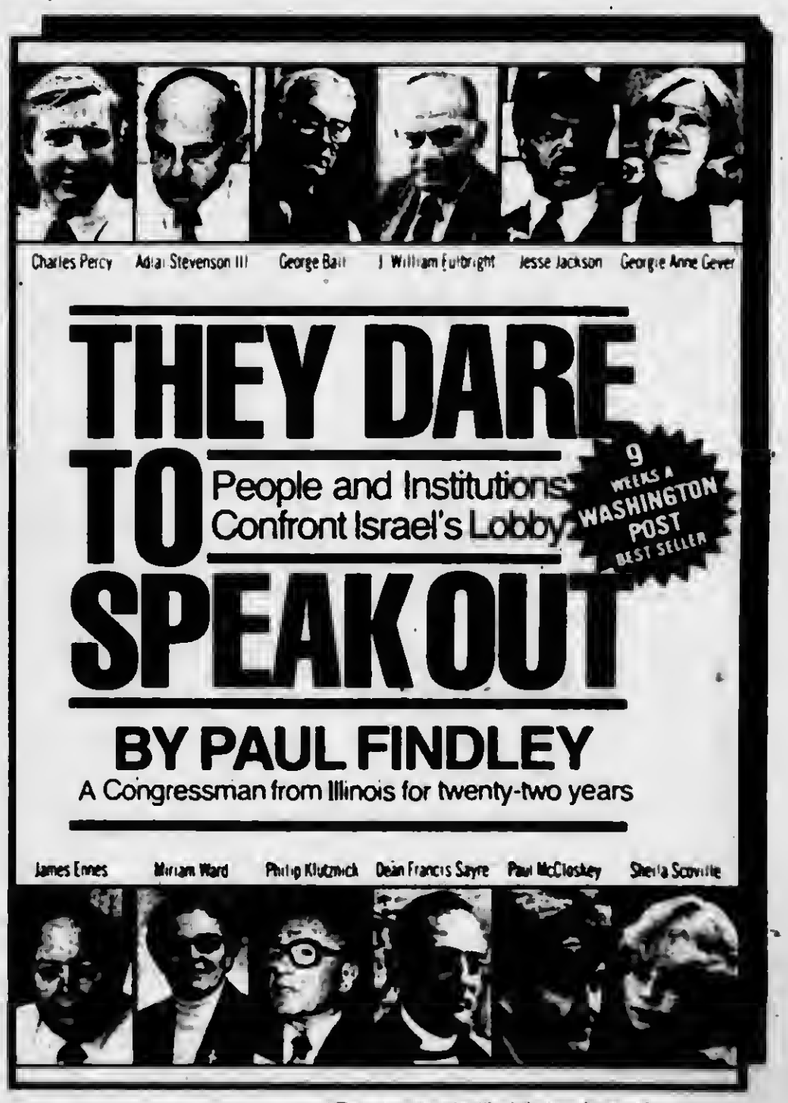
The Illinois State Medical Society Auxiliary's 2,200 members will join the ranks of those advocating education and prevention toward the goal of "drug free youth" at their upcoming Annual Meeting, April 21-22, at the Westin O'Hare Hotel in Rosemont. The gathering will serve as the kickoff for the group's 1988-89 "drug free youth" campaign.

The Auxiliary's Annual Meeting will highlight another occasion, their 60th anniversary celebration. A special luncheon session, open to the public, is planned. It will feature an International Bridal Show. Tickets are $20.

For further information or ticket purchase, contact the Illinois State Medical Society Auxiliary, 20 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago or call (312)782-2099.

The Illinois State Medical Society Auxiliary is an organization of physicians' spouses dedicated to promoting the public health through education and awareness programs. It is affiliated with the 17,000 member Illinois State Medical Society.

"Alcohol and Drug Abuse: Everybody's Problem" is the title of a community awareness seminar to be presented Sunday afternoon, April 17th, from 2:00 to 4:00 P.M. in Colonial Hall of Pilgrim Faith United Church of Christ, 9411 S. 51st Ave., in Oak Lawn. There will be no charge and no offering will be taken.



The event is sponsored by Pilgrim Faith United Church of Christ Outreach Team. Their confidential services are available to the community free of charge or obligation by calling the church office, 422-4200, and asking for referral to an outreach team member.

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

PRIMARIES...I'm wondering if the primaries as we know them are becoming an endangered species? What will replace them, if anything, is beyond me, but I really believe they are on their way out. Television and radio are major factors in this matter. And all of this is a part of the current dilemmas with the First Amendment...some of the confusion is there because our founding fathers could not give any consideration to television and radio, because not even the possibility of these ever existed in their minds...

.DID YOU KNOW...Since Reagan took office, those making over $100,000 are paying more taxes, and those making under $50,000 - are paying less! I thought these stats were quite surprising.

HIJACKERS...HIJINX...The Kuwait Airliner hijacking brings the name of Arafat back into the limelight...just when Jesse wants everyone, or at least the Jewish community of New York, to forget he even exists...the timing sure isn't what Jesse would like, but then, it tells me Jesse simply doesn't understand how good a memory the Jewish are known to have. To some, it has to give the impression that Jackson is even less experienced in politics than some imagine.

ILLUSIONS...It just seems that the wooded NW corner of 103rd and Central is losing trees...like it is slowly but surely being cleared of its trees...or is it getting bald? Makes me wonder if something is going up there SOON...before we could know what happened! Bet someone knows something we don't.

And I am Alyn

PLOWS Council on Aging will present a program or the new durable power of attorney act on Monday, May 2, at 9:30 a.m. This meeting will be held at the Palos Community Activity Center, 8455 W. 103rd Street, Palos Hills.

According to the Senior Citizens Legal Services, one of the basic tools used by the elderly to handle financial matters underwent a significant facelift last September when the "Illinois Power of Attorney Act" became effective. This new act allows Illinois residents to decide for themselves who will handle their affairs, even during periods of disability.

The new legislation allows you to pick a trusted agent on your own, define the job the agent is to undertake, and be sure the agent's authority to handle your matters will continue even in the event of your disability. The major change which allows the power of attorney to remain valid even if you are judged incompetent, permits you to control your own destiny.

A representative from the Cook County Legal Assistance office will attend this meeting to present this important new power of attorney act, explain the differences between the old and the new, and answer any questions you may have.

All PLOWS members, guests, and all interested seniors are invited to attend the program. For more information call PLOWS at 422-6722. PLOWS Council on Aging is a non-profit agency dedicated to serving persons age 60 and older who reside in Palos, Lemont, Orland, and Worth Townships.

State Representative James R. Stange, and State Representative Grace Mary Stern will appear before the "Grandchildrens Rights to Grandparents" group, on Saturday afternoon, April 23. For just this particular meeting the group will be meeting at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, located at 203 S. Kensington, LaGrange (corner of Kensington and Elm Streets).

Rep. Stange and Rep. Stern will be honored for their continuing concern and support for families and children, and particularly regarding legislation that will enable grandparents to petition the Courts for visitation rights in the best interests of the children. The next regularly scheduled meeting in May will meet again in the LaGrange Public Library.

Rep. James Stange is presenting House Bill 1333, to the House of Representatives, in Springfield on April 20. If the Bill passes it will enable all grandparents who need to do so to petition the Courts for visitation. It is not automatic visitation, it will not inundate the Courts with cases, and Bills of this type are being passed in states across the nation.

There will be a representative from the Social Security office at the Oak Lawn Senior Center on April 28th at 1:30 p.m.

Individuals having questions on Medicare/Social Security will be seen privately, on a first-come, first-served basis.

The Senior Center is located at 5330 West 95th Street.

John Dillon's Senior Column

Senior citizens in this country, should not have to tolerate any suffering or remorse because they are too old to work, or to be healthy and happy.

Older people who have given all their lives for the benefit of this country; for the benefit of their children and all of society, should not have any worries, or any unemployment, or trouble with paying bill, or enjoying the good life, here in this land of the free.

This publication will appreciate any letters you send into the Senior Citizens News, to be printed in this paper.

You must stand up and speak your minds. You must use your power, I mean the power to vote for our friends in local and national politics. There is one sure way to motivate a politician; you vote to put him in office or you vote against him, and throw him out of office, if he is not your friend.

"POWER IS ABSOLUTE, IF YOU DON'T USE IT, YOU LOSE IT."

Hayward Gwaltney, President of the Oak Lawn Senior Citizens Council passed away earlier this week. His body will be interred in the family plot in Eldorado, Illinois.

Ryan's Senior Action Line

This column contains answers to questions that are frequently asked at Lieutenant Governor George H. Ryan's Senior Action Centers. The Center's toll-free number is 1-800-252-6565.

(Question) My mother has been in failing health for several years. When she had her first stroke I took a leave of absence from work thinking that she would get better in a few months. But her health has steadily declined. To further complicate matters, she is at one end of the state and I'm at the other--and as you know, Illinois is a big state. So now Mom is several hours away, but she refuses to move away from her home. This bothers me terribly. Do you have any suggestions that might ease this long distance caregiving?

(Answer) With today's society being so mobile, you're certainly not alone with this situation. People with elderly relatives living far away have many issues to resolve. And even though most people realize that they cannot afford to regularly commute to provide care for their parents, they may experience guilt over not being there for their loved ones. Certain measures can be taken to ensure your active role in maintaining necessary care, even from a distance.

Probably most importantly, make the most of your limited visits. Chances are good you already feel financial strain, job stress, guilt and anxiety. So be certain to talk with your mother so that the two of you can assess the situation and recognize her problems and needs. That will best enable you to coordinate social services and build upon an informal support network.

Another good idea while you are at your mother's is to allow yourself enough time to visit social service agencies to see what is available for future reference. Also try to be very observant while with her. Is your mother eating well? Check for any obvious safety problems. Also consider whether Adult Day Care would be appropriate. How about household assistance-does she need help with light housework and laundry?

Remember that the goal of this "survey of needs" is for you and your mother to reach a consensus of what support is necessary. While you both may not totally agree, it is important to remember that she whould remain as independent as possible as long as she can.

Next, determine what informal network is already in existence. Most people have friends, neighbors, and relatives and others that provide support. Compile a list of them. Together with your mother talk to these people to find out exactly what assistance they are providing. Don't forget to get their addresses and phone numbers as well-in case you need to contact them later.

In addition, explain your situation. Ask them to contact you if your mother's condition changes, leaving them your phone number and instructions to call collect.

Even after identifying the informal support network, it is often a good idea to expand that network. That can be done in two ways--by asking those already involved to take on additional tasks or contact others who would be willing to become involved.

Remember, too, that those needs which cannot be met by the informal service network should be addressed through more formal means. Since it can take some time to learn about community resources, you wold be wise to do some advance planning.

One avenue is through social workers, clergy, nurses, and physicians who may be able to refer you to the appropriate services. Neighbors and friends who have used similar services can be a good resource.

Don't overlook the government section of the local telephone directory, as it is filled with information. Among the headings you're likely to find are county aging departments, the Social Security Administration, aging home care services, human services, and the Department of Aging. Excellent information and referral services can be tapped through the United Way, as well as through religious social service agencies and organizations such as Catholic Charities and Lutheran Child and Family Services, etc.

Of course, one of the most clear-cut routes whether in Illinois or out-of-state is through the Department on Aging. For more information on the Illinois Area Agencies or any of the State Agencies on Aging and their phone number contact Lieutenant Governor Ryan's Senior Action Center toll-free at 1-800-252-6565.

On Sunday, April 24th at the Gasteyer School (99th Street and 54th Avenue), bikers of all ages are expected to pedal away the day to raise money for research on cystic fibrosis, according to Dr. Floyd W. Woods of the Oak Lawn Kiwanis Club, chairman of the event.

"The day promises to be fun-filled and a great opportunity to help defeat a crippler that is many times more common the MS is young people," said Woods. "The Oak Lawn Kiwanis Club is going all-out to make sure that the riders can win some terrific prizes based on their support pledges. If you can't ride, you can still help defeat CF by sponsoring riders to help win these prizes for them."

Publisher's Pen

by Annette Dixon

Commentaries are frequently written by editors regarding politics, environment, religious attitudes, and just plain ordinary feelings. Many times I have wished that I had more time to have a commentary for each paper, instead the choice of a Publisher's Pen suffices

Entertainment is the number one choice in our country. Many dollars are being spent each year on entertainment. In fact, one statistic indicated we spent more on leisure time activities than on basic necessities of food, housing, etc.

Within the past few years, more families are enjoying family orientated events. The zoos are packed again, parks are being used, and museums are also crowded. What is great about all of this, is that local municipalities are also encouraging family activities! It would be so wonderful to see our local government sponsor a great day around the historical Cook building which houses many organizations. Many people in Oak Lawn surely do not know that the Cook School Center houses the Oak Lawn Historical Museum.

Oak Lawn has had a historical past with a prosperous growth within its community. Now is the time to recognize our community's history and inspire the youth within our community. We need more activity within our community with our leaders.

A plug for Paul Christy, a one time resident of Evergreen Park, will MC an entertainment fest, Sunday May 1st, at Lake "N" Park Inn on 108th & Roberts Road. There is a family show at 4:00 p.m.

Ken Schultz, Mr. Energy the flying fool, John Measner and Kathy Nolan along with Mike and Clarence the Rabbit will he the entertainment. Magic will be performed two hours before each show.

The family show will start at 2:00 p.m. with magic and at 4:00 p.m., the main show. There will be food, prizes, and much, much, more. Tickets are purchased at the door, adults $10 and children under 12, $5.

While Peggy's business is considerably larger today than it was when she started the studio twenty the same friendly, personalized treatment that helped build her business still exists today and is conveyed by the entire staff. "Each and every student of ours is important," Peggy stated. "That is why we go out of our way for our students. They deserve it. They have put us where we are today."

Peggy's Dance Studio closed it's doors in Oak Lawn on Thursday, March 31, 1988 for Easter break. Peggy's reopened on Saturday, April 9, 1988 at the new location--7211 W. 103rd Street, Palos Hills. Life of handicapped not easy

By: Michelle Latanski

On July 1, 1987, Bob Cummings, a minuteman for the Illinois Department of Transportation, was involved in a traffic accident. This accident occured on the Eisenhower Expressway when Bob was responding to a rescue call. It left Bob with a dislocated left hip, and a number of internal injuries. After a total, of nine surgeries, Bob is now able to walk, and is restricted to a wheelchair. Bob is married to Pat, and is the father of two children: Sarah, age six and Brian, age three. Bob's past was a very active one. Bob went to Richards High School and attended the Air Force Academy on a football scholarship. He also worked as a volunteer fireman for Roberts Park before he came to work as a minuteman for the Illinois Department of Transportation. Bob has been working as a minuteman for the past three years.

Since the accident, Bob's recovery has been a readjustment. Bob is now a handicapped individual, having to rely on a wheelchair to get around. Anger and frustration is an every day occurence for Boh Cummings. Bob still likes to do normal activities, but finds it very hard to "because of physical and structural barriers."

Every day activities such as shopping, eating out, and trips around the block are major projects for Bob and his family.

Because Bob is restricted to a wheelchair, he also finds himself restricted from going to certain public places. Not all grocery stores are equipped with ramps and electric doors. Some stores have gates at their entrances to keep the shopping carts in, but this keeps Bob out.

Some restaurants, especially fast food, have fixed seating. This makes it difficult for Bob and his family to eat together. Bob usually sits in the aisle, because his wheelchair cannot fit.

Around Bob's neighborhood, the sidewalks are not curbed down at intersections. Nor does the sidewalk cover the entire block. Bob usually has to ride in the street.

Parking a car is also difficult when Bob's wife, Pat, drives him around. People park their cars in handicapped zones without the proper authorization. This was especially predominate during the Christmas season. Sometimes, the Cummings had to park far away because the handicapped zones were occupied.

From experiencing the world in a wheelchair, Bob says that "our society is not geared toward a handicapped society." Certain public places are not courteous towards the handicapped. In general, Bob encounters many barriers in everyday living. Bob would like to live his life as normal as possible. He wants to go places and visit places, but certain things need to be done in order for Bob to be as normal as possible.

Boh's experience has been a learning readjustment for both him and his family. Bob admits that he never thought about the problems of the handicapped, until he himself became handicapped. Now Bob sees everything in a whole new perspective.

South side reverend indicted for sex assault

The founder of a South Side boy's club was indicted recently by a Cook County grand jury on criminal charges alleging he sexually attacked two teenage boys placed in his care as foster children.

Rev. Paul J. Hall, 41, of South Holland, was indicted on 16 counts of criminal sexual assualt and eight counts of aggravated criminal sexual abuse.

The charges were announced by Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley, South Holland Police Chief Dennis Smits, and Illinois Department of Children and Family Services Chief of Internal Investigations Robert Moore.

The indictments followed a 12-week investigation by those three agencies, as well as the Cook County Sheriff's office, under the guidelines of the State's Attorney's Task Force on Mass Molestation of Children.

"The evidence clearly shows that Rev. Hall betrayed the trust of these two children, who were victimized by the very person who was responsible for their safety," Daley said.

According to the indictments, Rev. Hall committed sexual attacks against the two boys, one who is now 15 and one who is now 16, beginning in mid-1986 for the younger child and last fall for the older victim.

All of the charges involve alleged attacks at Rev. Hall's South Holland residence and there is no evidence at this time of any connection with the Paul Hall Boy's Club, 9039 S. Ashland Ave., authorities said.

Rev. Hall is scheduled to be arraigned May 2 in the Sixth Judicial District courthouse in Markham.

Allegations of other children being sexually abused under similar circumstances are still under investigation and the officials refused to comment on the possibilty of additional charges.

Criminal sexual assault is a Class 1, non-probationable felony carrying a possible 4-to-15-year prison term for anyone convicted of that offense.

Under the Task Force guidelines, established in 1986 to coordinate investigations of alleged child molestation involving multiple potential victims, police and prosecutors sought to question other individuals placed in Rev. Hall's home as foster children.

Ask Kira...

"Daddy's Girl" writes: My husband expects to act like one of those "street girls", and chides me saying that "I am a Daddy's girl, a baby when it comes to sex." I am not "that kind of girl" my husband wants me to be. I am thinking of divorcing him!" Are his abuses a cause for divorce in a court of law?

Dear Daddy's Girl: See a lawyer, but, I do not think that mere suggestions are cause for divorce, unless he is forcing you to do things you do not want to do. You do not indicate this. But, if you are uncomfortable living with these suggestions, I say, go ahead and set him free to find someone that will do what he wants.

"Up In The Air" writes: I met a guy that makes me feel like I am on cloud nine...up in the air...not wanting to come down! We are very compatable, but, he doesn't want to marry me. I am always there for him! Is there anyway that I can get him to marry me?

Dear Up!: You cannot make someone marry you, not in today's society! But, being "there for him" all of the time is not the best idea. Perhaps you are "too" available. Be a little more "hard to get" and maybe he will miss you enough to pursue you with marriage in mind.

"Lefty" writes: I went to a parochial school, where I was forced to write with my right hand. This has affected me, emotionally, even today, twenty years later. Anything that I feel is "forcing me" makes me so angry that I become hostile and sometimes even violent. What can I do to change myself?

Dear Lefty: First, learn to write again with your left hand. I only wish that "educators" would realize what they are doing to people they force from being left-handed to right-handed, your letter might convince them. This form of force often shows up in the psychological make-up of people years after they leave school. Second, learn to forgive! Anger only brings on more anger and people become the victims of unresolved hostility. Parents should insist that their left-handed children be let to use their left hand! What's the big deal about being right-handed?

Ask Kira; write to me in care of this publication. Your letters will be answered in this column.

MVCC Baseball team optomistic

Moraine Valley Community College's baseball team got hot at the end of the 1987 season and suprised almost everyone by making it to the N.J.C.A.A. Region IV finals. Injuries, inexperience and a lack of pitching depth hampered the team most of the season, so when the tournament time rolled around, not much was expected.

"We were healthy and had some great games at the tournament," says second-year coach Al Budding.

This year the team figures to do better during the regular season, so post season suprises are less likely.

T.V. Evangelism, out of style?

T.V. Evangelism is apparently "going out of style", with the exposes of Jimmy Swaggart, the Bakkers, and others. T.V. sermons were popular because people could feel that they had met their "sense of obligation to God" by just turning on T.V., hearing the "word" while dressed in their pajamas, sipping coffee, while making breakfast for the kiddies, etc. The popular evangelists were totally apprised of these facts, and capitalized on them. People didn't have to get out in bad weather, shovel snow, and start the engine; they didn't have to dress the kids or themselves, and go out to a church. After-all, "there is only one God, so what difference did it make where they got their sermons from? They all preached the word of God." This was their answer to not going to the local churches! Writing a check once a month, or sending in a pledge was no different than putting weekly contributions into the collection plate. But, when it was discovered that their T.V. Ministers were in truth "bilking the the media congregations, and living less than Godly lives", some people felt "betrayed". For others, their "sense of obligation expanded to forgiving these sins because it is written forgive lest ye not be forgiven." These "fallen angels" know that they can appeal to this God-Law of forgiveness by their members, but it doesn't mean that they will stop bilking the public or will they live more "Godly lives". If for some reason, a person feels that they cannot forgive such things, they are made to feel "guilty" by others. It is such a catch-22 for people who truly want the gospels, to live a decent life, Christian or not, and are condemned by the very Clergy for doing what Clergy does. "Simon says" is this what religon has come down to? Or is it, "Don't do as I do, do as I say?"

Talman and Symphony join forces

Theodore H. Roberts, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Talman Home Federal Savings, announced that Talman will work with the 1988 Radiothon 13, the annual fundraiser for the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. All metropolitan Chicago offices of Talman will serve as distribution points for the Radiothon 13 premium catalog which detail the premiums available for pledges ranging from $5 to $50,000.

"It is indeed our pleasure to work with Radiothon 13," said Roberts, "as their efforts in support of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, both the finest of all world class symphonies and one of Chicago's treasured assets, mesh with Talman's long standing tradition and support of fine music."

The premiums offered range from the practical to the luxurious, and include both personal work and donated musical services of many Chicago Symphony musicians.

Radiothon 13, 1988 is scheduled for the broadcast weekend of April 22, 23, and 24, and will be carried on WFMT (98.7 FM), Chicago's premiere fine music station that has enjoyed more than 30 years of Talman sponsorship.

Catalogs may be obtained free of charge during regular business hours at any Talman office. For further information about the Radiothon or the premium catalog, call Sandra Nichols, Radiothon 13 Chairperson at (312) 435-8295.

During a lunch break, the two state legislators met with NIU President John La Tourette and talked with students, including Trish Maher and Joanne Coleman, who are both sophomores and both are from OAK LAWN. The day-long event was sponsored by NIU's department of human and family resources.

Hartigan awarded legislator honors

Illinois Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan has been named the first recipient of an outstanding legislator award from the Division on Mental Retardation of the Council for Exceptional Children.

Dr. Edward A. Polloway, president of the division, said Hartigan had been singled out "for supporting and advancing legislation for persons with mental retardation."

Included in Hartigan's accomplishments, Polloway said, were:

--The creation of a separate division on the issue of disability rights to meet the needs of the mentally retarded,

--Individual advocacy efforts.

--Hartigan's championing of legislation which created CHIPS - comprehensive healtl insurance plan - for persons unable to obtain regular health insurance because of handicaps or special medical needs,

--and other important legislative initiatives.

"Your efforts are very consistent with our original intent in establishing this award," Polloway said.

The Division on Mental Retardation is a part of the Council for Exceptional Children, a national group of more than 75,000 educators and allied professions.

Oak Lawn Fire Department hosts conference

Firefighters practice on a facility of the type that will be used in the conference.

The Oak Lawn Fire Department is hosting the Spring 1988 Conference of the Illinois Society of Fire Service Instructors on April 29 and 30, 1988.

The State of Illinois is the leader of all states in training programs and state certifications. To provide on-going excellence in fire service training, the Conference will conduct workshops in various areas of fire and emergency situations, thereby providing instructors with the latest information and technology to train the firefighters in their own departments.

As part of the Conference, the Oak Lawn Fire Department will host actual training exercises, such as the one shown above, at its Station # 2. Chairman of the Conference is Oak Lawn Fire Engineer Dan Czarnecki.

O'Hare airport bill supported by Daniels

House Republican Leader Lee Daniels said legislation he sponsored and introduced this week would help provide noise relief and offer equity protection to homeowners near O'Hare International Airport.

Daniels said the eight-bill legislative package includes measures to create permanent financing for school soundproofing and establishes a 14-member regional airport authority for major airports in Cook, DuPage and Kane counties.

Other measures would establish a midnight to 5 a.m. curfew on scheduled arrivals and departures and ban state funding for runway construction, extension or expansion at O'Hare. In addition, the City of Chicago would be prohibited from condemning suburban land for airport purposes unless authorized to do so by municipal authorities.

Under the proposed legislation (House Bills 3574-3580, 3583) a 5-cent-per-gallon aircraft fuel tax and a $1 per commercial airline passenger tax would be imposed to fund the Airport Noise Soundproofing and Equity Assurance Fund. 75 percent of this fund would be used to soundproof schools, hospitals and homes. The remaining 25% would be used to compensate home sellers in high-noise areas.

Sertoma screenings

Free hearing and speech screenings are planned in May by the Sertoma Center for Communicative Disorders, Palos Heights, in recognition of the national observance of Better Hearing and Speech Month.

The Center has set free hearing screenings for Monday, May 2, from 9 to 11:45 a.m. (for senior citizens only); Thursday, May 12, from 9 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. (for persons age 6 and up); and Wednesday, May 25, from 9 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. (for persons age 6 and up). In addition, the Center, in cooperation with the Brementowne Mall, 159th and Oak Park, Tinley Park, will hold free hearing screenings for senior citizens from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Mall's Community Room.

Free speech screenings are planned at the Center for Friday, May 6, from 10 a.m. to noon, and Friday, May 20, also from 10 a.m. to noon. These screenings are for persons 2 years of age and older.

The hearing and speech screenings are by appointment only. Arrangements may be made by calling 361-2121.

Chairman of the national observance is President Ronald Reagan. Comedian Norm Crosby is publicity chairman. Six-year-old Jessica Riley of New London, CT is the 1988 poster child.

An estimated 24 million Americans have hearing, speech, or language problems. Communication disorders are the nation's No. 1 handicapping disability affecting more people than heart disease, paralysis, epilepsy, blindness, tuberculosis, cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy, and multiple sclerosis combined. Fully 10 percent of our local citizens are affected by speech and hearing problems, with annual health care costs and loss of earnings due to these disorders at a staggering $26 billion.

The Sertoma Center, at 7330 College Drive in Palos Heights, is the only nonprofit speech, hearing, and learning disability center serving people of all ages in the Chicago south suburban area since 1978. Its operations are partially funded by the United Ways of Alsip, Hills, Burbank/Nottingham Park, Midlothian/Oak Forest, Oak Lawn, Orland Park, Palos, Tinley Park, and Worth/Chicago Ridge, and by local Sertoma clubs and the Sertoma Foundation.

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

COLORS ...as if black and white wasn't enough of a matter for some people to deal with, now comes the movie "Colors," creating more problems...only it's the color of clothes, and the symbolism of the gangs involved. Seems like some people think just because there are all these fuses around they have to be set off!

CAN YOU IMAGINE? ...The Braidwood 1 overrun was $872 million (more than one-fourth of the total cost of the facility), as indicated in an eight-volume audit commissioned by the Illinois Commerce Commission, which sets electricity rates. Logically, Commonwealth Edison is seeking a rate hike, and feels justified in doing so. Do you still have a wallet? Is there anything in it? However, based on the dive Edison stock is in at the moment, maybe we'll get off on this one. Edison may be held responsible (welcome to the private sector!).!!!

IMAGINE SOME MORE ...Some people actually think that Smokers have rights too!...Wow!...trouble is, what I have seen in print on this subject of smoking is void of any logic, with the exception of articles written on the rights of smokers...by smokers. One minor consideration: how will the multi-millions of tax dollars brought in by the purchase of cigarettes be replaced? By your wallet alone...plan on it!

And I am Alyn

Senior Perspective

SENIOR CITIZENS COULD BE THE FORGOT—TEN AMERICAN CITIZENS.

These people have been working for this country, raising children for this country and giving their tax money and their all, for this country.

They are extra special people, and they should be treated in a special way; they and their children and their friends.

We are worrying about people in all parts of the world, and sending hundreds of millions of dollars to foreign countries, and for what reason, or maybe this money is being sent for an excuse, and maybe we should find out who is getting all these millions of dollars in foreign countries.

Senior citizen organizations and clubs in Oak Lawn can form a strong and vigilant force to make these politicians, to start sending all this money to Senior citizens in this "land of the free." We need friends...loyal and faithful and honest, and devoted to our intrests, in Washington.

THE SENIOR CITIZENS SPRING LUNCHEON WILL BE HELD AT THE SABER ROOM, APRIL 23, this year at 12:00 noon.

This event is held two times a year, and one of the most popular events of the year.

Tickets are now on sale; usually the demand is very good, and the price is $8.50 per ticket.

Police Give Thumbs Up To Optical Fingerprint Files

A powerful image processor can electronically enhance fingerprints, so even partial, smudged or over-inked fingerprints can be matched accurately against a data base of criminal fingerprints.

When a routine traffic stop of a suspected stolen car ended in the fatal shooting of a Miami policeman, more than 2,500 officers were mobilized for a manhunt to find the killer.

As part of the investigation, a barely-visible fingerprint lifted from the suspect's car was entered into the Miami Police Department's computerized fingerprint identification system. The system enhanced the image and then scanned 480,000 fingerprint sets on file. A short time later, a match identifying a suspect appeared on the computer screen and police arrested the suspect within three hours of the shooting. Because of the swiftness of the arrest, the murder weapon was recovered with the suspect before he had time to dispose of it.

Computerized fingerprint files have become a popular high-tech investigative tool saving detectives' shoe leather as well as countless hours of manually sifting through fingerprint cards. The U.S. Secret Service, the FBI and numerous local United States police departments have working systems.

With the system, a single examiner at a computer terminal can match a set of fingerprints with those on file at a rate of 2,000 prints a second. The systems are used to compare an individual's fingerprints to those on file to uncover aliases or provide security clearance.

Introduced in the late 1970s, automated fingerprint systems incorporate new optical disk technology, which allows computer systems to store more data at lower costs than filing data on traditional magnetic tape.

"Optical disk offers incredible amounts of low-cost data storage using 12-inch disks," said C. Alan Conover, president of Optimem, a manufacturer of optical disk drives used in fingerprint systems and a subsidiary of Cipher Data Products, Inc. of San Diego. "One disk can store all the text of eight sets of Encyclopedia Britannica. In fingerprint systems, one optical disk can store approximately 400,000 fingerprint images."

Optical technology and a technique known as 'data compression, which reduces the amount of computer storage space required for each fingerprint, help make the fingerprint systems more efficient. Earlier systems showed fingerprints using numbers to represent the ridges and forks that make each fingerprint unique. When a possible match came up, the examiner had to retrieve the original card from a filing cabinet to make a positive match.

Today's systems capture the actual fingerprint images, including ridges and forks, as the rolled fingerprints or latent prints are entered at the computer terminal. The image that appears on the computer screen during a search looks just like the original rolled fingerprint. The result is faster record retrieval and comparison. Outlying police agencies can now access central files through a computer network. With a network, agencies no longer have to visit fingerprint files or travel to other jurisdictions to verify prints in person. It could mean putting the finger on a felon before your family can be hurt.

Firefighters and citizens honored by Oak Lawn

Village Board

By: Brian Begy

Tuesday's Village Board Meeting contained honors for Oak Lawn's firefighters and Oak Lawn's citizens as well.

Two of Oak Lawn's firefighters, Edward Brand and Stephen Grabowski, received Firefighter II training certificates. Mayor Ernest Kolb stated that Brand and Grabowski were practically first in the state program.

Five of Oak Lawn's firefighters received their Firefighters III certificates. They are: Patrick Kelly, Kenneth Leonard, Peter Lombardi, Norman Rick and Lorainne Hurt. Hurt is Oak Lawn's first woman firefighter. Kolb said that the Oak Lawn Fire Department does a good job of "keeping up with the times".

Prizes were awarded for O.L.'s recycling program at the meeting. The winners were: 5th place, Mrs. Gajda; 4th place, Mr. Rodney Law; 3rd place, Mr. John Merritello; 2nd place, Mr. Robert Rampage; and receiving a $300 prize for first place was Mr. Gustave Kukowski. Currently, only 6,000 Oak Lawn households are participating in the recycling program. By September, all 16,000 households in Oak Lawn will be involved.

In other business, the Mayor issued a proclamation making the 50th anniversary for the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America. Kolb named April "Barbershop Harmony Month" in the Village of Oak Lawn.

The Board also honored the Oak Lawn Community High School Theater Arts Club by naming May 1st to 7th Oak Lawn Community High School Theater Arts Week in the Village of Oak Lawn. Members of the club are holding a free performance of the musical "Guys and Dolls" for senior citizens on May 3rd at 7:00 at the school. Trustee Ron Stancik described the play as "an excellent tradition".

Other proclamations named April 24th to 30th as "National Consumers Week", May 8-14 as "Just Say No to Drugs Week", May 1-7 as "Illinois Nurses' Week" and named the month of May "Older Americans Month".

Chulucana Fellows hold 22nd Annual Cocktails

The Chulucana Fellows held their recent 22nd Annual Worthy Cause Cocktail party at the Rosewood West Restaurant.

The Chulucana Fellows is a group of local businessmen who banded together to assist Bishop John McNabb's many works in the impoverished area of Chulucana, Peru.

MacBride Principles now headed for full Senate

The MacBride Principles, sponsored by State Representative John J. McNamara (D-Oak Lawn), passed out of the Illinois House of Representatives and now moves to the Senate.

The MacBride Principles, contained in House Bill 1374, are nine principles that seek equal access to employment in Northern Ireland.

Representative McNamara, State Chairman for the MacBride Principles told the General Assembly, "It's a matter of equal opportunity. It is not right to invest Illinois pension funds in companies that discriminate against Irish Catholics in Northern Ireland."

House Bill 1374 would require a survey to be conducted of United States corporations that operate in Northern Ireland in which Illinois pension funds are invested, to determine if they are adhering to the MacBride Principles.

"We have laws in this state regarding fair employment opportunities and affirmative action," McNamara said.

"This type of legislation will help end the discrimination, and improve the whole investment climate," McNamara continued. "Catholics in Northern Ireland have been discriminated against and denied fair employment far too long. Urging companies to adhere to the MacBride Principles will ensure employees get a fair chance."

Anyone who would like a brochure regarding the MacBride Principles can write State Representative John J. McNamara, 5323 West 95th Street, Oak Lawn, Ill., 60453, or call 312/422-9300.

Publisher's Pen

by Annette Dixon

Joyce Macey wrote in her column that Lillian Hansen won a blue Mercedes Benz. I couldn't wait to call Lillian. How come I didn't hear about that, afterall friend, I should be the first columnist to know.

I really didn't say that, I only thought it. Lillian Hansen and I have worked together for the past two years. She was very helpful in campaign days.

Lillian Hansen has done a superb job as a volunteer for Palos Community Hospital Auxiliary. It was in this capacity that Lillian decided to attend the Auxiliary Ball at the Hyatt Regency hotel. Lillian was in charge of the celebrities: John Drury and guest Ann. Dr. Duncan and his wife, Beth and State Senator Bill Maher, Sirrku and Bruce Barnes. Lillian was on a cruise recently with her husband Gill celebrating their anniversary. It was that evening she decided to attend the ball, although she had her table arranged for her guests. When Lillian arrived at the ball she purchased her $100 raffle ticket and asked John Drury to be sure to pick her ticket.

Since she had not ever won anything before she wasn't paying much attention as John Drury was called to pick the ticket for some lucky winner.

John picked 333 and Lillian could now claim she finally won a prize beyond all dreams. With all the taxes she had to pay, close to $9,000, Lillian said it's worth having the Mercedes. They already sold their 1983 Lincoln Town Car and are tooling around Oak Lawn in their beautiful blue, smooth riding Mercedes Benz. Lillian congratulations, no one deserves it more than you do. You did a fine job all year as publicity chairperson for the auxiliary and I'm sure God rewarded you for all your efforts.

Installation of officers will take place May 4th, at Midlothian Country Club. Lillian Hansen will be installed as recording secretary for Palos Community Hospital Auxiliary.

That topic is Insurance for elected (but non-paying officials).

In the headlines, we have read not too long ago about Pat Flemming returning $2000 back to Moraine Community College for Insurance premiums paid for by the school. Now we are hearing the same story again with the Oak Lawn Library Board members.

We all know that when group insurance is taken for a company, in some instances it doesn't matter how many employees you are paying for, because the cost of the policy is based upon a given percentage of employees. The case being, how much extra is being charged the school or library for the elected officials coverage? Is this a fair and just cause, having the tax payer pay for the insurance benefits? I have my own opinion, but it may not be a popular one.

Let's ask ourselves, how many individuals would like to run for an office of that of a non-paying position and be able to sit on a board, make decisions for the taxpayer, be accountable to the public 24 hours a day and receive no remuneration.

March of Dimes plans Walk America

By Annette Dixon

April 24, 1988 was a sunnier, warmer day than the previous day. It was a day for all volunteers in the Walk America Walk-A-Thon to be jubilant. From start to finish, Grant Park, Butler Field, was the focal point, with a 3.0 kilometer run, hike, walk, skate. Whatever a volunteer could do in order to raise money. Volunteers were plentiful from the southside of Chicago.

Corporations such as Talman, Citicorp, Carson Pirie Scott, City of Chicago and others contributed their support, money and volunteers.

Terry Stumpf, of the Scottsdale area, was wearing a homemade bonnet made of red, white and blue ribbon, white terry cloth headband which read, Carson Distribution Center. On top of the headband sat a mortar board decorated with polka dots and a stove pike peak, topped with six multi-colored balloons. The slogan read, "Carson's is for you." Terry was there volunteering her time along with Ann Postlewait, Evergreen Park; Irene Kozik, Oak Lawn; Dorothy Jeffrey, Burbank; and Rosie Jackson, Chicago. All the ladies were from Carson's Distribution Center in Bedford Park. They were there to pass out Orange Juice, candy and granola bars to the volunteers.

Citicorp, Number 1 contributor in for the past three years of March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon set a goal this year of $100,000 plus. George Niccolai, Chairman of Citicorp's Walk-A-Thon volunteers stated, "One million dollars was donated last year to March of Dimes from the Walk-A-Thon. A good portion of people are from the southside of Chicago who volunteer. Ten of our branches are all represented by southsiders."

Clarice J. Dortch, representative from Talman's volunteers helped register 525 walkers from 8:30 Sunday morning. Some of the walkers start coming back within 4 to 5 hours. Talman's goal was $45,000.

Even the City of Chicago's Department of Inspectional Services was represented. Mr. Thomas Russell said about 55 walkers volunteered to walk for March of Dimes.

It was a sunny day for Chicago and surely a successful one, even for March of Dimes Chicago, HMO Ltd. Walk America.

Little Company's Auxiliary gets donations for hospital

The Little Company of Mary Hospital Auxiliary recently presented a check for $100,000 to the hospital at the Auxiliary's annual Reflections '88 luncheon and fashion show. The check, which was presented to hospital president Sr. Kathleen McIntyre, LCM, by Auxiliary President Nadine Murray, brings the total donations to LCMH to $2,037,930. These funds will be applied to a $500,000 pledge designated for the installation of a Clinac 1800 Linear Accelerator, a state-of-the-art radiation therapy device that will benefit LCMH's cancer patients. The Clinac 1800 will be operational at LCMH by July, 1988.

The annual Refections luncheon and fashion show, held at the Martinique, Drury Lane Oak Brook Terrace, is the LCMH Auxiliary's largest fundraising and social event. Coordinating the event this year were Auxilians Ellen Casey, Mary Yario, Carolyn Winterfield and Ellen Smith. This year's fashion show featured representatives from 43 organizations who modeled fashions in three categories.

The winners in the sportswear category were Patricia Throwbridge, representing Birthright of Chicago, first prize, and a tie for second prize between Regina Hulihan, from Beverly Country Club, and Shari Einfalt, Americana Monticello Health Center. In the "dressy daytime" category, first place went to Carry Buck, Saints Faith, Hope and Charity Women's Guild, and second prize was awarded to Chris Pequet, Children's Home & Aid Society, Hinsdale. Winners in the Cocktail/Formal category were Natalie LaPorte, St. Bede's Women's Guild, first place, and Lu Eiseman, Misericordia, second place.

Immigrant doctor finds home at Little Company in Care Depot

When Dr. Lourdes Dimaano Floro was growing up in the Philippines with her three brothers and two sisters, her parents constantly guided her to be the best she could be, "to be the brightest among the shining stars." She took that advice to heart, and combined with her desire to serve others, has become one of the most noted pediatricians in the Chicago area.

Today, Lourdes Floro, M.D., might be engrossed in a learning game with one of the patients in the Care Depot, a day care program she began in 1987 for sick children at Little Company of Mary Hospital.

That evening you will find her conducting a workshop in the Family Asthma Program, an innovative program she helped revitalize three years ago.

Another morning she will spend her time overseeing the children's Stress Management Program she instituted, before attending a meeting to plan her next volunteer medical trip to the Philippines.

During her tenure as Chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at LCMH, Dr. Floro revamped a number of existing programs and developed still more to improve the quality of life for her young patients.

"I saw a very real need for programs that would help overweight children and children that were suffering from a great deal of stress," Floro explained. "I decided that if I wanted to help these patients, I needed to do it myself."

The Weight Management Clinic for children 2-18 is now operated from the LCMH Outpatient Department by Frank Thorp, M.D. of the University of Chicago.

A unique program instituted by Dr. Floro is Care Depot., located in the Pediatric Department at LCMH, it provides professional care for children suffering from minor illnesses that prevent them from attending their regular school or day care.

After practicing medicine in the Philippines for several years, she and her husband, Dr. Rodrigo B. Floro, a general surgeon, relocated to Chicago.

Dr. Floro has served on the pediatrics staff at LCMH since 1972 and was chairman of the Department of Pediatrics for two consecutive terms from 1983 to 1987.

In addition to her busy schedule as a physician, Dr. Floro is also involved in the Association of Philippine Physicians in America organization. She has also served as a lecturer in continuing medial education programs. Through the Philippine Medical Association in Chicago she has donated two weeks of medical care to the indigent patients in the Ospital ng Maynila in 1986 and 1987.

"Returning to the Philippines to help my fellow countrymen was a wonderful experience. It was difficult, but I left with a true sense of accomplishment," Floro said.

The medical tradition is being carried on with the Floro children. Twin daughters Clarisse and Christine are in medical and dental school respectively.

PSYCHIC PREDICTION FOR ALL SIGNS
Copy. 1988 by Tracking Internation

Aries/Scorpio

Making progress sometimes "MASKS" itself so that we don't see it. But, it is here! A Pisces person will come to your aid in perhaps a financial matter, and you will feel great "knowing where you stand."

Taurus/Libra

Look to Aries Scorpio for special helps. However, people are not "mind-readers", so, speak up and ask!

Gemini/Virgo

You could receive some very good news about a problem that has been "perplexing." Be smart! Image what you want and make it a daily practice. Your mind is the best tool you have!

Cancer

Love is the only real accomplishment in this life, so go for it! Apparently, you have been letting important need "float along." A Leo enters your life soon, a clue?

Leo

Make no mistake, you are ready for success, and have "proven" yourself. Now, be ready to meet with people who can push you ahead. One can be a Taurus or Libra.

Sagittarius

Someone once said, "life goes on", and this is true. But, what is life without your powerful input? You have ideas that can aid others, put them out and let them be absorbed. A Gemini helps and someone named Joan or a "J".

Capricorn

When people make promises that are not kept, and it upsets you, stop and think, "did they ever intend to keep it?" Reach your own conclusions and don't fall for it again. Aquarius helps clarify this message.

Aquarius

You possess much wisdom, and are obligated to share it. Keep in mind that you have a mission in life, in humanities. Also, money comes back to you and look great too!

Pisces

Whatever you have been up to has an impact on the events of the next two weeks! All in the plus factors! So, get back to them and make plans to put your plans into action! Scorpio helps if you ask.

Ask Kira...

Grannie writes: "I am a lonely old woman, no one visits me. I live alone. I have raised 6 children and have 11 Great-Grandchildren. They all live close by. I write and call but they don't respond. I am poor and can't give them things. Is this the reason?"

Dear Grannie: Some children are just plain "unthinking", however, the parents of these children should be more instrumental towards "teaching them about love and family." If it is the fact that you are poor and can't "give them things" then, there is even a more serious problem, that being, "they are taught a false sense of values." One cannot "buy" love or should they have to." Good luck in the future.

Lots of Luck writes: "I've been winning in the lotteries (not the big bucks, but some), and everything I touch lately seems to turn into gold! Opportunities are coming in the droves. My health is good, my love-life is great, the kids are wonderful, and I am happy with me. My closest friend says this must mean that something really terrible will happen soon. She says that what is happening for me, (since I began meditating) is not normal.

Dear Luck: Keep doing what you are doing. With friends like this one you speak of, who needs enemies!? She is misinformed, people are "supposed to be happy" and Lady Luck smiling on you is making her jealous. Meditation in no way is bad for people, and when things are going right, it does not mean that terrible things "follow!" Since you now have the "golden touch", why not reach out for a new friend?

Where's Justice? writes: "I was brought up to think that people are considered "innocent until proven guilty", but sadly, I find out that this is not true! My brother was accused of theft. I "know" he didn't do it because we were having dinner together on the evening he was said to have committed the crime. No one believes this because he is my brother and they say I lied for him. Where can I go with my story and get my brother the help he needs?"

Dear Where's Justice: If you have tried everything, and cannot find help, then take you story to the newspapers, or the television media, even 60 minutes. There is an old saying that there is power in crying the loudest. Realize that Lady Justice is blindfolded...someone has to open her eyes, and this can be you.

ASK KIRA: write in care of this publication; letters answered only in this column.

DATA SUBJECTS
COPYRIGHT 1988
By Jacki Mari

It has come to public attention that something called "Data Subjects" has become "big business" as well as an "invasion of privacy." And you may ask, "how is this possible in a country where the right of privacy is protected?" It has become too expensive to print currency, and turn out coins, and credit cards have all but replaced money. In using your credit card, you give pertinent information to the card company. In your purchasing of items, food, furnishings, taking trips, etc., your personal life is totally exposed to whoever may pay for that information. You give your name, address, phone, place of employment, age, members of the family, other bills you owe, who has your mortgage, how much is owed, your previous residences, jobs, and much more, in order to receive the card. You may even be sent cards you didn't apply for, with a "pre-acceptance" code on it. How did they know to send you that card, if your information has not been passed around or sold to other companies. And, you don't know if these companies aren't selling your information to anyone who can pay for it. They also know where you shop, the items you buy, and where you are during the days, weeks and months of your life. Some hospitals take credit cards, and personal health information can be given to insurance companies to sell you insurance. They will know every ailment you may have had, because this kind of information is asked when you enter a hospital, and along with those many tests you take (some not ever pertinent to your problem or treatment), everything about you becomes a possible public knowledge. It is rumored that what is coming is "one card for everthing", and many people will see this as a convenience. They will sigh relief because they will get one bill, and not have to write checks, get money orders, have to carry money, and turn over one yearly statement over to the IRS when it come time to pay taxes. Some people will see this as a good thing. But, the thinking person might reject this because it makes him or her, no more than a Data Subject. Even when you buy groceries at the store that has the "scanners", they know not only what you bought, but, your spending habits, your taste in foods, but how much money you spend a month for food, if you use a credit card to buy food. The "easy way" is not always the best way. This easy way will monitor you and your family, to one day be able to dictate your every need. All of the human needs and services depend on this data. Stop and think about the many cards you carry, the many numbers that identify you, in your private and working life. To have but one card that does it all, "EFT" is a dangerous road towards dictatorship and control, where you will lose yourself in numbers, becoming a non-person!, a Data Subject.

Mahar selected as campaign chairman

Former State Senator William F. Mahar, of Homewood, will be the honorary campaign chairman for Joe McCarthy (R-Oak Lawn) in his bid for U.S. Congress from the third district.

"Joe is an unusually outstanding candidate. He has an excellent background and has demonstrated over the years that he is a dynamic leader. I am very pleased to assist him in his efforts in the third district," Mahar stated.

"We need a congressman who is representative of our district--one who will deal with the problems facing the area. Though the voters supported Reagan heavily, the incumbent has voted against the President on many important issues. Joe has shown that he is concerned about the people and will serve us well."

"It is a distinct pleasure to have Bill Mahar serving a chairman of my committee." McCarthy commented. "He is one of those rare leaders whose first concern has always been the people of his district. As has been pointed out by the press, he had a 'heavily service-oriented' office. "Not only did he serve his people well, but he was an effective legislator in getting bills passed. He was among the top legislators in the percentage of his bills passed and signed by the governor. He had the highest batting average in the south suburban area several times. I feel that it is an honor to have Bill working with me."

Anyone who would like to assist with McCarthy's campaign can call headquarters at 430-8188 or 430 8190 or stop in at 6200 W. 95th St., Oak Lawn.

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

BITS OF INFORMATION...Wm. Shakespeare was born on April 23rd, and died on April 23rd...Work has now begun on the $34 million reconstruction of the Globe Theater...Actor Sam Wanamaker is the key figure...Here's the kicker - There is substantial information to at least make one realize that maybe Sir Francis Bacon DID write all of that maaterial Shakespeare took credit for...Bacon should at least be given credit for inventing the "ghost writing" idea...it makes interesting research, this Bacon matter, and the trouble with it is...I'm convinced it WAS Bacon's material. Can you imagine the trauma that would surface if it was finally acknowledge Bacon authored all of this material, and we have been giving credit to the wrong man! I have written to England on this, and the Bacon groups are unable to overcome the Shakespeare lobby...LESSON TO BE LEARNED: truth has no place in the matter, because society wants to believe what is has been led to believe! Don't rock the boat...and the real tragedy...there are more of the caliber of HAMLET, MACBETH AND KING LEAR just waiting to be found, but this will not be allowed by those of the Shakespearian brigade. Through one of my business ventures I am pursuing this matter. Anyone interested, contact me at P.O. Box 802, Oak Lawn, Il. 60454.

COINCIDENCE OR WHAT?...Carl H. Rolewick, head of the state agency that oversees lawyers, just resigned. Guess what? The coincidence would be that the Illinois Supreme Court, in its efforts to examine way and means to improve the agency, just began a study group on the matter. I'm just asking a question, in trying to understand what I see in the news, just like you.

And I am Alyn

SUPPORTING AN AGED PARENT

By the year 2020, almost one-third of the U.S. population will be at least 55 years old. For many individuals, the aging of America means a new financial challenge supporting elderly parents. But caring for aging parents need not be a financial ordeal, says the Illinois CPA Society. By assessing your parents' finances and taking advantage of numerous tax breaks, you can provide your parents with a comfortable existence--without sending yourself to the poor house.

If you anticipate that a parent may have to live in a nursing home, look into nursing home insurance. If your parent must remain in a home for an extended time, the insurance will cover a portion of the expenses. Another source of financial aid for families with limited resources is the Medicaid program. Eligibility requirements vary by state, but many state Medicaid programs will reject applicants if they exceed specific limitations regarding the value of such personal assets as savings and burial-expenses accounts.

You should also consider providing income to your aging parents throught trusts or loans of your own.

Other tax benefits are also available for your aging parents such as the once-in-a-lifetime, $125,000 exclusion-of-gain provision, which enables individuals meeting certain age, ownership, and use requirements to exclude from their gross income.

The aging of America should not translate into a personal financial crisis. When you're ready to begin planning for your parents' support, CPAs suggest you consult an expert for advice.

DALEY FIGHTS FOR SENIORS

Legislation created by Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley that would increase criminal penalties for anyone causing serious injury or permanent disability to a senior citizen has been re-submitted to the Illinois General Assembly.

Daley originally proposed the legislation last year, but the bill was not voted on before the General Assembly adjourned.

Now filed as House Bill 3016, the proposed law would create a new criminal offense called "Aggravated Battery of a Senior Citizen," intended to apply when a crime victim is age 60 or older.

"Senior citizens are often targeted for violent crime because they are less able to physically defend themselves," Daley said.

"They need and deserve the added protection that would be provided by tougher penalties for criminals who now regard them as easy targets," he explained.

Under current Illinois law, aggravated battery is a Class 3 felony, carrying a possible prison term of up to five years.

Daley's legislation, re-introduced in the Illinois House last week, would increase that maximum sentence to seven years in prison in cases where the victims are seniors and suffered serious injury or permanent disability.

In addition, anyone convicted of aggravated battery to a senior would face a mandatory prison term, rather than be eligible for probation.

Daley urged all Illinois residents who agree with his proposal to express their support to local legislators.

"The fact that this measure failed to pass during the last session shows that its success is not automatic," said Daley, who expects some opposition to the bill.

"I would expect its opponents to include those individuals, for example, who are seeking to reduce the punishment for many crimes as a misguided attempt to cope with the issue of prison crowding," he explained.

"Only by making their feelings known to lawmakers can the people of this state guarantee the passage and enactment of this much-needed legislation," Daley said.

One of the most common types of crime addressed by Daley's proposal is that where a purse snatcher or strong-arm robber pushes a victim to the pavement as part of the attack.

A senior citizen victimized in such fashion can easily suffer broken bones or other serious injury.

"I believe some of these crimes can be avoided if a clear message is sent to criminals that the justice system has compensated for the vulnerability of seniors by increasing the penalties against those who prey on them," Daley said.

Senior Perspective

SENIOR CITIZENS held their annual spring luncheon in the Sabre room on west 95th St., in Hickory Hills. The time was 12:00 on the 23rd of April.

The hall was packed with happy, laughing seniors. They enjoyed their favorite luncheon and the entertainment was first class all the way.

Some of the active members such as Hazel Lincke, past president, Agnes Stenstrom..Bill Hoffman..Mary Page..Annette Vanceslow..Marilyn Cheney..Pat Sullivan..Dr. Woods..Kay Fielding.. Bud Meyers..Irene Rumpf and more beautiful women and handsome men, helped to make this luncheon by actively taking part as a volunteer and or guest.

Our Oak Lawn official attended such as State Representative John McNamara, Mayor Ernie Kolb, Village Clerk, Jayne Powers, Trustee Bill Hefka, and Senior Citizen Director Rochelle Hatton.

The professional entertainment was beautiful and rewarding. The actors were great for they had the audience laughing and clapping throughout the performance. Just to look at all the happy faces was exciting and inspiring. This event is held two times a year; in the spring and at Christmas. Maybe the senior will be a bigger hall next Christmas.

The Last Hen Farm in Indiana

Editor's note:
This letter was written by Marko Giannopulos to his nephew as a humorous letter. Marko, an Evergreen park resident wrote frequently to several nieces and nephews mainly in this style. We at Village View would like to share his style of writing to the community.

Dear Nephew,

An old friend of mine from Indiana has moved to Chicago. He is telling people that know me about one of my business ventures in Indiana about 25 years ago. Because of my extreme modesty, nobody except the people who were involved, speak of it and only in Indiana. I wanted you and your family to know the real story before you got word of it via my friend. He exaggerates a lot and, because of my modesty, I do not want the story to be blown up. This is the story.

Do you remember when I had 800 laying hens on my place in Indiana? What you did not know is that I sang O Solo Mio to them every morning. I started singing to them every morning after I had experimented with several other songs. By singing to the hens, I was able to increase my egg production. O Solo Mio increased their production by 10%. The nearest runner-up song only increased it 5%. (The runner-up song, by the way, was Old MacDonald Had A Farm.)

One day, early, an egg farmer friend came over to the store for some feed. He had run out and his chickens were hungry. He heard me singing to my chickens. Now all egg farmers know that soothing music will help egg production 2 to 3%. When I told him that I had increased my production to 10%, he didn't believe me. Well I didn't want Ed Parish to think I was kidding so I offered to go over to his farm and sing, O Solo Mio to his chickens until he was convinced that my singing could do it. I told Ed that if I didn't increase his production by 10%, I would supply his chickens with one week of free feed.

Well, Ed was the biggest egg farmer (around 10,000 layers) and one of the most frugal. He couldn't pass up this offer so I went over to his farm every morning for two weeks and sang to his chickens.

To make a long story short, Ed was convinced that I raised his egg production 10% by singing O Solo Mio to his chickens every morning.

As I stated before, Ed was a frugal farmer and a darn smart one. He knew the second day I sang to his chickens that his egg production was getting better and he had already told about a dozen of his egg farmer friends what I was doing.

You know farmers are a lot smarter than people give them credit for. Do you know what all these farmers conjured up? You'll never guess! They made arrangements with the local radio station for me to sing O Solo Mio on the air every morning. All they had to do was turn their radios on in the chicken house and the chickens could hear me singing. They all contributed and I was being paid very substantially.

You can imagine how something like this would catch on with other farmers, can't you? At this period in time, Indiana had more chicken farmers than any state in the Union. Almost every egg farmer in the state was turning on his radio to allow his chickens to hear me sing. I was making a lot of money because all of the big feed dealers were advertising their products on the station that I sang on. Because of this, I was able to ask and get more money as my popularity with the chickens increased.

The first ten months that I was on the air, the station predicted that I had one-half million people listening to me every morning and 42 million chickens listening to me sing O Solo Mio and one-half million more cases of eggs produced.

About this time, a fellow from New york City came to see me. He had heard of me and heard about what I was doing. He pointed out to me that if I went nationwide and stayed on the air for two years, I would be the third most popular singer in the country. (Frank Sinatra was first and Frankie Laine was second.) he promised to stick with me and promote my image. He was to be my agent and promoter.

He had a bunch of legal papers for me to sign in an office that he rented in North Judson. I signed them and his female companion signed as a witness. His female companion was a doll- I could see that - but I didn't know that she was a singer. For the next few days, she really played up to me. I was still single at the time. I hate to admit to it, but the fact is she got me drunk on night. The next day, I couldn't sing and naturally, my so-called promoter didn' want me to get up and sing the next morning. My promoter's female companion had to take my place and sang O Solo Mio to the chickens. I was set up. They were going to get me 'out of the way' and take it all for themselves. They had something worked out with the radio station. That, together with the paper I signed, "cooked my goose."

Now comes the sad part. Because I didn't care about myself, or the money, it was always the chickens and the eggs that I worried about. When the girl took over the singing of O. Solo Mio, for some reason that nobody could figure out to this day, the chickens went into a molt (stopped laying eggs). The guy from New York and his female companion, upon hearing of this, took off for New York (I think). They havent been heard of since. In a period of three days, the largest egg-producing state in the country didn't produce a single egg. The governor proclaimed the whole state a disaster area and for the first time in its history, Indiana, a very proud state, asked the Federal Government for financial aid. The Governor, in the meantime, pleaded with me to get on the air and start singing O Solo Mio. He didn't have to because I wanted to help. I sang the song for 24 straight hours but to no avail. It was senseless to try anymore. The chickens just wouldn't lay eggs. Not even for me.

In a fit of rage, I took off for New York City. Some of the papers I h: signed had an address on them. I tried to find the two people that had destroyed the whole egg industry in the State of Indiana. Naturally the address was phooey and I returned in a few days.

Do you remember how quiet and peaceful it is around my place in Indiana? No one around for miles and miles. Well, some irate farmers there blamed me for everything. Because they weren't getting any eggs, they had to get rid of their chickens. They cleaned out their chicken houses and guess where they unloaded the chicken droppings? Now you know why it is so quiet and peaceful at my home in Indiana.

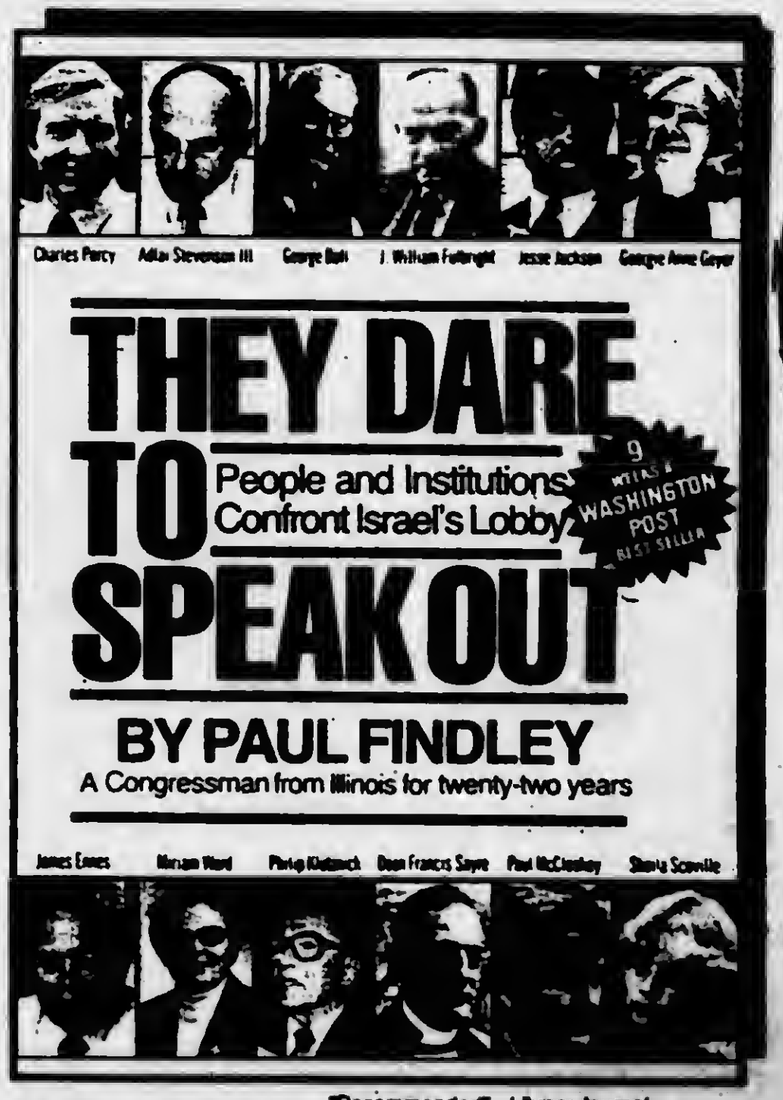
Findley reveals much in book

By Marko Giannopulos

When I was a young man, I was told-"don't be an idiot-know what is going on around you." Being of Greek decent, but having spoken English at home all my life I did not know the real meaning of the word idiot until recently.

The word idiot in ancient Greece meant someone who did not take an intrest in the government.



I had watched Paul Findley's career in the House of Representatives for many years. I have always admired him and wrote many "Letters to the Editor" on his behalf. None of which were printed.

Money from all over the country converged on his district to defeat him. Some of the big money people did not feel safe with him as House Foreign Findley is a modern day Thomas Paine. I consider him friend and you will too-if you read his book They Dare to Speak Out.

After reading his book, I find that I am indeed an idiot, The book is loaded with facts that I was completely unaware of.

You would be accomplishing a great deal if you took time off of your sporting events and TV programs to discuss this very important book with your family and friends.

"SUN MEN OF THE AMERICAS"
By Grace Cooke $6.95

Contrary to what you have read about savage Indians, our ancient Indian brethren were simple at heart, loving and gentle...men of character and strength of purpose possessing great courage and endurance. This is one of the best "White Eagle" books and includes White Eagle's teaching on living a life in harmony with nature and spirit.

This book covers all aspects of life. For instance, a great deal of ill-health nowadays is caused simply by the pressure of life and the state of fret and anxiety of body and mind. The Indian was able to live at a much gentler, calmer pace, relaxed and at peace with his world - a calmness we should do well to (emulate) if we would find perfect health. It also deals with the importance of thought power..."What you think, you become".

In our previous book reviews, we have stressed the importance of positive thinking, and the Indians always looked for the positive, the happy; the hopeful aspect of whatever happened! We must learn to do the same thing for our own good, and the good of those people who are in our lives for whatever reason. This book is highly recommended because it helps you to realize the importance of simplicity and harmony, and is very up-lifting. There is a whole series of books on White Eagle's teaching and we hope you'll read at least some of them!

We specialize in books & tapes on Self-Help and Metaphysics, and sell QUARTZ CRYSTALS. We also sell all of JACKI MARI'S books & tapes and will mail them. Phoenix Rising is now on tape and in book form. Call 636-2233 for information.

Lions Club honors Oak Lawn Police and Firefighters

By Brian Begy

On Tuesday, May 3 the Lions Club held its annual "Law and Order Night." The Lions honored an Outstanding Police Officer of the Year and an Outstanding Fireman of the Year at this event.

This tradition was started by then president of the Lions Don Suhr. 162 countries and 50 states hold similar affairs and the Oak Lawn Lion's is considered to be the best.

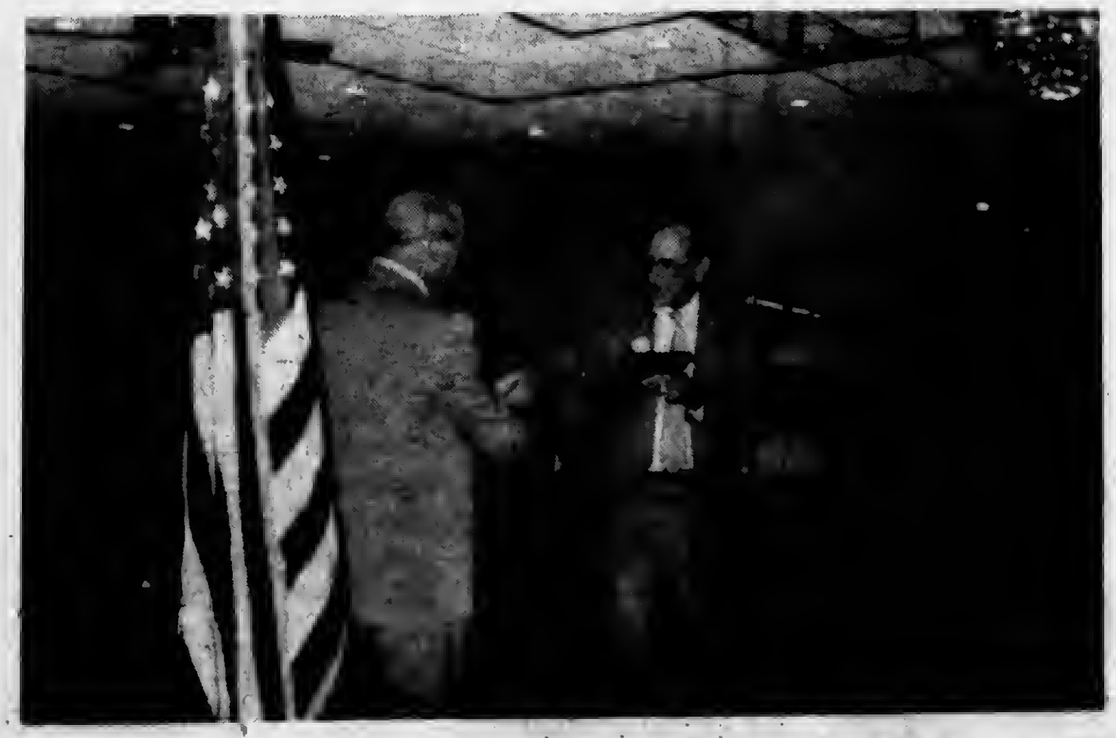
The Lions consider their "Law and Order Night" a good binding force between law enforcement officials and the public. "It is an exposure that is good for the community", said Lion Hank Lattas.

The Outstanding Police Officer of the Year, Sgt. Robert Macke, was chosen by the Oak Lawn Police Department. Macke was honored for his disarming of a suicidal man at the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn last year.

The man had locked himself in one of the hotel's rooms when the police arrived. When the door was opened, the man came into view holding a .357 Magnum revolver to his head and threatened to shoot himself. Macke convinced the man to allow him into the room where he remained for several hours. When the man let Macke leave the room for refreshments, he formed a plan with the other officers waiting outside.

Macke returned with a tray an two bottles of beer on a tray. When he handed the tray to the suspect, Macke threw the beer into his face, momentarily distracting him. The other officers entered and attempted to subdue him.

Even with three policemen wrestling with the suspect, they encountered difficulty getting the gun away from him. Sgt. Macke was caught during the struggle with the gun pressed between the suspect's chest, and his own. The only reason why the gun didn't go off during the scuffle was that Macke had wedged his finger under the hammer.



Macke received a department commendation in November for his actions. He was also presented with an award from the Richards High School Leo Club, who are affiliated with the Lions.

After receiving his award, Macke produced a card he received at Christmas from the man whose suicide Macke had stopped. In the card, he thanked Macke, and told him that he would like to keep youths from the drug use he had experienced.

Lt. Larry Peterson received the Outstanding Fireman of the Year award for his help he gave a fellow firefighter. The two entered a burning home on October 31 at 92nd and Melvina. They crawled across the smoke-filled kitchen in an attempt to reach the fire. Due to the fire, the kitchen floor weakened enough so that when the other firefighter crossed it, it gave way, sending him plunging through. Peterson grabbed the man by his arm and by the strap of his breathing apparatus and held him aloft until help could arrive.

Peterson also received an award from the Richards High School Leo Club.

The guest speaker at the event was Republican candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court of Cook County, Ed Vrdolyak. Vrdolyak spoke about the importance of voting for candidates rather than for a particular political party. While he promised not to talk about politics, he broke that promise with repeated references to the Democratic party.

Sergeant Robert Macke receives his award from Don Suhr, Trustee of the Lions Foundation

Lt. Larry Peterson receives his award from William (Bill) Strickfaden

Keeping Teeth From Decay

By Marilyn Miller DDS

Here's news to smile about: scientists say that everybody can take steps to prevent tooth decay.

Brushing twice a day with a fluoride toothpaste can do more to protect your teeth from decay than avoiding certain foods.

Cavities are caused during a process called demineralization. That's what happens when calcium and phosphate, in the presence of bacterial acid, leave the tooth surface. Over a period of time, this can result in cavity formation. The reverse of this process is called remineralization. That's when calcium and phosphate from the saliva, in the presence of fluoride, are encouraged to enter the tooth and make it healthy and strong.

Here's a fact that may make older folks smile: The older you become, the more resistant your teeth are to decay. This is because over a period of time the tooth's surface picks up various minerals and substances which cause it to become more resistant to decay.

You can protect your teeth by eating sensibly and not too often. Research suggests that what you eat is not as important as the number of times you eat.

approximately 20 minutes after you eat, when plaque is present, acid is formed on the tooth's surface. After this period of time the acid begins to disappear, and in the presence of fluoride, tooth remineralization is enhanced. Teeth need time to remineralize. So for healthy teeth, eat in moderation, brush with a fluoride toothpaste, floss to remove plaque, and visit the dentist regularly.

Do Your Heart Good

Heart disease is the number one killer in America today. But not many of us understand the causes of heart disease or the language that explains it.

Only half of Americans know saturated fat raises cholesterol levels, a major risk factor for heart disease. Only 3 percent of us recognize that for some people, being overweight is a cause of high blood cholesterol levels.

Research shows that a high blood cholesterol level increases our risk for heart disease. Saturated fats, which are solid at room temperature, raise cholesterol levels. By avoiding saturated fats we actually may decrease our cholesterol levels.

For some people, being overweight also can increase the risk for heart disease. Choosing the wrong foods can increase our blood cholesterol levels.

Yoplait 150 offers a colorful booklet, America's Change of Heart, to help all of us understand a heart-healthy diet. The booklet clearly defines fat and cholesterol and gives specific food comparisons, a height-for-weight chart and suggestions for making more healthful food choices.

Diet and Acne

By Thomas F Goodman, Jr , M D
Assistant Clinical Professor of Dermatology University of Tennessee Center for the Health Sciences Memphis, Tenn.

It might have been your mother Or your best friend But someone over the years has probably warned you that foods like chocolate, french fries or potato chips can "clog your pores" and cause your skin to break out in pimples

Junk food addicts: You have some cause for celebrating Doctors today agree that diet does not appear to affect either the oiliness of the skin or the development of acne, which is not to say that a steady regimen of candy, fried foods and salty snacks works wonders for your complexion.

A sound, well-balanced eating plan, designed to maintain overall good health, is the optimum diet for your skin. The key is to provide your body with the nutrients it needs, eliminating those foods that are nutritionally inadequate

I tell my patients to eat fewer sugary foods like candies, cookies and cake. Instead, I recommend sweet and nutritious fruit The body and the skin thrive on the vitamins, minerals and fiber that fruit provides.

Most of us have much too much fat in our diets. It's best to cut down on fried foods, buttery pastries and creamy cheeses. Add fiber to your diet with fresh fruits and vegetables, wholegrain breads and cereals. At the same time, reduce your intake of salt.

If your doctor has prescribed an antibiotic for your acne, don't augment your diet with multivitamin supplements containing iron. Iron can interfere with the absorption of the antibiotic.

No specific eating plan will "cure" your acne, but a well-balanced, sensible diet will help to keep your body and skin in the best possible condition.

Listen To Mother —Eat Breakfast

Mother's loving advice about taking care of yourself may not always be backed by scientific evidence, but often her words of wisdom do the trick for whatever ails you. Take breakfast, for example. In the winter, mother said to eat a good hot breakfast to keep warm. Scientific fact? Maybe not, but it does make sense: if you go to all the trouble of bundling up the outside of your body with layers of clothing, wouldn't it help to warm your inside with a nice hot meal?

If this isn't enough to convince you to stop for a hot morning meal, hear this. You can have fluffy scrambled eggs, home-fried potatoes and bacon, pancakes and blueberries in sauce, or even cinnamon swirl French toast with sausages when you keep Great Starts™ Breakfasts from Swanson in the freezer. And if you prefer a hearty breakfast sandwich, Great Starts gives you five varieties to choose from without driving to a fast food restaurant. Both the breakfast entrees and sandwiches are available in convenient microwavable packaging so you can sit down to a hot, satisfying breakfast in less time than it takes to warm up a car on a frigid morning.

This winter give yourself a great start each day by warming up from the inside out with Great Starts Breakfasts from Swanson.

FDA Rules On Generic Drugs

Generic drugs generally save consumers about 50 percent, and often as much as 80 percent, over brand-name drug equivalents. Now, after an exhaustive study, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has again concluded that generics also "provide the same intended effect in patients."

An exhaustive FDA study showed generic drugs to be equivalent to brand name drugs.

The new FDA report is the result of a hearing called in 1986 to examine questions raised by brand-name drug companies and others about bioequivalence, the key test used to approve generic drugs. Bioequivalence is a measurement that shows a generic drug enters the bloodstream at the same rate as the brand-name version.

After reviewing all data from the hearing—attended by 800 experts from universities, industry, medicine and government—the FDA found the bioequivalence principle "scientifically sound," and concluded there is "no need to the way FDA approves drug products." The brand-name companies have never found a documented case where a generic drug approved as bioequivalent produced different therapeutic results, the study pointed out.

The good news is that consumers can save up to 80 percent with generics and still have the best medicine available.

Psoriasis: When Your Skin Becomes Your Worst Enemy

Psoriasis is a chronic skin condition that often takes a patient on a long, frustrating, and expensive search for a treatment. With the recent introduction of a new product for the management of psoriasis, there is new hope for the country's estimated five million sufferers.

Psoriasis is one of the four most common skin conditions treated by dermatologists. There is no known cure for this recurring condition, and patients often move from one treatment to another searching for relief from the itching and scaling that accompany the disease. Although the underlying cause of psoriasis is unknown, researchers do know that psoriasis lesions form because of excessively rapid skin cell production.

Psoriasis is difficult to treat and many therapies—such as the application of tar to the skin—are unpleasant and uncomfortable.

The most commonly used therapy for psoriasis is a steroid, a topical anti-inflammatory agent that reduces redness, swelling, and itching. Steroids are available as ointments, creams, and lotions.

Dermatologists know that covering the skin after applying topical steroids enhances the clearing of psoriasis by preventing moisture loss. A common method of covering the skin is taping plastic wrap over a steroid that has been applied to the psoriatic lesion. This method, however, has major drawbacks: plastic wrap is unsightly and inconvenient; furthermore, it prevents moisture loss too effectively, causing healthy skin around the psoriasis to become waterlogged and prone to infection.

The Actiderm® Dermatological Patch is a new product that has been specifically designed for psoriasis. It forms a seal over the psoriasis to enhance the effectiveness of steroid treatment without causing the problems associated with plastic wrap. The patch is easy to apply, has a neat aesthetic appearance, and can be worn under clothing, allowing treatment to continue around the clock.

"With the Actiderm Patch applied over steroid creams, there's marked improvement in almost all patients and complete clearing in a large majority," said Ronald C. Savin, M.D., clinical professor of dermatology at Yale University School of Medicine. "The result is a normal appearance of the skin, which is what every psoriasis patient wants."

The patch adheres gently to skin and can remain in place for at least 48 hours without the need to reapply steroid. Since patients normally must reapply steroid two to three times daily, the patch reduces the amount of costly steroid required.

"Since applying Actiderm over a steroid enhances the agent's effect, my patients can now obtain better results and have the option of using lower-potency steroids," said Dr. Savin. "And a lower dose is less likely to cause the side effects associated with steroids."

Manufactured by ConvaTec®, a Squibb Company, the Actiderm Dermatological Patch is available through pharmacies. See your dermatologist for further information about this new development for psoriasis.

PSYCHOLOGY

Experts on mental health believe you can better face the day's joys and sorrows if you've had enough rest the night before. How much is enough? That, say sleep experts can vary. Some people need far more than the customary eight hours—some less.

However many hours sleep you need, you may be better able to get them with the help of a new kind of mattress, the experts suggest. Conventional mattresses can have hard spots and pressure points that are believed to interfere with restful sleep. The Somma hybrid water mattress, available at local stores, contains water-filled cylinders that mold to fit your body and can be filled to the firmness with which you're most comfortable. That can help you wake up well able to face whatever the day may bring.

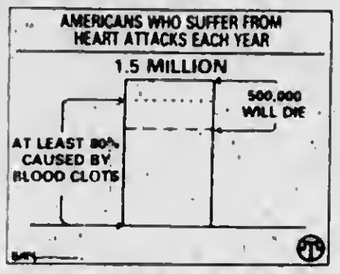
NEWS OF HEALTH



Food and Drug Administration Licenses New Heart Medicine

Here's good news about how immediate medical attention and a new product may help heart attack victims.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA), recently licensed the new product, ACTIVASE™ (alteplase, recombinant), for the treatment of heart attacks. Activase, developed and manufactured by Genentech, Inc., has been shown to improve the function of the heart following a heart attack. A form of tissue plasminogen activator (t-PA)—an enzyme normally found in the body—Activase works by dissolving clots in coronary arteries that interrupt blood flow to the heart, causing heart attacks. At least 80 percent of the 1.5 million heart attacks suffered by Americans each year are caused by these blood clots.

When Activase is administered into the bloodstream, it sets the body's own clot-dissolving process in action, dissolving the clot and restoring blood flow to the heart.

Activase is most beneficial when administered early in the course of a heart attack, before permanent damage to the heart muscle has occurred. Therefore, it is more important than ever to understand the warning signs of a heart attack, and seek immediate medical help, if they occur.

Immediate medical attention is critical for most effective heart attack treatment.

The American Heart Association has identified the warning signs of a heart attack. They are:

- Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of the chest lasting for two minutes or more.
- Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms or back.
- Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea and/or shortness of breath.

So, if a person experiences an episode of unexplained chest pain that lasts for two minutes or more, they should immediately call 911 or their local fire department for an amhulance.

Activase can be used in the great majority of patients having heart attacks. However, the attending physician must weigh benefits and risks, and determine who is an appropriate candidate for therapy.

Activase's ability to dissolve blood clots means that it can also cause bleeding which is primarily minor and easily controlled. While infrequent, there is a small risk of bleeding that cannot be easily controlled. In clinical trials, at the recommended dose, intracranial bleeding occurred in less than one half of one percent (i.e. 0.4%) of patients. Therefore, it is not recommended for use in people at high risk of hemorrhage or with a history of stroke; or in patients with a bleeding disorder, active internal bleeding, recent surgery or major injury or severe, uncontrolled high blood pressure.

Heart disease is the nation's number one killer. Exciting technological advances in health care may mean more Americans can lead longer and more productive lives.

UNDERSTANDING SOCIAL SECURITY AND MEDICARE

Increasing Efficiency

by James Roosevelt, Chairman, National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare

Efforts are being made to save millions of Americans from getting shortchanged when they get their Social Security benefits. The National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare is in the forefront of the fight to improve the efficient and timely maintenance of individual earnings records on which Social Security benefits are based, and the accurate implementation of the formula which determines the amount of benefits.

Roosevelt

These efforts, it appears, are not a moment too soon. People who paid Social Security taxes between 1978 and 1984 may not have gotten proper credit for their earnings. The General Accounting Office estimates that some 9.7 million people are affected, with one sample showing one in four will be shortchanged an average of $17 a month.

A solution would be for President Reagan to intervene and order Social Security Commissioner Dorcas Hardy to take all measures necessary to assure that each person receives the full benefits to which he or she is entitled by law.

Older Americans can learn more about Social Security and Medicare by joining the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare. You can get a free brochure about the organization or a copy of its official newspaper if you write to the National Committee, 2000 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

Mr. Roosevelt, the eldest son of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, worked as Secretary to the President in the White House when Social Security was implemented, and was a Member of Congress when Medicare was enacted into law.

ADDING LUSTER TO THOSE LATER YEARS

Here's the good news: Americans are living longer than ever before. Babies born in 1986 may be expected to reach the age of 75, and the senior citizen segment of the U.S. population is growing at twice the rate of any other segment.

Here's the bad news: While a majority of elderly persons in graying America are in good health, millions suffer from a chronic disease limiting their activity.

Increased longevity is one thing, but those extra sunset years can't be enjoyed unless the person living them is active and healthy.

Dr. Steven Gambert, director of the Center for Aging at New York Medical College, believes that people should practice a lifelong program of health care measures to delay the effects of aging and maintain a high-quality of life in their later years.

Dr. Gambert offers the following advice to keep that springtime feeling in your autumn years:

Begin early—Aging is an ongoing process, therefore people should embark on a "preventive aging" program in their 20s and 30s.

Improve your diet—Many Americans fail to eat a nutritionally balanced diet. In addition to proteins, carbohydrates and fats, we must ensure an adequate intake of vitamins, minerals and trace elements. While a multivitamin cannot replace eating properly, a daily supplement such as CENTRUM®, which meets or exceeds the recommended dietary allowance (RDA) requirements of vitamins and minerals, may provide the nutrients required for good health.

Exercise regularly—The old adage, "Use it or lose it," is true. Exercise can improve posture and provide relief from stress and pain due to arthritis. The easiest exercise is walking. Strength exercises such as push-ups firm up muscles. Endurance exercises (running, aerobics) promote cardiovascular health and increase stamina.

Inerease ealcium intake—Most people are aware that consuming the proper amount of calcium is particularly vital during the bone growth years, through age 30. Adequate calcium intake throughout life, however, reduces the risk of developing osteoporosis, a disease that renders bones so frail that even a simple fall may result in a fracture. The best way to take in calcium is through dairy products. However, to obtain the recommended daily amount of calcium, one would have to drink four or five 8-ounce glasses of milk or eat a minimum of 8 slices of processed cheese a day. A simple alternative may be to take a calcium supplement, such as CALTRATE®.

Avoid environmental hazards—Environmental factors such as smoke, sunlight, smog, noise and pollutants are capable of accelerating our aging process and causing disease. Prolonged exposure to cigarette smoke can give a 50-year-old the lungs of an 80-year-old. In addition, smoking increases one's chances of developing emphysema and lung cancer. Exposure to the sun's ultraviolet rays may give you a healthy-looking tan today, but chronic sun worshippers risk skin cancer later in life.

Increase fiber intake—Fiber is the nondigestible component of foods that enters the large intestine relatively intact. At least 30 grams of fiber should be consumed daily. Lack of sufficient fiber may contribute to conditions which commonly afflict the elderly, such as irritable bowel syndrome, diverticulosis and colon cancer. Foods that help satisfy the body's need for fiber include whole grains, oatmeal, green leafy vegetables and rice.

Have your blood pressure checked regularly—Hypertension, or high blood pressure, is responsible for more than 30,000 deaths in the U.S. each year. This serious condition may lead to stroke, heart attack or kidney failure. Fortunately, hypertension can be treated effectively if it's detected.

Update vaccinations—Older adults tend to neglect needed vaccinations. Pneumonia, influenza and even tetanus still kill tens of thousands of adults each year, and these infections can easily be prevented by a regular vaccination program. A pneumococcal vaccination is a once-in-a-lifetime inoculation recommended for all people over 50. Flu shots should be updated annually, and tetanus boosters updated every 10 years.

Following these steps throughout your life may help keep the golden glow in your golden years. Dr. Gambert has co-authored a booklet on this subject, entitled "A Lifelong Program of Preventive Aging." For a free copy, write "Aging," Box 952, Wayne, NJ 07474-0952.

FACTS & FIGURES

In the U.S. today, there are more non-smokers and ex-smokers than smokers. After people quit smoking, smoker's cough goes away, and their senses of smell and taste improve. More important, quitting smoking also reduces your risk of getting high blood pressure, heart disease, emphysema, and lung cancer.

Many people are over-coming their nicotine dependence with a gum prescribed by their doctor or dentist.

The American Lung Association has created a new 54-page guide called "Freedom From Smoking® For You And Your Family." The white pages of the telephone book can tell you where to reach a chapter of the Association for a copy of the newest edition of the book.

Your Eyes

HELPFUL SAFETY TIPS

Contact Lenses

For America's 19.5 million contact lens wearers, more cleanliness may mean more safety.

A new device safely polishes all types of contact lenses.

Dirt, cosmetics and proteins accumulate on lenses quickly. These buildups cause discomfort as well as a variety of problems including eye disease. Such problems have caused some 14 million people to stop wearing their contact lenses. The probable reason: poor lens care.

What to do? Experts say you should use the cleaning solution your eye care specialist recommends along with a cleaning pad for needed friction. A new device called the Easy Eyes Cleaner Pad, recently approved by the FDA and developed by Eaton Medicals Corp., safely polishes soft and all other types of lenses preventing damaging buildups.

Experts agree it's a substantial improvement over "palm cleaned" lenses. Cleaner lenses mean more comfortable lenses, increased wearing time, clearer vision, and longer lens life.

The Easy Eyes Cleaner Pad will be available at most drug stores and through family eye care specialists. For free brochures, write P.O. Box 40915, Memphis, TN 38104 or call Eaton Medicals Corp., 1-800-253-4740.

Keeping Your Smile Throughout Your Life: Steps To Better Oral Health

"To a long and healthy life!" is a traditional toast. Today, the average American can expect to live 75 years. With a proper oral care regimen, including regular visits to the dentist, an attractive and healthy smile can last a lifetime, too.

It was only in the last 100 years that scientists discovered tooth decay could be prevented and only within the last 50 years that toothbrushes and toothpaste have found their way into just about every American bathroom. Great strides have been made in making good oral health at home a more important part of our daily regimen.

Make good oral care a family practice in your home! To be sure that you are doing the best to keep your smile, Colgate offers these suggestions:

Caring for first teeth starts early.

Even before birth a baby's teeth are developing. Pregnant women must be sure to get enough of vitamins A, D, C, calcium, and phosphorus, as well as other nutrients to help ensure proper tooth development. Ask your doctor for advice on this subject.

During infancy, and before baby's first teeth appear, wipe gums with a gauze pad or cloth to help keep the gum surface free of bacteria. Once teeth do appear, use water—not formula or juice—as the last drink you give your baby before napping or sleeping. Formula and juice may have sugars added which can remain on vulnerable emerging teeth and cause decay.

Take your child to the dentist at about age two. Start teaching your child how to brush and floss baby teeth as early as possible.

Brush at least twice a day; floss once a day.

Brush your teeth twice daily to help remove food particles and plaque, a film of bacteria that forms constantly on teeth. Plaque can cause gum disease, the main cause of tooth loss in adults. Floss between teeth daily to remove plaque and food particles in tight places where the toothbrush can't reach.

Select the brush that's right for you.

Like teeth, today's toothbrushes come in many shapes and sizes. Tapered, compact, and youth-sized toothbrush heads can help everyone in the family reach hard-to-brush back teeth, and easy-to-grip handles help position the brush for proper brushing. Colgate Plus Brush has a unique diamond-shaped head, and dual bristles that help fight plaque and massage gums.

Whichever brush you choose, remember that old, worn out toothbrushes just don't do the job. Replace your toothbrush as needed, or about every three to four months. When toothbrush bristles look bent or crushed, that's toothbrush wearout.

Help prevent tartar build-up.

Tartar is a hard, crusty mineral deposit made up of calcium and phosphates that form on teeth. Tartar can become stained by food, wine or tobacco and provides increased surface area for plaque. Once formed, tartar can only be removed by a dentist or hygienist, but tartar control toothpastes and mouthwashes can help prevent tartar from forming on teeth between dental visits.

Fight tartar and freshen breath.

Now family members who use mouthwash as a part of their oral care regimen can have the advantage of tartar control too by using mouthwashes that offer tartar control while they freshen breath. "To get the most out of your anti-tartar mouthwash," says James Norfleet, Colgate Oral Care Research and Development, "swish the rinse vigorously in your mouth for a full minute and, after rinsing, wait thirty minutes before eating."

Get regular dental check-ups.

Visit your dentist yearly for a check-up. Your dentist can determine any problems you currently have and can advise you on your daily regimen. Have your teeth cleaned twice a year by your dentist or hygienist.

YOUR AMAZING SKIN

There's no skintight explanation for why some people have dry skin all the time while others are affected only periodically. Here's information on what causes dry skin and tips on how to prevent it. The result could be a more youthful, beautiful complexion.

Most people try to protect themselves against cold, dry outdoor air and hot, dry indoor air during the winter. Not many people know, however, that spring, fall and summer may produce conditions harmful to skin. Other causes of dry skin include chemical pollution, smoking, alcohol consumption and low humidity levels in air conditioned buildings.

Dry skin occurs when too much moisture escapes from the top layer of the skin (epidermis) and not enough is replaced in the dermis (the second layer). The best way to prevent and treat dry skin is to increase its moisture content. When moisture in thirsty skin is replenished, redness and chapping disappear, and the skin looks smoother and more attractive.

Drink to your skin's health with plenty of water and then slather on your favorite moisturizer.

Alleviate dryness and restore normal moisture balance to your skin by giving it a drink—inside and out. Drink five to six glasses of water each day to nourish your skin internally and apply moisturizer to nourish it externally.

Most moisturizers on the market coat the skin's surface with a thin film of oil to help seal in moisture that's already there. But, they don't draw additional moisture into the skin. The good news is that there's a moisturizer developed by dermatologists—Aqua Care®—that penetrates the epidermis to attract and actually hold in moisture.

According to the manufacturer, the ability of Aqua Care® to help keep skin moist is made possible by the ingredient urea, a component of the epidermis that aids in the retention of moisture. Urea has been used as a skin care moisturizer ingredient safely and effectively for 50 years. It's widely accepted as non-toxic, generally non-irritating and non-allergenic.

Other ingredients in Aqua Care® cream and lotion—petrolatum and mineral oil—help seal in water attracted and retained by the urea. You may want to use a cream for maximum protection against the worst ravages of dry skin and a lotion to maintain sufficient moisture retention when indoor and outdoor air is less dry. This moisturizer makes a good choice for restoring a healthy, youthful glow to dry skin. That's one good reason to let a new skin care regimen get under your skin.

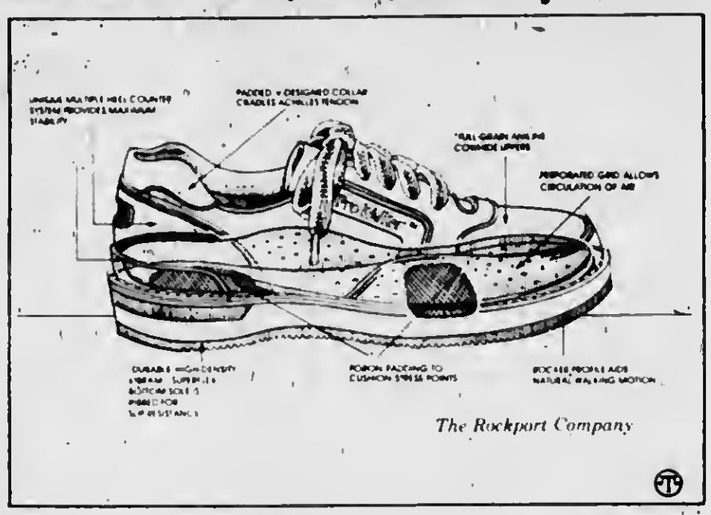
Your Hair: Color It Beautiful

Mousy brown? Turning gray? Does your hair color give you the blues? Take a lesson from history: Roman women decided blondes had more fun and colored their hair accordingly. Early Germanic tribes opted for hair colored blue, green, even orange.

Haircoloring at home can be an easy way to a whole new you.

Haircolor trends for 1988 run the gamut as well. Color is used to heighten brilliance, making shine, next to cut and shape, the most important aspect of hair fashion. Warm light blondes are the preeminent colors for '88. One company, L'Oreal, is introducing three beautiful, warm, red-blonde shades to the Performing Creme In permanent haircolor line because their studies show that these shades are especially flattering to a woman's changing skin tone as she gets older. These shades are called Light Golden Topaz, Light Golden Reddish Topaz, Light Topaz Red. There's also one classic black shade—Jet Black.



The company's continoed dedication to product quality and the expansion of new technology, the use of patented dyes and exclusive formulas give Preference a uniqoe natural-looking color with exceptionally luminoos and translucent highlights. Conditioning properties make hair softer and silkier. There are 40 shades to choose from in the Performing Preference Line—from lightest blonde to truest black. One may have your name on it

FACTS ON FITNESS

Take A Walk: It's A Healthy Thing To Do

If you're not one of the nation's 53 million people who engage in fitness walking, you might want to become one. It keeps you fit and is a healthy, pleasurable way to get outdoors.

At the University of Massachusetts Medical School, Dr. James M. Rippe, Director of the Exercise Physiology Laboratory reports serious walkers need walking shoes. "As walkers make more demands on the activity, technology will respond with lighter weight, more comfortable, more durable, safer walking shoes."

The Rockport Company

The acknowledged leader in walking shoes and research, The Rockport Company sponsors biomechanical studies of walking. For the past three years, Dr. Rippe, who is also the Director of the Rockport Walking Institute, has put walking shoes through extensive studies, comparing them to street shoes, running shoes and bare feet. He has also studied leg muscle fatigue and how the biomechanics of the walking motion differ between women and men.

As Rippe notes: "As the serious walker walks faster, he increases the demands on his body and his shoes. The fitness walker needs a shoe that is biomechanically designed for the requirements imposed by walking."

Features Of A Good Walking Shoe

A walking shoe should feature a rocker profile sole to enhance a smooth heel-to-toe motion and a firm heel counter (which cups the heel) to provide stability for the entire foot and leg. It should have a roomy toe box to allow ample room for toes to move up and down as well as back and forth. The toes should not be pressed tight against any part of the shoe.

Other features of a good walking shoe include:

- Substantial arch support to prevent foot fatigue.
- A protective, shock-absorbent sole to protect feet from bruises.
- Uppers of a high quality, breathable fabric.

How do you choose the style that's best for you? If you're interested in walking for cardiovascular benefits, or if you plan to walk continuously for more than one mile, your best bet is a high-performance walking shoe.

If you walk one to two miles on a regular basis, you should choose an all-around walking shoe with some of the features of the high-performance shoe.

Even if your walks involve distances of a mile or less, you should still choose a shoe designed specifically for walking.

To Do Well On Exams Students Need Healthy, Restful Night's Sleep

Spring beckons and youthful scholars will soon be rounding the mid-terms and heading for final exams—the last hurdle of the school year.

To insure that students can do their best, virtually all schools require physical check-ups and eye tests. But something many parents overlook that can have a great effect on test results is the quality of their children's sleep.

"Children, like adults, need a good night's sleep—to be rested and alert—so they can test at their best," claims Dr. Herb Leistner, assistant professor of pediatric medicine at NYU Medical Center in New York. "Poor sleep habits can be every bit as disruptive to a child's education as poor eyesight and even certain learning disabilities."

TV Viewing A Major Problem

Dr. Leistner blames television for most children's bad sleep habits and poor school performance. "It stands to reason that if a kid stays up late to watch TV, his or her schoolwork will suffer," the expert explains. "Too much homework can be bad, too. Worse still is too much of both—especially when youngsters do their homework first and then are rewarded with TV when they're finished."

Although teachers and child-care experts would like to attribute all poor sleep habits to the tube, not all can be. Dr. Leistner explains there are patho-physiological reasons that can cause children to sleep poorly. One is a condition known as obstructive sleep apnea, in which youngsters have difficulty breathing while asleep.

"They wake up gasping for air and before they can fall back into a deep sleep, they wake up again to catch their breath," says Dr. Leistner, one of the country's foremost experts on childhood pulmonary disorders.

Youngsters who have a hard time awakening in the morning, who fall asleep in school, who snore, awaken early or can't fall asleep at night should be brought to a pediatrician, the doctor says.

Poor Bedding Can Also Cause Sleep Problems

Another often overlooked cause for poor sleep among children is the quality of the sleep surface. "Just because they're small and light doesn't mean youngsters don't need a good bed," says Dr. Leistner.

The pediatrician adds there is no reason why children shouldn't go straight to a full-size twin bed once out of the crib. "Intermediate 'kid-size' beds are a waste of money because children grow so fast."

An important part of any bed is the mattress. There are three types of mattresses available—innerspring, waterbed and foam.

Regardless of which type parents choose for their children, Dr. Leistner recommends a mattress that is comfortable and provides solid support for the young bodies.

"A foam mattress delivers both the support and comfort that youngsters need," says Marian Artinger, a furniture and interior designer and consultant to ARCO Chemical Company, a supplier of chemicals used to make polyurethane foam for the bedding industry.

High-Density Polyurethane Foam Recommended

When buying a foam mattress, Ms. Artinger urges parents to look for one made with high-density foam.

"Low-density foams can sag and fail," according to the designer. "For that reason, before buying a mattress, be sure the foam has a polymer density—pure polyurethane with no compounds added—of at least 1.8 lbs. per cubic ft. Lab tests have found that mattresses using foam with a density lower than 1.8 lbs. have too much air and too little material to support the sleeper."

"Polyurethane is an ideal bedding material, especially for children. It has a soft surface texture, yet is extremely durable and offers excellent support," Ms. Artinger points out.

Polyurethane foam also is particularly well-suited for children because it is nonallergenic, doesn't attract dust, resists the growth of mildew and is easy to clean."

So that your children will be bright-eyed, bushy-tailed and do their best on tests, Dr. Leistner offers four simple tips: 1) establish and maintain a regular bedtime; 2) provide a quiet, dark room; 3) let in fresh air; and 4) get a good mattress that combines comfort and support.

MISS USA GIVES TIPS ABOUT HAIRCARE

She may look like the girl next door, but her status as Miss USA sets her apart. Since capturing the 1987 crown, Michelle Royer, the third Texan in a row to win the Miss USA Pageant, is challenged daily to look great while keeping up with a very active schedule.

But not all pageant winners are born with flawless features and perfect figures. Now statuesque and striking, Michelle remembers that in her early teen years she was overweight, wore eyeglasses and was self-conscious about her height. Yet, she overcame this awkward stage. "Determination, diet and working on a positive personal attitude have been my key to success," says Michelle.

That same spirit of determination is what motivates Michelle to rise to the new challenges she encounters every day as Miss USA—not the least of which is performing a daily beauty routine. Since beautiful, healthy-looking hair is one of her trademarks, Ivory Shampoo and Conditioner interviewed her to discuss some of her personal haircare tips.

"First, it's important to know your hair type," says Michelle. "I have very straight, fine hair. To make my hair look full, I keep it permed and use mousse and hot rollers." To prevent damage from overstyling, Michelle takes a few easy steps to keep her hair in shape. "I have my hair trimmed regularly. I also wash and condition every day with Ivory Shampoo and Conditioner for fine hair," says Michelle.

"After shampooing and conditioning, I treat my hair gently because wet hair is especially susceptible to damage," Michelle continues. "I use a wide tooth comb to smooth away tangles and let my hair air dry whenever possible. While I try to minimize the use of styling products, they are still a necessity for me, and I need to take special care to avoid build-up."

Product build-up can occur when gels, mousses and sprays are used regularly. "I found that some shampoos and conditioners deposited residue on my hair which weighed my hair down, leaving it limp with heavy build-up," says Michelle. "This doesn't happen when I use Ivory." Ivory Shampoo and Conditioner were specifically formulated using silicone technology to thoroughly cleanse and condition the hair, without leaving heavy build-up.

While every girl next door may not win the Miss USA crown, by using good common sense, anyone's hair can look beautiful like Michelle's.

EAT FOR HEALTH

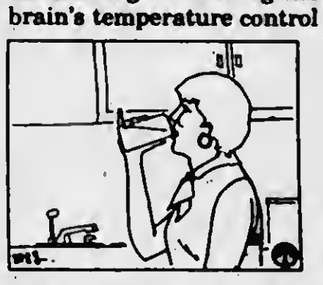
Doctors say the health risks caused by high blood cholesterol can be combatted. One way is with a low-cholesterol diet. You might want to follow a health diet such as this one:

For a low cholesterol diet, cut back on foods with saturated fats.

To help lower high blood cholesterol, cut down on the foods high in saturated fats, cholesterol or both. Begin by cutting out fatty meats such as: any meat marbled with fat, regular hamburger, bacon, hot dogs, sausage, lunch meats, organ meats such as liver, kidney and heart and fatty poultry such as duck and goose. Have no more than three egg yolks a week.

Common high-fat treats include: chocolate, commercial baked goods and snacks, foods with coconut or palm oil or hydrogenated fat. Also avoid high-fat dairy products such as butter, whole milk, cream, sour cream, cream cheese, most hard cheeses.

You can get a free copy of a booklet on cholesterol and your health from a citizens group with grant support from pharmaceutical manufacturer Merck Sharp & Dohme. Write: the Citizens for Public Action on Cholesterol, 1101 17th St., NW, Suite 608, Washington, D.C. 20036.



Women's Health Facts and Fallacies

Common Sense

Faced with a common health problem many of us accept it and assume nothing much can be done about it. Some women experiencing menopause, the hormonal change that occurs after middle age, suffer from hot flushes. They may not know there are things they can do to lessen the symptoms.

Hot flushes, feelings of intense heat sometimes accompanied by drenching sweats, are a disorder of uncertain origin involving the brain's temperature control center. Minimal in most women, they generally last five minutes and can persist up to an hour. An immediate drink of ice water sometimes stops a flush. Daily exercise may combat the insomnia caused by nighttime flushes. Avoiding alcohol may also help prevent flushes. Physicians may treat severe flushing with estrogen tablets or a progestin.

More Americans Waking Up To A New Way To Sleep

Flotation sleep. It's the fastest growing segment of the nation's bedding industry. In fact, one out of every six beds sold in the U.S. is a water bed.

An innovation in that department is the hybrid bed. This is a water bed that doesn't present the problems of weight and waves ordinary water beds can. The unique Somma Signature Series and Elegance group are outfitted with individual water-filled seamless vinyl cylinders, aligned side by side, surrounded by a foam shell under a two-inch insulated quilted mattress top for even body support.

The wave-free design of these luxury mattresses, the result of the special patented cylinder system, eliminates "roller-coaster" motions of standard water bed mattresses, but still provides buoyancy for sleeping.

One out of every six beds sold in America today is a waterbed.

Each side of each bed can be adjusted for individual comfort by varying the amount of water in the cylinders. One sleeper will not be disturbed by the movements of the other—even when entering or leaving the bed.

The unique cylinders can be filled at the sink and never have to be emptied to move the bed. The mattress weighs only a third what a typical flotation mattress does and can use standard fitted sheets.

Available at local department, furniture and bedding stores, the mattress may even help people sleep better—a trend well-worth considering.

LIFE INSURANCE POLICY NOW PREPAYS DEATH BENEFIT FOR NURSING HOME CARE

Alzheimer's Disease Also Covered in New Policy

With the number of citizens over age 65 growing more rapidly than the rest of the population, the cost of long-term care services is becoming an increasingly important national issue. On a personal level, the financial effect can be devastating with the cost of nursing home care averaging around $23,000 annually. And, except for the very poor, government plans cover virtually none of this cost.

In response to the challenge posed by long-term health care financing, First Penn-Pacific Life Insurance Company of Oak Brook, Illinois, has become one of the first insurance companies in the nation to introduce a life insurance policy that provides financing for nursing home care through prepayment of the policy's death benefit. Coverage under the policy includes Alzheimer's Disease.

The new policy, ASSURED CARE, is a universal life policy that pays a monthly benefit to an insured person who is confined to a nursing home for at least six months. The amount paid each month is two percent of the death benefit, up to a maximum of $3,000 per month. So long as the insured remains confined, the monthly benefit is paid until the entire death benefit is exhausted.

For example, if a person purchases a policy with a $100,000 death benefit, then $2,000 of the benefit will be paid for the nursing home care each month for 50 months. If the insured dies while confined to the nursing home, the unused death benefit would be paid to the policy beneficiary. If the insured dies prior to being confined to a nursing home, then, of course, the full death benefit is paid to the beneficiary.

According to Stephen Lewis, president of First Penn-Pacific, health insurance plans are available which pay nursing home benefits, but these plans can be expensive and only three percent of the overage population has this type of coverage. "We believe that for people who own life insurance, prepaying the death benefit is the most efficient and economical way of covering nursing home costs," Lewis said.

Lewis noted some statistics that portray the challenge ahead:

- More than two of five Americans over age 65 will enter a nursing home at some time in their lives;
- Their average length of stay in a nursing home will be more than one year;
- And, after being confined to a nursing home for one year, more than two-thirds will be impoverished.

ASSURED CARE is available to persons between the ages of 45 and 75, with the minimum policy death benefit set at $50,000. The maximum death benefit is $300,000. The policy covers any medically necessary confinement to either a "skilled nursing care facility" or an "intermediate care facility." There is only one exclusion: mental disorders which are not organically caused.

The cost for the ASSURED CARE nursing home benefit is low. The premium for ASSURED CARE is typically only three percent more than for an otherwise identical universal life policy which does not provide the convalescent care benefit.

"Because the cost is so low, individuals can economically enhance their permanent life insurance so as to give them protection against the devastating financial impact of a long-term nursing home confinement," Lewis said. "It can be one of the most important steps a person can take in planning for retirement."

Economic Development Corp. plays wheel of fortune quiz with mayors

By Michele Gartman

On Thursday, may 26 the Economic Development Corporation and the Southwest Suburban Board of Realtors sponsored the Southwest Wheel of Fortune. The event took place at the Drury Lane South in Evergreen Park.

The game consisted of four teams who answered questions about the South Suburbs, in categories of Business, Municipalities, History, Recreation, Education and Elected Officials. The purpose of the game was to raise money for charity.

There was a total of four rounds played. Each team got to answer three questions in a row. unless they missed one, got a bankrupt or lose a turn. Before each question "Vanna Blanca" would spin the wheel. AT each turn the team was able to pick the categories they would like.

The hosts for the event were John Lazza as Pat Saywhat and Phil La Duca as Jack Lark.

The contestants included from Team A- Mary Barzyk from the Bedford Park Clearing Industrial Association, representing Bedford Park; Shirley Cozza, from the Oak Forest Chamber of Commerce, representing Oak Forest; and Charley Smith of the Tinley Park Chamber of Commerce, representing Tinley Park.

On Team B was the Mayor of Alsip, Arnold Andrews, Mayor Eugene Siegel of Chicago Ridge, John Poletto a Forest View Trustee, and Bill Sullivan, of the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce.

Team D included the Suburb of Blue Island Jay Wayny (the Blue Island Public Library), Hometown, Mayor William Cusick, Matteson, Brenda Pina (Matteson Chamber of Commerce) and Marionette Park Tom Gavin (Trustee Worth Township).

The winning team was Team C. they were Mayor Chester Stranzcek of Crestwood, Mayor Tony Vacco of Evergreen Park, Mayor Dan Kummings of Worth and Penny O'Sullivan Trustee Village of Orland Park.

Team C won $2300 for charity and divided among the four. They won by answering questions:

"The name of this southwest suburban community was influenced by the view of the area from the Harlem Avenue bridge, situated near the entrance to the community. However, the corporate limits of the Village did not encompass the Harlem Ave. Bridge. Can you name the Village? The answer was Bridgeview.

Another question was "What is the oldest community in the southwest suburbs. It incorporated in 1843?" The answer was Blue Island.

There were some easy questions like: "What airline has the most flights in and out of Midway Airport?" The answer, of course, was Midway Airlines.

There were also some very hard questions such as "The world's first organ transplant was performed at what southwest suburban hospital? Oak Forest Hospital, St. Francis Hospital of Little Company of Mary Hospital?" The answer is Little Company of Mary.

All in all it turned out to be a pleasant afternoon enjoyed by all.

Village puts brakes on senior cab program

By Brian Begy

At the Tuesday meeting of the Oak Lawn Village Board, plans were delayed for a cab service to benefit senior citizens and the handicapped.

The plan was designed to provide coupons worth $20 of cab fare at a cost of $10 for those who qualified. The Village would pay for the remaining $10.

The function of the program was to increase the mobility of seniors and the handicapped at a reduced cost.

A major problem with the plan was pointed out by Trustee Bill Hefka (1st district). He said that the cabs destined to be used for the program were not adequately equipped for the handicapped.

Hefka also feared that the coupons, once sold, would be used by people other than seniors and the handicapped. Hefka suggested that the Village was "entering in prematurely," to an agreement.

He also added that he spoke to seniors, and could not find support for a cab program. He said that seniors would prefer a bus program over the cab service.

Village Manager Richard O'Neill is currently trying to gain access to a 15-passenger minibus with provisions for the handicapped.

Mayor Ernest Kolb is also negotiating with Pace to obtain a bus that would run on a limited schedule for the seniors and handicapped. Orland Park uses a system of two buses through an arrangement with Pace.

Trustee Ron Stancik (2nd district), suggested spending the $20,000 the Village had allocated for the cab program on a bus service instead. Stancik proposed delaying the cab program because "it appears we have a lukewarm idea."

Village attempts to solve commuter parking problem

By Brian Begy

The Oak Lawn Village Board again tried to solve the problem of commuter parking at the 95th Street train station at its Tuesday meeting.

The problem has arisen because commuters who use the train do not wish to pay a $ .50 daily parking fee to park in the lot at the station. Commuters have instead been parking their cars on the blocks surrounding the station, bringing an angry response from residents.

The Village will install 24 different types of parking signs from 54th Ave. to Cicero Ave. and from 99th St. to Southwest Hwy.

Trustee Jay Bergamini (6th district), criticized the plan for its sheer complexity. "There must be several hundred signs in the area," he said.

Bergamini also voiced concerns about the reaction of residents to the complex set of restrictions. He said that he was afraid residents would not be able to park on their own streets.

Trustee Michele Collings (3rd district), said that if residents received tickets for parking on their own block, the ticket would be dropped.

Trustee Ron Stancik (2nd District), said that the process of informing residents of the new restrictions was almost complete. "The bulk of our commentary with the residents has been achieved," he said.

The Village has organized another parking lot on 111th St. to provide parking should the lot at the train station fill up. Commuters can then take a shuttle bus to the station at a cost of $1.00 less per month than they would spend at the 95th St. lot.

So far, the new lot probably won't be needed because there is no danger of the 95th St. lot filling up.

NEWSIGHTING

Banning manditory drug testing

A Federal court has banned "mandatory drug testing" and "alcohol testings" for railroad employees, calling this "unconstitutional", violating the Fourth Amendment, which it considered to be unreasonable search and seizure. They claim that blood and urine tests have not been conclusive enough as a "measure of intoxication." However, they concede that "if there is individual suspicion because of observable symptoms of impairment, with a positive result on a drug test, would prove a sound basis for appropriate disciplinary action." DOT Secretary Jim Burnley said the Justice Department has been asked to appeal the Ninth Circuit's latest decision on the testing rules to the Supreme Court. It was also stated, that people have reasonable expectations of privacy in the personal information "body fluids contain." Therefore, taking a Urine Specimen constitutes a search and seizure within the meaning of the Fourth Amendment. It is known however, that using drugs and alcohol can impair the mental capabilities of the users. This can cause innocent people to become victimized by such users who are allowed to perform their duties. The victims did not drink the alcohol or take the drugs, and are unsuspecting of any potential danger when they are riding on a train or a passenger on an airline, or on a cruise! Where are their rights? The Transportation Authorities should seek more to protect the people who they depend on for their services than "employees who abuse themselves" and put everyone including the Railroads, Airlines, Cruise Lines, Taxi Cabs and other means of transporting people from one place to another, in jeopardy. With the Ban on Mandatory Testing, we can look forward to more accidents, deaths, severe injuries and many more "law suits." It seems that nothing really changes, people are expendable, so says the laws of the land, in their being neglectful of the rights of unsuspecting, innocent people.

Whodunit Prize Is Caribbean Cruise

If you're a mystery fan with a yearning for the sea, this is for you.

Family Circle magazine's April 26 issue features "The Great Plastic Grocery Sack Whodunit" offering supermarket shoppers a chance to win a seven-day Caribbean cruise for a family of four on the Cunard Line's luxurious Cunard Countess.

Family Circle readers will find a mystery scenario and entry blank in that issue—as well as a full-page description of the Whodunit, sponsored by the Plastic Grocery Sack Council of the Flexible Packaging Association.

In the mystery scenario, each of several passengers aboard a Cunard luxury liner uses a plastic grocery sack with convenient handles to carry various items separate from their luggage.

As the group of passengers raises a toast in cabin 1313, Interpol agents crash the party and find the stolen Jewels de Sottise in one of the plastic sacks. But, Whodunit? That's the challenge to Family Circle readers. Clues are provided in a drawing of the party cabin.

The winner of the grand prize cruise will be chosen by random drawing among entrants who have correctly identified the passenger who stole the jewels. So will be the winners of 100 second prizes —plastic grocery sacks full of mystery novels.

Entries can be submitted either on the official entry form in the April 26 Family Circle, or on a 3- by 5-inch paper with the entrant's hand printed name and address and identification of the thief.

Entries must be mailed in a #10 envelope to: Plastic Grocery Sack Whodunit? P.O. Box 4008, Blair, NE 68009. Only one entry per envelope and entries must be received by June 17, 1988.

- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
- 5 pounds country-style pork ribs, cut into 12 sections
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 large onion (1/2 pound), thinly sliced
- 1 cup beer
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 cup prepared mustard
- 1 teaspoon (or 1 cube) instant chicken bouillon

Down home cooking can be appreciated by both city and country people alike. The often used slow cooking process brings out the delicious taste in meat while keeping it moist and flavorful. Unfortunately, slow cooking is a lengthy cooking process that few people care to undertake on a regular basis.

To maximize your cooking efforts, make double batches of recipes. Serve one batch now and freeze the other for another meal. "Country-Style Ribs with Onion-Mustard Sauce" are meaty and flavorful, and offer a hearty home-cooked taste. And they're delicious even after freezing and reheating!

After preparing ribs, allow extra portion to cool. In order to help protect against freezer burn and preserve the good taste, freeze in Ziploc* brand pleated freezer bags. The new freezer bags are specially-designed with a pleat to provide more room for hard to fit items, like ribs, roasts or homemade bread loaves. And the pleat enables the bag to sit upright for easy filling and take up less space in the freezer!

Unlike aluminum foil or hard plastic freezer containers, the clear plastic bag allows you to identify contents at a glance. So when you are planning dinner, those good ribs will be remembered each time you open the freezer door. And you won't mistake your banana bread for a meatloaf when selecting dinner to thaw while you're on your way to work!

The bags are available in half-gallon sizes, to fill the gap between quart and gallon-sized freezer bags. And Ziploc also has developed a pleated storage bag for protecting everything from refrigerated fruit salad to the cereal on your pantry shelf.

When it comes to saving time and money, think ahead and make your cooking time count. By making extra and freezing, you can double your recipes and still have the ter-

Brandy is probably the oldest distilled beverage. It may have been made as early as A.D. 100.

Mahatma and Carolina Brown Rice—A Natural For Salads

Salads of all kinds are becoming increasingly popular, but entree salads are especially in demand as more and more people desire light but filling and satisfying meals. Rice as a primary salad ingredient is also a growing trend, partially because rice is so often a pantry staple but also because it goes well with so many other foods.

Also contributing to the popularity of rice salads is the inherent natural goodness of rice. Mahatma and Carolina Brown rice, for example, can be a good source of fiber, several of the B vitamins and all the important amino acids. When combined with other protein foods such as it is with cooked chicken in Mahatma and Carolina Brown Rice & Chicken Salad, brown rice offers a pleasing balance of carbohydrate to protein.

For more recipes, including nutritious salads, using Mahatma and Carolina Brown Rice, send your name, address, zip code and 25 cents for postage and handling to Brown Rice Recipes, P.O. Box 2636, Houston, TX 77252.

Fish—The Infallible Food

Elegant but easy Fish Roll-Ups with Pignoli, filled with a blend of vegetables, pine nuts and cheese are served with a zesty spaghetti sauce.

If there's such a thing as a perfect food, it's fish. Nutritionally and economically, fish can't be beat. It cooks quickly and easily, and lends itself to many preparations, from simple to elaborate. Tomato-based sauce is the perfect accompaniment to subtly-flavored fish. For a long-simmered flavor of homemade sauce in a fraction of the time, try zesty Prego spaghetti sauce.

In this impressive looking and tasting fish dish, spaghetti sauce is spooned over tender fish fillets rolled around a delicate blend of vegetables, pine nuts, and cheese.

Fish Roll-Ups With Pignoli

Cheese Platter A La Francaise

An elegant cheese platter tres Francais made with a variety of delicious cheeses crafted in the U.S.A. including Bresse Bleu, Montrachet, Blubry and Bressy's.

Looking for the perfect light fare for warmer weather, try a cheese platter with a French touch. Now you no longer have to fly to France to enjoy delicious French cheeses. Companies such as Bresse Bleu, one of France's most celebrated cheese makers, are now crafting rich and elegant cheeses in the heart of America's dairyland. According to Bruno Bardet of Bresse Bleu: "We are combining the best American milk with traditional French cheese cultures and recipes. The result is a creamy authentic French-tasting array of cheeses at affordable prices."

Here are some tips on how to put together a sumptuous cheese platter a la Francaise:

- Contrast a variety of shapes and sizes
- Introduce a few unusual cheeses such as the soft mild creamy Bresse Bleu or the Blubry
- Include a tangy roll of Montrachet plain goat cheese alongside a Montrachet rolled in pepper or herbs
- Serve cheese with bread warm from the oven and water crackers
- Decorate your platter with fruits of the season such as strawberries, grapes or apples
- For an easy appetizer, look for the new Bressy's cocktail cheeses. These light creamy discs are garnished with pepper, smoked salmon or a tiny wedge of fruit and are ready to serve!

I MADE IT MYSELF!

Life gets really tense when culinary "klutzes" confront the kitchen, determined to make something special for special somebodies...

Kids on Mother's Day
Husbands on wives' birthdays
Working women on holidays.

Here's a helpful hint for amateur "do-it-yourselfers" in the kitchen.

Forget about making a cake from scratch. You're bound to fail. Try pie instead, purchased fully baked from your grocer's freezer in your favorite variety. Look for the "oven-fresh-in-minutes" label from Sara Lee or Chef Pierre.

Do not drop the pie on your way home.

Carefully place the whole pie in your microwave. Close the microwave door. Twist the dial to about 6 minutes. Then...relax. The hard part's done.

Those who are not prone to cutting their fingers on cans, jars, cookie cutters, or other somewhat sharp objects can choose from among the following recipes.

Courage. It will work. You can present a lovely gift of an elegant pie and honestly exclaim, "I made it myself!"

And they won't have to clean the kitchen.

1 Frozen Sara Lee/Chef Pierre Oven Fresh in Minutes or Baked Perfect Cherry Pie
1/4 Cup prepared hot fudge or chocolate sauce ice cream topping
1/4 Cup chopped pecans

Heat pie in preheated 350°F. oven on baking sheet 45 minutes. Meanwhile, heat sauce and drizzle on to warm pie. Sprinkle chopped nuts near rim. Serves 6-8.

Cheese Cut-Outs

Cut sliced American, Swiss, Muenster, Cheddar or Colby cheese using cookie or hors d'oeuvres cutters. Stack different sizes and types of cheese on warmed apple or Dutch apple pie.

"Dusted" Pie

Sprinkle confectioner's sugar over warm apple, blueberry or cherry pie.

Ice Cream Ball

Scoop ice cream or lemon or pineapple sherbet; roll scoops in chopped nuts, flaked coconut or chocolate sprinkles. Serve with warm apple, Dutch apple, blueberry or cherry pie.

In parts of Europe it was once believed putting cumin seeds in bread would keep the wood spirits from stealing it. Probably always worked, too.

Your Just Desserts

Sophisticated Cafe Cuisine Made Simple

A new breed of cafes offers flexible, informal, yet sophisticated cuisine. Recipes range from ethnic to down-home in style and include salads, sandwiches, tapas, breakfasts, soups, entrees and desserts. Recipes such as the Maple Walnut Pie served at The Egg and The Eye in Los Angeles can be made at home with minimum preparation.

Cafe Cuisine is the sequel to The New Carry-Out Cuisine, which the New York Times and People magazine rated among the best cookbooks of 1986.

Holy Family Church faces demolition due to repair costs

By Michelle Latanski

Holy Family Church, located on Chicago's west side is a church of historical virtue and exquisite beauty. Holy Family Church is the second oldest church building in the city. It has survived the Chicago Fire of 1871. Throughout its existence, this church has culturally changed to meet its parishioner's needs. Today's Holy Family is a battleground between church administrators and a certain parishioner group. The fight, whether Holy Family will remain standing or whether Holy Family will be demolished.

Because of Holy Family's age the church has deteriorated throughout the years. Each time the church began to fall apart, steps were taken to reconstruct this old church. The most recent sign of age to date, is a leaky roof and some fallen plaster.

Structural engineers who reviewed the problem said that the entire roof had to be repaired. This will cost Holy Family countless amounts of dollars. To Father Spine, the pastor of Holy Family , this is the last straw. Each time the church has fallen apart, Spine has fixed it. Spine realizes that the reconstruction process of Holy Family Church will occur each time something falls apart. Father Spine has a better idea in mind.

Father Spine believes that keeping Holy Family Church is unjustifiable. Spine says that because of Holy Family's immaculate layout and scale, an observer can describe it as a superelegant church. Spine, who is a member of the church administration, believes that Holy Family must exist as a parish, not as a superelegant church. Father Spine is proposing the demolition of "old" Holy Family Church and constructing a "new, smaller" Holy Family. This proposal will also include a gymnasium for its affiliate school, St. Ignatius. In deciding upon Holy Family's fate, Spine asked himself; "How can Holy Family continue to exist as a parish?" In answering, Spine looked at the needs of Holy Family. According to Spine, Holy Family does not need to continually restore. The church budget could not cover its full restoration. As spine says, Holy Family cannot be superelegant, "we have to minister to the people around us, we must accept our purpose."

Irene Maranda, a member of an exdipendant committee operating to save Holy Family, has a contradicting opinion to that of Spines. Maranda believes that Holy Family should be restored. Maranda says that Holy Family is a symbol of hope for the people of the west side. She believes that Holy Family can be restored to its fullest restoration. According to Maranda, the church can be fully restored and beautified. Her proposal includes a structural engineer team to focus on Holy Family's problem areas and concentrate on beatification. Maranda, who is a member of the Save Holy Family Committee, has produced two donors.

These donors will donate money towards Holy Family's restoration. One donor will finance the leaky roof and fallen plaster. The other donor will finance a two year period of operation costs toward the church's restoration process. Maranda would like Holy Family to be fully restored, and believes that it can be done. Maranda is at odds with Father Spine's beliefs. According to Maranda; "it survived the Chicago Fire for the cost of a basketball hoop."

Church administration and Save Holy Family Committee are fighting against each other. Each in their own way is fighting for the saving of Holy Family. Spine is fighting for Holy Family's Parish, Maranda is fighting for Holy Family Church. Who will win this battle, maybe God will decide.

Lost Myself writes:"I am 29 years old, married, and have three children. I have everything I need, but something is wrong! I am submissive to my husband's every demand, as well as my children's. I just can't seem to say no and mean it, not to them, or to myself, even when I know that saying no is what is necessary. Is there any hope for me?"

Dear Lost: This may sound strange to you, but, if you will just sit and talk to a tape recorder, telling it everything you want to say, and do this for about a month, each time you do this, say it with firmness and conviction. When you hear this coming from yourself, you will soon become stronger and more able to say it in person when the occasion to say something arises. However, I also feel that you are not saying "no" because you simply "don't want to rock the boat."

Sister's Keeper writes: "I am good looking and so is my sister, but she doesn't fix herself up, and she has a very negative attitude about herself. We married brothers, and her husband is always making a pitch for me. I don't want to hurt my sister by telling her this. I wouldn't want him anyway, and have told him this. My husband doesn't know about his brother doing this. I think she should fix herself up and go out and find someone who deserves her love."

Dear Keeper: She will one day find out about her guy, and it won't be good of you to tell her. Obviously, she has suffered low self-esteem, or she would fix herself up. Maybe her husband would take another look at her. Encourage her to work on her appearance, an in doing this, she will automatically lift up her self esteem, and this is an action that will have reaction! Actually, the problem lies with your sister. You won't help her by revealing that her husband has a roving eye, it would only do more damage to her.

O.L. Mayor represents Village in Springfield

Mayor Ernie Kolb recently went to Springfield to represent Oak Lawn, on of the 226 communities facing the July 1, 1988 deadline for wastewater treatment facilities.

Mayor Kolb said, there is a proposal in the works right now where the federal government will provide #350 million with matching funds of $70 million from the State of Illinois with the provision that the state establish the mechanism for a revolving loan fund in order to receive federal aid. He said, the program is desperately needed in order to provide a low interest or no interest funding source for maintenance and expansion of sewage treatment facilities.

During the session. Mayor Kolb told the Senators that the Village of Oak Lawn has been doing a flow study for the past year. He said, it will cost $500 to $2000 each to do the necessary repairs on 2000 manholes to keep flood waters out of the sanitary sewers and that it would be impossible for Oak Lawn and the other communities to comply with the July, 1988 mandate.

Mayor Kolb said, that while in Springfield he testified for the Tax Increment Funding (TIF) program to establish a special fund in the State Treasury that would be the depository for all state sales tax increment which funds could be used exclusively for distribution back to the municipalities which generated the funds. This fund would eliminate the need to be begging "with hat in hand" each year.

Mayor Kolb went on to say, that Village Manager Richard O'Neill also went to Springfield regarding the EMERGENCY LEGISLATIVE ALERT notification from Steve Sargent, Executive Director of the Illinois Municipal League (IML). The subject matter was the Home Rule sales tax constitutional authority that is being pre-empted through the provisions of Senate Bill 1862 and in part could prove devastating to the Village.

Mr. Sargent said, the bill contains some beneficial provisions but the IML is proposing amendments to modify the problem areas and is receiving strong opposition from special interest groups. Mr. O'Neill appeared as a representative of Oak Lawn to help convince the Senators and Representatives of the need for modifications to the Bill.

Toy saftey remains a concern

WEEKLY COLUMN BY U.S. Senator Paul Simon

Back in 1981, when the huge tax bill passed, a small item tucked in that measure took away the authority of the Consumer Products Safety Commis-sion to inspect permanent amusement parks in this nation.

I accidentally found out about it some time later when checking out the cause of increased accidents at amusement parks.

And I learned then that one of the members of the commission who seemed more interested in protect-ing certain industries than in protecting the public was a Democratic appointee to the commission, Terrance Scanlon.

When I publicly protest-ed what was happening within that agency, and its failure to protect the public, some commission employ-ees quietly came to me and said that Scanlon represented everything that commission is not supposed to represent.

Then in 1985, the Presi-dent nominated a new chairman for the commis-sion, and guess who was named? Terrence Scanlon.

I opposed his nomination on the Senate floor, and I was joined by Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin. But Scanlon is the nephew of a former, highly respected member of the Senate, and his nomination breezed through 63-33.

Now the same commission sides with the lawn dart industry, by a 2-1 vote, and against public safety.

Lawn darts have steel points that have sent 6,100 people to hospital emer-gency rooms in the last eight years, half of them children under age 10. Three have died.

'NEWSWEEK' recently had an article by reporter Steven Waldman with this interesting paragraph about another matter before the commission:

"Toys with small parts that can be swallowed pose less obvious but more serious risks. They were linked to 12,000 injuries and 18 fatalities in 1985-most involving children who choked. Last year the Consumer Federation of America charged that the CPSC had ignored its own 1983 study showing that children were choking on toy parts that met federal safety guidelines. Finally in February the commission voted to reconsider the standards. Scanlon says the agency waited so long because it was looking into industry claims that problems cited in the 1983 report had been eliminated. Yet the person who wrote that study said she needed only a few hours to reanalyze the data and to conclude that the danger remained. The CPSC should have acted much faster, says Anne Graham, a Republican CPSC com-missioner who often opposes Scanlon. 'It's a matter of choking kids.' "

Scanlon argues his com-mission does not have enough money to do the job adequately. There is a problem, but that's not the chief deficiency.

I don't think he's fooling too many people with that argument.

The major problem at the Consumer Product Safety Commission is not a lack of money but a lack of will. Republican member Graham is doing a good job.

Scanlon and his other commissioner obviously do not believe in the mission of the Consumer Product Safety Commission. They have that right. But they should step aside and let someone who believes in protecting the public run the agency.

McNamara sponsors bill to prevent the abuse of children

State Representative John J. McNamara (D-Oak Lawn) is sponsoring a measure in the Illinois General Assembly to protect children from sex-ual abuse while attending day care centers and social organizations.

House Bill 3697 would allow organizations de-voted to benefiting children to require employees and volunteers to sign a statement under oath that they have not had any prior involvement in child abuse.

Under this bill any private organization or assoc--iation that devotes time to providing recreational social, educational, or safety services to children under the age of 18, may require a person to sign a statement as a condition of employmcnt, that the person has not been convicted of crimes involving phy-sical injury to a child, sexual abuse of a child, child abduction, or been identified as a perpetrator of child abuse.

If a employee or volunteer falsifies the statement he can be convicted of perjury,-punishable between 2-5 years in prison and up to a $10,000 fine.

This legislation passed out of the Judiciary Com-mittee by 10-0 vote and now goes to the full House for discussion.

In another matter, State Rep. McNamara has intro-duced a bill into the General Assembly that will strengthen the DUI laws of Illinois.

McNamara said, "This legislation will affect those individuals whom a law en-forcement officer reason-ably believes is under the influence of narcotics or who maybe in a disorient state of mind."

This legislation passed out of the Judiciary I Com-mittee 12-0 and now goes to the full House for dis-cussion.

State's Attorney office indicts seven in Public Aid scandal

Seven individuals,includ-ing three Chicago Police Department employees and two Illinois Department of Public Aid caseworkers, have been indicted on criminal charges stemming from different cases of alleged wrongdoing, Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley announced recently.

Both Public Aid case-workers and one of the police employees were charged with official misconduct for allegedly committing crimes tied to their government duties, according to Daley.

The two other policc employees, one allegedly working with two civilian ac-complices, were charged with separate thefts unre-lated to their public duties for allegedly filing false insurance claims.

In announcing the indict-ments, Dalcy praised the cfforts of Chicago police, state police and the Public Aid department in developing the separate cases.

Daley also praised the work of Thomas Gardiner, supervisor of his office's Public Integrity Unit, and prosecutors Sue Link, Roger Kemp, Eugene Munin and Richard Shapiro.

In another action, Daley said recently, Illinois Bell Telephone customers are entitled to an immediate $85 million reduction in rates, $20 million more than has been proposed by the staff of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

In asking the ICC for the larger rate reduction, Daley also called on the regulatory commission to open a full, in-depth in-vestigation into the phone company's overall rates to see if even larger savings for consumers are justified.

"Utility customers are en-titled to the lowest possible rates and are not getting them now from Illinois Bell," Daley said. "The phone company's rates are too high and must be reduced immediately," he added.

Daley is asking the ICC to use its authority under the Public Utilities Act to reduce rates immediately pending a full hearing on the matter.

The proposals represent-ed Daley's latest attcmpt to obtain lower utility rates for consumers.

Last December,he suc-cessfully worked with the Office of Public Counsel to get $57 million in refunds and reduced rates for all Illinois Bell customers, the first time in history that across-the-board savings have been obtained from the company.

Illinois Atorney General's office cracks unemployment compensation scam

Attorney General Neil F.Hartigan recently announ-ced that 30 persons have been charged with perjury and fraud in connection with illegally receiving un-employment insurance ben-efits while employed.

Sixty two indictments were returned and the liabil-ity of the 30 persons totals $115,266. Each charge carries a possible 2 to 5 years in jail, restitution and a fine of up to $10,000.

Hartigan said that in-cluding today's suits, 281 persons have been indicted since the start of Operation Two Timer in July 1985.

Also, Hartigan filed an action against Illinois Bell Telephone to force the creation of a special fund to compensate the thousands of phone users whose service was cut off as a result of inadequate emer-gency planning by Illinois Bell.

Hartigan's action, filed before the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC), charged that Illinois Bell Telephone Company is culpable for damages result-ing from the recent fire at its Hinsdale switching stat-ion because its policies and practices "have fostered and/or caused the disruption in service and endangered the public health, safety and welfare".

Hartigan alleged in his complaint that Illinois Bell's emergency response system was grossly inadequate bccause it was "not designed to promptly notify local emergency ser-vice agencies."

Hartigan also charged that the company had failed to properly train employees in emergency response pro-cedures and had not installed a fire suppressions system which "could have minimized the fire damage and resultant loss of essential telccommunications service.

The May 8 fire at Illinois Bell's Hinsdale switching station knocked out phone scrvice for customers in five western suburbs and created widespread prob-lems in routing calls beyond that area. Illinois Bell's alarm system at the site caused an alarm to sound in a Bell office in Springfield. By the time an attempt was made to con-tact the Hinsdale Fire De-partmcnt, the fire had already shut down phone service.

In another action, At-torney Hartigan an-nounced a final court order requiring complete elimin-ation of long-standing environmental and public hazards caused by two municipal landfills in Waukegan that leaked after they were closed and sealed.

Hartigan said today's court order results from two lawsuits filed by his of-fice -- a March 1982 lawsuit involving the Waukegan municipal land-fill at the corner of York-house and McAree Roads, and a May 1985 lawsuit in-volving the landfill at Adelphi and Burris Streets.

"Today's court order requires prompt completion of all remedial work that re-mains neccssary. In addition, the defendants must take measures to assure that the landfills will never again threaten the public health or safety or cause a public nuisance.

Hartigan's office and the Illinois Environmen-tal Pro-tection Agency have the right to enter either site at any time in order to assure compliance with today's court order and obtain samples.

Cong. Russo opposes defense increases

In a speech on the Floor of the House of Represcnt-atives during debate on the Depart-ment of Dcfense Authorization bill Congress-man Marty Russo told his colleagues that supporters of a defense spending in-crcase "should be willing to pay for it and to show how to pay for it."

The Congressman's re-marks camc during debate over amendments concern-ing "sustained real growth" in the defense budget. The first amendment, which Mr. Russo supported, would have expressed the sense of Congress that such sustained growth in defense budgets should be financed on a pay-as-you-go basis. The amendment, calling for "sustained real groh in each fiscal year compared to the preceding fiscal year" was defeated by a vote of 167-219.

"I want a good strong defense, but I am judicious in what 1 support, consider-ing the billions of dollars involved. I will support the Trident submarine and the Trident 1 Missile, and air-launched cruise missiles, for example. I don't sup-port spending on the MX and Trident II missile. You makc choices because thc bottom line is that you have to havc a way to pay for what you buy. There is no free lunch."

The Housc is continuing debate on the $299.5 billion Defense bill through the next week. The measure authorizes appropriations for the fiscal year 1989 amended budget re-quest for military functions of the Department of Defense and prescribes military personnel levels.

Local doctor attends seminar in Belgium

Dr. John Nolan recently returned from Brussels, Belgium, where hc presented a paper to the European Society of Optometrists at their 21st Annual Congress. Dr. Nolan discussed various methods of eliminating the need for bifocals through the use of contact lenses including a new method pioneercd by himself and his father, Dr. Joseph Nolan, in their local practice in Worth, Illinois.

"For many years specialists have known that tears have the power to correct vision in the same way that glass and plastic lenses do. Last year we conceived the idea of designing a contact lens that could move in a certain manner when a patient looks down to read so as to change the tear configuration on the front of the eye thereby giving excellent reading vision. We spent the past year testing these lenses and early this year began fitting patients with them," stated Dr. Nolan.

Memorial Day memories

Memorial Day is about remembering. And what we re-member on this very important annual observance isn't pleasant.

The reflections that haunt the minds of America's vet-erans today are very personal. What they see are images of pain, suffering and death--mostly death. This is a day dedicated to those who died.

Our Veterans cast their memories back two decades to Vietnam--or four decades to images of Korea and World War II. Others see battles that raged on the fields of France 70 years ago.

Still others, standing at the rails of ships in the Persian Gulf today, need not look back more than a few, scant weeks. The smell of smoke from the big guns is all to fresh in their nostrils.

But Memorial Day isn't just for veterans. It's for all Americans. And, in one sense, we ask a great deal today from those who have never worn a military uniform.

We ask them to put their imaginations through a very difficult task, placing themselves in the position of those who have seen war and death up close.

Being realistic, we understand that this is a great deal to ask of people who have never had to master the extreme emotions of wartime service.

Yet, this is the stuff of which Memorial Day is made. And all we ask of people is that they try to get al least a flavor of the sacrifices so many were called to make.

And we realize that these aren't happy thoughts. But we'd point out that a fervent hope marches side by side with all the pain associated with this day.

It is the hope of peace--permanent, lasting peace--that lies in the hearts of all Americans, Peace for our own people. Peace for peoples throughout the world.

Yes, it is a tragic thing that a million and a quarter American men and women have died in our nation's many wars and armed conflicts over the past two centuries. They paid a horrible price, but it was the price of freedom.

Those men and women purchased your freedom and my freedom. If Memorial Day is about death, it's also about the individual rights and freedoms enshrined in the United States Constitution.

If the observance of this day involves memories of suf-fering, it surely entails our nations' freedom from domination by foreign powers as well.

Finally, Memorial Day means the hope of peace and freedom for others throughout the world. Our war dead have laid that hope in the hands of all people--those who live in other free nations and those who live under the yoke of dictatorship.

To some, I know, such a statement might sound like nothing more than a little harmless--but overblown--nationalism. But I really think that statement holds up.

Despite all the criticism our nation takes from others a-round the globe, we're still the beacon of freedom for the entire world.

If you doubt this, take some time to watch a natural-ization ceremony. Talk to some of the people who are swearing their allegiance to the United States as brand new citizens. Let them tell you why the've chosen our country.

Their words will touch you and surprise you. And, no matter how patriotic you may be, you'll learn something new about how precious the promise of America really is.

Such an experience helps those of us who were born in America to gain new awareness of things we often take for granted. Just one of those things is the meaning of the American experiment.

More than two centuries have passed since that experiment began with the American Revolution. But the United States is still the foremost example that determined people can break the chains of tyranny.

Even more, we've proven that freedom is not a threat to national unity. In our country, people of the most varied opinions and backgrounds live in real harmony.

Sometimes,in the day-to-day clashes of current events, that harmony might seem questionable. Our democratic institutions even encourage all that discord and dissent.

In this discussion, I don't mean to indicate that we've achieved perfection. Looking only at our government's response to veterans, I could cite several areas where we fall somewhat short.

However, America's claim to greatness doesn't stand on any claim to perfection. It rests on our ability to aspire to perfection.

In America, if we believe something is wrong, we can try to change it. Our democratic institutions are the tools we use to create change.

When groups of people have common concerns, they can gather their strength together in organizations like the Disabled American Veterans. With that strength, they can apply pressure to create change where change is needed.

And it's working. Again, looking just at those issues of concern to veterans,, the DAV and our nation's other veterans' organizations have built an enviable record of influencing public policy.

From one day to the next--even from one year to the next--the improvement may be difficult to see. But you can see the advances in clear focus when you take a longer view.

In the years after World War I, a miserable situation faced veterans, particularly disabled vets. Frankly, it was a real mess. Today much remains to be done. We're still working toward perfection. But life for disabled vets has improved vastly since the 1920s.

The struggle for perfection isn't unique to veterans' af-fairs. Americans are concerned about all kinds of issues--everything from education to foreign policy, from the environment to international trade.

In every debate, a variety of opinions surface. Americans aren't shy about expressing their views. Conflicts arise. Out of conflict grows compromise, and America moves closer to its vision of perfection.

On Memorial Day, it's important to remember all of this as we pause to remember our nation's war dead. Without all of this, our observance of Memorial Day would be a sad and morbid affair.

We would be recalling the sacrifices of your men and women without cause. We would be mourning senseless death.

Certainly, we mourn on Memorial Day. But we can also celebrate the priceless gift we've received from those who sacrificed their lives in the cause of freedom.

That gift is America. That gift is everything our nation means to you, to me, to all of our country's citizens, and to people throughout the world.

With the vision of that gift in their hearts, our war dead drew their last breath. They died knowing that their lives had been vested with deep and abiding meaning.

So, on Memorial Day, we should celebrate that mean-ing as we remember the sacrifice our war dead made on our behalf.

WITH GRATITUDE AND TRIBUTE TO THOSE WHO FOUGHT AND DIED IN US WARS

Southwest Y.M.C.A. organizes exchange program with Ireland

The Southwest YMCA has received a Challenge Grant from the YMCA of the USA for an Irish youth exchange with their partner Y, the YMCA of Cork. The Challenge Grant will fund 30% of the direct program costs. The proposed program will bring ten Irish youth and one staff mem-ber to the southwest sub-urbs this summer for a four week visit. Approximate dates of the exchange are from July 26 to August 23.

The exchange will offer the opportunity for families in the Southwest Cook area to open their homes to these young people and participate with the YMCA in providing them with a variety of events and activities to enable them to better understand American culture and our way of life. Preference will be given to families with youth participating in the Southwest YMCA's Rocky Mountain Leadership Con-ference. The Irish youth will attend the Rocky Mountain Conference in Colorado from August 12 to August 21 with youth from the Southwest Y as well as five Y's from Chicago.

A local Irish Exchange Task Force is being developed to assist in all aspects of the exchange project: home stays with local families; activities and events for the youth; and fund-raising to secure the Challenge Grant. Funds must be raised by July 1 to assure the success of the project. The Task Force have already had some meetings at the Southwest YMCA office in Alsip. Annette Dixon, a member of the Southwest YMCA Board of Directors, is heading the group. Interested persons may call 385-6700 for further infor-mation.

Anti-drug poster winner named

John Cindric, a student at Conrady Jr. High School, was recently honored as one of the top winners of State's Atty. Richard M. Daley's 6th Annual Anti-Drug Poster Contest. Join-ing Daley in presenting the awards and prizes were Leslie Frazier, former Chicago Bears defensive back, and Donald Davis of Pepsi-Cola General Bot-tlers, which donated U.S. Savings Bonds to the winners. Daley sponsors the contest each year to enable children to warn their peers of the dangers of drug abuse.

G.O.P. candidate Gainer demands investigation of Dunne

Terry Gainer, the Repub-lican Candidate for Cook County State's Attorney recently requested that in-cumbent Richard M. Daley initiate an investigation into allegations of sexual pat-ronage and harassment in the Cook County Forest Preserve.

"The time has come to end the sensational specu-lation regarding George Dunne's actions as Cook County Board President," said the Republican Chal-lenger in a letter to Daley. "A formal investigation by your office is both approp-riate and necessary to settle once and for all the crucial issue of whether Mr. Dunne violated any laws in placing on the payroll women with whom he was personally involved," declared Gainer.

Citing the unexplained de-lay by the State's Attorney Office in addressing the case, Gainer went on to say it "has further exacerbated the situation by allowing the media trial of George Dunne to overshadow the true issue in the case--are sexual patronage and ha--rassment being practiced in the Cook County Forest Preserve? The 'coincident-al' availability of jobs with-in days of these involve-ments raises ethical and legal questions which must be answered." Gainer had originally called for such an investigation on April 29, when the allegations first arose.

Gainer Demander, "Not only must Mr. Dunne's role be examined, but corollary allegations of misconduct in hiring and employment practices, such as those involving Deputy Superintendent Marshall Silverstein, should also be addressed." Gainer urged Daley "to fulfill the respon-sibilities the citizens of Cook County have given you, and bring the true facts of this affair to light. Only then will this case come to a speedy and ap-propriate conclusion."

Letters:

Dear Editor:

We the people have the golden opportunity of a life time to vote this November 8th and vote "YES" to have an Illinois Constitutional Convention.

We the people will be able to tell the politicians and bureaucrats what we want, instead of letting the politicians tell us what to do.

The opposition against having the Constitutional Convention has been organized by the lobbyists and cntrenched politicians. They're trying to scare voters away from us voting for a Constitutional Convention.

Don't let them get away with it. If you want real property tax relief, stronger ethics laws and the power of recall established in Illinois, give yourself a fighting chance by voting "YES" for the Illinois Con-stitutional Convention.

If you would like to help or require more infor-mation please call 798-6151.

Sincerely,
John A. Komar

U.S. Senator Paul Simon of Illinois

'NO' TO INVASION OF PANAMA

A small paragraph in a story about Panama concerns me.

Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs Elliott Abrams said that the United States will consult with other Latin American nations on how to deal with Panama strongman Manuel Noriega.

That's fine.

It is about time!

We should have consulted with our neighbors before we got involved in dealing with this dictator.

Once indicted for those drug dealings, instead of threats and blustering, we should have consulted our friends in Latin America, but we did not. Instead, we reinforced the image of Uncle Sam as a bully and exploiter, trying to dictate what governments other nations can have.

But buried in a story by Nathaniel Sheppard Jr. of the Chicago Tribune is this:

"Abrams also warned that U.S. patience with Noriega was running out and said there now existed more support in Congress for military action to remove him."

Here is one senator who opposes sending U.S. troops into Panama to topple Noriega. And there are many more senators who feel the same way.

I don't like this military dictator, and we should much more quietly indicate to the leaders of Panama that we will not cooperate on international loans and other forms of assistance that Panama needs, so long as Noriega is in power.

To send in troops would cause major political damage to the United States and cause a needless loss of life for Americans and Panamanians.

The United States cannot and should not dictate the governments other nations have.

We ought to stand for human rights, and make that clear. President Jimmy Carter did a superb job in that. And it caused movement toward democracy all over the world. Progress has been achieved.

I do not oppose the indictment of Noriega on drug charges by the Miami grand jury, but other than sending a message to the Panamanian people, it is a useless gesture. Noriega is not going to walk into the United States and offer himself up for arrest.

We can just as legitimately indict the Ayatollah of Iran and Qaddafi of Libya. It might please us emotionally but it does little good.

The people of Panama are proud and independent people who dislike their present dictator. The Roman Catholic bishops there have stood up and denounced the military dictatorship -- not an easy thing to do when you live there -- but they have also condemned the policy of the United States for being short-sighted in hurting the people of Panama and reinforcing the dictatorship.

The United States cannot determine who runs other countries. We must leave that to them while we stand clearly for our ideals.

But invading other countries with our troops to topple governments is not part of what this nation should stand for.

Illinois House passes tax break for elderly

The Illinois House of Representatives overwhclm-ingly passed lcgislation recently that will give some 800,000 Illinois residents who are 65 and older or blind an additional exemp-tion whcn filing their 1988 State Income Tax Return.

"Prior to the enactment of the Federal Tax Reform Act of 1986, those individuals were granted this additional exemption on both the Federal and the Illinois Income Tax Return," said McNamara. "When the Federal Tax Reform Act went into affcct it eliminated these tax exemptions form the Federal Tax Return and the State of Illinois did the same to its tax form."

"This legislation restores the state portion of the so-called "double exemption" that was eliminated in 1986 by the federal tax law changes," McNamara explained. "It will give back to the elderly and the blind what they once had, and still deserve."

If passed by the Senate and signed by the Governor, the legislation would save qualified taxpayers $25 on their state income tax, and $50 for qualified couples. The legis-lation would take effect in 1989 for 1988 tax returns.

Home growth drops

Housing activity in the Chicago Metropolitan area decreased 21% in April in comparison with the same month one year ago, ac-cording to the Bell Federal Survey of Building.

Single family and multi-family housing units to-gcthcr totaled 2,929, a drop from the 3,703 reported in April, 1987.

Thoughout the Chicago-land area 2,410 permits were issued for single family homes, a 9% decline from 2,645 reported in 1987. Multi-family hous-ing units plunged 51%, reporting only 519 housing units compared to 1,058 a year ago.

Building permits for new homc construction during the first four months appears to be on a down-ward trend. Permits were issued for 8,202 total hous-ing units compared with 11,007 in 1987. Single family homes dccreased 17% from 7,638 to 6,316. Multi-family housing total-ed 1,886 units compared to last year's 3,369, a 44 % drop.

Governor's veto of Medicaid sustained

House Republican Leader Lee Daniels (R-Elmhurst), said lawmakers faced a difficult decision this weck as they voted to sustain the Governor's veto of addit-ional $155.6 million supplemental to the state's dry Medicaid budget would have drained state coffers and jeopardized Illinois' high credit rating.

currently, the state has no money to pay medical providers, such as doctors and pharmacists, who treat Medicaid patients. Without an additional appropriation, these providers must wait until the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1, to receive past due payments.

Daniels said he understands the enormous burden this places on medical providers. For this reason, he supports a smal-ler supplemental appropriat-ion of $30 million to allow the state to pay the most needy medical providers through the end of the fiscal year, June 30.

In other session action, the Illinois House has sent 519 House bills to the Senate, while the state Senate has approved 232 Senate bills. During the coming weeks, House members will concentrate on reviewing measures sent to the House by the Senate. Among the proposals now under consideration in House committees are: Ed-ucation Reform Oversight - SB 2115, Elder Abuse -SB 1714, Long Term Care-SB 2264, Long Term Care Insurance - SB 1955, Income Tax Refund Account -SB 1562, Juvenile Pros-tiution - SB 2258, Child Sex Victim Services- SB 2257, Drug Trafficking - SB 1995, Cannabis Trafficking -SB 1994, Rural Ambulance Service - SB 1647, No Sunday Car Leasing - SB 1870, Rail-road Improvements - SB 2003, Drunk Driving Pre-vention Fund - SB 2193, and Land Owners Reim-bursement for SSC Construction - SB 1673.

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR ALL SIGNS:

ARIES/SCORPIO

Matters that need attention are in the home and dealing with family members. It does appear that you want to make important career and personal changes, and will have to convince the family that this is the right choice. Gemini involved too.

TAURUS/LIBRA

Go over financial matters with the family as you might have to say no to a purchase they want, and you cannot afford at this time. A Cancer person involved.

GEMINI/VIRGO

You will have to speak up to the one you love and let them know that your new ideas about your job or theirs needs some real decision making. Money comes and you will invest it wisely, maybe paying off bills.

CANCER

The above message also applies to you. And if you have been thinking of making a move, home or career, this is the time to act! A Leo will help if you ask: Careful in dealing with Sagittarains, be more compassionate of their needs or suggestions to you.

LEO

An Aries or Scorpio person has some very interesting ideas to share with you; in career and in travel suggestions. Listen, this time, they are right!

SAGITTARIUS

Check your diet...you could be under too much stress lately, causing you some gastritis. Be willing to take a day off, get away, get in tune with yourself and your needs.

CAPRICORN

Don't listen to gossip. It seems that you are being given wrong information. Check things out before you act. Also, a Libra person helps you to understand your own needs and points out your better talents. Listen!

AQUARIUS

Money matter is resolved, and you have the necessary funds to buy new clothes or new furnishings. Save some for a trip, even an overnighter with someone you love. A Leo could be involved too.

PISCES

An old contact makes an offer that you may not want to refuse. Business is better, or your job seems easier. Big money is in the offing, and you will be smiling. Health is good, and you could be traveling soon.

ASK KIRA

Tennessee writes: "I have a good voice, and am fairly good looking. I want to sing country. I had an agent back in Tennessee who shafted me, so I moved here to the Midwest. But, I have not been able to find an agent. Some people say that I look and sing like Dolly Parton, and we have the same birthday too. Should I keep trying here or go back to Tennessee?"

Hi Tennessee!: People with talent often have a difficult time getting the right kind of exposure. If you sing and look like Dolly, there just might be a place for you. I can't tell you to go back to Tennessee, but I can suggest that you go to places like "Dry Gulch" here in Illinois and ask for an audition! You never know where that "Lucky Break" may come from...

Presidential Hopeful writes: "I am an Aquarian, born on the President's birthday, (Feb. 6), and I wonder if I could one day become President. With all of the controversy about what Astrology has done for Ronald Reagan, perhaps I too stand a chance! But, I haven't had any law school or have been involved with politics or have I been a movie star. I am not a Minister, either. Still, I sure would like to be President!"

Dear Hopeful: It is said that anyone can become President. Surely, separation of church and state doesn't even apply! But, it would help if you had some leadership background. Being an Aquarian doesn't guarantee that you will become President. People should be more realistic! If you have the desire strong enough, perhaps one day I will be answering your letter, Dear Mr. President!

Down and Out writes: "I tried to get on welfare and was turned down because they said, "You should be able to find some kind of work." I see others more physically fit than myself on welfare. I am really in need. I can't find any work that will support me. I have no relatives that can help me. I just came to Illinois a month ago because I heard that this is a place where anyone can get welfare."

Dear Out!: There are agencies that will help you. If you know your Precinct Captain, go to that person or your Alderman and explain your needs. But, in the meantime, try to find something you can work at. You do not say what your limitations are, physically or mentally. But, it appears that you have a good mentality. Perhaps supplemental income is what you could ask for, and not straight welfare.

ASK KIRA; write in care of this newspaper. Your letters are answered in this column.

SENATE BILL 1125 . . . This is something for patriots to know . . . this bill is suggesting that Presidents George Washington and Abraham Lincoln "share a birthday in February!" But, the Civil Rights leader Martin Luther King should maintain his own birthday holiday. Is this another attempt at bringing Racial Equality? Hardly! Since when does a Civil Rights leader have precedence over a President? Washington helped to found our country, and Lincoln freed the slaves, and had these not been done, there would have been no Civil Rights as we know it. Some people are saying that this is all Communist inspired, some say it is Socialism, most say it's insanity, that the pendulum has swung too far and it's stuck! What better way to destroy America than to turn people against each other, and incite Racism on all levels? Surely, the White folks will resent this. What is the Senate really thinking of in proposing this Bill 1125? Has this, or will this, go before the public, or will it be passed "behind closed doors"?

I'M BAFFLED . . . I've been in Texas on business again, and the more I see of Texas, the more I wonder why they didn't maintain their independence from the world by remaining "The Republic of Texas". . . they have it all here! San Antonio is like an oasis, and a must on your list of places to see . . they now have SeaWorld, and it's first class! The RiverWalk is a "one-of-a-kind" experience. Far better to travel to it in the winter, although now isn't that bad . . . not nearly as bad as I thought it would be.

And I am Alyn

Legislators meet with Soviet counterparts for 'mini-summit'

At the same time as President Reagan's Mos-cow Summit meeting, Illinois legislative leaders were hosting a "min-summit" with their counterparts in the Russian political system, Deputies to the Supreme Soviet of the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic (RSFSR).

The program, first of its kind, provided an oppor-tunity for for Russian parliamentarians to observe the Illinois legislature in action, meet its members, and attend sessions in Springfield and Chicago to explain and diseuss the workings of American state govemment.

The reciprocal exchange program, which will take a delegation of Illinois legislators to Russia later this year, is a joint project of the leadership of the Illinois General Assembly and the University of Illinois at Chicago. Faculty members from the Chicago and Urbana - Champaign campuses of the University of Illinois conducted seminars for the Soviet delegation.

Support by Illinois Senators Philip J. Rock and James "Pate" Philip and Representatives Michael J. Madigan and Lee A. Daniels provided the impetus for this innovative exchange pro-gram. It is the first time that Soviet government officials below the national level had an opportunity to meet and interact with members of an American State legislature.

Participants in the pro-gram gained an under-standing of the similarities and differences between a Republic Soviet, one of 15 governing bodies in the Russian federated system, and an American State legislature.

The Russian group sp-ent three days in Springfield, returned to Chicago for meetings, including a luncheon at UIC hosted by Chancellor Donald N. Langenberg. All members of the Delegation are Deputies to the Supreme Soviet of the RSFSR.

Oak Lawn adopts tighter water-use restrictions

By Brian Begy

At the Oak Lawn Village Board meeting tuesday evening, Trustee Joe Vogrich (5th District) announced strict water use restrictions for the Village due to the drought situation.

The new restrictions allow sprinkling of lawns only on Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 5 a.m. to 8 a.m. The evening sprinkling allowed by the previous set of restrictions has been eliminated under the new plan.

Water use by the Village alone is not the only problem facing the area water supply. Water use by surrounding suburbs has also put a strain on the water systems.

The Village has sent letters to ten com-munities who's water is supplied by Oak Lawn, urging them to cut consumption. The city of Chicago, who sells Oak Lawn the water Oak LAwn distributes, has asked Oak Lawn to cut back.

The Village's water supply system has been under considerable strain lately. The system is capable of pumping from 45 million to 47 million gallons per day according to Trustee Jay Bergamini (6th District). Current consumption is about 55 million gallons per day, according to data presented by Village Manager Richard O'Neill.

"We are 50 percent over the top of reasonable capacity levels", Bergamini said.

The Village has made up for the deficit in water by using the water in reservoir to continue to supply the demand. Bergamini fears that "a catastrophe" could occur in the event of a major fire.

Vogrich complained that residents are over-watering their lawns due to drought fears and wasting water. "During a time like this, we are draining too much water from the system" Vogrich said.

Mayor Ernest Kolb stated that Orland Park has a total ban on sprinkling to conserve water, but did not go as far as to propose one in Oak Lawn.

Trustee Bill Hefka (1st District) proposed granting exemptions from the restrictions in extreme cases, if that becomes necessary, to those who have recently planted sod, for example.

Bergamini expressed anger at communities that have not taken steps to conserve water. He said that of the nearly 200 communities that receive water from Lake Michigan, only about 25 have imposed restrictions on water use. "There is not an infinite capacity," said Bergamini.

O. L. Camera Club celebrates 20th anniversary at dinner

Paul and Irene Meyers won honors for beeoming the photog-raphy couple of the year when the Oak Lawn Camera Club held its annual awards banquet at Field's Restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyers, who reside in Chieago's Garfield Ridge community, won trophies or medals in virtually every category of club eompetition.

Loeal residents who were also winners are: Dorothy Lester, Frank Passco, Sue Chap, Erich Englmann, Casey Prunchunis, Tom McNamara and Marshall Peterson.

The club celebrated its 20th anniversary at the banquet. Frank Passco yielded the president's gavel to Paul Meyers for the coming season, which will start Sept. 9 at the Oak View Recreation Center, 11009 S. Knox. The club meets there three Friday evenings of each month, September through May.

Sanitary District sells bonds for water management

James C. Kirie, chairman of the Metropolitan Sanitary District Finance Committee, announeed that on Wednesday, June 1, the District successfully sold $70 million in General Obligation Capital Improve-ment Bonds, Series of June, 1988. Five under-writing groups bid on the Bonds, rated AA and Aa by Standard & Poor's and Moody's. The Bonds have a maturity period of twenty years.

Successful bidder on the Bonds is Prudential-Bache Capital Funding with a net effective interest rate to the District of 7.3811%. According to Kirie, "The confidence placed in the financial integrity of the District has once again made it possible for this agency to sell its Bonds at an interest rate that is favorable to the taxpayers of Cook County. The Treasurer and his staff have done an outstanding job of maintaining that integrity."

Proceeds from the sale of such Bonds are used to pay for the District's share of current engineering and construction costs for wastewater management.

NEWSIGHTING
Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

HOLD YOUR BREATH . . . Now the cigarettes manufactures are on notice that they will be held liable for the death os smokers...there hasn't been a "Pandora's Box" opened like this in a long time. And the legal profession more than anyone else will have a field day on this one. With Koop at the helm, there was no question in my mind that the outcome would be against the manufacturers. I tremble at the ramifications of this matter...our very rights and freedoms as individuals are being taken away from us, and very few are aware of it. I congratulate Koop and his entourage for what they are accomplishing. I predict that a drug will replace smoking...they probably will say it will be non-addictive, but you may not be able to get along without it. Therefore one addiction would replace another...Now, before you get too excited and upset with me, please remember...I don't smoke!

AND MORE. . . Initial reports on the finding against the cigarette manufacturers go like this: the smoker is 80% responsible, and the manufacturer is 20% responsible...and the 20% translates, in this one instance, to $400,000...to the estate of the deceased. What good does it do for the deceased who enjoyed their years of smoking? To say the manufacturers were 20%, or any percent, quilty, is to say the smoker did not have full use of their mental faculties to make a decision on the matter, and if this was true, how could they be held responsible for any of their decisions, including their last will and testament? Can you see where this all leads? And a whole separate matter is the "precedent" status of this case, which is comparable to "opening the floodgates." Needless to say, the case is being appealed, and will be an on-going matter in the news. I'll keep you posted. There is more to come...

And I am Alyn

P.S./WASHINGTON

a weekly column by
U.S. Senator Paul Simon of Illinois

HATRED AND FEAR RESULT IN VIOLENCE

There are little signs of poison spreading across the land.

A weekly news magazine has an article about "jokes" on some campuses that make fun of Jewish-American women.

A visitor to Chicago told me that he does not remember visiting any American city, including cities in the South, where black/white hostility is so visible and so deep-seated.

In Equador, a candidate for president is defeated who makes speeches about "a Jewish conspiracy." Fortunately, he lost the election, but the hate and fear that he spread will not die quickly.

In Chicago, a city employee with access to top officials there talks the same poison, and adds that Jewish doctors are inflicting black children with AIDS through injection.

After Polish "jokes" seem to finally have died, suddenly one day I am told two.

And not just anti-Polish jokes. They come in anti-black and anti-Hispanic versions too.

On a Chicago radio call-in program some months ago, when I appeared to tell of my proposal to put more Americans to work, one woman called and said, "You know why I'm out of work, don't you?" No, I admitted to her, I do not. "The blacks are getting all the jobs," she assured me.

If she were working, she would not have been on the phone to rail against blacks.

When things go wrong, or do not go quite right, it is easy to blame "them," whoever is an easy scapegoat. It might be blacks or Hispanics or Jews or Poles or Italians or Asian-Americans or Catholics or almost any group you can name.

If you want to believe something, you can build the facts to support your belief, no matter how ridiculous and far-fetched it is.

I remember some years ago receiving a letter from a Turkish-American telling me that there is an Armenian conspiracy to take over the United States.

He outlined a list of key Armenian leaders who had reached positions of responsibility in journalism and business and government. And the passion of his letter was clearly so intense that nothing I or anyone could say would dissuade him.

Pure, utter nonsense, of course.

But it is worse than that.

If people want to believe in Santa Claus or the tooth fairy or their horoscope or that the world is flat, no great harm is done.

I have a relative who believes that no one has ever walked on the moon, that it was all a movie set that the television producers created. Wrong? Yes. Is any real harm done by that belief? No.

But when myths stir hatred and fear, then great harm can be done. Hitler is an illustration of that, and unfortunately, history is loaded with other examples of unprincipled people, who trouble themselves by hates and fears, sometimes lead others to hate and fear.

Whenever racial or religious or national prejudices rear their vicious, ugly heads -- whether in the form of "jokes" or serious talk -- make clear where you stand.

The ultimate result of hatred and fear is violence.

The ultimate result of a more understanding society is a brighter future for your children and my children and all people.

Business school hit by State's Attorney

A consumer fraud lawsuit was filed by Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley against a downtown Chicago business school accused of cheating students with inadequate instruction by unlicensed teachers.

Named as the defendant in Daley's court action was Trainco Inc., with schools at 407 S. Dearborn St. and 80 E. Van Buren St.

According to the suit, school officials allegedly violated the state's Consumer Fraud Act by accepting students who lacked high school educations, allowing some courses to be taught by unlicensed instructors and falsely promising non-English-speaking students that courses would be bilingual.

Daley urged other Trainco students who believe they were cheated to file immediate complaints with his office's Consumer Fraud Unit at 443-4600.

In another action, the principal of a southwest suburban grade school has been charged with aggravated criminal sexual assault and the possession of child pornography, authorities announce.

Lee A. Stamberg, 49 of Western Springs, was charged Wednesday night with two counts of aggravated criminal sexual assault and two counts of possessing pornographic films and magazines featuring children.

The charges followed an investigation by the State's Attorney's Task Force on Mass Molestation of Children and were announced by State's Attorney Richard M. Daley, Ill. State Police Director Jeremy Margolis, Ill. Department of Children and Family Services Director Gordon Johnson, Western Springs Police Chief William J. Rypkema, and Berwyn Police Chief Frank Kravcik.

Stamberg is currently the principal of Chippewa School in Palos Heights.

Hartigan's office sues technical school

Recently Attorney Gen-eral Neil F. Hartigan filed a suit against Environmental Technical Institute (ETI) charging that the Bensenville school misled students about facilities and tuition provisions.

Hartigan's suit charges the school and three of its executives with violations of the Illinois Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Practices Act.

ETI misrepresented to students that the cost of their courses in heating, air conditioning and refrigeration would be paid in full by the U.S. government, even though the school was not properly certified for federal programs, Hartigan's suit alleges.

The Attorney General's Office earlier this year filed suit against six other vocational schools on similar charger that they misrepresented their facilities and misled prospective students.

In another matter, a bill that will protect consumers who use job listing services has passed the House and been sent to the Senate, according to Hartigan who drafted the measure.

House Bill 3662, sponsored in the House by Anthony Young, creates the Job Referral and Job Listing Services Consumer Protection Act. The measure was prompted by an increasing number of problems with so-called job listing services.

Russo seeks extension of sewer regulations

Congressman Marty Russo and other Members of the Illinois Congressional Delegation in Washington have written directly to General Assembly leaders to call for assistance for over 200 Illinois communities that face fines and loss of federal funds if they do not comply with a July 1st deadline to have sewer systems cleaned up to prevent stormwater from mixing with sewage.

In the Third Congressional District, some seventeen town with separate sewered areas have been affected by the regulations and only three are in full compliance: Crestwood, East Hazel Crest and Worth Township. Out of the remaining fourteen that are in different phases of compliance, Chicago Ridge, Oak Lawn, and Evergreen Park are included.

Concerning another bill, the Trade Bill "a bill for the American worker," Congressman Russo voted to override the President's veto of the measure this week and blasted the Administration for "callous disregard for the needs of loyal American workers." The seven-term Congressman said he would continue to support the bill as long as plant-closing provisions were included.

SEDONA
(Place of Miracles)
Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari
Part 1

Millions of people come to Sedona, Arizona with many expectations, but, "especially" to be healed. The New-Age Movement so prominent in the news today is believed to be "greedily thriving on the sick, the elderly and the hopefuls who seek Spiritual Healings", promising them Divine Healings of all kinds, physically as well as mentally. These are mostly people who have tried Modern Medicine, only to continue in their illness, pain and suffering. Sedona is said to be blessed with "Energizing Vortexes" that gives off a sense of serenity, uplifting of the soul, and Spiritual Enlightment, and of course, healing. On place in particular is the The Chapel of the Holy Cross. It stands in majesty amidst the mountains, mystifying and commanding. One stands in awe as this place captures the soul-intensity, the very need within. I matters not whether the person is ill, depressed or in pain; they will climb the winding ramp of solid concrete, many, many feet up towards the clouds, to sit in the Chapel and wait for something to happen! And, something does happen! The emotional impact is the only real evidence one can witness to! It is as if the person is quite suddenly "emptied of all negativity" and belief is restored, perhaps in themselves, perhaps in the Chapel at Sedona, or, in God! A person can sense the many tears left here, and the millions of prayers left in this place, and wonder if it isn't these that are responsible for the miracles that occur here in Sedona, Arizona, and not the New Age Movement.

ASK KIRA

JR writes: "I can't take it any longer! With so many things to worry about, we now have to worry about new taxes. How much can people pay out, and what is left?"

DEAR JR . . . All anyone can do is their best. You are not alone in your concerns. Write to your Governmental officials and let them know that you have "had it", maybe if enough people would write and voice their opinions, something could be done. But, Mr. Thompson (Governor) wants 40% more in State Taxes. Speak up, I will!

HURRIED writes: "My husband thinks I am a machine. For years I have taken care of everything, I want him to do it now. I think I will quit my job as his wife!"

DEAR QUITTING . . . Many women are walking away from their mates because they feel "put upon". But, they usually find out that they would "miss" taking on the responsibilities they have grown accustomed to. Think it over before you do this thing. You just might walk into a situation even worse.

MAC

BY PAT MEERSMAN

Questions have been asked and stories have been written regarding the need for military spending during peace time. What most people do not realize is that the military must be on alert during peacetime and must be fully trained and ready for any encounter, large or small, at all times.

One area of the military this article refers to specifically, is the "Military Air Command" or MAC for short; a vital link in the Defense, a branch of the Air Force that accepts, processes and ensures the continued flow of cargo and personnel to support deployed forces worldwide.

MAC maintains a network of aerial part units and operating locations, some of which our military manned on an "as required" basis.

The aerial parts support MAC airlift operations which includes all services required for effective movement of passengers, mail and cargo by military/ contract aircraft. Fifty-eight percent of these aerial port forces are comprised of the Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard.

The men from the Chicagoland area start their training at the Air Force Reserve's Base/OHare, home of the 928th Tactical Airlift Group. They are briefed on what they are going to learn and how they will be spending their time. Extra training also is involved at Little Rock, Arkansas, for pilots and navigators who will fly the C-130 Hercules, the Air Force's most efficient cargo transport. The C-17 is replacing the Hercules.

Once in Little Rock, enlistees learn the operations of MAC. Setting up a military operation in a remote area of the world, bringing a plane into areas with bombed out airfields or where the area is under fire. They are trained to drop off cargo as delicate as eggs to jeeps at heights of thousands to eight feet off the ground. MAC brings Air Force Reserve personnel to aid those in need, from earthquake, volcano, and bombings activity. There's also the behind the scenes such as checking the parachutes for defects and recycling them for training dropping only cargo. Some mechanics are trained to take an engine apart and put back together, always keeping spare parts available in case of an emergency.

The recruits then come back to Air Force

THE WEEK IN REVIEW LEE A. DANIELS

House Republican Leader Lee Daniels (R-Elmhurst) said Governor Thompson this week outlined his proposal for an income tax increase which would generate approximately $1.34 billion in new state revenues during the coming fiscal year.

PUBLISHER PEN

Annette Dixon

The apology must be given to the followers of my column. Power and ambivalence is not that of this publisher. My column was eliminated from the paper due to not enough room in the editions, since May.

Now much has happened since May. Of course composition people are now former com-position people. Typesetters are learning to use Mac's desk top publishing system. And new tele marketing people were hired. A flyer delivery service was started by me, in order to get to know Oak Lawn better than I have in the past 18 years.

Overheard a conversation in New York, by vendors recently, with a Dukakis sticker on the cart. It sure wouldn't be ethnic America with a Bush in office! Hurray for ethnic America!

On Mother's Day, I decided to visit a friend in Manhattan for a week. While on flight I met Karri Lynn Nussle, daughter of Mark and Lori Nussle who are involved in the Palos Village Players and living in Palos. Karri was Miss Iowa in the Miss America pageant in 1983. Karri in now pursuing a career in acting and appeared in "One Life to Live."

Karri teaches part time to supplement her income. She believes you can luck out if the agent is looking for what you have! Before you can be in the Equity Union, you must be in an equity show. Then you must wait a year before you are accepted. After all of that, Equity takes a percentage of whatever you make for dues! The life of an actress.

Besides sightseeing I am always looking for stories or use comparison events or places to describe a story. St. Bartholomew's Episcolpallan Church houses 12 beds for the homeless, in their vestibule on 109 East 50th St., N.Y. that was a surprise! New York's bus transportation was odd because the seats for one passenger are on one side of the bus and on the other 2 passengers can sit! With an overpopulated city, I found that strange. Although N.Y. buses are equipped for the handicap-ped with a lift and the bus driver actually helps. Over 70% of the fleet of buses are equipped with lifts. The group responsible for new changes is the Disabled in Action of Metropolitan N.Y. They sued the federal government. Eastern Paralyzed Assoc. sued N.Y. state for access to public buildings, and for the assessable transportation law of 1984. Private transportation was nix for me! I found too many stories on the Sub and Public Transportation and also walking.

At St. Paul's Chapel, which was the church George Washington attend-ed, Gen. Montgomery (1775) was buried in the Church cemetery.

Well St. Paul was located on Broadway and Versey, walking distance from where my grandmother was born and her mother before her. That part of lower Manhattan was 33 Mulberry St., Little Italy. Old St. Patrick's was the church she attended, although I thought St. Andrew Catholic Church was much closer for walking distance. Surprisingly enough Mulberry Street was only several blocks from the Judicial Bldgs. and Custom House and State Bldgs. In 1890 the above mentioned buildings were being constructed and that was during the birth of grandmother.

Now the above information could be meaningless for you, but the story I want to relay is that I am still impressed with my grandparents, who passed away in 1965.

In the next few months, you will be reading about Grandparents rights and a grandparent named Ruth Ethridge in Village View Newspaper! We will be having a continuing story, I hope you continue reading VILLAGE VIEW.

Sign of Summer

Everyone know that summer is here when the Oak Lawn Farmer's Market signs go up. This year's Market will open on June 29th and will continue each Wednesday through October 19th, from 7 A.M. to 2 P.M. Once again, the market will be sponsored by the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce. It will be located on Yourell Drive between Cook and 52nd Avenues.

Chamber President Tom Gavin says the Market is a gift to the residents. "The Farmer's Market is one way we can show Oak lawn that we are proud to be able to be in business here. All of our businesses are grateful for our citizens' patronage," said Gavin. He also thanked the Village government for their co-operation.

There will be a full season of entertainment and education at the Market, ranging from clowns to culinary demonstrations, fire prevention to psychics. FIREWORKS CODE

Each year tragic and needless accidents occur through the careless use of fireworks during annual Fourth of July celebrations.

In an effort to keep our losses to a minimum and to eliminate the hazards connected with fireworks, the Village of Oak Lawn has adopted the 1987 BOCA Fire Prevention Code. It shall be a violation of this code for any person to store, to offer for sale or use or explode any fireworks. (Torpedoes, skyrockets, roman candles, dago bombs, firecrackers, sparklers, or other devices of like construction and any device containing any combustible or explosive composition such as smoke bombs.)

Fireworks have been associated with both serious bodily injuries and clothing fires. Over half the injuries consisted of burs or lacerations and many were suffered by children under 15.

The Oak Lawn Fire Department asks for your cooperation in complying with this code. If you have any questions regarding this code or fire safety, please call 422-0388.

Artist displays lifelike carvings

Oak Lawn National Bank at 9400 S. Cicero has a lifelike carving displayed created by Rosalie Hurwich of Palos Park. This youthful artist in her seventies is a former instructor of sculpture and ceramics at the Community Center in Palos Park. Three years ago, Mrs. Hurwich was looking for a new challenge, inspired by her husband, she began carving her first birds and placing them in their natural habitats. Today she has more than 30 finished settings and is currently carving an owl of her own design.

After viewing these birds, your curiosity will bring you to the "Things in a Bottle" display. This collection of bottles has been created by Matt Janecek of Oak Lawn.

Also exhibiting during the month of June are artists Edward Thorson and Gleniss Crawford. Mr. Thorson specializes in framed pastel paintings. His subjects include the American Eagle, birds, dancers and much more.

For further information on exhibiting at Oak Lawn National Bank, call Carol Baltzer at 636-2112.

ASK KIRA

Janet writes: "What does a person do when they are approached by someone of the same sex, for sex?"

Dear Janet ... The best way to deal with this is intelligently. Simply tell the person that you either are or not interested. Do this matter-of-factly and not being abusive if you are not interested.

Kind and loving writes: "My family insists that I go out with someone that I do not even like. I simply cannot put on an act for anyone. The lady is lovely, but, I am not interested in her or any other woman. The truth is that I am gay. I think my family knows this or suspects it, but I have never said anything about my lifestyle. How can I tell them so they will stop trying to fix me up?"

Dear Kind and Loving... Tell them your truth. There is nothing worse that having to feel ill at ease with one's own family. It may not come as a surprise to them to know the truth.

President signs veterans bill

A new law providing health benefits to veterans exposed to radiation during the government's nuclear weapons testing program or who served at Nagasaki or Hiroshima is a fitting tribute, says Sen. Paul Simon.

"I applaud the President for finally extending justice to those who risked their lives for their country," said Simon.

As atomic veterans' leading advocate in Congress, Simon's involvement dates back to December 1981 when he met radiation victim Bob Farmer from Steeleville, Ill., who, like a growing number of the 250,000 atomic veterans, had developed ailments which may have been caused by the radiation they received during the tests.

Ironically, the 61-year-old Farmer, whose non-cancerous tumors and health problems suffered by his nine children, will not be helped by the measure.

"I'm still happy for the others who are going to benefit," said Farmer.

The Illinois lawmaker was outraged to learn the Veterans Administration had awarded compensation for less than 40 of the over 6,000 radiation claims filed. The Congressional Budget Office now es-timates that approximately 4,000 veterans and sur-vivors will receive compen-sation under the legislation, with a cost of $36 million next fiscal year.

The General Accounting Office has reported as recently as 1987 that in certain cases the Department of Defense had significantly understated radiation exposure levels of nuclear test participants.

The 13 diseases presumed to be service connected for veterans exposed to radiation are as follows: leukemia (other than chronic lymphocytic leukemia), multiple mye-loma, lymphomas (except Hodgkin's disease), primary liver cancer (except if cirrhosis or hepatitis B is indicated), and cancers of the thyroid, breast, pharynx, esophagus, stom-ach, small intestine, pancreas, bile ducts and gall bladder.

With the exception of leukemia, diseases must have been diagnosed 40 years from the last date on which the veteran participated in a nuclear test or the occupation of Japan. Veterans claiming benefits of leukemia will have a 30-year presumption period, because the risk of leukemia based on radiation exposure becomes neg-ligible after that time period.

McNamara News

State Representative John J. McNamara (D-Oak Lawn) voted in favor of requiring insurance for every vehicle and driver in Illinois.

Under this proposed law, every vehicle and operator would be required to have liability insurance covering at least $20,000-/$40,000 for personal injury and death and $15,000 for property damage. The Secretary of State shall suspend the vehicle registration of any vehicle found to be uninsured.

In another action, legislation that would extend the time between parole hearings from the current 3 years to 10 years for certain criminals, passed the Illinois House of Representatives and now moves onto the Senate. Rep. McNamara sponsor of House Bill 3059 that lengthens the parole hearing period for certain Class X felony criminals.

in one other piece of legislation, that protects children from sexual abuse while attending day care centers and social organi-zations passed over-whelmingly this week in the House of Repre-sentatives. This bill was also sponsored by Rep. McNamara. It passed out of the House by a vote of 117-0 and now goes to the Senate.

ASIAN TIGER MOSQUITO

In August, 1987 field inspectors for Clarke Outdoor Spraying discovered an enclave of unwanted aliens. They had established a toehold in the midwest years ahead of schedule. The Asian Tiger mosquito had arrived. The advent was noted by all media.

This event generated several questions: Could they survive a Chicago-land winter? Will they transmit diseases? (Ap-parently they are capable of spreading certain encephalitis strains, dog heartworm and dengue fever.)

The concerns are valid. But they tend to cloud the fact that all of these (with the exception of dengue fever) are spread by pests native to our area. It is as important to control the development of Aedes vexans as to prevent the establishment of Tiger communities.

Spring flooding will trigger hatching of the eggs spawned by a record mosquito brood last fall. So far cool weather and a low rainfall have combined to limit the new emerging populations of Aedes Vexans, the floodwater mosquito, but these conditions can change overnight. Aedes vexans is the biter. Its activity can cause discomfort through-out the season.

Dog heartworm, a parasite spread by Aedes vexans, is a threat which begins in early spring and lingers until fall. Dogs should be treated through-out the mosquito season to prevent inection. Mosquito control is necessary to prevent the spread of dog heartworm.

You can play a part in mosquito abatement. Drain water from old tires, paint cans and gutters. Empty wading pools regularly. Containers holding stand-ing water are breeding grounds for mosquitos.

In the meantime, the Asian Tiger mosquito will be kept under close surveillance. It has been discovered in only one area to date. Since its radius of operation is measured in yards rather than miles, its spread should not be rapid. While the tiger is impervious to regular control methods, there are ways to halt its proliferation. Though stand-ard inecticides are inef-fective, others exist that can stop the Tiger.

Monitoring the presence of the Tiger is difficult. Standard trapping devises do not work well. The species is not attracted to regular light traps. Monitoring can be done only by using light traps baited with carbon dioxide, or by landing and biting surveys.

In years to come the Tiger may become one of this country's most prominent pests. All should learn to recognize this pest and be prepared to fight it should it try to establish itself in our community. For information on what is being done locally, or to report unusual mosquito activity, call Clarke Outdoor Spraying Com-pany at 1-800-942-2555.

Dizadji will receive a trophy from the Chicago Tribune Foundation as a remembrance of the achievement. It was the third annual program by the newspaper to bring attention to outstanding students and their work both in and outside the classroom.

With the state divided into seven regions, a panel of 46 judges--high school principals, counselors, teachers, school superintendents, school board members and members of the PTA--chose the 80 winners. Dizadji represents Region 1.

TAN NOW, PAY LATER

When asked whether they look healthier with or without a tan, most people admit they look healthier with a tan. They may "look healthier," but people who continue to expose unprotected skin to the sun year after year are inviting premature wrinkles and skin cancer

Fair - skinned people who burn easily are at the greatest risk of getting skin cancer, but even those with dark completions are susceptible if they don't use proper protection. Skin cancer is one of the most common forms of cancer. The American Cancer Society reported over 500,000 new cases during 1987.

"The problem is most young people are more concerned with getting a tan quickly than protecting their skin. They don't think about the consequences because they rarely worry about what will happen to them when they get older," say John Scott, a health and safety professional with the Country Companies, an insurance and investment group.

"Unfortunately, skin cancer is now being found in people in their 20s and 30s. If the fear of cancer isn't enough to convince young people to protect their skin, maybe vanity is. The majority of wrinkles are caused by the sun. In our youth-oriented society, people don't knowingly want to do something that will encourage wrinkling," adds Scott.

Although usually considered an affliction of older people, skin cancer is actually the result of years of neglect. How well your skin is protected against the harmful ultraviolet (UV) rays of the sun during the first 20 years of your life will have much to do with your chances of developing skin cancer when you are older. In fact, just one severe sunburn as a child can double your risk of skin cancer.

Scott recommends taking these steps to protect your skin from unneces-sary damage.

1. Apply sun screen liberally 15 to 30 minutes before going out in the sun for maximum protection.
2. Avoid midday sun, when the sun's rays are strongest.
3. Cover up by wearing long-sleeved shirts, pants and a hat.
4. Invest in and wear a good pair of sunglasses.
5. Wear sunscreen even on overcast days.

"Parents especially should be careful to protect their children from sunburn. Skin damage due to sun exposure is cumulative and irreversible, so protecting children while they are young can help prevent skin cancer when they become adults," reminds Scott.

LOCAL MAN IN SERVICE

Al Garza Jr., the oldest son of Al and Bonnie Garza of Oak Lawn recently enlisted into the United States Army.

Oak Lawn cancels fireworks due to drought

By Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn announced that the annual July 4 fireworks display will be cancelled.

Officials from the state fire marshall's office requested that community fireworks displays be cancelled, fearing grass fires that could be caused by flaming debris.

Village Manager Richard O'Neill made the announcement, and cited "extreme danger " of fire as the cause.

Tuesday's thunderstorm had little affect upon the water situation , according to O'Neill. Cancelling the fireworks was "the last thing we want to do" he said, but it was necessary due to the drought.

Mayor Ernest Kolb said he attended a meeting of local mayors, and other communities are cancelling their displays as well.

O'Neill reminded everyone that setting off fireworks is illegal. He announced plans by the Police Department to step up enforcement of fireworks laws over the weekend. "We're asking everyone to refrain from...setting off fireworks" said O'Neill.

Kolb expressed pride in how well the Village's sprinkling restrictions have cut water use.

The Village normally uses 37 million gallons per day, according to Kolb. At the beginning of the drought, water use peaked at 55 million gallons per day. The restrictions have brought that figure back down to 40 million gallons per day.

Trustee Ron Stancik suggested that periods of low rainfall "may become a way of life in the future", and suggested that the Water Works should come up with plans for dealing with water shortages. Stancik said they should form a "game plan" for managing water crises.

He also suggested that the Village negotiate with surrounding communities to form a program for managing water shortages. He said the communities should "sit down and put our heads together and come up with a good plan."

The Village will continue the current sprinkling restrictions that allow sprinkling on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday from 5:00 a.m. to 8:00 a.m.

O. L. Chamber gets new members

At their June membership meeting, the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce welcomed several new members. One of the new members was well-known to the Chamber as former Executive Director. Joan Kennedy joined in her new position as Director of Sales at the Alsip Holiday Inn. In addition to the Alsip Holiday Inn, the Chamber voted to membership: Alpha Building Main-tenance; The Chicago Tribune; the law firm of Odelson and Sterk; Oak Lawn Mechanical Con-tractors; the Oak Lawn Restaurant; and Southwest Federal Savings.

President Tom Gavin remarked that these businesses as well as Golf Mart, Teleconnect and Moraine Valley Community college had shown their support for the Oak Lawn community. "We hope that residents and visitors will recognize our Chamber medallion on a business's door and realize that it stands for a business con-cerned with our community and one helping make it a better place," said Gavin.

Further information on Chamber membership may be had by calling 424-8300 or writing the Chamber at: 9526 S. Cook Ave., Oak Lawn, Il 60453.

Oak Lawn Fest will feature music and food booths

Oak Lawn Fest is back and it's bigger and better than ever. Sponsored annually by the Village of Oak Lawn and their Special Events Commission, the annual festival will be taking up residence around the Village Hall on July 8th and will continue through the 10th. Once again this year, residents will have to let their belts out a few notches as 32 vendors entice them with culinary delights ranging from the standard fare of pizza and ribs to the more exotic Cajun and Fillipino delicacies offered under two large tents.

Continuing with their theme of "Everything Under the Sun", food is not the only thing the visitor to the Heart of Oak Lawn will find. New this year is the designation of Sunday as "Oak Lawn Family Day" with a mammoth parade (or should we say Grand March) led by Bozo the Clown himself. The best seats for the spectacle will be from Cook Avenue where 20 interesting booths will offer unique souvenirs and experiences.

Entertainment will be one of the highlights of the Fest. Friday will open with military ceremonies and the musical groups of the Oak Lawn Park District, but will quickly move to the sounds of Rare Earth, and the earth-shaking sounds of the Buckinghams playing your song will close out Friday's entertainment. Saturday begins with the Mayor of Western Avenue himself, Terry McEldowney, and then travels to the rock side with Dreams. Our musical tour then goes back to the 60's with the reunion of the American Breed on our concert stage. The evening mood turns hot as Dick Biondi and Joe Cantafio Band take over the swing shift.

Family Day will begin with the parade and then Franz bentler and his Royal Strings will provide their touch of elegance for the afternoon. Things go tropical as the ever-popular Island Dancers bring Polynesia to Oak Lawn. Rounding out the Fest's entertainment will be Jazz Unlimited with cool sounds for a hot night and the Shadows of Knight playing the Fest into memory.

Entertainment is not the only attraction at the Fest, their will be rides and a carnival for the young and the young-at-heart contin-uing for all three days. Free admission makes this Oak Lawn's gift for the summer. Visit Oak Lawn Fest for "Everything Under the Sun".

P.S./WASHINGTON

a weekly column by
U.S. Senator Paul Simon of Illinois

FROM AN OLD ROYAL TYPEWRITER, 40 YEARS AND COUNTING

My ever-alert staff tells me that this week marks the 40th anniversary of launching my weekly column.

When I was 19 some incredibly courageous people loaned me the money to purchase a small, weekly newspaper in Troy, Illinois, and late in June of 1948 I wrote my first column.

It has not been written each week since then. For two years I served in the Army and wrote only occasionally. For short times during other pursuits, I didn't write my column.

So it has appeared most of the time, but not all of the time.

I write these columns myself, typing them on an old manual typewriter. I felt somewhat old-fashioned sticking to my old typewriter until I learned that columnist George Will writes his column with a fountain pen.

Most of the things I have stood for through the years bear up pretty well.

I stressed the need for pay-as-you-go government or we would be headed for serious financial problems, never dreaming at that time that we would ever have the kind of deficits we have today.

In 1981, I warned that the tax bill would cause massive deficits, and quoted a former Nixon cabinet member, James Schlesinger, as saying that it would "likely go down in history as the single most irresponsible fiscal action of modern times."

How right and courageous Jim Schlesinger was! That was said at a time when the President assured us that the 1981 tax bill would result in a balanced budget by 1984. The proposal had great popularity.

During these years I've called for more jobs instead of welfare; for Western Europe to share more of the burden for defense of that area; called for long-term care for seniors; and here and there tried to work in a lesson from history, one of my interests.

I'm grateful to people who have suggested ideas for my column, or more often have written me about something and I feel that it is worth commenting on. I'm grateful to Pamela Huey and David Carle and others who through the years have had the job of figuring out my illegible handwriting as I corrected and tried to improve the typewriter product.

Whether I have informed anyone else through the process, I have informed myself.

It helps me as a legislator. It is easy to get up on the Senate floor and talk on some subject, but putting it in writing requires a little more thought.

The discipline of writing, of shifting from a casual observation of truth to making sure something is a fact, of learning just a little more about some subject so I can be sure I am on solid ground -- all this has helped me become a better informed public servant.

So I shall continue the habit.

Good news for all the residents in Oak Lawn. The Oak Lawn Fest will take place July 8, 9, and 10th. The bad news is the Oak Lawn Park District has cancelled the fireworks display for the 4th of July. They will continue the to have the scheduled events at Memorial Park from 10-4 p.m. And at 8-9 p.m. the choral group will appear at Richards High School.

Just recently heard Roberta Bauer, Corporate Public Relations personnel for Evergreen Banks has set a wedding date. August 13, 1988 for her and Ron Micetic. Good luck to both of you.

Just Irish! SYMCA/CORK is having a gaelic happening for the Bridge of Hope. Your publisher will be chairing this fundraiser. The date is July 28th at Gaelic Park. We need food donations, prizes and ticket sellers. Please call: SYMCA at 385-6700 or Annette Dixon at 4238756 to volunteer your services.

Lucy and Dennis McGintry have donated their time, but before we discussed the main event, we caught up on some news regarding family. I cannot miss mentioning the kids in this column when I hear good news. Within the McGinty family, we'll start out with the eldest. John, after graduating Southern U. enlisted in the Army and is currently in Seoul, South Korea. Dennis is attending western U.; Linda is finishing a B.S. at Bradley in Nursing and currently working for St. Francis Hospital; and Tom is an electrician.; Nancy is a center for Second City Volleyball Team and Travels to New Mexico and Ft. Carson, Colorado for their Olympics; and Mike is a Boy Scout at St. Geralds.

Now I purposely missed my buddy Lucy McGintry, who associated with my daughter for many years lucy is a proud graduate of IIT with a BS degree in Electrical Engineering. I was totally impressed that she accomplished her goals. As her former girl scout leader, I found out she designed, created and built the box for the National Girl Scout Assoc. and their cookie drive for 1987. She was in Springfield with Gov. Thompson for the pictures, etc. What a Girl!

I was as proud as Lucy for hearing such wonders about the family. It sure is good hearing the accomplishments of fine youngsters in Oak Lawn. Readers, please send in all the good about your young ones of all ages, we will publish the information.

Busing plan considered to benefit O.L. seniors

By Brian Begy

At the Tuesday Village Board meeting, a proposal was made by Trustee Jay Bergamini to provide a Village subsidized bus service to residents.

Bergamini suggested that the Village become involved in a Worth bus program that currently provides bus service two days a week from 9:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.. Bergamini suggested that the Village provide additional days of service.

The bus idea was proposed to replace the subsidized taxi program that the Board delayed action on last month.

Trustee Ron Stancik agreed that the bus is a better idea than the taxi program and suggested that funds for the taxi program be instead used for the bus idea.

The proposal will be examined and brought forward at a later date.

Oak Lawn tightens animal control ordinance

By Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn passed an ordinance clarifying the Village code in regard to dangerous animals at large.

The changes come as a result of complaints from the Village Prosecutor about how difficult it is to prosecute people for having dangerous animals.

The problems are caused by a lack of a clear definition of the term "dangerous animal."

The ordinance retains language from previous ordinances that allows any Village employee to destroy a dangerous animal. Trustee Bill Hefka expressed com\ncern that this empowers Village employees to "bop it", whenever they discover a dangerous animal.

Trustee Ron Stancik admitted that that language could cause problems, but felt that the ordinance was important as a "stop-gap means" of assuring the prosecution of violators of dangerous animal laws.

Oak Lawn Fire dept. warns of dangers of fireworks with coming of July 4th

Each year tragic and needless accidents occur through the careless use of fireworks during annual Fourth of July celebrations.

In an effort to keep our losses to a minimum and to eliminate the hazards connected with fireworks, the Village of Oak Lawn has adopted the 1987 BOCA Fire Prevention Code. It shall be a violation of this code for any person to store, to offer for sale or use or explode any fireworks. (Torpedoes, skyrockets, roman candles, dago bombs, firecrackers, sparklers, or other devices of like construction and any device containing any combustible or explosive composition such as smoke bombs.)

ireworks have been associated with both serious bodily injuries and clothing fires. Over half the injuries consisted of burs or lacerations and many were suffered by children under 15.

The Oak Lawn Fire Department asks for your cooperation in complying with this code. If you have any questions regarding this code or fire safety, please call 422-0388.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

COPR. 1988 BY JACKI MARI

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR ALL SIGNS:

Aries/Scorpio
This is a time to make all kinds of changes especially in setting priorities. Make sure that everyone involved in your life now will not have to guess what your next moves are! A Pisces person is involved too.

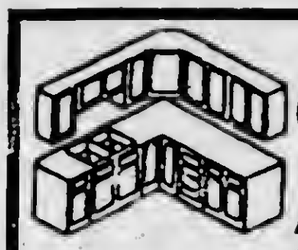
Taurus/Libra
Take time to go over details of financial matters, and include your mate or whomever is involved. This is not a time to do any kind of speculating.

Gemini/Virgo
You may take more time to be with your loved one, hopefully somewhere "other than the home" because you need this time now. Another person in the sign of Gemini will be there to help in many ways, count on it.

Cancer
Make no loans this week unless you get something in writing that says you will get it back. It seems that people may mistake you for being an easy mark!

Leo
Don't let old details go, finish up all loose-ends. You are soon on the upswing and will be exceptionally busy soon. Let another Leo aid you, do not try to do things only on your own.

Sagittarius
Everything is part of some "system", and many do not work out as well as they are said to. Be in command of things, do things your way. Mechanical things may break down.



Capricorn
You are further ahead than you think, in love and in financial matters, and in all things legal. Now, relax and let things take their natural course. And, Cancer people help too.

Aquarius
Be prepared to take the lead in a family matter. But, do not let anyone talk you out of getting away for a while. You deserve to have some fun too! Leo involved and Pisces.

Pisces
You find yourself wondering about relocating and if you would do better financially elsewhere. Think things through not once, not twice but...thrice! Then, go ahead and make that move if it "feels right".

ASK KIRA

Keeping A Secret writes: "I know that my mother is cheating on my father. Should I tell him? He is a sweet sensitive man and he could be hurt. But, I feel that I owe it to him to tell him the truth. This isn't the first time she's done this. I know of at least 3 times. Maybe he knows but doesn't say anything."
Dear Keeping . . . You may not know all of the circumstances involved, and my advice is not to say anything. You may be right in assuming that he "already knows" but isn't saying anything. This may be because he "chooses" not to upset himself or the family. Sometimes parents have their secrets from the children as well as from each other.

Tight Lips writes: I read your advice to someone and I swear that my husband wrote to you. I appreciate what you said about his own guilt in our problem and that you did not blame me without hearing my side of the story. But, I also took note of what you said, and now we are talking-again, yes, even loving again. Thank you."
Dear Lips . . . I don't know if that particular letter was from your husband, but if my advice was good for both of you, than I am doing my job well. Good luck to both of you.

Adopted writes: "I found out that I am adopted. I am fourteen years old. I also learned that I have a brother who is very ill. His disease is unidentified. Now I am afraid that whatever he has I may have. Why don't the authorities let people like me know our medical backgrounds if nothing else?"
Dear Adopted . . . Ask your parents to check with the authority that was involved with your adoption and give the medical information about your brother to them. They can ask for any medical information about your real parents and relatives. There may be certain informations that are given when illness is involved by these authorities. (If not, there should be)

WHERE TO DRAW THE LINE?...Yes, there is a severe water shortage, and then there is the new sod field for the Bears...with an appetite for 2400 gallons of water per hour for 18 hours per day, for many weeks to come, or the Bears won't be able to play this next season...Is it right? Controversial, to say the least! If you think it's wrong, try doing something about it. It's just the way things are in Chicago!

FASTEN YOUR SEATBELT...The state Democratic party platform calls for the establishment of an independent Palestinian state! Hmmmm! It's hard not to react to this. It seems so incongruous with what seems to have been going on. I just wonder what is happening in the Demoeratie Party...

THE DEM DUO SEEM TO BE GOING IN OPPOSITE DIRECTIONS...Jackson and his entourage will be staying at a non-union hotel during the Dem National Convention...Dukakis refused to stay there preeisely beeause of the non-union situation...Is this the "teamwork" we would have to look forward to if they get into offiee? I'm not impressed!

AND THE NEXT MAYOR IS...let's see, one day it's Ceeil Partee, then it's Richard Daley, then Bill Lipinski...and there is O'Grady, and I can't wait to find out who it will be tomorrow. Make's me think nobody knows what's going on...and these people are running the city of Chicago? Wow!

IN GOD WE TRUST
Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

"So help me God" we say when we speak a truth, or before our peers in a court of law. "In God We Trust" is written for all to see on our coins and curreney. "God help me" we cry when we are sick, in pain or in an anguish, or distress. "God forgive me" we ery, whenever we confess. Sometimes we even thank our God, for miraeles or for favours granted. And, we say "God...damn these things (or people),' when we are disenchanted. We go before the many, professing our Faith in God, His laws and His ways. But, when something adverse happens, and we don't get miraeles, we turn away in sheer dismay. Some people keep the Faith even when things are going wrong, especially when someone dies...and they trusted in God for their healing and their saving. Most people want God in their lives, this is an inner-spiritual eraving. But, what happens when we lose our trust, that God exists for us? Does God understand this emotion, or do we take this to our ashes and our dust? Will God forgive our human needs, our sins, our momentary doubts and fear? Some say, "God waits for us to mess up our lives, so that He ean enforce punishments each and every day we live; that unless we are made perfect, God will not forgive!" Our Nation was founded with God at the helm, to keep us safe and free. Still, there are times when we all doubt that God is there for us, not just you, but me! What would happen to mankind, if there really was no God above? We would most likely be savages, devoid of emotion, and of love. Clergymen preach that there is a God, and that having Faith is a "must!', so the majority of people say they have the Faith, and that "In God We Trust!"

Courtroom play is packed with whodunnit drama

By Michele Gartman

"Who Dunnit?" That was what the audience had to decide in the courtroom drama, "The Night of January 16." This play was presented last weekend by the Blue Island Park District's Showcase Theatre.

Actual jurors were chosen at random from the audience members who volunteered before the show. They were separated from the audience for the whole show.

The story revolves around the murder of a wealthy business man named Brian Falkner. His secretary was on trial for the murder. There were a variety of twists to the story, which left the audience in question at each intermission. The audience was told by the defense that Mr. Faulkner had committed suicide while the prosecution felt it was murder.

At the end of the show the jury was taken out of the room to decide their verdict. It was by majority rule. The jury then announced their verdict to the court. But, due to the fact that a person cannot be tried twice for the same crime the jurors decision was stricken so they could retry the case. The judge said that the jurors did not consider the evidence given.

The set for the "Night of January 16," was very well done. As one patron put it, "It looks like the court I went to in Markham." The direction by William Stark and Eileen Callahan was also well done. Outstanding performances by Barbara Gaynor-Harris,who played a Swedish maid and Megan DeLaney who played an eye witness. Other performers included Stephanie Michaels, Eddie Schumacher, Jacqueline Moore, Melissa McGuire, David Noren, Jill Tafel, Alan Armstrong, E.W. Stark, David Henderson, Junellen Eastman-Leon, Robert Novickas, Laura Farano, Steve Findley, Kevyn Traynor, Erin Nolan, and Raylene Pasquarella.

Once again Showcase Theatre has given an excellent show. There next show is "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes Really Reflect Up?" This opens september 24th.

Fireworks precaution urged by Health Department

The Fourth of July is almost here. Parades, picnics and public firework displays are great ways to celebrate our Nation's birthday. The Cook County Department of Public Health wants to help keep the holiday fun by giving you some fireworks safety information.

In 1987, 9,000 people were treated in hospital emergency rooms for injuries associated with fireworks. Over half the injuries were burns, and most of those injuries involved the head and face. Almost fifty percent of the victims were under 15 years old.

The laws governing the sale and use of fireworks vary from state to state. Illinois only allows the use of sparklers. Whether or not they are legal, fireworks are still widely sold, bought, and used. Be aware of city ordinances that might even prohibit sparklers.

If you do use them in spite of the dangers, take the following precautions:

1) Provide adult supervision for children.
2) Store fireworks in a dry, cool place.
3) Light only one fireworks device at a time.
4) Light fireworks outdoors in a clear area away from houses, people and flammable material.
5) Do not try to relight or handle malfunctioning fireworks.
6) Parents should supervise the ordering and use of mail order "Make Your Own" Fireworks Kits.

The Cook County Department of Public Health wishes you a happy and safe Fourth of July holiday.

Concert planned

A outdoor PATRIOTIC CONCERT will be held on Sunday, July 3rd at 6:30 p.m. at 95th and 54th Avenue.

"I LOVE AMERICA," written by John W. Peterson, will be performed by the Oak Lawn Bible Church Choir under the direction of Mr. Randy Rowsey. The concert will also feature Mr. Richard Deal, an International Concert Pianist, in performance.

The Oak Lawn Bible Church is sponcering the Musical Rally under the direction of Pastor Daniel Lupton. Various local dignitaries are expected to be there. For further information please call 425-0159.

Oak Lawn to hold family day parade

After an absence of three years, the Oak Lawn Family Day Parade is back, and back with a bang! Leading the parade as grand marshal will be T.V.'s popular Bozo the Clown as the parade steps off at 1 P.M. sharp on Sunday, July 10th. The parade will go west on 95th Street past the Oak Lawn Fest '88 grounds and the reviewing platform and then on to Central Avenue. Special Events Commis-sioner and Parade Chairman Bob Gaul said, "The response of the community to the return of our parade has been so heavy that we are extending the deadline on entries until July 1st, just so we can catch up on the paperwork!"

Gaul promised a lively show with floats, music, entertainment and more. He urged parents to bring their children to the area around 95th ST., and Cook Ave., since Bozo will return to the Fest grounds to meet and greet his legions of fans. "It's also a great place to have lunch with the 32 food vendors under two big tents," sid Gaul. He sid that any group or organization who would wish to take part should call the Village Hall at 636-4400 or to the Oak Lawn Pet

Smart eating makes summer food healthy

Summertime brings a variety of fresh fruits and vegetables into the local market. Choosing these foods will help you to increase fiber while decreasing your fat intake. Cooking methods can also affect whether the meals we prepare add to or decrease the risk of certain cancers.

Barbecuing is popular summer activity in our area. While grilling can produce possible cancer causing substances, there are ways to protect against them. Reduce extremely high temperatures by raising barbecue grills away from heat sources and cooking more slowly. To reduce direct contact with smoke on flames, wrap food in foil or put it in a pan before barbecuing.

You don't have to give up all of your favorite foods to lower your cancer risk. Here are some tips for healthier eating: 1) Switch to low-fat milk, cheeses, and yogurt. 2) Remove the skin from chicken and trim the fat from meats. 3) Avoid fried foods and try baking, broiling, or poaching meats, chicken, or fish. 4) Eat several helpings of vegetables and fruits every day and get more vitamins A and C. 5) Fill in with fiber by choosing whole grain breads, bran cereals and brown rice. Beans, potatoes, and pasta are good sources of fiber, too.

Illinois residents can receive free copies of "Summer Cooking," a collection of foods to serve at summer reunions and picnics and the booklet, "Diet, Nutrition and Cancer Prevention: The Good News," by calling the Nutrition Hotline at the Cancer Information Service (CIS). The number is 1-800-4-CANCER. Trained staff are available from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Train routes added to quicken service

On the heels of the July 4th fireworks, Metra/Nor-fork Southern (formerly Norfolk & Western) rail commuters will be able to celebrate their added independence from morning rush hour hassles with a new crack-of-dawn service from the southwest suburbs to Chicago.

Starting Tuesday, July 5th, riders on the Orland Park to Chicago route will have a train that arrives at Chicago Union Station at 6:30 a.m. At present, the earliest service on the Metra/NS"s 24-mile trip through Palos Park, Worth, Chicago Ridge, Oak Lawn and Ashburn and Wrightwood neighbor-hoods of Chicago provides a 7:27 a.m. arrival.

The new train is being addded in response to many customers requests, Metra officials said.

Schedule times for the new train are as follows: Orland Park, 5:33 a.m.; Palos Park, 5:38 a.m.; Worth, 5:42 a.m.; Chicago Ridge, 5:45 a.m.; Ashburn, 5:54 a.m.; Wrightwood (Landers, 5:56 a.m.

With the new train, Metra/NS service will consist of four inbound morning trains and four outbound evening trains. Rail service is coordinated with Pace's parallel bus route 835, on which rail tickets are honored. New bus times will reflect the expanded train schedule.

The chairman added that Metra will provide free coffee on board the first train on July 5th. "If they're going to be on the platform that early, the least we can do is welcome them like friends."

Oak Lawn eases water use restrictions

By Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn announced plans to ease water restrictions at the Waterworks Committee meeting on Tuesday.

The new measures, effective immediately, allow residents to water lawns from 7 to 10 a.m. and from 9 to 11 p.m. on alternating days in accordance with their house number.

Residents with even numbered houses can water on even numbered dates. Those with odd numbered houses should water on odd numbered dates.

The new measures come in response to complaints of low water pressure during the hours of acceptable watering. The low pressure is caused by the sheer number of lawns being watered at the same time.

Low water pressure has been especially noticed by dwellers of condominiums and apartments who live on the upper floors. Trustee Joe Vogrich (5th district), Chairman of the Waterworks Committee, felt that the water pressure of apartments is the fault of landlords who fail to install the necessary water pumps and tanks.

Trustee Jay Bergamini (6th district), member of the committee, responded to Vogrich's comment by saying that he has low water pressure in his home.

Mayor Ernie Kolb, present at the meeting, suggested that Oak Lawn and the surrounding communities that purchase water from Oak Lawn come up with water conservation plans for the future.

Kolb expressed the need for another reservoir reservoir somewhere South of 163rd Street. He also said that a pumping station will be necessary.

All the committee members agreed that an additional reservoir and pumping station are needed. Vogrich expressed doubt that the surrounding communities will help fund the reservoir. "Nobody wants to pay for it!" said Vogrich.

Petition effort underway for 218 referendum

Petitions are now being circulated throughout High School District 218, that would require a District Wide Referendum which would abolish at large elections and establish equal representation on the School Board by the creation of seven single member districts. This would prevent any one Community from electing four members to the Board who all reside in the same town and could thereby control and dictate the fate of nine other communities against the will of the people and to the detriment of all. This, unfortunately, is the prevailing situation today, which can be corrected in the NOVEMBER election.

A group of citizens from eight communities in District 218 have joined together to form an organization called SPAR (Students and Parents for Adequate Representation). This organization, with the full support and cooperation of Students and Parents of Calumet Park, will institute legal action to prevent the transfer of students from Calumet Park, who now attend Eisenhower High School, to Richards and Shepard High Schools. This will be a very costly endeavor which is deserving of our financial support.

You can obtain your family membership by making a contribution to SPAR, P.O.Box 396, Worth, Il. 60482; or send your check to SPAR, c/o Worth Bank & Trust, 6825 W. 111th Street, Worth, Il. 60482.

This is only the beginning of a long and costly battle. Your help and generosity is urgently needed. All other members of SPAR are making a concerted effort to raise funds in their own community.

The goals and efforts of SPAR have the full support of the Mayors of all eight communities, which include Alsip, Calumet Park, Chicago Ridge, Crestwood, Palos Heights, Robbins, Worth and Oak Lawn.

Grandparents press for visitation rights

By Brian Begy

A small but hard working group of grandparents has been pressing for legislation to broaden the visitation rights to their grandchildren that they currently possess.

The legislation. known House Bill 1333, and sponsored by Rep. James Stange would grant grandparents the right to petition the courts for visitation rights.

Under present law, grandparents cannot get the courts to review their petitions unless the marriage of their children is broken by divorce or a death.

Ruth Etheridge, a grandmother from La Grange who has been supporting the bill for over two years, does so due to her poor relations with her daughter and son-in-law. They haven't been allowing her or any other member of the family to visit the child and she presently has no legal route to gain visitation rights. "They have isolated all of us." she said.

The bill passed the House with only three votes against it according tho Etheridge. She credits its success to the help of Rep. John O'connell . "I'm sure it was John O'Connell" she said.

Upon arriving at the Senate, however, the bill ran into problems. It never even made it out of the Rules Committee according to Etheridge.

Later, an attempt was made to place the grandparent's rights provisions as ammendments on another bill. The an amendment was tabled, blocking that attempt at passage.

While supporters would like to se the issue reopened ion the veto session, they admit it is unlikely. Their best hope for passage will come in the next session.

Supporters have enlisted the help of Sen. Doris Kartiel who has agreed to sponsor the bill for the next attempt.

They have also gained the help of the Grey Panthers and various churches and senior centers.

Etheridge is optimistic about the future and predicts an all-out effort. "We're going for it in a big way." she says.

Township purchases branch cutter

Worth Township Highway Commissioner Anthony "Tony" Esposito reported the acquisition of a new Disc Clipper by Badger. This machine will enable the Highway District Crew to handle branches up to twelve inches in diameter.

Commissioner Esposito urges all residents of un-incorporated Worth Town-ship to cut all branches in 3' to 4' lengths and place them on the shoulder or edge of driveway.

PLEASE DO NOT place in culverts or ditches.

Commuter parking added to solve parking problem

The Metra commuter rail board approved the construction of 461 parking spaces at five suburban commuter rail stations. Metra Chairman Jeffrey R. Ladd pointed out that the improvements are part of a year-long $9.1 million parking expansion program throughout the six counties in Metra's service territory. "More than two-thirds of our customers do not walk to the train," Ladd said, "and it's essential that we expand parking capacity if we are to enjoy ridership growth and help cut highway congestion."

Oak Lawn (Norfolk Southern) is one of the stations that will have 55 spaces along Yourell Drive at a cost of $35,000.

Work will begin at all locations this summer, and will be completed at varying dates depending on the extent of each project. In all cases, municipalities have contracted for maintenance and upkeep of the facilities in return for retention of daily parking fees.

Evergreen Park had a most interesting parade this 4th of July! The day was hot, but the night was cool and many residents were out enjoying the breeze. After sitting with several seniors from Oak Lawn, I learned that Ann, a resident of Evergreen Park will have a birthday July 13th and we'll be able to celebrate her 90th together.

This most unusual weather has afforded us the opportunity to move slower, therefore, less was accomplished for me this week. There was an award given to me by the American Biographical Institute for Distinguished Leadership for Outstanding Representation for service in Community Newspapers, therefore spending an overnighter in Wisconsin with my son, Lance.

Police and Fire Departments cope with fireworks misuse

By Brian Begy

Local police and fire departments spent the fourth of July weekend trying to stop both the use of fireworks, and the destructive consequences of their misuse.

Oak Lawn Police Chief Frank Gilbert reported that the O.L. Police received 439 complaints over the holiday weekend, 85 of them were calls concerning fireworks.

Neighboring Bridgeview was fortunate enough to have only one arrest for fireworks possession over the entire weekend according to Lieutenant Joseph Miller.

O.L. confiscated "a few thousand dollars worth " of fireworks according to Gilbert. Bridgeview's sole arrest possessed a small box of fireworks that Miller estimated the value of at under $100.

Gilbert said the O.L. Police had little time to do much about the fireworks except give warnings. The sheer number of violators caused this problem.

Gilbert reported that the O.L. Police issued only nine tickets for fireworks all weekend , due to the amount of time it takes to write one ticket.

The tickets will only cost violators $15 each, a sum that Gilbert feels is far too low. He said he plans to speak to Village Manager Richard O'Neill to see if the amount can be raised to $50.

Gilbert doesn't think that event the higher ticket will discourage fireworks use that much/. He reported that more adults are using fireworks than in recent years, something that bothers him.

Bridgeview will prosecute their arrest under state law rather than for violation of Village ordinance. If found guilty, the suspect will face up to six months in jail, up to a $500 fine, or both.

The Oak Lawn Fire Department was fortunate enough to receive no calls of accidents or fires due to fireworks according to Division Chief in charge of Emergency Service Charles Boecker.

The Bridgeview Fire Department was not as lucky . The Fire Department put out three grass and brush fires directly related to fireworks according to Lieutenant Robert Thurzo.

Another six grass and brush fires were of undetermined cause, but fireworks were a possibility in some.

Oak Lawn July 4th festivities successful even without aerial fireworks display

By Brian Begy

Despite the lack of an aerial fireworks display, the Oak Lawn Park District's fourth of July festivities were a big success.

The Park District sponsored a picnic starting at 9:00 a.m. on the fourth. The picnic featured a ferris wheel, a train ride, elephant rides and a calliope. Square dancing was a featured activity during the day.

Marty Larson, public relations for the Park District, said that people arrived at the picnic in groups of 20 to 50. Larson "couldn't believe the people."

The picnic opened with 26 skydivers who jumped from three separate airplanes. Larson said that the Park District hired 26 skydivers instead of the ten they had planned on to make upi for the lack of aerial fireworks.

The evening fireworks display was set off at the Richards High School stadium. The display was on the east side of the bleachers near the football field.

The display featured pinwheels, fountains of sparks and light and an American flag.

The Park District. guarded against fire by saturating the bleachers, track and surrounding area with water for one and a half hours, according to Larson.

The aerial display was cancelled due to fears that flaming debris would set fire to grass, and surrounding rooftops and yards.

The Fire Department recommended the watering as a precaution against possible grassfires.

Larson was disappointed that the aerial display had to be cancelled, but felt that it was the proper course of action.

The ground display provided a measure of control over the direction of drifting debris that does not exist with an aerial display. "you get fallout " with an aerial display said Larson.

The risks of falling debris is "just not worth it" said Larson.

The contract for the fireworks was put on hold for possible use at a picnic or concert at a later date. Larson said the Village Board of Trustees is considering the possibility of a concert over the Labor Day weekend, but no plans have been finalized.

Library will feature activities all summer long

A WEEKEND IN THE LIFE OF OAK LAWN, a special photo of 1987, is the subject of a display that will open Monday, July 11. During the summer of last year, a group of volunteer photographers spent a weekend preserving the history of the time on film. Selections from their contributions have been mounted on panels by project coordinators and local residents, Alice and Robert Ihrig. Display cases were designed and purchased by the Friends of the Library. This exhibit will introduce the public to the new display area on the lower level. Plans are being made to show the work of local artists in this area after the photo exhibit is completed. A second section of photos of the WEEKEND IN THE LIFE OF OAK LAWN will be open after Labor Day.

DEVOUR A BOOK, the summer reading program for children up to 14 years of age, is in full swing in the Youth Services Department. A booklet describing the activities for the whole summer is available on request at the Youth Services information desk.

OAK LAWN LIBRARY NEWSLETTER, still is available for pick up from Library information racks. The publication was mailed to all postal patrons in Oak Lawn for many years; however, with a Library budget cut, the mailing was discontinued last fall.

DOES SHE OR DOESN'T SHE?... Is Jane Fonda really sorry for all the hassle over her well-known stand on the Vietnam issue, including her trip to North Vietnam , or does she just want to get her movie into production...and can't because of the objections of the Vets who have successfully opposed her on this and other matters? The recent meeting in Naugatuck, Conn., at the VFW Post 1946, was an emotional onc, and maybe it is time to bury the hatchet...we have all learned from Vietnam...and it is far better to heal the wounds of war than to keep them festering. This applies to all of life, and living life!

IT'S DIFFERENT WHEN?...ask syndicated columnist Carl Rowan. It's different when it happens to you...and, as a hand-gun opponent, he used the gun he had (apparently unregistered, mind you) to shoot an "intruder" on his property...in his pool. Some people would call this a double standard, but IT'S DIFFERENT WHEN it's Carl Rowan, or anybody else but you, and me. This item will be in news for quite some time. In particular, the NRA has to be interested. Rowan, in defense of his actions, says he would rather be alive and dealing with the controversy...and I agree. But what about all those who have died or been injured by handguns...because they did not have them when they needed them?

MOTHER NATURE...PLEASE FORGIVE US! To toy with the waters in Lake Michigan to raise the level of the Mississippi TO ACCOMMODATE BARGE TRAFFIC is to overlook the lesson of Comanche Springs in Deming, N.M. The springs were unlimited in their abundance, until the drought of the 30's, and water was siphoned off to irrigate the farms in the area, and this extraordinary natural phenomena ran dry, and has never been able to restore itself. Governor Thompson should settle the problems of man...at mans' expense, not Mother Nature's. This situation is much more serious than any of you could imagine!

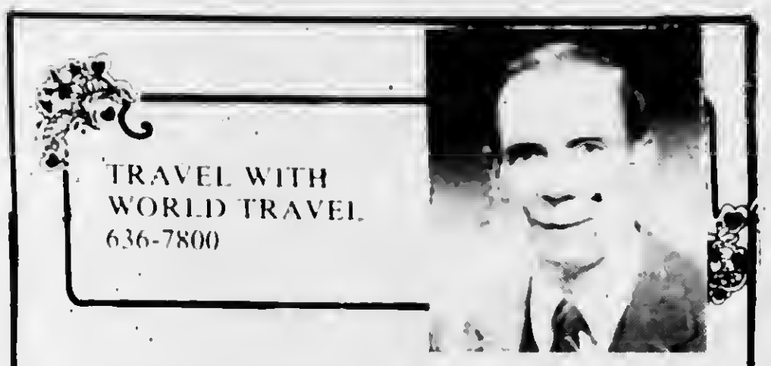
Saltfree meals can still be tasty



The lightweight fashions for the warmer weather needn't be something to worry about if you've put on a few extra pounds. The season's best fruits and vegetables are a delicious incentive to low-calorie meals. Another way towards healthier eating, many believe, is to reduce your sodium intake. Scientific studies suggest too much salt can contribute to high blood pressure. Here are three tips on how you can avoid salt and still enjoy the full flavor of your favorite foods.

- Counteract boring meals by taking advantage of the world of flavorings available. You may want to try Mrs. Dash, a salt-free seasoning. The savory blend of 14 herbs and spices makes it easy to season food when you cook and at the table.
- Textural contrasts—soft and hard, chewy and crisp—add interest to meals. Use the salt-free seasoning to add zesty flavor to crunchy baked chicken or pork chops.
- Avoid high-salt sauces and condiments. Make your own instead. Ingredients to use include: lemon, cholesterol-free olive oil, onions and tomato paste (not tomato sauce), vinegar or wine. Season with the extra spicy or lemon herb salt-free seasoning.

Allow about three months for a craving for salt to disappear.

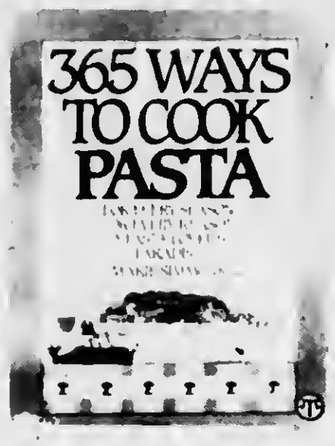
"Do-it' yourselfers" will have more options than they can handle in Australia. Ranging from Rail Passes to Campervans, Australia is a place where you can really do your own thing.

For starters, the Aussiepass provides travel on the whole system of express motorcoaches covering virtually the entire country. Rates begin at $13 per day and include free sightseeing tours in most major cities.

The Austrailpass can be purchased in first or budget class from 14 days to 3 months. This allows you to use some of the famous trains such as the Indian Pacific between Perth and Sydney and Alice Springs, a trip which takes 47 hours. You'll certainly get your money's worth on that train!



There are also several different types of air passes which allow unlimited travel within a certain period of time. Savings range between 39% - 40%, and air travel is the most expedient way to cover this vast country.

In order to complete your "do-it-yourself" trip, you'll probably want a Downunder Hotelpass. You can purchase a minimum of 7 nights hotel vouchers for $64 per night, single or double; you can make advance reservations or book as you go for the greatest flexibility. Or, if you prefer, there are hotel packages in every city in a wide variety of price ranges and we can make reservations wherever you wish.

There are also special car rental rates, sailing trips on a fully crewed yacht and bareboat sailing packages for more experienced sailors. However you decide to see Australia, we will make it easy by making all the reservations. Call us for brochures and rates.

Pasta makes a healty meal

Pasta is just about the most perfect food. It is nearly fat-free and is low in sodium and calories and high in carbohydrates. And if we feel satisfied and relaxed after a delicious pasta meal, there may be a scientific explanation. According to a recent article in a leading food magazine, pasta releases serotonin, a "feel good" chemical.

Now a new cookbook encourages us to use our "noodles" when it comes to planning healthful and tasty meals. 365 WAYS TO COOK PASTA by Marie Simmons (Harper & Row; $14.95) offers a pasta recipe for every day of the year. Just arriving in bookstores, it will certainly become known as the "feel good" cookbook of 1988!

- 365 WAYS TO COOK PASTA offers pasta recipes for all palates, pocketbooks, seasons and reasons—from classic favorites such as macaroni and cheese to creative dishes such as orzo with pistachio butter fit for the most festive occasions.
- The recipes include ideas for both hot and cold weather. Savory pasta salads are perfect for a hot day while hearty soups and stews are sure to warm the hearts and tummies of family members on a cold one.
- Recipes are for both fresh and dried pastas. The cookbook includes a selection of emergency ingredients to keep on hand for super pasta suppers in twenty minutes or less.

CREATE "INN-STYLE" MEALS AT HOME

Across America travelers are discovering the special charm and gracious hospitality of fine inns. The ambience may range from homey and picturesque to handsome and elegant, but the inns all offer distinctive atmosphere and the best food the region has to offer.

Madrona Manor, located in California's famed Sonoma County wine country, is a grand three-story Victorian Manor that boasts magnificent bay windows and porches of an elegant country lifestyle of another era. The inn is noted for creatively prepared and presented California cuisine showcasing fresh fish, farm-raised poultry and produce served with great rice accompaniments.

Dishes such as the chef's special Lemony Chicken Vegetable Rice Medley, have been adapted for easy preparation at home. Boneless chicken breasts flavored with lemon pepper, garlic salt and basil are sautéed and served atop UNCLE BEN'S® COUNTRY INN™ Brand Vegetable Rice Medley. Broccoli florets are added at the end of the cooking time. The Vegetable Rice Medley, which gives the dish its special flair, is one of the UNCLE BEN'S® COUNTRY INN™ brand rice dishes that combine long grain rice, garden vegetables, herbs, cheeses, nuts and seasonings to capture the essence of fine inn dining at its best.

Create an "inn-style" meal at home with Lemony Chicken Vegetable Rice Medley. Inspired by the Madrona Manor, which is located in California's famed Sonoma County, this exciting dish teams boneless chicken breasts flavored with lemon pepper, garlic salt and basil with UNCLE BEN'S® COUNTRY INN™ Brand Vegetable Rice Medley for a special inn flair.

Madrona Manor Lemony Chicken Vegetable Rice Medley

- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon basil
- 4 chicken breast halves, boned and skinned, pounded to 1/2-inch thickness

- 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 package (5.2 ounces) UNCLE BEN'S® COUNTRY INN™ Brand Vegetable Rice Medley

Add broccoli; continue cooking covered until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle contents of almond packet over chicken and rice. Makes 4 servings.

Memphis music scene makes an interesting tourist spot

Memphis music, a sound known the world over, is a beat upon which the old river city of Memphis, Tennessee has grown; one that can be found in restaurants, night-clubs, attractions, shrines and museums city wide.

A motorist driving through Memphis might not pick this prosperous looking metropolis as the kind of place that has become world-famous for a music style associated with poor folks and hard times. However, since 1909 when W.C. Handy wrote the Memphis Blues, Memphis has been known as home of the blues, a musical form that gave birth to its many derivations—rock'n'roll, rhythm and blues, country, jazz and gospel.

During the Depression and World War II, musicians like B.B. King from the Mississippi Delta congregated on Beale Street, making it the capital of Afro-American music. Then, in 1954, a delivery truck driver noodling around with his guitar between recording sessions in a downtown studio knocked out a beat to a little number called That's Alright Mama.

Memphis musicians light up the night with song on Beale Street, historical birthplace of the blues. Music can be heard live throughout the city at more than one hundred entertainment spots virtually any day of the week.

That was the first electrifying recognition of what came to be known as rock'n'roll, and within the year the unknown guitar player had recorded five golden records and became the world's most famous entertainer, Elvis Presley. During the 1960s, Otis Redding and Isaac Hayes at Stax Records gave Presley's music a new twist and produced the rhythm and blues revolution.

In honor of Memphis' musical heritage, in 1976 Beale Street was renamed Beale Street Historic District, and plans for preserving the city's music shrines began. At 352 Beale Street stands a two-room shanty where W.C. Handy once lived. Restored and repainted, today it houses The Blues Foundation, dedicated to sustaining the city's original music traditions.

Along the rest of Beale Street are seven rejuvenated blocks of shops, boutiques, restaurants and nightclubs. Another Memphis entertainment district, Overton Square, offers three blocks of exciting nightlife, dance spots and shopping. In addition to its lively entertainment districts, the Memphis sound can be heard throughout the city all year long—Memphis hosts more than 150 annual festivals and special events, most of which feature some form of Memphis music.

O. L. Fest to feature entertainment for all

Oak Lawn Fest is back and it's bigger and better than ever. Sponsored annually by the Village of Oak Lawn and their Special Events Commission, the annual festival will be taking up residence around the Village Hall on July 8th and will continue through the 10th. Once again this year, residents will have to let their belts out a few notches as 32 vendors entice them with culinary delights ranging from the standard fare of pizza and ribs to the more exotic Cajun and Fillipino delicacies offered under two large tents.

Continuing with their theme of "Everything Under the Sun", food is not the only thing the visitor to the Heart of Oak Lawn will find. New this year is the designation of Sunday as "Oak Lawn Family Day" with a mammoth parade (or should we say Grand March) led by Bozo the Clown himself. The best seats for the spectacle will be from Cook Avenue where 20 interesting booths will offer unique souvenirs and experiences.

Entertainment will be one of the highlights of the Fest. Friday will open with military ceremonies and the musical groups of the Oak Lawn Park District, but will quickly move to the sounds of Rare Earth, and the earth-shaking sounds of the Buckinghams playing your song will close out Friday's entertainment. Saturday begins with the Mayor of Western Avenue himself, Terry McEldowney, and then travels to the rock side with Dreams. Our musical tour then goes back to the 60's with the reunion of the American Breed on our concert stage. The evening mood turns hot as Dick Biondi and Joe Cantafio Band take over the swing shift.

Family Day will begin with the parade and then Franz bentler and his Royal Strings will provide their touch of elegance for the afternoon. Things go tropical as the ever-popular Island Dancers bring Polynesia to Oak Lawn. Rounding out the Fest's entertainment will be Jazz Unlimited with cool sounds for a hot night and the Shadows of Knight playing the Fest into memory.

Entertainment is not the only attraction at the Fest, their will be rides and a carnival for the young and the young-at-heart contin-uing for all three days. Free admission makes this Oak Lawn's gift for the summer. Visit Oak Lawn Fest for "Everything Under the Sun".

CASCADE CAVERNS

Near San Antonio, Texas
Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

No one "expects" to find something rare, exceptionally unusual or, should they enter Caverns with preconceived ideas of what experiences await them. Alyn, Arlene, and myself entered the Cascade Caverns near San Antonio, Texas, along with a handful of other sight-seers. After only walking a few feet into it, I sensed an urgency to "get out of there fast!" The long, winding, underlit passageways were indeed dangerous. They were wet, slippery, and wound around hanging staligtites which loomed up in our paths without warnings. One could easily bash their heads against them. Huge formations of solid rock greeted us at every turn! Amy, our guide, walked ahead of us with a flashlight, bending down occasionally to turn on the dim lightings. Oddly, there were few questions asked by the others who were just "looking". Amy cautioned us, "don't smoke, eat, or touch anything, this place is 95% active, even today". This meant that the Cavern could collapse on us if we tried to pull out anything. This Cavern is in a state of "ever-changing." What amazed us, is, Amy became caught-up in what we were able to tell her about this Cavern. We noticed "soot" in a spot over an "altar-like" rock formation. This must have been where they performed "burnt offerings". Then, in front of another "altar-like formation", was a "flat stone" perhaps used as a Saerificial Stone.It became darker, and we could hardly see an inch in front of us as we came upon another formation, one that looked like a "chimney of an oven", and, something inside me said, "feel around, look inside!" At first, I was hesitant to do this. But I did, and then called out to Alyn, "bring the flashlight over here!" I fixed the light to "trace the stone itself", and it did appear to be a place where something was put. Then I focused the light "into" the wide gaps, and saw...a skull or what appeared to be a skull! We could se where the eyes were..where the nose was, and the shape of the top of the head. I held the light while Alyn took video pictures of this sight. In a lower cavity of this rock was more evidence of life. It appeared to be the teeth, and some pottery. I raised the light again to the upper cavity, and saw what appeared to be the upper part of the skull and where the teeth had fallen out. Amy became quite excited about this, because it had not been found or noted to her. We touched nothing more. But, as we left the Cavern, we also saw in the upper rock, vertebrae and bones of pre-historic animals, which the story is that they were huge elephant-like creatures. I say they looked like Dinosaurs. But, all the while we were down there, I had a psychic experience which could pose another theory. And, one theory is as good as another when there is no scientific data to back it up; I sensed and saw, a brown-gold race about five feet six or smaller, with an occasional 6 foot or more male. I believe that it was the taller ones that were the leaders and also performed the sacrifices. I felt that sacrifices were done by "season" or "by the stars" and, that they were children, not young virgins. I felt that they lived before the time of Christ. I sensed that they hunted, fished, and worshipped in a communal life-style, and that they were not a naked race, they wore clothing. They probably ate fish, meat, berries and plant-life. I suggest that they cooked the fish and meat, and stored perishables in this Cavern to preserve it. In their rituals, I suggest also that they chanted, a sound like, "Aummmmmmmm", in different levels, i.e., alto, soprano, bass, and that their language was of the "hard sound" like German's speak. Some of the people lived in the Cavern, but they were the "watchers", like caretakers, but, most lived above the ground. Where did these people go? I feel that they, (out of necessity or curiosity) explored further into the Caverns, and that they were entrapped somewhere inside them, or the Caverns opened up into a new location as they progressed into them. All of this speculation is based on my Psychic Experience, yet to be proven.

Housing trends slant towards elderly

A new trend is taking place among the nation's aging population-instead of leaving homes and families in northern cities to escape to warmer climates, seniors are opting to settle into apartment complexes that allow them freedom and community-type living while still offering autonomy and privacy.

That trend is very much evident in the Chicago area, where senior citizen apartment complexes designed for those who are 55 and older are fast becoming a phenomenon.

David Tessler, president and chief executive officer of the Royal Imperial Group, which owns and operates nursing homes and senior eitizen residential apartment complexes, notes that the trend is so strong that his company has announced plans to build a 254-unit low-rise development, The Waterford Estates in suburban Hazelcrest.

Tessler notes that planning for a senior citizen apartment complex is somewhat different that most apartment developments. "For example," he says, "older persons are far more concerned with security and safety than the typical apartment resident. They want to make certain that should any sort of medical emergency occur there is someone who will be able to assist them. It is for that reason that when we develope an apartment, designed for an older person, we put in a special signal system that will let an in-house staff person know help is needed." n addition, most older adults want their autonomy and privacy, yet at the same time they welcome the community-like atmosphere that is present in developments like the Waterford Estates.

"many older Americans, while desiring the fellowship and friendship of others their age, shy away from 'senior citizen homes' because of the connotation of helplessness and being taken care of," Tessler said. It is with this concept that the Royal Imperial Group is particularly attuned to when creating their retirement-living complexes.

The Waterford Estates is a $21-million development that will be situated on 12.5 acres. Model apartments will be available for viewing and occupancy is scheduled for February of 1089.

Study shows little seat belt use despite law

By Brian Begy

According to a study conducted by the University of Illinois, 98 percent of Illinois drivers know that Illinois law requires seat belts to be worn when driving, but only 44 percent say they actually wear them all the time.

The study was contracted by an insurance and investment group and the Illinois Department of Transportation.

The study observed 1.5 million drivers in Peoria, Rantoul, Bloomington/ Normal, Galesburg, Springfield, LaSalle/ Peru, Kankakee.

It used a variety of methods to attempt to increase seat belt use among drivers in four of those cities.

In Rantoul, the local police stepped up enforcement of the seat belt law. In Bloomington/ Normal and Peoria, cash and other prizes were given to those who used seat belts. In Galesburg, both methods were employed. The other cities were kept as control situations.

The results showed that all methods of incentives and punishments were effective, though not to the same degree.

The study showed that increased enforcement alone boosted seat belt use 21 percent in Rantoul, but it did not have a long term effect.

By comparison, the use of prizes such as cash and football tickets, had a much longer lasting effect. The effect lasted as much as three months after the incentives were withdrawn.

The study also interviewed drivers about their attitudes towards seat belts. Of 1019 polled, more that 60 percent were in favor of the mandatory seat belt law.

More that 33 percent said they would wear their seat belt more if the law was more strictly enforced or made a primary offense.

According to the Illinois State Police, the seat belt law is not strictly enforced at all.

25 percent of those polled said they would wear them if they could win a $50 prize. 35 percent said they would if they could win $250.

Sheriff's office adopts plan for emergency

The Cook County Board approved a plan today that gives sheriff James E. O'Grady authority to marshall resources, coordinate operations and assess damages during emergencies and disasters in suburban Cook County.

The board, in an unanimous vote, approved the county's first Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (ESDA) plan signed by Cook County Board President George W. Dunne.

In December of 1986 O'Grady pledged to establish an ESDA in the county and to create an Emergency Operations Plan (EOP), which is expected to be approved by state ESDA officials within a week.

We are finally approaching the day in this county when its residents can rest assured that every resource in the county- persons, equipment and expertise - will be brought to bear quickly and efficiently on any natural or man-made disaster," said O'Grady.

In 1975, the Illinois legislature passed an act requiring counties to develop an ESDA plan. In 1980, the Cook County Board passed an ordinance reiterating the state statute.

O'Grady named John M. Hickey as ESDA chief in February of 1987 to create a plan, which was submitted to County Board President Dunne in January of 1988. Last March the County Board approved $267,000 budget to fund an agency staff.

Dunne signed that plan last week as required by the state statutes before certifications by the state ESDA.

The County ordinance names Sheriff O'Grady as ESDA coordinator in Cook County, with responsibility for establishing an emergency and disaster system among the 132 county municipalities and 30 townships.

The new county EOP will draw on the Grandparents:

A Precious Commodity

By Sen. Greg Zito

I was fortunate enough to recently be invited as a keynote speaker at the Villa Scalabrini's Fourth Annual Foster Grandparents luncheon. It was an opportunity to thank the hundreds of senior companionship and care for the hundreds of Cook County children who do not have grandparents. The majority of these kids are physically, mentally, or socially handicapped and in desperate need of a grandparent's love.

As I patiently sat, waiting for the "grandparents" to settle in their places, I couldn't help p but think of how lucky I was to have had wonderful grandparents, and all of the fond memories I carried with me. All I needed to do was look at the wonderful man seated to my left, my own grandfather, and these memories poured from the archives of my mind.

I had asked my "Papa" to accompany me to my speaking engagement and as I gazed at him, this 85 year old man, his coat laid neatly over his knees, his colorful scarf hanging looscly around his neck , I was drawn to that familiar twinkle in his eyes. It was the same proud look he had given me countless times before in our time together. In that brief moment, a newsreel offers a glimpse of the day's news, his twinkling eyes projected those wonderful memories.

I can't count the times we would go to the bank together, or go to the park together, or take a drive together. And, after a busy day together, we would eat a delicious dinner that my "Nana" prepared, brush our teeth, and curl up in "his" chair which I can vividly picture by the wall in the living room, and take a nap together.

But we're still together. We still run errands, we still eat great meals by Nana, and every single day he still greets me with those twinkling eyes.

Reality abruptly interrupts our glance, and the host introduces me to speak. And as I shared my feelings with the audience the way I just shared them with you, I could tell that even though these seniors were foster grandparents, those loving caring twinkles were in their eyes.

"Hats off to all of you," I said "because you are building relationships and lasting memories that your foster grandchildren will carry \with them throughout their lives, as I carry mine with me."

I thanked them for inviting me, they applauded, and as I looked at my grandfather and he at me, no other spoken words were needed.

Everyone knows that grandparents are truly a precious commodity.

O.L. residents complain of mailbox shortage

By Brian Begy

Oak Lawn residents have complained about the lack of useable public collevtion boxes in Oak Lawn.

The Post Office has about 50 collevtion boxes in Oak Lawn, enough for resident needs according to Acting General Supervisor for Delivery and Collection Donna Wisek.

Wisek said the each box serves a one-mile radius around it, so no one must walk further than one mile to use the collection box.

This does not apply to residential areas where mail is collected entirely by carrier, which makes the boxes unecessary.

The Post Office usually stations the boxes in business districts to provide adequate mailing opportunities.

The Post Office has experienced problems with vandalism of collection boxes

She said the box on Southwest Highway that was removed a few years ago, experienced vandalism problems. The bos was only a block from a school, leading to problems.

Wisek said the Post Office sometimes solves the problem of vandalism by just moving the box. She cited the example of the box on the corner of 99th and Harlem.

The box received considerable damage from vandels, including pap cans, partially full that had been placed in the box.

She said the Post Office just moved the box one block to 99th and Nottingham, a less busy corner, thus ending the problems.

The Post Office at 93rd and Southwest Highway has changed itss hours. The new hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Post Office is closed Saturday and Sunday.

WORTH TOWNSHIP SUMMER HOURS

Maureen Murphy, Clerk of Worth Township announced that her office will maintain the following hours during the month of July and August.

Monday	8:30 a.m.-8:00 p.m.
Tuesday	8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
Wednesday	8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
Thursday	8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
Friday	8:30 a.m.-2:00 p.m.

Clerk Murphy stated regular offices hour of Monday through Friday, 8:30 AM to 4:30 PM will resume in September.

Publisher's Pen

a weekly column by Annette Dixon

Many ideas and commentaries flow through my mind, but only a few ideas are placed on paper!

The summer has been a hot one, but it hasn't deterred my traveling excursions.

Last week, Patricia Meersman and I visited Maple Lane Country Inn, which became a popular bed and breakfast resort in Stockton, Il.

We were able to visit Galena, Il. and still find time to relax in the Inn's beautiful pool. While having breakfast one morning, which consisted of a choice of french toast and bacon, juice and homemade crumb cake, eggs or pancakes, et., we met a past acquaintance. Julie Bliss from Oak Park was my pianist for a Media in Action event over 4 years ago.

Julie is a songwriter, performer and director of musicals for children! She reminded me of her documentary which I wanted to tape, but was unable to acquire the equipment from Multimedia Cable Company.

Julie has been legally declared blind since childhood and is affluent in braille. She sings and plays the piano and at the present time has sight in one eye. Through her special prayers, health foods, medical treatment, and God's will, she is able to see very well. Julie is quite extraordinary!

Pat Meersman remarked about Maple Lane Country Inn as a unique B & B which is located only 20 minutes from Galena.

This unique 280 acres of rolling meadows and various shades of green grass remind me of an artist's paradise. Elizabeth Herring, the owner, stated that Art groups from Wheaton College and U of I have used their facilities for meeting places and landscapes designs. Maple Lane has two meeting rooms to accommodate 24 people, plus 11 rooms for a sleep over. Mon through Thurs. are available group rates apply. For more information call : 1-815- 947-3773.

Next weeks' Publisher's Pen will be a commentary regarding this years Political Conventions.

Last minute request, please keep in your prayers Michelle Dixon. She will be undergoing surgery at the time this paper will bc out!

Y.M.C.A. holds Irish exchange program

By Brian Begy

The Southwest YMCA is participating in an exchange program with youths form Ireland this summer.

The program will bring ten teenagers from the county of Cork in Ireland to Chicago. They will stay here with host families for four weeks.

Nine of them will attend the Mountain Leadership Conference at Snow Mountain Ranch for ten days.

One Irish youth and one local will go to the YMCA world camp in Minnesota. The Southwest YMCA is partners with the Cork YMCA for this project.

The Southwest YMCA only applied for this partnership eight months ago, according to Kathy Miner, Executive Director of the Southwest YMCA. Miner said that arranging the project is this little time has been quite a feat.

She said that Ireland was selected for the partnership because of links between Chicago's large Irish population and their homeland. Miner went on to say that concerns over political strife in the country also helped in that decision. "Ireland has a lot of problems, and the Y's are there and taking a role."

The program is intended to "broaden the horizons" of the Irish youth, according to Miner.

This is the first year of the exchange, which grew out of another Irish exchange program called the "Bridge of Hope."

The program received a grant of slightly more that $3600 from the YMCA of the USA. This grant, however, only covers 30 percent of the expected costs, according to Miner.

The program needs an additional $8500 to be successful Miner said. The money will be raised at a benefit to be held July 28.

The benefit will be held in Gaelic Park, 6119 West 147th Street in Tinley Park.

Organizers have planned Irish musicians and Irish food to keep those attending both entertained and fed.

Miner hopes to raise the additional funds by selling tickets to the event as well as raffle tickets for items donated by local businesses.

"I think we've got a good chance" Miner says about raising the necessary money.

Pucinski forms banking commitee

Aurelia Pucinski, Democratic Candidate of Clerk of the Circuit Court, announced today that she will form a special committee on banking practices made up of financial and public administration experts to review the current fiscal practices of the clerk's office.

Pucinski said that the group will be coordinated by Dr. Louis Masotti of Northwestern's Kellog School. The special committee will be responsible for conducting an overall evaluation of the cash management function of the Clerk of the Circuit Court's office. The office manages more than $40 million annually in various accounts including fine and fee collections and child support payments.

"I am committed to assuring that state-of-the-art banking practices and maximum public benefit are assured," Pucinski said.

DUI legislation passes General Assembly

Legislation sponsored by State Representative John J. McNamara (D- Oak Lawn), that will strengthen the DUI laws of Illinois, has passed the General Assembly and now awaits the Governor's signature.

"The intent of this legislation is to keep a drunk driver from getting behind the wheel of his car when he is released on bond.," said McNamara.

The bill gives law enforcement officials the discretion to impound a motor vehicle for as many as six hours after arresting a person for driving under the influence of alcohol.

"A tragic accident occurred where a man arrested for DUI in Alsip was released in accordance with the law. He proceeded to drive home and was in an accident in Oak Lawn killing another individual," explained McNamara.

This legislation will effect those individuals whom a law enforcement officer reasonably believes is under the influence of narcotics or who may be in a disoriented state of mind.

"I worked with Illinois State Police and the Village of Oak Lawn in drafting this bill," said McNamara, "This language was agreed upon by all parties involved."

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR ALL SIGNS:

ARIES/SCORPIO

This is a time to make all kinds of changes, especially in setting priorities. Make sure that everyone involved in your life now will not have to guess what your next moves are! A Pisces person is involved too.

TAURUS/LIBRA

Take time to go over details of financial matters, and include your mate or whomever is involved. This is not a time to do any kind of speculating.

GEMINI/VIRGO

You may take more time to be with your loved one, hopefully somewhere "other than the home" because you need this time now. Another person in the sign of Gemini will be there to help in many ways, count on it.

CANCER

Make no loans this week unless you get something in writing that says you will get it back. It seems that people may mistake you for being an easy mark!

LEO

Don't let old details go, finish up all loose-ends. You are soon on the upswing, and will be exceptionally busy soon. Let another Leo aid you, do not try to do things only on your own.

SAGITTARIUS

Everything is part of some "system", and many do not work out as well as they are said to. Be in command of things, do things your way. Mechanical things may break down.

CAPRICORN

You are further ahead than you think, in love and in financial matters, and in all things legal. Now, relax and let things take their natural course. And, Cancer people help too.

AQUARIUS

Be prepared to take the lead in a family matter. But, do not let anyone talk you out of getting away for awhile. You deserve to have some fun too! Leo involved and Pisces.

PISCES

You find yourself wondering about relocating and if you would do better financially elsewhere. Think things through not once, not twice but...thrice! Then, go ahead and make that move if it "feels right".

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

17 YEARS IN THE MAKING...Hip, Hip, Hooray!!! But why did it take 17 Years?...to get the mandatory insurance law into effect? The legislators should be ashamed of themselves...to finally have put through this bill that started in 1971. To be realistic, those legislators involved now deserve some credit, but they knew all along it should have been put into effect. Secretary of State Jim Edgar was quoted as saying, "Fairness has prevailed. The five million Illinois drivers who are insured deserve a crackdown on the two million who are not." The legislators favoring passage of this bill argued that driving is a privilege, which should carry with it the responsibility of carrying insurance coverage. But why do have to wait til 1990 for it to take effect? Go figure!

ON THE OTHER HAND...now comes the legislation regarding a new offense called "drug-induced homicide," approval of which sailed through the Senate 53-2 very recently. They (the politicians) deserve a lot of credit for (somewhat) speedy action on this matter, which affects anyone in the drug-delivery chain. Maybe there is some hope in Springfield...please do your part and write to your representatives...how can they respond to your wishes if they don't know what's on your mind?

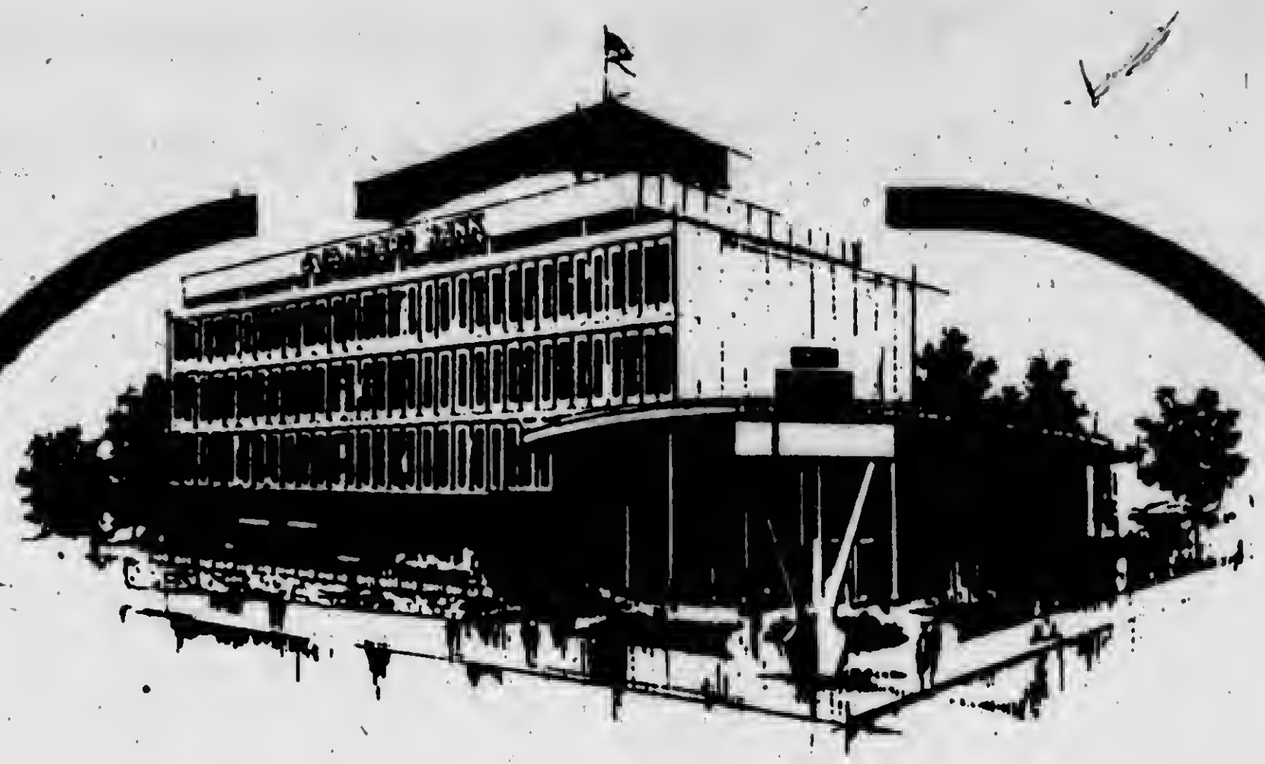
ASK KIRA

O.K. writes: "I have a feeling that my life is being interfered with by people involved in mind control, and I'm scared! How does a person protect themself against such people?"

Dear O.K.: First, do not accept their interferences in your own mind. Then, mentally send back any "strange to your own thinking" kind of thoughts. This way, you are not doing anything wrong to anyone, and all negatives go back to their source.

Confused writes: I hired a lawyer to represent me in divorce. It have been said that lawyers keep confidences so I trusted this person with personal details of my life since my husband left the house. He has blatantly told my husband everything, or so I have been told. What can I do?"



Dear Confused: Unless you stated to the lawyer that what you were telling him was confidential, there is no way to assume that he was the one who told your husband the details of your personal life since he left, unless your husband says in writing or in a deposition that he heard the details of your personal life from that lawyer. There is nothing you can do except confess to them and just get on with your life.

THE PSYCHIC OBSERVER

"Political"

Copr. 1988 by Jack Mari

Many people have asked me to project what I see in the political arena for 1988. Now, this cannot be proven until it actually happens, but this is what I personally see...in the handwriting that is on the wall. America's Democrats are being duped into believing that the party is not being influenced by "outside ant-american policies", and, there is a great deal of Communist money and influence being utilized by certain candidates as backing. There will be a powerful swing over by Democrats who will come to realize that this is what is happening with "their votes" and their backing... to the Republican Party. I see "behind the scenes" groups being organized to cause great upheaval and/or riotings when certain individuals put out the word. And, in the next five years, there will be gnashing of teeth when the truth of "Kennedys" assassination comes to light through the betrayal of a well known Kennedy family member who no longer can keep that secret. Two Black leaders, "Jesse and Louis" will become targets of people within their own "camps", and this may be assassination in some form, character or physical. However, I believe that there will be a sell-out or compromise made to make a Palestinian State, which the United States will have to support with money, trade and other goods. On the plus side, I feel that in the next ten years, the U.S. and Russia will become friendly allies, and will unite to disarm a smaller country, due to threats of total annilation of the world, and this may well be Israel! I see Daley out..Jane Byrne back in politics on a higher level of authority, possibly even running for President in years to come. A man from Texas will also run in the next five years for President against Jane Byrne. I see Governor Thompson asked to resign, and the end of the Black take over of Chicago [illegible] resources and equipment of all County Departments, including the Sheriff's Office, the Highway Department, Public Health Department, environmental Control, the Medical Examiner, Building and Zoning, Central Services, Construction Maintenance and Operations, the Forest Preserve District, Animal Control and a variety of social service agencies.

"This is just the beginning of creating an integrated emergency management system to serve the citizens of Cook County," said Chief Hickey, author of the 115 page plan.

Hickey said the next step is to develop a local ESDA in each municipality and unincorporated township area.

The result, he said, will be that the Cook County ESDA will be the center for all resources, persons and information in the County during an emergency.

Work begins on 95th Street 294 interchange

By Brian Begy

Wednesday morning the Southwest Council of Mayors and the Illinois Toll Highway Authority dedicated a new interchange to be built at Interstate 294 at 95th Street.

The current arrangement only allows travelers on 95th street to get on to 294 going North. An exit ramp allows exiting from 294 south to 95th street. Travellers wishing to get on or off in other directions must go to 127th and Cicero Avenue.

The new ramps to be added will allow travelers to enter on to 294 South from 76th Street, which is only a few blocks from the edge of Oak Lawn, and exit from Northbound 294 on to 95th Street.

The Southwest Council of Mayors has been working for years to get the interchange built.

The contract was awarded to Kewit Western Company in June for $4,928,000. Construction began June 11 and will be completed by June 30 of 1989.

The decision to build the ramps was made several years ago, but construction has been held up due to numerous delays.

Concerns about drainage in 1984 required the ramp's complete redesigning according to Thomas H. Morsch Jr., Executive Director of the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority.

Ground was broken on the ramps over two years ago according to Evergreen Park Mayor Tony Vacco who spoke at the dedication.

When construction is completed, the new interchange will benefit the Oak Lawn area with increased commerce according to Mayor Ernest Kolb.

Village Manager Richard O'Neill predicted that the (95th Street area will experience a business expansion as a result of the interchange.

O'Neill cited the existing interchange at 127th and Cicero as an example of the benefits of an interchange.

"Commerce is centered on the pathways [and] roadways," O'Neill said. He predicted that the 95th Street interchange will have "a very positive impact" on merchants in the area.

He cited examples of businesses near the Cicero interchange. New businesses such as a Holiday Inn have been built since the interchange was put in at 127th and Cicero some years ago.

Oak Lawn residents awarded scholarships by St. Xavier

Scholarships were awarded by the Alumni Association of St. Xavier College, at the College's annual Honors Convocation.

Recipients of merit scholarships for 1988-89 are : Mark Ertler, Ashburn; Janet McCabe, Beverly; and Beatrice Sturfonas, Oak Lawn. Annette Fitzgerald of Alsip, also an outstanding student, received a scholarship for 1988-89 as an alumni dependent.

To receive the monetary scholarship, a student must be a full-time junior having completed 30 semester hours at Saint Xavier and plan to be a full-time student for the upcoming semester. Recipients must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.25 or higher and must have contributed to the College in extracurricular activities or local community civic affairs.

Local wins scholarship from realtor organization

Gina Madison, a 1988 graduate of Oak Lawn Community High School, was the recipient of a scholarship donated by the Southwest Suburban Issuing the awards were George Vlasis, President of the Board and U.S. Senator Paul Simon. Simon urged 14 graduates who were given scholarships to become involved in government and especially to make a contribution so that education in the United States places more emphasis on quality.

Guest Columnist

A guest column from the

Chicago Province of the society of Jesus

The Chicago Province of the Society of Jesus has told the Holy Family Parish Council that it is willing to investigate the transfer of ownership of Holy Family Church to a not-for-profit corporation for the purpose of restoring, maintaining, and managing the 128-year-old building.

"The future of Holy Family Church has been discussed by various concerned groups and individuals since 1958 without significant progress or resolution. We, the Jesuit family in Chicago, believe it is now time for all interested parties to work together to achieve common goals. Cooperation should be the hallmark of our mutual efforts and positive progress," said the Very Rev. Robert A. Wild, SJ, provincial of the Chicago Province.

"After examining a complete range of options, including the possibility of demolishing the church, we believe a viable course of action at this time is investigating the transfer of ownership to a non-profit corporation, as recently recommended by the Holy Family Parish Council," Fr. Wild said.

In an effort to fully support the restoration cause, the Jesuit Province has appointed a special advisor, Rev. Thomas Gannon, SJ, who will be dedicated to the issue of Holy Family Church.

Fr. Wild noted that this process is basically without precedent and, therefore, likely will be time-consuming. Church law would come into question. Approvals also will be required from the Archdiocese of Chicago and the Vatican.

"We have listened long and hard to the various parish, neighborhood, historical, and city groups, and are consequently willing to honor the wishes of those in favor of preserving this building. While it remains a complex matter, we feel ownership of the church by a non-profit corporation may expedite restoration. We believe this course of action also may encourage professionals in the areas of architecture and fund-raising to help the cause," Fr. Wild said.

As outlined by Holy Family Parish Council, the non-profit corporation would be owned by a board of members. A board of directors or civic committee would be responsible for restoring, maintaining, and managing the building.

Fr. Wild noted that the Jesuits have served the near west side of Chicago for over a century, and remain devoted to the mission of their ministry at Holy Family.

Dear Editor,

Letter to the Editor:

Maybe you have noticed lately the new additions to Comiskey Park? Up in the right center field grandstands next to the scoreboard is a black 4 by 6 flag, with the inscription, "You are not forgotten."

This POW/MIA flags purpose is to create and maintain public awareness that there are still men left behind in Southeast Asia. They journeyed where brave men fear to tread and they didn't return. They agreed to die to protect our freedom, but not to be abandoned by their country.

Also at Comiskey Park in the Bard's Room a POW/MIA flag is on display, and a picture of POW/MIA LTC Jeffrey C. Lemon inducted into the Sox Hall of Fame. A fitting tribute to those who still serve our country.

When we contacted the Director of Park Operations of Wrigleyville (Wrigley Field) we were told it was to political to fly at their locality.

It really confuses me when the President of the United States goes on national TV and states its our countries number one national priority (Full accounting of our missing) and yet the Wrigley people say its to political of an issue.

It's a miracle at 35th street with all the controversy the Chicago White Sox have had lately at least they are loyal Americans.

Michelle Dixon is home from the hospital and doing much better thanks to all the prayers and get well messages from friends and associates.

Belated Birthday Greetings to Bonnie Garza and her daughter Chrissie this past week and Birthday Greetings to Mary Lou Harker, Lance Dixon, Patricia Meersman.

Every family has its favorite stories, but the John Green DDS family of Oak Lawn have my favorite story. Recently I was introduced to John's partner at a party. Because I knew that the Green family have sons as dentists, I thought John's partner was one of his sons. I said, "it must be nice working with you dad," the reply was, "we're not related, but I've always had respect for my elders and treat him like a real dad."

Each week we would like to have a guest writer. Just send in your letter, news release, or commentary to Village View Newspapers, 10933 S. Central Ave., Oak Lawn, Il. 60453. Your letter will be on Page 2 next to my publisher's pen. Many people call to give me their opinion, remarks, etc. Please let us hear from all concerned readers regarding your tax increases coming this September.

An unusual 1989 for Oak Lawn is that Mayor Ernest Kolb may have some competition. Over heard recently, is that Herb Huskey, retired State Representative, retired businessman, retired committeeman is not ready for retirement, and is very interested in the mayoral election.

Public Safety Center bids lower than expected

By Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn opened bids for the first phase of construction of the new Public Safety Center to replace the existing one.

The $6.8 million facility will house both the fire and police departments in one building.

The building will be ready inn December of 1989 according to plans approved in March.

Architect John Frega said that Village Staff have opened bids for phase 1 of the construction, covering excavation, cement and support caissons for the structure.

According to Frega, the bids were far below the estimated costs.

Cost estimates for excavation work were $167, 282. The low bid came from Bechstein Construction. The bid for that work was $109,690, 34% lower than the estimates.

The concrete work was estimated at $786,331, but the bid from Poulos Brothers Construction of $659,000 was 16% lower than expected.

Work for the support caissons was expected to cost $60,326. Once again, the bid from Poulos Brothers Constructiion was lower at $29,500, 50% below estimated cost.

Frega said these bids will allow the project to come in near budget. He speculated that these savings may be cancelled by future cost overruns and other expenses.

In other action, Village Manager Richard O'Neill said that his office will look at long range weather forecasts before making any judgement concerning whether or not to lift the water restrictions imposed due to the drought. "At the moment, we have no plans [to remove the restrictions] O'Neill said.

Mayor Ernest Kolb said that surrounding communities that buy their water from Oak Lawn have imposed restrictions similar to those Oak Lawn has been using.

O'Neill said that those restrictions, along with recent rains, have reduced the number of gallons that Oak Lawn has been pumping per day.

At the beginning of July, the Village was pumping over 50 million gallons per day. Now that number is under 40 million per day, according to O'Neill.

O'Neill also said that lower water use has allowed the reservoir to replenish their supply.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR ALL SIGNS:

Aries/Scorpio

Don't look for people to automatically understand what you are doing and...why. Decide to talk things out and settle matters. Leo and Virgo people are sure to become involved.

Taurus/Libra

It is no secret what love can do, and you are sure to realize this by the unexpected, but welcomed cooperation you are soon to get from loved ones, especially in financial matters.

Gemini/Virgo

Pay attention to what you are hearing from experts, and be prepared to sit down and talk about important matters that deal with home needs. Take inventory of what you will need.

Cancer

Be alert to some new contacts, people who can aid your career...this can also mean that you will talk things over with bosses or other job related superiors about your needs and ambitions. It is time to talk.

Sagittarius

Read the Leo message and add this: there is no time like the present to speak up for what you need. The job deserves more of your own time and expertise.

Pisces

You are offered a chance to get a different car or vehicle for work. You can become very involved in your career, but should pay some real attention to housing needs.

NEWSIGHTING

COPR. 1988 BY ALYN RICHARD

THERE GOES THE FAMILY CAR...Police Chief Glenn Huffman in Orland Hills is proceeding with efforts to get the "zero tolerance program" active in the village...the Board has already been asked to formally endorse the federal program. It just may require this type of action to stop the drug problem that virtually everyone says they want stopped. Hats off to Chief Huffman! One of the Chief's comments was rather interesting..."Mom and Dad need to be aware that the family car can go on the line..." Translation: parents, beware, because if your teenager is stopped and there are drugs found in the car, the car is no longer yours!

IT'S GETTING SO COMMON...the widow of a slain Chicago police officer is accelerating her efforts to keep her husband's killer behind bars, and is concentrating on the prevention of the killer's parole, which is up before the Illinois Prisoner Review Board on Aug. 30 at East Moline Correctional Center. Her name is Rose Wenzel, and she is urging people to send petitions or letters to the board at 319 E. Madison, Springfield, Il. 62701, prior to Aug. 5th. The convicted murderer is Richard Luckey, the murder took place in 1973. The criminal was sentenced to 75-150 years in 1974...and now is up for parole. I wonder if it's for good behavior. Hard to figure.

"MOTHER EARTH SPEAKING"

By JACKI MARI $9.95

"Mother Earth Speaking" is a cassette tape by Jacki Mari which tells how the earth was, is and will be! This is a very informative work for the searching mind since you can listen to it on two levels. First, how we treat Mother Earth and her reactions to our actions - and second, if you substitute man talking instead of Mother Earth, you can se how one person's actions causes another's reaction.

Mother Earth asks, "Why does man seek to control earth, and when he cannot, why does he seek to destroy it? I need the affection of my inhabitants and their appreciation of me!" In what we call progress, we leave our debris in the waters, on the lands, and even in the air. Just take a look around and you can see and feel how "progress" is causing a terrible imbalance in nature. This tape is a MUST for all people interested in preserving our environment!

We specialize in books and tapes on Self-Help and Metaphysics, and sell a wide variety of QUARTZ CRYSTALS. Jacki Mari's books and tapes are also available and we have mail order service on all items. Call 636-2233 for information.

A.A.A. gives advice to motorists on summer driving

Hot weather can cause problems for drivers whose vehicles are not in top mechanical condition, but motorists can take precautions that will help prevent heat related breakdowns, according to the AAA-Chicago Motor Club.

AAA-CMC urges motorists to check the level of radiator coolant; inspect hoses and belts; and make sure the radiator grille is free of any restrictions that would block air flow. A car that is in good mechanical condition should not overheat despite the outdoor temperature.

If the temperature gauge reads in the hot range or the hot engine warning light comes on, safely pull to the side of the road. Shift the transmission to park or neutral & apply the parking brake & turn all other accessories off. Accelerate slightly to help circulate liquid in the cooling system. Proceed to a service facility as soon as possible to determine what caused the vehicle to overheat. Never remove the cap of the radiator when it is hot because a geyser of boiling liquid could cause serious injury.

Another common problem is vapor lock. Vapor lock is a partial or complete interruption of the flow of air & engine fluids. The result is a car that won't start or performs poorly.

Remove the air filter and allow sufficient time for the fuel system to cool before trying again to start the engine, according to AAA-CMC.

IRS to re-examine 1985 returns

Every Monday for the next few months, several thousand area taxpayers are going to open their mail boxes and find a three page letter from the Internal Revenue Service about their 1985 tax returns.

The computer generated letter, identified in the upper right hand corner as CP-2000, is basically a request for information and may not be as ominous as it seems at first glance.

You know you have a CP-2000 if the first page starts out with the words "Proposed Changes to Income....." The letter will explain that the IRS has received certain W-2 or 1099 Forms listing income paid to the taxpayer that was not listed or properly identified on their 1985 tax return. The letter continues by explaining that you have 30 days in which to respond.

It is not necessary to call the toll free number listed letter. The CP-2000 must be answered in writing.

The IRS suggests the first thing the taxpayer does upon receiving a CP-2000 is check the IRS figures against their tax return. The second action is to respond in writing.

Farmers Market held by chamber

The Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce Farmer's Market is once again brightening the summer with food, fun and entertainment. Located on Yourell Drive between Cook and 52nd Avenues, the market is held every Wednesday until October 19th.

Typical of the entertainment provided for the market is Garfield Goose and other telepuppets brought by the Newtons. The free puppet show was sponsored by the Heritage Bank of Oak Lawn.

Also at a recent market, free blood pressure screening was offered by the Oak Lawn Care Station, an affiliate of Little Company of Mary Hospital. Coming up later in the summer will be jazzercize, crafts, cooking and other demonstrations. Further health screenings are also on tap.

The primary reason for the market is to bring farm fresh produce to the Oak Lawn resident. Offered at the market are vegetables, fruits, honey, mushrooms and a chance for luncheon al fresco. According to Bill Sullivan, Executive Director of the Chamber, "We have been surprisingly lucky considering the drought conditions in the area. Our farmers have some very nice produce now, and the prognosis is good for the rest of the growing season."

Help Your Heart

American Heart Association

Exercise and Nutrition: Some Facts vs. Fiction

So, you think you don't have to watch what you eat because you exercise. To achieve cardiovascular health, good eating habits are essential, and exercise encourages positive changes in other lifestyle habits, like eating.

Like a car, your body will not function properly without a well-balanced mixture of fuel. Unfortunately, a great many myths exist about the nutritional needs of physically active people. One of those myths is that physically active people do not need to follow the American Heart Association's recommendations for a cholesterol-lowering diet because exercise burns cholesterol. Absolutely not true.

Exercise will not automatically reduce your cholesterol level. The truth is exercise may increase the level of "good" cholesterol (HDL) in the blood, but it will not reduce the "bad" cholesterol (LDL) that can cause so many problems. Cholesterol-lowering diets are important for reducing the blood cholesterol with most people whether sendentary or active. A high blood cholesterol is considered to be one of the three major risk factors contributing to heart disease — the leading cause of death in the United States.

Another myth related to nutrition and exercise is that exercise significantly increases vitamin and mineral requirements. Again, not true. The vitamin and mineral requirements of physically active and sedentary people are similar with the exception of a slight increase in the need for B-vitamins where exercise is part of a person's routine.

And you may have heard the myth about exercise increasing one's appetite, making exercise a barrier for weight reduction. The truth is that moderate exercise actually improves appetite control in most people on low-calorie diets.

The American Heart Association dietary guidelines for healthy American adults offer a sound, well-balanced approach for nutritious eating, and it's easy to build those guidelines into today's lifestyles without sacrificing good taste for good health. It's like making a good investment with immediate and long-term benefits. You can enjoy a wide variety of foods that taste good. That's an immediate benefit. Long-term benefits include weight control, possible loss of weight, and reduced blood cholesterol levels.

Exercise and heart-healthy nutrition can help you achieve physical fitness and cardiovascular health. Take time to learn the facts and contact your local American Heart Association for more heart-healthy tips on exercise and nutrition. And that's the truth!

Sales tax law means ease for retailers and changes for Village

By Brian Begy

Governor Thompson recently signed into law changes in Illinois' sales tax laws that will affect how sales taxes are calculated and collected.

The changes will eliminate multiple filings for state, municipal and county sales taxes, and instead make the state of Illinois the central collector of sales taxes, according to Gary Rejebian, Communications Manager for the Illinois Retail Merchants Association (I.R.M.A.)

The State will collect a 6 1/4% sales tax and then break it down and redistribute it to the county and municipalities where the purchase was made.

A 5% tax goes directly to the state, 1% goes to the municipality where the purchase was made, and 1/4% goes to the county, according to Tucker B. Olson, Executive Vice President of I.R.M.A., helped author the bill.

The new law has no real affect upon the amount taxed for most purchases. The law will make reporting sales taxes easier for the retailer, according to Rejebian.

The law will however change taxes with regard to out of state purchases. Under current law, a buyer pays 5% of the value of an item purchased out of state, not for the purchase but as a use tax because taxes on interstate commerce can only be imposed on the Federal level.

The 5% tax provides a small advantage over the 6 1/4% tax for the buyer. The advantage has created "satellite companies" selling to Illinois, but located in other states, according to Olson.

The new tax law will raise the use tax on out of state purchases to 6 1/4%, thus eliminating any advantage of buying out of state, says Olson.

The Village of Oak Lawn will feel little direct impact from the changes in the law, according to Village Manager Richard O'Neill.

The Village strongly opposed the law while still under debate by the State Legislature.

O'Neill opposed the law because it "puts a crimp in our powers." He admitted that there will be little immediate effect, but withheld making a statement about the long term effects. O'Neill will examine this matter with the Village Attorneys.

The law also contains a provision to provide funding for compliance with the Clean Water Act. According to the Governor's press office, the law will raise $70 million for that purpose. The $70 million will allow Illinois to qualify for $350 million in Federal funding. 226 communities in Illinois have yet to comply with the standards set by the Clean Water Act.

Irish exchange program deemed successful

By Brian Begy

The Southwest YMCA is participating in an exchange program with the YMCA of Cork, Ireland.

Nine young men from Cork came to Chicago Monday night. They have been staying with host families for the duration of their stay.

The boys have been shown the sights of Chicago for the past few days. Their tours have seen virtually all of the museums in Chicago to live at the Hard Rock Cafe.

The boys will attend a camp in the Rocky Mountains sponsored by 5 Chicagoland YMCA's according to Kathy Miner. Mountain Ranch will focus on building leadership skills among the youth.

The conference features activities such as camping and rafting, to build small group skills. It also uses large group performance to build confidence.

The program has been in operation for more than 10 years and has received rave reviews from participants. Parents have also been very satisfied with the results according to Miner.

The program has been funded by the YMCA of the USA. That funding, however only provided 30% of the necessary funding.

The Southwest YMCA held a benefit for the program on July 28th at Gaelic Park in Tinley Park.

The event featured Irish musicians who volunteered their time for the exchange program.

Despite the success, the Benefit did not fully fund the exchange program. The Y is still seeking donations to pay for the cost of the project. Donations are being accepted by the Southwest YMCA at 385-6700.

Bush's child care program supported by local Republican

Joe McCarthy, Republican candidate for the Illinois 3rd Congressional district, announced today that he strongly supports the Republican child care tax plan unveiled by George Bush. "Child day care is one of the most important issues facing the Illinois 3rd congressional district in this election."

The Republican child care plan calls for tax credits of $1,000 per child as a direct subtraction from income taxes. All costs incurred for child care whether in the home, in a church or in a licensed day care facility qualify for the credit.

Dr. McCarthy, whose practice involves working closely with teenagers involved in drug abuse and teenage suicide, believes that parental choice in day care settings, and ultimately to the child's first exposure to the world, is critical to the child's development. "THis plan allows each family the freedom to choose the type of care they think is right for their children without overly restrictive interference from the federal government," McCarthy said.

Repeal Illinois' mandatory written consent law for A.I.D.S. testing

by Harry A. Springer, M.D.
President, Illinois State Medical Society

Doctors should not have their hands tied in treating the deadly, infectious AIDS virus by cumbersome, bureaucratic and unfair state laws. That's why the Illinois State Medical Society, on behalf of our 17,000 physician members statewide, supports repeal of the mandatory written informed consent law for AIDS testing.

The key concepts doctors want eliminated are "mandatory" and "written." For no other test or treatment have lawmakers mandated the signing of specific, written consent. It's a matter handled confidentially between doctors and their patients on a one-to-one basis. And we firmly believe that AIDS should be treated like any other disease- not with kid gloves that some public policymakers and special interests meekly recommend. Doing less only clears the way for the spread of this incurable virus.

Opponents have raised several concerns about why the Illinois State Medical Society supports repeal of mandatory written consent for AIDS testing and what its impact will be. We'd like to take the opportunity to dispel those here:

* Repealing mandated, written consent will not eliminate a doctor's duty to discuss treatment and testing with patients. Such information sharing is a bedrock principle of the patient-physician partnership. The legislation actually states that mandated, written consent can be waived when " medically indicated to provide appropriate diagnosis and treatment...provided that the subject of the test has otherwise provided his or her consent to such physician for medical treatment." Written informed consent is still mandated for tests performed outside the physician-patient relationship, such as for insurance policies or employment.

*On a practical level, this means that the treating doctor could do an AIDS virus test on a patient for good cause without written consent. Such policy makes eminent sense. Should a doctor who suspects AIDS as the root of a patient's illness be forced to treat, but not allowed to use the best medical tools and clinical judgement-because of a patient's or guardian's refusal to face the truth? What good does such behavior do for the patient-or others he or she may be putting at risk?

*Repeal of mandatory written consent will not allow for so-called "secret testing" that fails to provide patients with the results of appropriate counselling. Physicians have a clear ethical duty to discuss the test results with patients and offer a prognosis. For those testing positive to the AIDS virus, aggressive counselling and referral to a specialist are also essential. Counselling is obviously of most value after a test result is known-not before it has even been conducted, as required by current law. Repeal will not eliminate counselling, but position it where it will best benefit the patient.

*Confidentiality will not be breached through repeal of mandatory written consent. Last year the medical society actively supported the Illinois General Assembly when it enacted one of the strongest confidentiality laws in the nation. The penalties for an AIDS confidentiality lapse go far beyond those of any other disease. This has not changed one iota.

*Finally, the Illinois State Medical Society categorically denies the implication that we authored such legislation to allow doctors to turn away AIDS patients. Our official policy strongly opposes discrimination against any patient based on the disease. State Representative Penny Pullen, a member of the President's National Commission on AIDS, drafted the legislation and approached us for support. We enthusiastically jumped on the bandwagon, as did 81 state representatives and 43 state senators who approved the repeal.

We hope Governor Thompson will continue his aggressive commitment to fighting AIDS by signing his legislation. The bottom line is that mandating written consent for AIDS testing is bad public policy- a barrier to early detection and treatment. Repealing mandatory written consent for AIDS testing will send a signal to Illinois' medical community and the patients we care for that we must use our full medical arsenal to battle AIDS' fatal spread.

Dr. Harry Springer is president of the Illinois State Medical Society. He is a board-certified plastic surgeon practicing in Evanston, Illinois.

Dear Editor:

Dear Editor,

The Oak Lawn Kiwanis Club would like to thank the greater Oak Lawn community for their generous support of the Beer Garden during the Oak Lawn Fest. The motto of the Oak Lawn Kiwanis Club is "We Build". Founded in 1951, the Kiwanis Club has not specialized into a particular area of community service, but maintains a wide range of community service.

With the funding garnered during the Oak Lawn Fest the Oak Lawn Kiwanis Club will be able to continue their distribution of food baskets to the needy at the holiday season Your kind support will supply aid for the homeless, rent assistance, wheelchairs for the disabled and emergency shelter throughout the year.

Thanks to you, our scholarship programs will continue at Moraine Valley Community College and the sponsorship of cultural and athletic exchanges with foreign countries. Pumpkin carving contests will continue at all area handicapped schools. The Key Club at Oak Lawn High School will be able to train young adults for leadership. Without your support, we could not continue to operate a sleep away camp for handicapped children in Plymouth, Indiana or perhaps no longer provide camping for those children unable to pay. We would not be able to materially assist in the rehabilitation of blinded veterans without your help.

The club engages in many more projects during each year and tries to add a new project during each Kiwanis year. Service to all phases of our community whether to help people in crisis or to spearhead a community clean-up drive, our proudest boast is "Kiwanis Is Where A Need Is Served." Thanks for joining the "K" team.

Sincerely,
The Kiwanis Club
of Oak Lawn

Publisher's Pen

a weekly column

by Annette Dixon

This column is brought to you via flyer delivery express from 10 service delivery boys every Saturday and/ Sunday. Our new service has worked out well for us, and we hope that as residents of Oak Lawn you are aware that all of us are from this great Village also.

Serving on two boards, the Southwest YMCA, and United Way of Oak Lawn can be hectic at times, but very rewarding. Especially serving on special committees with friends. Recently, this publisher chaired a special committee to help 9 boys from County Cork Y establish a fund to pay their passage to Chicago. Our committee consisted of Laura Shallow, Standard Bank and Trust; Mary Kay O'Shea, Contempo Red Carpet; Jack and Peg Houlihan of Oak Lawn; John and Alice Collins of Oak Lawn; Melanie O'Brien; Maggie Jablonski, SYMCA; Jack Brown, Oak Lawn; Fran Gallagher, Little Company of Mary Hospital; and Mary Rochford of Burbank.

Thanks to all our contributions of gifts, money and valuable time. With all of our efforts, we we were able to afford air fare for 9 young men from Cork. We now have a deficit of $3800, which was extended for Insurance, activities, etc. If anyone would like to contribute to the SYMCA-Gaelic Happening-Bridge of Hope, send a check to Southwest YMCA, 13040 S. Pulaski Road, Alsip, Il. 60658.

Serving on the United Way of Oak Lawn is just as rewarding because I know tha money raised and allocated are for agencies serving the greater Oak Lawn area. PLOWS, Park Lawn, Garden School, SYMCA, Crisis Center, etc., are just a few agencies which we service.

Recently a needs assessment was conducted by Tom Siedis, and volunteers, for finalization of the report on Project Compass for United Way.

The most concentrated area of problems which the residents were concerned about would be the need for more help, service, information, etc., for the youth, and elderly and handicap.

Within the Oak Lawn households that were surveyed either by mail or telephone, one of the major problems they listed was inadequate public transportation, drug abuse, shortage of recreational facilities programs. Many officials and leaders written the community which we service stated that long term hospitalization for mentally disabled and respite care for the mentally disabled is high on the very serious category.

What does this mean for our community? Your answers helped us at United Way understand the needs of each community. I am sure with many of the Federal and State dollars that will be further cut, we as board members will help allocate appropriately to the community needs.

Plan formed to aid homeless youths

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., has offered a plan to help create a safety net for homeless youths who often find homeless services for children and adults are not available to them.

The Senate Labor and Human Resources Committee approved a Simon amendment providing for a $5 million grant program for homeless youth. The amendment was added July 27 to the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act. Simon also introduced separate legislation identical to the amendment.

The program is focused on youths ages 16 to 21. Simon said these adolescents are too young for adult shelters, but are often too old for the foster care system.

The measure would create a $5 million grant program to provide shelter and services designed to promote a transition to self-sufficient living. In processing grant requests, priority will be given to community programs previously successful in providing theses services.

According to the Chicago Coalition for the Homeless, there are an estimated 17,500 homeless youth in Chicago. A Chicago activist said there are virtually no shelters for these young people. The Rev. Thomas Behrens, who works with homeless youths, said most are sent back onto the streets because there is no place for them to go. "The street is no place for a kid," he said. "Physically, emotionally, it's a dead-end."

Leon Intrater, who runs a youth center in Chicago, said that many homeless youngsters become prostitutes or sell drugs to support themselves. Many times, they are afraid to return home and have very few options, he said.

The goal of the program is to provide shelter and a variety of services such as education and vocational counseling and training in basic life skills. The bill would give homeless youth an alternative to the street by teaching them how to survive on their own, said Simon.

Drought relief planned

State Treasurer Jerry Cosentino announced that $24 million of the $50 million dollars made available to assist farmers stricken by the drought, have been deposited in Illinois banks for low interest loans.

Under Cosentino's Drought Relief Program, funds are deposited with participating banks at an annual rate of 6.5% for a period of one year. Banks will make loans to drought stricken farmers at a rate of no more than 9.5 percent.

"I am overwhelmed by the response to our program," stated Cosentino. "This program proves that positive governmental action is needed to assist our farmers during this time of crisis."

On July 13th, Cosentino announced the Emergency Linked Deposit Program that would make $50.0 million dollars available for low interest loans.

Plan announced to expand court

Aurelia Pucinski, Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court, announced a four-point plan to expand suburban court facilities and make them more accessible to suburban residents and attorneys.

"People who live far from the Loop, and suburban attorneys, spend needless hours in the Daley Center on routine matters such as checking computer file information or filing of pleadings," Pucinski said. "These activities should be available in suburban court facilities."

The Pucinski plan for suburban courts includes:

Establishing a "delivery system" to permit filing of pleadings in each suburban municipal district court facility with the exception of emergency petitions. The delivery system would allow suburban filings for all downtown divisions such as law, chancery, divorce and probate.

Placement of at least one remote computer data terminal at each court division at each suburban court facility. This would allow attorneys to check the status of court files.

Creation of a "Central Postal Filing Section" to allow routine no-fee court filing by mailing to a special post office box number.

Opening special telephone lines for attorneys, to be answered by clerks with immediate access to downtown divisions' computer case file information.

Regulations change for surplus food

Bud Meyer, Township of Worth Senior Coordinator reports that new guidelines for receiving Government Surplus foods are now in effect.

To be eligible to receive Surplus foods, Worth Township residents total monthly income can not exceed $600.00 for a single person, $805.00 for two people in a family, $1009.00 for three people in a family and $204.00 more for each additional member in the family.

Next food delivery will be Friday, August 12th, 1988 and there will be no cheese, honey or rice available for the months of August and September.

Because of limited amounts of food to be handed out, one half of all food available will be distributed at 8 a.m. The remaining half will be distributed after 10 a.m. until supplies are exhausted. The two delivery times should shorten the lines waiting for delivery.

Candidate urges compliance with smoke detector law

Noting the number of fire related deaths in the metropolitan Chicago area this summer, Ed Urban, 38th District Democratic Candidate for State Representative, reminded all homeowners and landlords that a new State law requires the installation of smoke detectors in all dwellings as of July 1st.

"Every home, apartment and even apartment building stairwells are now required to have smoke detectors." Urban said. "The penalty for non-compliance can be up to six months in jail and a fine of $500."

According to Urban, the State Fire Marshall will not be actively enforcing the Smoke Detector Act. However, Urban encouraged citizens to get smoke detectors for the safety of their families and tenants.

"It's not as if 'smoke detector police' will be investigating door to door." Urban said, "but when you can buy a smoke detector for less than $10. at most hardware stores it makes sense that all homes have them. The cost of not having one can be the life of a family member or the loss of your home."

Urban added that the penalty for tampering with, removing or destroying a smoke detector is up to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Doctors warn against exposure to heat

If you're like most people, in summer you don shorts and T-shirt and spend more time doing outdoor activities. However, when working, exercising or enjoying other physical activities outside, outside, you need to take precautions against heat illness.

"Your body needs time to adjust to the warm weather so it can respond properly." says John Scott, a health and safety professional with the Country Companies, an insurance and investment group.

Scott recommends during the warm weather that you slow down physical activity to allow your body time to adjust. Plan your exercise or physically-demanding work for the cooler parts of the day-before 10 a.m. or after 6 p.m. And, when the humidity is high, take it easy.

Proper dress can also help prevent heat illness. Wear a minimum of light weight clothing; cotton is a good choice. Avoid rubberized or plastic suits, sweatshirts and sweat pants. Such clothing will make you sweat more, but not make you lose weight any faster. The water weight you lose will quickly be replaced soon after you begin drinking fluids again. And, they prevent the evaporation of sweat, a vital cooling function.

Adequate fluid intake is important. Our bodies are made up mostly of water. Body water losses of just 4 percent can cause dehydration and lead to heat exhaustion. Sweating helps your body cool down, but you need to replace lost fluids to keep your body from overheating.

Cool water, not ice cold, is your best choice since it passes into your system quickly. "Don't wait until you are thirsty to drink. By the time you feel "thirsty," your body is already beginning to dehydrate," says Scott. "During physical activity drink smaller amounts of liquid every 15 minutes or so."

When ignored, heat exhaustion, the early stages of heat illness, can quickly turn into a life-threatening situation called heat stroke. Early warning signs of heat exhaustion include thirst, fatigue, grogginess, dizziness, muscle cramps or visual impairment. The more serious warning signs of heat stroke are a weak, rapid pulse; low blood pressure; nausea; throbbing in the head; a decrease or absence of sweating and high body temperature.

Early stages of heat exhaustion can be treated by drinking plenty of cool water and resting in a cool place.

"Warm weather and sunshine can be invigorating, but overdoing exercise or work in it can be dangerous. As with any physical activity, the best advice is moderation until you are physically conditioned, especially when it's hot," says Scott.

NEWSIGHTING

MAKES YOU WONDER...the very lawyers who will practice their trade before many of the judges elected to the bench - have become the chief source of campaign funding for those judges. What kind of system is this? Recently, according to one report, five justices of the Illinois Supreme Court apparently found a way to accept the campaign contributions from one to six layers whose conduct in now part of a disciplinary hearing before the court. It is common, in the practice of law, whether you are a judge or otherwise, that there is quite often a difference between the truth of a matter, and the perception of a matter. In this point of campaign contributions to judges, the perception of a conflict of interest with the lawyers seems to be, for the most part, overlooked. Perhaps that makes it alright! What do you think?

SPEAKING OF TRUTH...major speeches and incidents of historical relevance in the Soviet Union have been brought to light recently, within the Soviet Union itself, and it is creating upheavals all over. All of a sudden, truth is necessary. I wonder why? I can only hope the benefit is as good as the truth is necessary. (Ref. the Nikita K speech just now made public). This is very thought-provoking!

IS IT A CONTEST?...Both the Gierczyk Development Inc. of Harvey and the Plum Valley Management of Chicago Heights decided July 29th was the right time to announce their separate plans for what we have needed the most in the South Suburbs...open-air music centers! Ho-Hummmmm One would have been okay, but now we have a real war on our hands...some call it "a range war." The Plum Valley Project certainly looks elaborate and far-reaching in its overall scope. Time will tell.

One morning class meets Tuesday and Thursdays and a second morning class is held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. All parents and interested friends are invited to attend an Open House at the School between 10 a.m. - 12 Noon on Monday, August 15. Mrs. Cepican and her staff will be happy to conduct tours of the facilities and provide information regarding curriculum, goals and the purpose of the school.

Seniors brace for tax bite

Emmett "Bud Meyer, Worth Township Collector and Senior Coordinator, wars Senior Citizens that new laws pending in Springfield and Washington will hit them pretty hard.

Last year Seniors were taxed an extra $25.00 on their State Income tax when they lost their $1,000. exemption for age. This spring the House of Representatives passed a bill to restore this exemption 117 to 0 and sent it on to the Senate. Here it seems to have stalled.

The proposed 40% raise in the Illinois State Income Tax will also hit Seniors hard. This bill basicly will bail out the Chicago School system. Our Seniors have not used our schools for decades and many of them never have, but are still expected to bear the whole burden.

Seniors will bear the whole burden of the Catastropic Health Bill in Congress. This bill is designed to help pay Senior medical bills. but in doing so it will certainly help younger families who are caring for their aged parents.

Consider what Seniors will have to pay: A 16% increase in deduction from Social Security checks in 1989 and rising to 41% in 1993. A surtax on their Federal Income Tax of 15% in 1989 which will rise to 28% in 1993.

Arthritis help program held

A seven -week program designed to help people coupe more effectively with the problems posed by systemic lupus, a potentially serious form of arthritis, will begin Saturday, August 13, at the Christ Hospital Arthritis Center, 4440 W. 95th St.

The Lupus Self-Help Course, sponsored by the Illinois Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, will meet from 10:30 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. each Saturday morning through September 24. This is the first course of its kind to be offered in the Chicago area.

"Systemic lupus erythematosus (SLE) is one of several arthritis diseases in which the body's defense system causes cells to attack healthy tissue," said Nancy Szesny, a clinical nurse specialist at the hospital and co-leader of the class. "While lupus cases can range from mild to serious, severe disease can damage skin, kidneys, blood vessels, the nervous system, heart and other internal organs."

Fee for the program is $35, however, participants may bring a friend or family member at no additional charge. Class members must have a medical diagnosis of probable or definite SLE to enroll. Those interested in enrolling must apply by Monday, August 8th.

To receive an application, or for more information on lupus, call the Arthritis Foundation at (312) 782-1367.

Senior group honored

Ila Wickman, president of the Happy Hometowners seniors group, was recently presented with a special appreciation award by Cook County State's Atty. Richard M. Daley.

The group, which meets at Our Lady of Loretto Church Hall, 8925 S. Kostner, was honored by Daley for its strong interest in criminal justice matters.

Drivers needed for program to increase senior's mobility

Getting to the doctor can pose a monumental problem to an older person. Many seniors unable to drive or take public transportation must depend on others to get them to important medical appointments.

The PLOWS Council on Aging provides rides through a special volunteer escort program. Volunteers drive the older person to an appointment, and then return the senior home.

Volunteers drive daytime hours on weekdays only and may contribute three to fifteen hours monthly depending on on the volunteer's time availability. A small stipend and mileage allowance are available to defray car expenses.

For further information about participating as an escort driver, contact Rebecca Lerfelt at 422-6722.

Oak Lawn hesitates on lifting water restrictions

By Brian Begy

Oak Lawn will hesitate before lifting the ban on lawn sprinkling, according to Village Manager Richard O'Neill. The statement was made at the Tuesday Village Board of Trustees Meeting.

Trustee Ed Barron (4th District) said that Oak Lawn has experienced two major storms since the ban was considered last. The rains amounted to "almost flood conditions" in some of the streets in his district.

Barron said that Oak Lawn should consider lifting the restrictions because neighboring Evergreen Park has lifted its sprinkling restrictions.

O'Neill said that the Village has been examining long range weather forecasts to determine the nature of weather for the late summer.

O'Neill said that the forecasts show a summer filled with "hot, difficult days." He said that it would not be a good idea to lt the ban so soon. He said that the ban may be lifted on Labor Day at the earliest.

O'Neill said that Oak Lawn will hold a meeting with the leaders of communities that buy water from Oak Lawn. The meeting will be held August 17th.

The Village hopes to get a plan for combatting water shortages worked out at this meeting. He, O'Neill predicted that a plan might be created that used the same odd and even house numbering system that Oak Lawn uses for all communities that purchase water from Oak Lawn.

In other business, the Board voted to make Trustee Ron Stancik, (2nd District) the alternate delegate to the Illinois Municipal League. Mayor Ernest Kolb is the delegate.

Park District participates in work release program

By Brian Begy

The Oak Lawn Park District has been participating in a program with the Cook County Sheriff's Office to put convicted D.U.I. and other minor offenders to work on community projects.

The program, established in 1984, allows offenders the choice of community service instead of going to jail. It was created to help alleviate the overcrowding in Cook County jails, according to a Sheriff's Office spokesman.

The program has since grown into a method for municipalities to gain the service of offenders at no cost.

It also allows offenders the opportunity to avoid jail through this program. The Sheriff's spokesman said that this helps offenders avoid the lost time away from families and jobs and avoid the stigma of serving time in jail.

According to the sheriff's office, it costs the county about $55 to keep a prisoner in jail per day. The work program costs nothing to the county while achieving meaningful service to communities.

The program is entirely self sufficient, according to Dusty Bowman, who is the Park District supervisor of the workers. Bowman says the offenders pay $8 a day to finance the salaries of their own guards.

He said the usual sentence is 30 days of community service, this provides the Park District with substantial manpower to perform various tasks.

The Park District used the men to clean out an area behind Centennial Park. The offenders cleared bushes and trees from an area that was plagued with problems of drinking and drug use. Sergeant Anthony Chiappetti of the Sheriff's Office said that the area is now cleaned out and the problems of crime have diminished.

The next project, according to Rich Woodrow of the Park District, is to clean out the areas of brush near the new Sports Pavilion. Woodrow said that the work at Centennial Park has created "a new park", and hopes to do the same at the pavilion.

Bowman said that the Park District usually has between five and fifteen workers in the field on a given day. The work is only done on weekends to allow the offenders to hold steady jobs during the week.

The Sheriff's spokesman says that the offenders gladly accept the work over jail. He estimates that 99 1/2% of DUI and suspended driver's license offenders take the community service. The repeat offender rate is "nil".

"It gives these people a chance to work off their debt," said Chiappetti. He pointed out that the project keeps people off of welfare rolls because it lets them keep their jobs, while serving their time.

The Park District is very satisfied with the program. Bowman in particular is very pleased. "It words wonderful." he said. The Sheriff's spokesman says that the work is very hard, but is intended to service the community. "We don't call ourselves a chain gang." he said.

Dear Editor:

Bush's child care plan draws fire

Joseph McCarthy recently supported Bush's proposal for tax credits to families for child care and focusing this as an issue facing our 3rd Congressional District.

As Worth Township Supervisor, you certainly are aware of the need of day care centers! Do you feel that our residents in the 3rd District are all in a financial situation to be able to afford private day care and take a tax credit. What about residents in Markham, Robbins, Midlothian, Calumet City, Dolton, etc.?

Dr. McCarthy, surely you are a psychologist sex behavior expert and counselor, but somehow you missed the point here. Bush can make his statements which surely would be great for our country, if we can lessen the burden on the tax payers, but how can the single women use a tax credit with an income of under $15,000 per year.

Sincerely,
A Single Mother

Guest Column

The time has come for a Constitutional Convention

HEAR YEA! HEAR YEA! Your Beleagured Tax payers and voters, at last you can have a real choice by voting for a Constitutional Convention on November 8.

This alert is for all voters under 40 years of age and those over 40 who have become cynical and apathetic because of the continued and continuing bribery clout and payoffs in government at all levels of society. Only "We The People" can turn the ugly events of the past around to make a better world for all the people.

Of course it is understandable why "We The People" are frustrated and can only talk about the ills and inequalities of government, because "We The People" especially those under forty years of age, have been conditioned to vote by the respective political parties. This type of thinking we inherited at an early age from our parents. But who do we vote for - nameless people who perpetuate themselves in government to lifetime positions.

Let us briefly examine our life style from an early age. We finish our schooling, and then get married. We buy a home and acquire a mortgage. We have children. The parents have employment problems or they go thru periods of illness of themselves or their children. In effect, they find the first thirty years of their lives are primarily solely concentrated on total survival of the family and its attendant problems.

As a result, the family activity is very limited in participating in government to make some attempt to improve the power structure that governs us.

Let us review some of the outstanding issues that effect our lives. Among these issues are reforming the regressive property tax structure; mandating the state and local utility taxes that are leveled on consumers.

Why not abolish the current assessment system regarding taxes? Who understands what a multiplier is?

Another issue is mandating the state government to enact laws requiring all motorists to have auto insurance.

Establishing state wide and local incentive and initiative to allow voters to propose laws by petitions and referendums.

By voting "YES" on November 8, "We The People" can propose laws by the referendum method. The potential reform issues can be obtained by all of "We The People".

John A. Komar and
Michael T. Tracy
Coordinators (Cook-Will Counties) for Citizens for Constitutional Convention

Publisher's Pen

a weekly column

By Annette Dixon

As publisher and owner of Village View I am privileged to announce that recently I was notified to be a guest speaker at the Illinois Press Association Conference on September 30. I am greatly honored to be accepted among the 700 newspaper members within the State of Illinois.

This past week was saddened by the parting of a dear friend Aloysius A. Mazewski, President of both Polish National Alliance and Polish American Congress. He was a friend of the late Rev. Ray Pacholski, where I first met Al in Portage, Wisconsin. He also was very good to me when I ran as a candidate for State Representative in 1986.

Recently Brentwood Nursing Home opened its new wing, called Renaissance, in their Alzheimers unit. With the many victims this disease has engulfed there certainly is a need for care for these patients.

Oddly enough Cubs night baseball was rained upon in Chicago, 8-8-88, that lucky number. Psychics were discussing on T.V. how 8-8-88 was the number of creativity, originality etc. I'll remember 8-8-88 as the day it rained long enough to place enough nitrogen into the soil, to brighten up our Oak Lawn lawns.

A comment was recently made regarding our hospitals and medical facilities and their early release of patients. Due to insurance payments and medicare regulations, there are restrictions of all sorts placed upon hospitals and medical health facilities. For example, my daughter was sent home from the hospital 5 days after major surgery. She was not on antibiotics, nor did she receive a drain for infection. She had her gall bladder and appendix removed. Five days after being home she went into the hospital with a severe infection, removed through antibiotics and reopening of the incision.

This is one of only many stories, I have been hearing lately, regarding the extreme crisis in our health facilities. Does this occur because of our advanced medical knowledge, and the fact that the new breed of doctors neglect to follow old procedures, and a little common sense? Could it be the hospitals are understaffed and clean up time is not as extensive in the operating rooms as they were in the past? Would you think our insurance companies are also responsible, because there are only so many hospital stay days they will pay for each operation? What do you think? I surely would like to hear from you. Write relating your experience and what you think could have prevented your problem.

Hot on the wire! Tom Gavin of Messenger Press was named Best Golfer at Oak Lawn Chamber in July. On August 4th the golfer was hit by a golf ball. He went to the hospital for x-rays and was released. Tom, time to stay off the course for awhile!

Belated greetings to Lance Dixon on his 18th birthday, August 4th. We had a surprise dinner for him, which is a real treat in our household.

Library funding controversy ends

An 8-year battle between the State of Illinois and the U.S. Department of Education over how $14.5 million in library development funds was spent over the last 10 years would be settled as a result of a measure that has passed the Senate. The bill is part the Department of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education Appropriations Bill passed July 27, 1988.

The amendment, authored by Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., relieves the liability of the State of Illinois for payment of $14.5 million claimed by the U.S. Department of Education for Title I (the Library Services and Construction Act (LCSA)) funds.

The monies claimed by the Department are a result of three audits from fiscal year 1977 to 1986 on the Illinois State Library System. The Department contends that Ilinois misspent Title I funds for projects that did not solely benefit public libraries and public library patrons, for which Title I funds are intended. The Department classifies a library owned and operated by a elementary or high school, college or university, hospital or corporation as non-public.

As a part of Illinois' 18 regional library systems, the public library members used Title I funds to build a computerized network with non-public, non-member libraries. Simon has led a bipartisan effort supporting Illinois' contention that this networking system substantially added to the Illinois library system's resources and, therefore, to the individual public libraries. However, it was the Department's view that since the networking system did not solely benefit public libraries, the expenditure of Title I funds was inappropriate.

The expansion of the public library services through non-public library resources was considered by the state to be an eligible expenditure, since it was included in the annual State plans required and approved by the Department (of Education), subcommittees overseeing library funding.

The amendment will have no budgetary impact on the Department of Education because the Department has not claimed this as income or revenue in its FY 1989 budget, said Simon.

The bill now goes to a conference committee, with Rep. John Porter, R-Ill., a member of the panel, committed to the project. Simon has already been in touch with members of the Illinois delegation on the House Appropriations Committee --Reps. Sidney Yates and Dick Durbin-- and they have agreed to make a case with House conference chairman, Rep. William Natcher, D-Ky.

Conference held to stop child abuse

State's Atty. Richard M. Daley and Asst. State's Atty. Diane Romza were recent participants in a special conference on the investigation of suspected child molestation in schools, day care centers and other group settings. Held in Countryside and co-sponsored by the Ill. Dept. of Children & Family Services, the conference featured workshops on the most effective and up-to-date methods of conducting such investigations while ensuring sensitive treatment of the young victims of this type of crime. Two years ago, Daley created a task force of public and private agencies to better coordinate these investigations.

Evergreen Lions offer hearing tests

The Evergreen Park Lions Club, in conjunction with the Lions of Illinois Foundation, will provide free hearing tests for adults on August 17,1988, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, in the south parking lot of the First National Bank of Evergreen Park, 95th and Utica.

Lion president, Jack DeNormandie, urges everyone to take advantage of the free hearing check, and advises that everyone should have their hearing tested at least once a year.

Annual picnic planned for candidate

State Representative John J. McNamara today extended an open invitation to all 27th District residents for his Fifth Annual Family Day Picnic, Sunday August 14th.

The event will take place between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. at the Midlothian Meadows, Grove #2 located at 153rd, Pulaski in Midlothian.

The picnic is free to the public, and just like the good old days, there will be free beer and pop. Hotdogs, Polish and Italian Sausage will be available at a nominal cost.

"I strongly encourage all families and friends to join us for our Fifth Annual Picnic", McNamara said. "This is an excellent opportunity for community residents to get together for a relaxing and fun filled day."

Volleyball, bingo, childrens games and an exhibition by the Cook County Canine Unit are just a few of the highlights. "We have Kids Spectacular from Oak Lawn Park District performing and the Jessi White Tumblers Extravaganza."

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

ARIES/SCORPIO

Not many people can look ahead with clarity of thought when dealing with financial commitments, but, helps are available if you seek them out. KNOW what you are doing!

TAURUS/LIBRA

"Some people just like to complain, but will not do anything BUT complain". It is time to take a stand and stop listening to "rehashed" and unsolved problems of people who are in truth, "draining you and your energy".

GEMINI/VIRGO

Now you can "kick up your heels" and say, "I have made it!" You have all the winning trump cards in your hands. A person who "sells" a very unique product may approach you to work for or with them. And, it is a good product!

CANCER

There comes a time when, if we are convinced of someone's talent, to champion them, or, back them financially. This is a week where this is likely to present itself. Are we not "all serving something or someone?"

LEO

The above message can also apply to you. And, you too get a chance to increase your income by perhaps working a few extra hours. Meeting new and affluent people is on the horizon and they can eventually be important in your life...contacts, financially, etc.

SAGITTARIUS

"Secrets revealed to you must be kept", and, they could be coming from your own children! Put some new ideas together that can add to you value at work. You just may be surprised this week by receiving a special praise.

CAPRICORN

There is nothing as hurting as knowing you are being tolerated, even though "being" tolerant is an admirable quality. Find out what is wrong and make corrections.

AQUARIUS

Many of you may want to invest more into your home, remodeling, decorating, or even buying a home, condo or townhouse. It is also a time to plan for a Fall Vacation. Keep your mind actively pursuing more relaxation.

PISCES

You can't have it "both ways", meaning, you want more money, more conveniences, yet, you want to travel and have fun. Fun time costs money, and lost earning power. The clues are here, read this message over and over again!

AVAILABLE TO TALK WITH YOUR GROUP OR ORGANIZATION: QUESTION AND ANSWER TIME IS PART OF THE PROGRAM. CALL ALYN: 636-4578 TO ARRANGE FOR YOUR EVENT.

PRIVATE CONSULTATIONS IN THE OFFICE, BY PHONE OR MAIL. THESE INCLUDE 4TH DIMENSION ASTROLOGY, HANDWRITING, KARMA, ETC. AND ALL IS TAPED FOR YOUR RECALL. Village View of the Library

Coming soon, the final statistics on the Youth Services Department summer reading program which ends Aug. 14. However, figures compiled on July 31 indicate that 1,207 young readers were registered. They had read an amazing total of 21,346 books! The weather may have been too hot for many activities but not for reading, obviously.

VCR expertise seminar, a two-part presentation sponsored by the Library, is now available on videotapes. Patrons who have ben unable to attend the sessions held at the Library can check out the tapes for home viewing. Accessibility to tape the seminar was made possible through Cableknit, a regular public service cable television show, co-hosted by Mary Nelson and Alice Ihrig. The show is telecast on Metrovision, a TV network that operates in several local communities.

Weekend in the Life of Oak Lawn, a volunteer photography project, is on display on the lower level of the Library, 9427 Raymond. During the past week, track lighting has been installed which makes the exhibit easier to view and to identify those in the photographs. Those who are interested can visit the area during regular Library hours.

A Refuge from the heat...Many local residents have used time in the air conditioned Library to help them solve their problems. Some of the activities were discovered by the staff when meeting with patrons. Included were the couple who are going to rearrange their living room and were interested in the many books on interior decorating. A young mother was looking for advice about what she could do to make it easier for a child who was sick in bed. Another mother was looking for games and other things to keep her kids busy during the heat wave. An enterprising young man was keeping himself busy and cool by looking at possibilities for a ski vacation next winter. A large number of people spent time in the Career Center, checking out possibilities for initial career choices or for career changes.

DISNEY'S MAGIC KINGDOM

Last time we talked about all of the marvelous recreational facilities of Disney World in Florida. But what about the Magic Kingdom itself?

At the entrance to intriguing FANTASYLAND stands Cinderell's Castle, and awesome structure which is a replica of a 15th Century French Castle--complete with medieval towers that are 18 stories high. Many of the Disney cartoon characters come to life in FANTASYLAND. Your kids will love the Mickey Mouse Musical Review and the 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea attraction.

In ADVENTURELAND your family can take a jungle river cruiser where you'll encounter "wild creatures" at every turn. There's also a North African Market place, a Carribean village and Swiss Family Isle. In FRONTIERLAND you'll relive the old west. You'll also see 36 presidents "come to life" through Audio-Animatronics. The old fashioned shops. Victorian train station, steam powered trains and horse-drawn trolley cars recreate turn-of-the-century America. You'll see new scientific developments and pilot your own space ship in TOMORROWLAND.

Whether you're spending one day or a whole vacation at Disney World, we'll be able to arrange the perfect trip for your entire family. NEXT WEEK: "Tips for First-time travelers to Europe."

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

THE GOOD NEWS...the government's chief barometer of future economic activity soared 1.4 percent in June, and that type of performance has analysts believing the signals are there for a healthy growth for the rest of the year. And sales of new homes, plus orders to U.S factories for manufactured goods also posted solid increases. And the unemployment rate is down to a 14 year low of 5.3 percent. I wonder if Reagan had anything to do with it all? If so, no one is saying it.

THE BAD NEWS...At the accelerated rate of destruction now going on, the entire population of northern Europe's seals will be wiped out by the time you read this column. The probable cause, according to experts: massive dumping of poisonous industrial and agricultural waste in the sea. And what does this have to do with you? All of the waters of the Earth are one water - they all connect, and the decades of "dumping" anything and everything into the water, and onto land, which goes to water, is now being felt...we're in trouble, and refuse to acknowledge it. The excessively hot weather we're trying to survive is only the beginning, I am afraid. Next summer, you will realize the truth of my words.

ANOTHER CLUE...the 75 degree temperature of Lake Michigan recently was no fluke, and it didn't happen overnight. One possible cause: a major shift in the undercurrent of world water ways. Immediate problem: growth of bacteria in an ideal medium...translation: don't go swimming in Lake Michigan. The reality: this isn't a nightmare that's already over. We've got problems, and it's only the beginning of it all.

See you next week...And I am Alyn

Exersise urged for all ages by medical authorities

"There's a myth that still pervades --old people shouldn't exercise because it isn't good for them'" said William Evans, Ph.D., an expert on aging from Tufts University in Boston.

Evans spoke this spring to food and health writers at the Seventh Annual Writers Conference in San Jose, Calif., sponsored by the Dairy Nutrition Council.

Evans and his colleagues at the U.S. Department of Agriculture Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging try to dispel the myth that seniors should not exercise.

Older people tend to think of themselves as being limited in what they can do, so they pace their activities accordingly, Evans said. Limited physical activity can lead to decreased bone density and a decrease in muscle mass, which can cause weakness.

But Evans believes the self-imposed limit on activity, not chronological age, causes weakness.

"Any activity older people do above what they normally do is beneficial to their health," he said.

Besides maintaining muscle mass, physical activity will decrease risk of diabetes, increase the number of capillaries (small blood vessels) which improves peripheral circulation, and increase functional capacity.

Functional capacity is a measurement of how efficiently the heart and lungs use oxygen to energize the body's muscles. Evans believes the study of functional capacity provides further evidence that exercise can offset many signs of aging.

He said it is generally accepted that functional capacity decreases naturally with age, making physical activity more difficult. This begins a cycle which is hard to break. Because activity is more difficult, older people don't do as much. Because of inactivity, functional capacity decreases even more.

But Evans believes self-imposed limits on activities, not aging, spur the onset of decreased functional capacity. Studies show that 21 days of bed rest equals 50 to 60 years of aging in functional capacity, Evans said. He also said that older people respond very well to aerobic training and can recover lost functional capacity.

Theater gains talented actress for production

The smash hit musical "Nunsense", now in its second smash year has been "graced" by the presence of its new star, Alice Ghostley, according to the Chicago Sun-Times.

Miss Ghostley, best remembered for her role as Aunt Esmerelda in "Bewitched" and currently starring in the hit CBS series "Designing Women", received rave reviews from Chicago critics over her portrayal of Mother superior. No stranger to "Nunsense", Alice played the same role in productions in Florida and Canada.

"Nunsense" tells the story of five "unconventional" nuns who stage a wacky fundraiser which produces unexpected results.

Seniors offered tips on coping with summer heat

The sizzling summer of '88 is nothing new for those older Chicagoans who can remember the equally hot summers of the 1930's.

Most of us are aware that when the temperature rises into the 90's for an extended or apartment. Stay in the coolest area of your house or apartment. Mrs. Minardi notes that this will depend upon the various exposures to the sun that your rooms receive "For example, if, in the morning, your living room faces east, you'll want to stay in the back of the house; then, once the sun changes, go to yet another cooler area. Often, if you have a northern exposure, you may find that this area will be the coolest."

Turn off any needless electrical appliances and lights "This will help conserve energy as well as help reduce the heat generated in your home," Mrs. Minardi notes.

Take sponge baths frequently or apply cold cloths to your body.

Pull down your shades or blinds in areas where the sun shines through. This will help reduce the heat in the house.

If your house is made of brick or stone, spray the side of the house with a hose as the wetting will help to bring about evaporation and cool down the exterior. The same can be done with flat roofs spray them down to help reduce the heat absorbed.

If you have an attic, be certain that attic fans are operating to help reduce heat build up in this location.

Be aware of the signs of heat stroke: dizziness; weakness; nausea; spots before your eyes; ringing in your ears; bright red skin; rapid strong pulse. If you have any of these symptoms, call your doctor.

The same awareness is needed for the symptoms of heat exhaustion: skin clammy to the touch; fainting or unconsciousness; a rapid pulse; skin is pale. Again, Mrs. Minardi's advice is to check with your physician.

period of time, common sense should be the prevailing attitude. This is particularly important for senior citizens warns Barbara Minardi, of the staff of the soon-to-be-open senior citizen complex, The Waterford Estates, in suburban Hazelcrest.

Since Mrs. Minardi deals exclusively with senior citizens, she offers these tips to those 55 and older on how to deal with Chicago's heat wave.

Wear loose and light clothing.

Drink plenty of fluids-water being the best choice-and avoid alcoholic beverages, as they can be dehydrating.

If you do not have an air conditioner, keep your windows open and your fans going. In fact, Mrs. Minardi suggests that if your windows open from both the top and bottom, open them from the top, as this will allow the hot air to escape. Between the hours of 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., close those windows facing the sun if the wind is blowing from that direction. This will avoid heat being blown into your house

LIFE IS YOUR MOST VALUABLE POSSESSION.

PASS IT ON.

Cheryl Novak: a woman you should know

One of the busiest and best family pools on the south side and suburbs is right here in Oak Lawn, run by a woman.

Memorial Pool, one of three pools, located in Oak Lawn at 103rd and Menard, is run by a female pool manager, Cheryl Novak, an Oak Lawn resident for 28 years is married, with a family of two girls and one boy. Cheryl enjoys watching her children swim, for she said, "she started swimming at age 4 and began her career with the park district at age 16."

Cheryl is also a Swim Coach at Richards High School and Swim Coach for Richards Otters, a co-ed swim team. "The Otters," said Cheryl, "placed 1st in the whole division of seven teams in the south suburbs this past July 23rd."

At 28 years old, she feels that it is a privilege to be a pool operator manager. The other two managers in Oak Lawn are younger, and males. "The reason I am proud is because this is a great responsibility. I am responsible for training the staff, which includes lifeguards, responsible for emergency first aid, oversee the concession stand, clean up, and check chemical filter room."

Cheryl has several degrees for the job. She has a CPR Certificate, Water Safety Instructor Certificate, National Certified Pool operator and Pool and Spa operator. She credits her staff especially the head lifeguards, Bob Walsh and Lorna Kocian for working with the fine staff of lifeguards. They are all trained for every possible aquatic emergency, including use of the spinal board, and application of CPR and first aid.

There are eight lifeguards on duty when daily attendance averages 587 patron per day. "When temperature is 90+ days, there are 1000+ patrons on those days," Cheryl says, "July 4th we had 2653 patrons and on Aug 6th there were 387 from 6 PM - 9 PM." "This was an extremely hot busy season, and I am happy that the people enjoy themselves and keep coming back."

"The safety of our pool and patrons is our main concern," says Cheryl. "We have a 200,000+ gallon pool, twice the size of the two other pools in Oak Lawn." "I had to attend school to learn about the chlorine and the equipment. ORP (chlorine), Stanco equipment. The state law requires the water to be a temperature of 78 degrees -80 degrees, average in a heated pool. We comply, except on 99 degree days, "I may turn the heater down somewhat. It's refreshing to our patrons."

"We respect our patrons, we don't use negative demands, we say, please leave your shoes, etc., please walk, if they are running!" This interviewer caught Cheryl in action. At cleanup time at 5:30 p.m. a youngster was in the pool with his shoe on and still playing along the sidelines. Cheryl said to him, "You know the rules, no shoes in the pool area, this is not the first time you have gotten into trouble with us, so you are suspended for a week. Do not come back for a week."

Village View Publications commends "Cheryl Novak, A Woman You Should Know."

This is the first in a series of reports on oustanding women in our community.

More than 90 percent of last year's graduating class from Moraine Valley found jobs in their field.

Many of these students received training in one of Moraine Valley's technology programs, such as drafting, computer-aided design, electronics, heating and air conditioning, environmental control and nondestructive evaluation.

These technology programs include small classes with hands-on training taught by highly qualified faculty members experienced in their field. Students also get instruction on modern and up-to-date technical equipment similar to what's available in the business environment.

That's good news for students. It means they receive a quality education that prepares them for jobs in their field. Jobs like working at Kennedy Space Center, McDonnell-Douglas Corporation, Boeing Aircraft, and Chemtron.

At Moraine Valley, you can choose from more than 80 different careers. Start your technology career today. Call Moraine Valley at 974-2110.

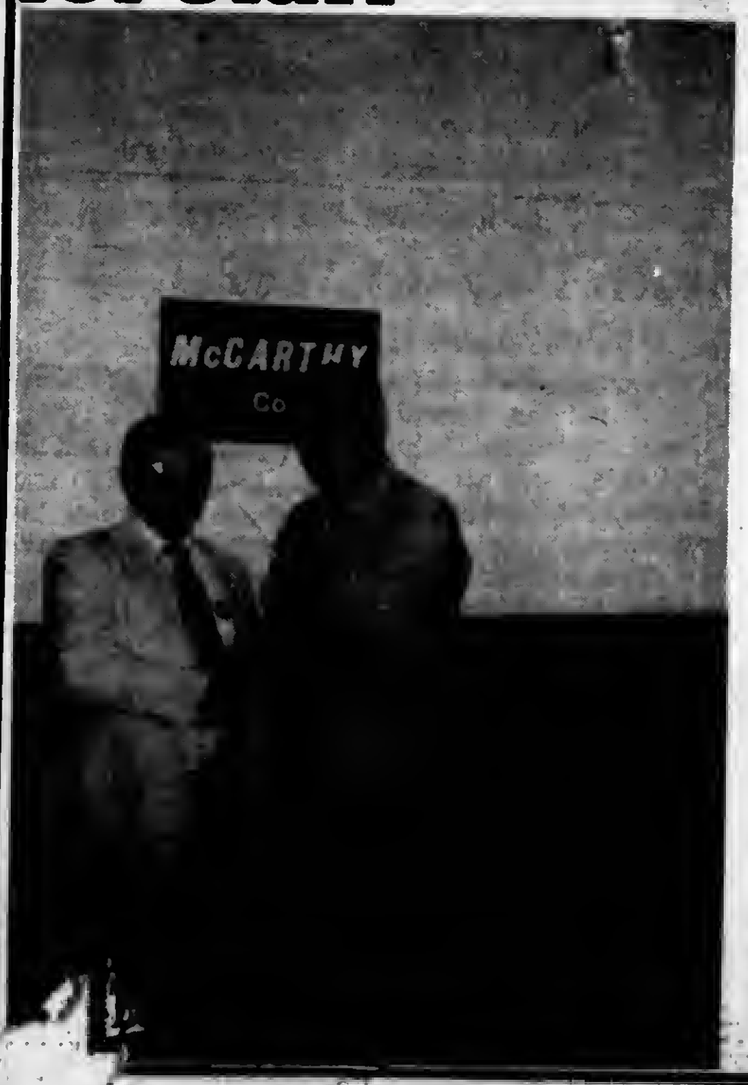
Consumer group seeks rate cut from Commonwealth Edison

With the record-breaking temperatures sending Chicago-area electric bills through the roof, the Citizens Utility Board (CUB) ia asking an Illinois court to give consumers emergency relief by approving a full 25 percent summer rate cut that was ordered for Commonwealth Edison in April.

In June, the utility stalled that rate decrease with an appeal before the Illinois Appellate Court. The rate plan was approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) April 27.



In a legal brief filed august 4, CUB asked the Appelate Court to reject Com Ed's appeal and to allow the summer rate cut to take effect immediately.

"As the temperature soars this summer, so are consumers' electric bills in the country."

A typical customer using 700 kilowatthours a month pays $86.63 for electricity under the current rates. Under the plan supported by CUB, that customer would save 10.73 a month--or $42.92 over the four month summer billing period.

CUB's brief asks the court to rule on the summer rates as soon as possible and to order refunds to consumers dating back to April.

Oak Lawn's newest fire engine stands ready.

O.L. increases Fire Dept. fleet

The Village of Oak Lawn Fire Department has placed into service a 1988 Spartan Pumper which has the capability of pumping 1,250 gallons per minute. The apparatus was custom built by Pierce Apparatus Company according to design specifications exclusively for the Oak Lawn Fire Department. The apparatus is unique to the area by its 55 ft. aerial ladder. The Fire Department feels this combination will offer a variety of operational features. A large portion of the $245,000 purchase price was able to be offset through the sale of older equipment and the investment of those funds.

WHY BOTHER TO SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL BUSINESSES?

by Bill Sullivan
Executive Director, Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce

"I really don't like shopping anyplace other than a mall. I mean, they have the greatest selection, the latest merchandise, the best prices! and parking is easy." Sound familiar? While there is nothing wrong with the stores and merchants in any shopping mall, you do yourself a great injustice by not shopping with your tried and true businesses along main street.

It seems that our established businesses are taking quite a rap today. They are not seen as fun or kicky. They mostly don't have music for rocking while shopping. They may not be located next door to Hot Dog World and the multi-screen theater. But there are very real reasons to shop at home.

Shopping at home brings out a phrase not heard much today-personal service. Of course you get waited on in the big botique next to the arcade. But when you couldn't find that special item in the botiquem did anyone say to you " I know I can order that for you in another color or size."? Your local business can and will, although I admit, sometimes you havve to prod them a little. Eventually, they will even get to know you, your size, the kind of things you like. The will, in many cases, even call you when they get something new that you might like.

There is another more pressing reason to shop at home, your pocketbook! Businesses in your town genorate three to five tiomes as much tax money as do the residents. As the old commercial goes, "Think what would be missing without them!" Your school and property taxes would have to be doubled, the fireman who comes to your school might not exist and maybe that pothole in your street would swallow a Volkswagen before it was fixed.

The strip center and main street merchants of your own community are worthy of your support because they support you in somany ways. Why support your local businesses? Because it's really your business!

The opinions expressed above are solely those of the author and do not necessarily reflect those of the Village View or its editorial staff.

The Village View welcomes additions to our Guest Column.

By Annette Dixon

Get well wishes for Maureen Murphy, Worth Township Clerk, who underwent surgery Thursday, August 11th at Rush Presbyterian. Oak Lawn resident Joyce Meersman is recovering from a fall six weeks ago when she was cleaning the top of a houseboat. Keep taking your vitamins Joyce, you look good! Rita McElroy will be getting a check-up soon at the University of Chicago, good luck Rita! Tony Bejcek has recently recovered from the intensive care unit at Little Company of Mary Hospital, and is now resting at home. Good luck and better health to MILdred Melorin, our Oak Lawn neighbor and friend.

Doris and Stan Swiedal of Evergreen Park wanted their acquaintances to know they took the plunge July 8th. Doris' mom and dad Roy Witthoft of Oak Lawn stood up for their wedding. Doris and Stan honeymooned in Hawaii and Las Vegas. On August 1st, Stan returned to his job as Assistant Director of Midlothian Secretary of State's Facility. Congratulations to both Stan and Doris. May you have a happy life together.

George Panlotos, of Oak Lawn, went to his 29th reunion of Calumet High School recently. (This publisher wanted Oak Lawn residents to know south side residents stay implanted!)

Well, I was disappointed that Robert Dole or Elizabeth Dole was not selected as the Vice President's choice for V.P.

Bill Powell, candidate for State Rep. 27th District had a convention party Thursday at his home in Oak Lawn. The slogan, "What a Guy" is appropriate for all Bill's bumper stickers!

Local Democrat meets with Dukakis' son

Aurelia Pucinski, Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court, greeted John Dukakis, son of the Democratic Presidential nominee, Michael Dukakis, August 11 at a senior citizen's luncheon on Chicago's northwest side.

Pucinski and her father, Ald. Roman Pucinski (41), met Dukakis in front of the Golden Flame Restaurant, 6417 W. Higgins, escorted him inside and introduced him to some of the 300 people in attendance.

Dukakis spoke briefly, stressing the importance of ethnic Americans to his father's campaign.

He also discussed the Pucinski campaign and pointed out that his father considers Aurelia's race one of the most critical around the country.

"She is an excellent candidate who will do extremely well in November," Dukakis said.

"We are taking this campaign to every part of Cook County and the response we have received thus f[illegible]very encouraging," [illegible] said.

Welfare reform bill signed into law by Governor

House Republican Leader Lee Daniels (R-Elmhurst) said his welfare reform bill to reduce child support delinquency--the primary cause of welfare dependency for single mothers and their children was signed into law by the Governor this week.

Daniels said House Bill 2862 will mandate immediate payroll withholding of all child support orders entered after Jan. 1, 1989. The bill does contain an opt-out provision under which both parties can agree to avert automatic paycheck deductions. The intent of the new law is to prevent parents from becoming delinquent in the first place, thereby ensuring consistent and timely child support payments.

Daniels, who has been at the forefront of welfare reform initiatives for several years, said the new law will help reduce the number of mothers on welfare, increase Department of Public Aid (DPA) child support collections on behalf of its clients, and reduce the number of child support cases.

Another provision of the law will allow DPA to conduct a demonstration program in a county, other than Cook, in which single parents on AFDC with children between ages 3 and 6 will be required to participate in Project Chance--DPA's job search and training program. Previously, AFDC parents with children under age 6 were exempt from mandatory participation.

Under a related measure also signed this week, House Bill 923, cooperation with DPA child support enforcement activities will be a condition for Medicaid eligibility. It also allows the court to enter a "seek work" order when the obligor parent is unemployed and unable to pay support.

Under the law, the court could enter the "seek work" order when enforcing or modifying an existing child support order, or when establishing a new child support order. Unemployed obligor parents could be ordered to report to the Department of Employment Security, a Job Training Partnership Act provider; or Project Chance.

School safety week proclaimed

Governor James R. Thompson has proclaimed August 22-26 as "School's Open Safety Week" in Illinois.

In the proclamation, Thompson urges motorists to ensure the safety of school-age children by cooperating with the efforts of School Safety Patrols and municipal officials as they endeavor to promote traffic safety. The patrol system was pioneered by AAA-Chicago Motor Club in 1920.

Former AAA-CMC president Charles M. Hayes created the world's first Safety Patrol after witnessing a traffic accident that claimed the life of a young pedestrian. Since then, the wearers of the orange Patrol belts have been credited with saving countless numbers of lives and preventing accidents.

This year, AAA-CMC is coordinating its 41st consecutive annual "School's Open" campaign, distributing posters to hundreds of communities around the state.

Hertz to reimburse consumers

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan today announced that Illinois consumers, corporations, governmental agencies and insurance companies are entitled to refunds if they were overcharged by the Hertz Corporation for the cost of collision repairs on damaged rental cars.

Hartigan, who is Chairman of the Consumer Protection Committee of the National Association of Attorneys General, said that 39 other state attorneys general cooperated in obtaining the consent decree ordering the refunds. Under the consent decree, Hertz must pay $2.3 million in restitution to consumers who were overcharged for collision repairs from June 1, 1985 to May 31, 1986.

It is estimated that during this period Hertz filed approximately 10,000 claims against consumers who incurred damages to rental cars.

"Although Hertz had the work done at a discounted wholesale rate, they would mark up the amount and send an inflated bill to the consumer or organization," Hartigan said.

"In addition, Hertz charged a $100 administrative fee when in fact it only cost them $10 to process a claim. Under the agreement, Hertz must also refund this overpayment."

The civil consent decree was entered at the same time that Hertz pled guilty to criminal charges of collision damage repair practices in New York Federal Court. As part of that action, Hertz was ordered to refund an additional $13 million to consumers nationwide who were overcharged for repairs between January 1, 1978 and the summer of 1985.

Hertz must publish notices of the refund and information on how to obtain refunds in the New York Times, Wall Street Journal and USA Today. In addition, Hertz must send this information by mail to consumers, corporations and insurance companies who were overcharged.

V.F.W. donates flag to veteran's home

Johnson Phelps Post 5220 of Oak Lawn, Illinois held a pizza party at the Illinois Veteran Home in Manteno, Il. on July 31st, 1988. They served 248 veterans, eight of these were women. The ages of the residents are from 53 to 103. Eight-five percent of them are in wheelchairs and eight percent are bedridden. Also, the majority of the residents are Korean veterans. The home was unbelievably clean. The post also donated a flag. It's hard to believe that a veterans home has trouble getting an American Flag. We also donated $20,000 in clothing. I'd like to thank all the men and ladies of the auxiliary that helped make our visit to Manteno a huge success.

Free physicals offered for school children

By Illinois state law, kindergarten/first grade, fifth grade, and ninth grade students are required to have a physical examination before returning to school.

The Cook County Department of Public Health holds free School Age Clinics for elementary and high school students whose families meet certain financial eligibility requirements. The clinic features a physical examination, immunizations, and health counseling.

For the dates, times, and locations of the School Age Clinics in your area, call the Cook County Department of Public Health's Southwest District Office at 423-7500 or Central Office at 865-6100.

Attorney General named to consumer protection committee

Neil F. Hartigan, Attorney General of Illinois, has been named the Chairman of the Consumer Protection Committee of the National Association of Attorney Generals.

Attorney General Hartigan has received this honor because of his leadership in consumer protection at both the state and national levels.

Hartigan has aggressively attacked business practices that have taken unfair advantage of Illinois consumers.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

ARIES/SCORPIO:
You may be experiencing some confusion due to others lagging behind, and not giving you answers you need. It may be best to dig them out yourself. A friend aids you too.

TAURUS/LIBRA:
There could be some confrontations with the boss or a co-worker. Be sure that you have the facts and are not acting on hear-say.

GEMINI/VIRGO:
Now things are running smoothly, and you do have a firm grasp on your realities. It is time now to start a new savings plan, and if investing, be sure of the details.

CANCER:
You may be putting too much on yourself, so, slow down and let others help you. This is also, a time to ask relatives for advise about your personal life, one may have good insights unknown to you now.

LEO:
You might think there is a better solution concerning housing needs...perhaps wanting to move and/or relocate entirely. Some people have not been fair with you and only now you have proof of this.

SAGITTARIUS
Be assured that people do want to work with you, but some may resent your expertise. Be patient with others. Money problems are soon solved, and love improves too.

CAPRICORN:
Someone with a lot of expertise and some form of political pull offers help to you. Ready yourself for a move. A lot of people will realize your offerings have merit.

AQUARIUS:
A family member has some real psychological problems and may not realize how they are affecting the rest of the family. Be tolerant and compassionate. This could be a Cancer.

PISCES:
Let yourself "go with the flow" and stop fighting with yourself over changes you want to make. If it feels right, if it means your security, go for it! Scorpio helps too.

Senior citizen's organization plans activities

Essential, life-improving services for the elderly fall into many different categories. PLOWS Council on Aging realizes this and includes several varied programs for senior citizens in its services. Three of the programs provided for older adults in the southwest suburbs are Home Delivered Meals, Escort, and Friendly Visitor.

These programs satisfy some very real needs in the older adult population. Although PLOWS realizes that the programs are vital to the physical and emotional well-being of those people receiving the services, PLOWS also understands that they can not be fulfilled without the help of VOLUNTEERS.

VOLUNTEERS are people who like to be involved in positive activities, who like to contribute to society in non-traditional ways, and who also like to find opportunities that will give their own lives more meaning.

The programs offered through PLOWS provide just such activities and opportunities.

Home Delivered Meals serves the elderly who are homebound, cannot cook for themselves, or have recently been released from the hospital and have short term weaknesses. This program serves seniors Monday through Friday in Worth, Chicago Ridge, Hickory Hills, and Alsip. The VOLUNTEER drivers work only one morning per week for approximately 1 1/2 hours, must have their own car with insurance, will receive a stipend for gas and mileage, and should enjoy driving and talking with the elderly.

Escort Drivers provide a much needed service for seniors who are unable to drive or take public transportation yet must still get to critical medical appointments. This program serves seniors during the day from Monday through Friday. The VOLUNTEER driver will pick up the older person, take them to an appointment, and then return the senior home. A small stipend and mileage allowance are available to defray car expenses. The number of hours contributed to this program depends entirely on the volunteer's time availability.

Friendly Visitors make regularly scheduled, in-person visits to elderly persons who are homebound, isolated, or alone. Writing letters, reading, or simply providing companionship and conversation for the senior are among the activities involved in this program. The Friendly Visitor VOLUNTEER must have free time to share, feel comfortable listening and conversing, and have their own transportation.

PLOWS realizes the important contribution VOLUNTEERS make to its programs, but also recognizes the impact VOLUNTEERS have on the senior citizens they reach through these programs. Many responses are heard from the elderly who are served. One stated, "This is a wonderful thing you people are doing."

VOLUNTEERS have also expressed their feelings regarding their work with PLOWS. One explained, "It's how I wanted people to treat my parents."

Although most VOLUNTEERS are themselves seniors, you do not need to be over sixty to participate in these programs. If you would like to become a VOLUNTEER, please call PLOWS Council on Aging at 422-6722.

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

THE MEDIA HAS NO MERCY...Noah Robinson was indicted by a South Carolina grand jury recently, on charges of conspiracy, obstruction of justice and intimidation of a witness in a plot to kill a murder witness. So what's new...he just happens to be the half-brother of one Rev. Jesse L. Jackson. It's rough, this running for public office.

USA TODAY...is replacing the 6 PM news at NBC Ch 5, at the expense of Mary Laney. The shuffle has shuffled her right out of the anchor spot...no mercy there, either. And the previews of the highly publicized new "news show" have been disappointing. And tomorrow it will be someone or something else. Modern day living right!

WHO'S TURN IS IT NEXT?...Reagan's health problems are common knowledge, and worse yet, old news. Already the health of our the health of our potential next leaders is being dragged into the news. Was Dukakis' depression a fact, requiring professional medical help? Not so, but the media has started on him. And what about Bush...haven't heard a word yet about his colon, or whtever. But we will. Am I depressed or down? No! But I am doing some Newsighting for you.

And I am Alyn

Senior program gets grant

The Beverly/Morgan Park Senior Services Offices received $15,000 to expand its assistance to area senior citizens at a kick-off luncheon for "the year of the senior" recently. The grant, which is earmarked for the period July 1, 1988 through June 30,1989, was awarded by ENCORE (Encouraging Community Response to the Elderly), a program sponsored by the Retirement Research Foundation.

The first phase of ENCORE's project was the selection of three outstanding programs for senior citizens. Each of the three top programs was awarded $25,000 for their work with the elderly. The second phase of the ENCORE program granted $15,000 to ten additional programs for seniors, including the Bev/Mor Senior Services Office, to model their operations after one of the top three.

The Bev/Mor Senior Services Office is undertaking three very significant services to seniors: the opening of a drop-in site, where refreshments and activities will be offered to seniors; ,the recruitment and training of volunteers for outreach work including visitation and telephone assurance; and the involvement of area churches, senior clubs, community service organizations and business people in locating isolated seniors so that the office can make them aware of the many services available. Active recruitment began August 15th.

"This is all a part of what we're calling the year of the senior," said Twickler.

The approximate number of seniors Bev/Mor annually serves include: home-delivered meals to 5,000, transportation to 150, medical/supplemental claim assistance to 700, retirement and nursing home referrals to 200. Along with the other services, an estimated 8,000 to 10,000 seniors benefit from the office's food pantry.

Dance studio turns twenty

Peggy Gordon, owner/instructor of Peggy's Dance Studio, celebrates the 20th anniversary of her dance studio. Peggy started her studio in 1968 in Oak Lawn, Illinois. Her business and reputation for quality dance instruction have continued to grow from day one. With her enrollment still on the rise and to celebrate her 20th anniversary, Peggy moved her studio from Oak Lawn to a brand new facility located at 7211 W. 103rd Street, in Palos Hills. As a result of the move, Peggy announced that the curriculum she offers will also be expanded. While maintaining her successful curriculum of tap, ballet, acrobatics and jazz, Peggy will be adding drama classes to provide a more comprehensive theatrical education for her students.

"Everyone at the studio is very excited about the new drama classes," Peggy stated. "Our new drama teacher brings with her a fine reputation and a solid background in the dramatic arts. We are very happy to have her join our teaching staff.

Peggy has a Bachelor Degree of Dance from Chicago National Association of Dance Masters. She recently attended a training school workshop at Chicago National Association of Dance Masters' Convention, where she received 30 hours of intensified training in the field of dance. "It is very important to keep up with new ideas and techniques in the dynamic art of dancing, so I can give my students the best dance education available," Peggy said.

It was apparent during this interview why Peggy has been so successful over the past 20 years. The genuine concern that Peggy has for her students is first and foremost on her agenda. "I owe my success to my students and their parents. Their continued support and trust in me and my ability has been tremendous," Peggy said. "Because of these people, I will continue to provide all my students with the best dance and drama education instruction possible." For further information on Peggy's Dance Studio, 7211 W. 103rd Street, please call 430-5558 or 389-8685.

Christ Hospital offers Jazzercise classes

Women's Health at Christ Hospital and Medical Center, 4440 W. 95th St., Oak Lawn, will present "Jazzercise Your Way to Health" on Tuesday, August 23, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the hospital's Percy Hopkins Auditorium.

Donna Sweeney, a certified Jazzercise instructor, will conduct the program. Sweeney will talk about the benefits of exercise and will lead the group through a modified class. Regularly scheduled Jazzercise classes will begin in September.

There is no charge for the seminar. For more information, or to register, call Christ Hospital's public relations department at 857-5062.

Sertoma offers lipreading classes for seniors

Registrations are available at the Sertoma Center for Communicative Disorders in Palos Heights for an introductory group course in speechreading (lipreading). The course is designed to assist the hearing impaired--even those who have hearing aids--to understand what others are saying to them.

Registrations are limited to eight participants for each of the two class groups over a seven-week course period, according to Lori Zimmerman, Center audiologist. The sessions begin the first week in October with the groups meeting on Thursdays, one from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., and the other from 5 to 6:30 p.m. The course, which will cost $60 per person, is not recommended for individuals with severe hearing loss and/or severe communication difficulties. Such persons, Mrs. Zimmerman indicated, would more appropriately and effectively be treated through individual therapy sessions. In addition, she said, advanced group speechreading programs are available only on an individual basis.

The introductory group sessions are each 1 1/2 hours, including a 10 to 15 minute break time. Different homophenous groups (sounds that look alike on the lips but which are auditorily different) will be presented at each session with the students learning to identify the various homophenous groups. The goal of the course is not to speechread every sound (which is impossible) but rather to identify or recognize the homophenous category and, from the rest of the context of the sentence, identify the word.

Registrations may be made by calling the Center at 361-2121.

Senior program teaches life skills

Operation ABLE's Project Eldercare Program recently awarded diplomas to 22 individuals who successfully completed five weeks of homecare provider training. Ceremonies took place at the 36 South Wabash headquarters of Operation ABLE.

Project Eldercare is a unique training program providing 75 hours of homecare provider instruction focused on response to the special needs of the older homebound individual. Shirley R. Brussell, Executive Director of Operation ABLE, stated that "this program serves a dual purpose. Not only does it provide training and job opportunities for our mature participants, but also provides caring companionship for the older individual in need of this assistance."

The Jewish Vocational Service provided instruction in the areas of physical and mental health, hygiene, nutrition, along with interpersonal communication and job readiness. This program was funded through the City of Chicago Community Development Block Grant funds, administered by the Mayor's Office of Employment and Training. All graduates have completed a thorough interview process, passed a physical examination and have a high school diploma and references. Interested agencies or other potential employers may call Operation ABLE to receive further information on our qualified graduates.

Operation ABLE is dedicated to creating and expanding job opportunities for older individuals. Project Eldercare is one of more than a dozen Operation ABLE programs. Interested older job seekers may call the Hotline at 782-7700 for further information.

"Babe" Ahern:

A woman you should know

By Annette Dixon

The "Iron Lady"! At first you may think that Babe Ahern was given that title because of her professional golf career. But after sitting with her for several hours, you will know that the title "Iron LAdy" comes from how she handles herself as a business woman.

Anna May "Babe" Ahern was from loving parents, Owen and Anna Ahern. "Babe" was the youngest of six children, who had the opportunity to graduate from St. Xavier private school. She lived two years in Vienna at age 25 with her aunt Mitzie. It was in 1923 when "Babe" first became interested in golf.

Her family pioneered the area since 1913 and turned a farm and poultry house into a family owned golf course.

As "Babe" grew up, she learned every aspect of the golf course. Her mother taught her how to run the concession stand, after Bobby Jones helped to make 16 acres of land into one of the best golf courses in the country. Since 1921 the course has been open to the public.

In 1929, "Babe" became the protege of Peggy Horn. She could not compete in National tournaments because at that time , family members of golf course owners were not allowed to compete. She therefore became Club Champion on the State-City-County circuit in the 20's, 30's and 40's. "Babe" is a professional golfer and taught PGA, but now takes interest in running the club.

"Babe" Ahern, the only woman who owns a golf course in the state of Illinois, enjoys spending some of her days at the club.

Evergreen Golf Club's 18 hole, par 71 course is as close as your own back yard. It is the oldest and most scenic course in Cook County.

"With our 6,335 yards of tree lined fairways [we] mark a place in the golfing history of Cook County, says "Babe". "The course is difficult, it separates the men from the boys, although easy to follow in rotation."

"We are the originators of 'Early Bird' golfing,"says "Babe" "I certainly can not do this alone, I have about 50 employees running the concession, restaurant and golf course." It was Mike Capra, starter at the 1st Tee who brought it to my attention of the importance of timely tee-off, and scheduling appropriately.

"We've had special care for our greens for this extremely hot weather," says "Babe". "We have the best greens on the south side and survived this drought."

"This club is in for the working man, that's why I'm hanging it up to par by having the best greens in the south side. We also remodeled the club house, placed a new patio and deck outside. Our nostalgia old ice cream parlor booths and marble top tables bring a group of hungry patrons to our full breakfast restaurant. Golfers can mingle after the game in the club house. Of the many awards that "Babe" received, which line her office, was a plaque from Evergreen Park Mayor Anthony Vacco. It reads: "In appreciation of providing healthful, outdoor recreational facilities since 1921."

This just about says everything about the "Iron Lady", which commands your respect. This publisher also sees a soft side which Babe Ahern will not express, except for the twinkle in her eyes!

Library Tax Levy Approved

By Brian Begy

The Oak Lawn Library tax levy will increase for the fiscal year 1988. The Library did not receive authorization from the Village Board of Trustees for a larger increase they had sought.

The Library's tax levy will increase from $1,655,000 last year to $1,752,000, a rise of 5.26 percent, according to Joe Faber, Village Finance Manager.

The Library had sought an additional $101,000, to $1,853,000. Such an increase would violate statutory limit on the tax levy, and would require a change in the statutory limit.

This year's tax bills, however, will not contain the enormous increases of last year. Last year's increases were due to the quadrennial reassessment of property values, according to Village Manager Richard O'Neill.

O'Neill announced that the Village tax levy will remain the same as it has been for the last four years at $5,699,889.

The Village will aid the Library in meeting large, one time expenses such as major repairs, to avoid raising the statutory limit on the library tax levy, while still providing the same services to the community.

Trustee Joe Vogrich (5th District), adamantly opposed any tax increase for the library. He said the Village cannot authorize the Library to increase taxes after seeking tax decreases from various other governing bodies such as school boards, and the Metropolitan Sanitary District. "Its counter-productive to everything we told the people who came here we were going to do." he said.

Trustee Ron Stancik (2nd) District) submitted the proposal that ultimately passed. He said that the library does require additional funding, and proposed that the Village provide that funding. The funding is needed for such major repairs as a new roof.

The Library roof has leaked since it was installed in 1980, and the Library has not been able to repair it due to a lack of funds. According to John Mormon, President of the Oak Lawn Library, the roof estimates have ranged from $175,000 to $350,000. "It can be put off no longer" said Mormon.

The Village will provide funding for the expenses in order to keep the Library's tax increase below the statutory limit.

"They need more than the statutory limit." said Stancik.

Stancik said that the Village has more methods of raising revenue at its disposal than the library. "The Library does not have the advantage of sales tax, real estate transfer tax...the Village of Oak Lawn does." Stancik said.

Trustee Ed Barron (4th District) said that the Village has more responsibilities, and therefore requires more revenue raising methods. "We have the lifesaving responsibility of fire (and) police."

Trustee Bill Hefka (1st District) said that the Village has advantages in the tax situation. He pointed out that 40% of the Village's revenue comes from sales tax, a tax the Library does not benefit from.

Hefka said the Village has extra money available for aiding the Library. "Our sales tax has been very, very successful."

Bergamini still favored the increase in Library tax levy, and proposed that the Village cut its tax levy by the same amount to offset any increase. He said he would prefer this means of funding the Library over the indirect means proposed by Stancik. "What you cannot do through the front door, you ought not do through the back door." he said.

BUSING SENIORS

By Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn has agreed to a contract with Willett Motor Coach for a bus program designed to benefit senior citizens, according to Trustee Jay Bergamini (6th district).

The contract provides for a three year agreement to provide bus service 4 1/2 hours per day, three days a week. The bus program will supplement Worth Township's bus program which runs three two days a wee.

The cost of the program is $11,957 per year. that provides an air-conditioned bus with a chair lift for the handicapped.

The program will be funded through the Oak Lawn Social Service Corporation. The Social Service Corp. was formed when Oak Lawn agreed to a contract with Multimedia Cablevison. It has $500,000 in its account to be used to fund social programs.

The Village has been debating as senior citizen bus program for months. The Village turned down a subsidize cab program idea in May, preferring to use a bus.

Trustee Michele Collings (3rd District) opposed the program because it is "duplication of services". The Regional Transportation Authority, Metra and the Chicago Transit Authority all have programs similar to the proposed Village program.

The contract was approved narrowly 4 to 2 with Vogrich and Collings opposing.

VIETNAM VETERAN MEET

The Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter 153 will hold its monthly general membership meeting at 8:00 PM. on Tuesday, September 13th, at Glen Maker American Legion Post, 10739 Ridgeland Ave., Chicago Ridge, Illinois.

EVERGREEN BANKS REACHED $1 BILLION

Kenneth J. Ozinga, President, First Evergreen Corporation, has announced that the Evergreen Banks recently reached the one billion dollar combined asset mark. First Evergreen Corporation is the holding company for the Evergreen Banks, which include the First National Bank of Evergreen Park, Oak Lawn National Bank and Clearing Bank at Midway Airport.

Ozinga attributed the milestone to the confidence of the thousands of customers who bank with the Evergreen Banks. The Evergreen Banks have long been noted in the southwest community for their fair and honest dealings and conservative management style.

Ozinga noted that the banks have thrived because they are neighborhood banks owned and managed by local people. The banks do what they do best, which is to serve the needs of the businesses and individuals in their communities. He stated that continued growth will be the result of making the banks' services more accessible and convenient to customers. "The banks' products and services have always been designed around what customers tell us they want and expect from their bank. We will continue to meet those needs in the future by adding locations such as the Orland Facility, which is scheduled to open in the fall."

First National Bank of Evergreen Park, the Largest of the Evergreen Banks, was chartered in December 1948.

VANDALIZED O.L. TANK MEMORIAL

Last week, vandals spray painted graffiti across the Oak Lawn tank memorial located at 95th Street and Columbus Drive. Thousands of Illinois passing motorists were shocked viewing this unsightly scene. Many of Oak Lawn's gallant sons, from the Civil War to Vietnam, have made the supreme sacrifice to preserve America's freedom and democracy. They're gone, but not forgotten. Their very sacrifices purchased, in perpetuity, the right for this tank to be stationed here today. Oak Lawn veterans will not tolerate such destructive acts of defacement, desecration, or vandalism. This tank is a symbol to keep our great nation safe and free.

This veterans memorial tank site has become a village landmark over the years. It has seen several generations march off to war to defend our nation's proud heritage of liberty and freedom. Historically, this veterans tank site was established over fifty years ago when the Village of Oak Lawn had a population of only twenty-one hundred residents. It was built in tribute to their fallen comrades by returning First World War Doughboys who fought and trudged through the bloody trenches and over the hard fought battle fields of France.

The original tank was later donated to a Second World War Victory Drive for needed scrap metal to help defeat Hitler and his greedy partners in the Axis Powers. This replaced vandalized tank is the only one of two still existing tanks of this type that the army had in its arsenal at the outbreak of W.W. II. It is understood similar tanks of this type played an important role in the defeat of Germany's Field Marshall Erwin Rommel's elite Afrika Korps in early 1942. Rommel was known as the "Desert Fox".

Our American Legion Green Oak Post #757 of Oak Lawn, Illinois, made the necessary emergency repairs. It has scheduled a later date to completely repair and repaint the vandalized tank. Lest we forget, this Oak Lawn veterans memorial tank stands quietly in reverent memory of those gallant heroes who sacrificed their lives in the cause of liberty and freedom over tyranny and oppression. August 15th was the forty-third anniversary of 1945's V-J DAY (Victory over Japan). GOD BLESS AMERICA!!!!

a weekly column

By Annette Dixon

This column is going to be my sounding board this week!

For those who have followed this column in the past realize that I have defended the driving of many youths. I have attacked the unbalanced behavior of police officers who ticket mostly blacks, spanish and youths.

Well this column again will be used to voice the rudeness of a Chicago police officer. I was charged with speeding 46 MPH in a 30 MPH zone. Speeding down Archer eastbound on a Saturday morning at 10:00 a.m. was very difficult. Following traffic and driving in the left lane, I felt the police officer couldn't possibly get a good reading on his handheld radar. His abusive behavior started when I pulled over, and he asked me to move to another space. I moved and pulled into the nearest spot, then he asked me to move again. By then I was upset, I pulled into an open space, and that was difficult on the business section of Archer and the block of 7000.

The officer came up to the door and said, "Give me your license!" I handed him the license. He said, "Do you know you were speeding?" I said, "This is a used rental, I don't know the mechanics of the car." Well he said, "What was the speedometer reading?" I said, "36!" He said, "Well that's speeding, isn't it?" "I guess so," said I, "If I knew what the speed limit is because the last time I noticed it was 35."

He proceeded to write the ticket. He went back into his car to finish the paper work. He was talking to a gentleman who approached his car. I proceeded to go to the car and said, "If I were driving my 87 Taurus, I'm sure I would not have received the ticket."

Unfortunately I was driving an 81 Pontiac Phoenix with the right front grill and hood damaged. I then proceeded to compliment my brother and sister-in-law who are Chicago Police Officers and criticized him and said, good-bye!

His comment to me was, "When you mentioned your brother and sister-in-law being officers, I wasn't going to write the ticket; but do you know why you got this ticket?" "No," said I! "Because of you attitude, I've been on the force for 18 years, I know an attitude when I see one."

SO DO I!

Hank Latas, now this guy has a great attitude! He became president of the Sangatuch, Michigan Lions. Len Pearson installed Hank into the organization as President. Len is an Oak Lawn resident and Post Dist. Governor of the Lions. Congratulations Hank on your newly appointed position of service on the Tourism Advisory Committee for the State of Michigan. Congratulations on your new ventures.

Festa Italiana

Chicago's Festa Italiana '88 was the first time this publisher was able to enjoy an Italian fest since 1986.

The extravaganza on Navy Pier delighten the audience Sunday, August 21, 1988.

According to Anthony J. Fornelli, the Chairman, "Festa Italiana has a significance beyond the actual event itself. The promoters were not looking for another good and fun fest, but seeking to promote the Italian community, unite its businesses and professional people, showcaswe its talents, and at the same time, raise funds for charitable purposes."

Every fest has the Italian musicians opening the event. Aurelia Pucinski was the grand marshal leading the musicians along with the Italian Queen. WKDC 1530, the Italian Broadcasting Co. was in their booth broadcasting the event. Mr. Franconoe, program director stated they have the best music on the A.M. dial.

Navy pier, lake front was perfect for the closing. It was a clear day, Italian women were dressed in their finest fashions from Paris, London, and Italy.

Vendors booths for Italian food included famous city vendors, but our neighborhood favorites were from "Nancy's" and "Ambrosino's".

The Art and Craft cultures were represented in all forms of art, including information booths from the Italian Cultural Center and Joint Civic Groups.

A favorite booth was a religious missionary organization famous in Ital, the Comboni Missinary Sisters. Fr. Angelo and Sister Teresa spoke regarding the purpose as to why they are in the fest. It was quite odd seeing a religious booth selling hand carved ornaments, but after observing the Italian culture, their visibility was most appreciated.

Sunday Mass was celebrated first with a reception following Mass. Entertainment followed with musicians, singers on both stages. Continious entertainment from 12:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. with Italians entertaining Italians. Dick Contino sang all Italian songs and was spectacular playing the accordian.. Over 1000 people swayed and rocked to Dick Contino. Anna Marie Alberghette sang "Feelings" in English and Italian. She had her musical director, Pearl Kaufman, who is a noted musician. What a day! I was proud to be Italian.

FUNDRAISER

The Easter Seal Society of Metropolitan Chicago is proud to present the Comedy Team of Marsh & Adams on Wednesday, August 31, 1988 at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare in the Forum Room at 7:00 p.m. Admission is $50 per person and all proceeds benefit the Easter Seal program services for children and adults with disabilities.

Lou Marsh and Tony Adams have perfected a nightclub act which gets rave reviews in appearances across the country. They are returning to a familiar venue in Chicago, having appeared in the recent past at the Hyatt's former Blue Max Room, now the Forum. Having appeared with such stars as Don Rickles, Bob Hope, Tony Bennett and Sammy Davis, Jr., Marsh & Adams promises a hilarious evening for all who attend.

Following the performance, there will be a special "roast" salute to an Easter Seal friend and supporter, Danny Serrelli, the owner of Serrelli's Foods, known throughout Chicago, for its Italian Roast Beef.

ACADEMY STUDENTS QUALIFY FOR TALENT SEARCH

This year, 28 Morgan Park Academy students, over 36 percent of the seventh and eighth grade class, have qualified to participate in the 1988-89 Midwest Talent Search sponsored by Northwestern University. In order to qualify, a student must score at the 95th percentile or above in either the verbal or math sections of a standardized achievement test given in the preceding year.

Local Academy students qualifying for participation in the program include the following: Grade 7--Andrew Boyd (Evergreen Park) and Chirag Shah (Oak Lawn); Grade 8--Faheem Jesani (Evergreen Park).

CENTER FOR CONTEMPORARY TECHNOLOGY AT MORAINE VALLEY

A new era in technological training has begun with the opening of the Center for Contemporary Technology at Moraine Valley Community College in Palos Hills. This Center will feature equipment and facilities for students and community residents to receive state-of-the-art technology training.

The Center has already been hailed as the finest technology training center in America because it offers the latest testing, design and instructional equipment available for technology training. Students will have the opportunity to work with the new equipment as they learn about the latest technology. In addition, programs of study combine in-depth training and practical experience.

The $14 million facility covers 120,000 square feet, with a roof area equivalent to three full football fields. In addition to traditional classrooms, the Center will house a Learning and Computing Center, a technical demonstration theater, and testing and laboratory spaces for the colleges's technology programs. Students will have the opportunity to work with state-of-the-industry tools before beginning their careers.

"All of the college's technology programs--and ultimately the students--will benefit from the technology center. The increased space, upgraded facilities, and up-to-date equipment translate into a better educational experience," says Patricia J. Fleming, Chairman of Moraine Valley's Board of Trustees.

The college's nondestructive evaluation (NDE) program, which trains students in materials examination and evaluation, is housed in the Center for Contemporary Technology and is the only program of its kind in the country offered by a community college. One of the major NDE users is the aerospace industry--a fact evidenced by the number of jobs in the field held by former Moraine Valley Community college students. Currently, six Moraine Valley graduates are working on the space shuttle project at Kennedy Space Center. In fact, almost 100 percent of the college's NDE graduates find jobs--excellent jobs--in the field.

In addition, the college's computer-aided design program, which will also be housed in the Center, has been nationally recognized as a training center by several computer software companies. The CAD program trains students to meet the growing demand for positions as CAD operators and CAD technicians. The CAD field is growing rapidly, and there is a high demand for students with CAD training.

The Center will also house a special computer center which is the result of the college recently being named as an IBM Center for Excellence, a distinction given to only six colleges in the country.

Other programs housed in the Center will be automotive technology, computer information systems, electronics technology, environmental control technology, manufacturing technology, metallurgy, office information systems, and welding.

Many of the programs housed in the new Center are among those careers cited by the Department of Labor as excellent career choices. Nondestructive evaluation, computer-aided design and electronics are reported to be among the fastest growing technology fields through the mid 1990's.

"Simply stated," says Moraine Valley President Fred Gaskin, "those with the best training get the best jobs. This is one of the best training centers available anywhere. Our classes are small, we have dedicated, qualified faculty, and our students will use the latest equipment in a state-of-the-art facility."

MARANATHA CHAPEL'S MERRY HEARTS

Maranatha Chapel's Merry Hearts, of 9755 S. Pulaski, Evergreen Park, are celebrating their fifth year of ministry at Christ Hospital.

The Merry Heart team entertains once a month in the Pediatric Ward at the hospital. They tell stories, do magic, and also have a puppet show for old and young alike. The Merry Hearts not only entertain at the hospital, but can also be seen busy at their craft at Maranatha Chapel, in their children's church on Sunday mornings.

"Christ Hospital has been very receptive, and the Merry Hearts love entertaining there. We are looking forward to many more years of sharing with them", said Linda Gray, Directress of Christian Education at Maranatha Chapel.

A DAY IN THE SUN

Jack Fleck and Trudy Mannes welcome Jack's father, John Fleck, to the Park Lawn Invitational's third annual golf event at Midlothian Country Club. All proceeds were dedicated to ensuring care and training in the future for Jack and Trudy and their friends in Park Lawn School and Activity Center for mentally and physically handicapped children and adults.

MORGAN PARK BASKETBALL CAMP

Teamwork was the name of the game for Tommy Suitts, head basketball coach at Chicago State University, and Morgan Park Academy, the site of Suitts' week-long Basketball Camp for area youths.

Approximately 30 area youngsters, ages 9-14, participated in the camp. He chose to hold the camp at Morgan Park Academy because of its location and facilities. "The Academy is known in the community for being an excellent institution, and I felt it would be a place where parents would feel comfortable sending their children," Suitts added.

Next year, the Division I head basketball coach hopes to expand the camp to provide more concentration at different age/skill levels. Suitts resides in Beverly with his wife, Cynthia, and his three sons, Clint, Stephen and William.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

ARIES/SCORPIO

You will be looking at a lot of activity in the weeks to come. Be alert to how much you are being asked to do, and make it clear to others that you will not be pushed or will you respond to demands!

TAURUS/LIBRA

A pet may need some attention this week. Try to get away with someone you love, and get a new outlook on life. You may feel a bit bored or out of sorts. Keep alert to not getting angry this week. Anger only attracts more anger and angry people!

GEMINI/VIRGO

You may need a more systematic way of getting things done. The best way is to do the harder things first, the rest comes easy and you will accomplish more.

CANCER

Don't be shy about asking for what you need. People are more open to you this week than they have been recently. And, it is not a good time to lend money, no, not even to the children.

LEO

Someone waves a "magic wand" (so to speak) and you are suddenly given what you should have already had, which is money, apology, power and prestige.

SAGITTARIUS

The above message also applies to you. And you can add this: don't look back at old problems lest you bring them again into your life. This is a time to let go.

CAPRICORN

There is a time to exercise the mind as well as the body. Reach for higher knowledge and share this with others. You will be much admired for this. The more you share, the more you get.

AQUARIUS

News of a wedding...and, many Aquarians will receive proposals. You are more open to love, family and domestic needs. Take time to evaluate what you really want in life.

PISCES

A BIG break is coming your way. People are cooperative, and it appears that you have everything "going your way now". Enjoy!

AVAILABLE TO TALK WITH YOUR GROUP OR ORGANIZATION. CALL Alyn, 636-2233 or 636-4578 to schedule your event. I allow time for questions and answers too. Various subjects are available. My books and tapes are available at the Pyramid Book Mart, 3580 West 95th St. in Evergreen Park, Il. 60642 or call 636-2233 for information about mailing tapes and books to you. My services can be done in the office, by phone or by mail and are confidential, and taped for your later recall.

VILLAGE VIEW OF THE LIBRARY

PRESCHOOL STORYHOUR REGISTRATION began on Aug. 22 in the Youth Services Department of the Library, 9427 Raymond. These are programs designed for children who are ready for a social activity away from parents for a brief period. The programs will introduce a simple brief story and have group activities with others who are attending. There are two series to select from. Both run from September through April with a three-week Christmas hiatus. Preference will be given to Oak Lawn residents. Registrations will be accepted in person only.

REGISTRATION FOR STORYBOOK FRIENDS, a series for those in first to third grade, begins Aug. 29. Enrollment is limited to 30 per session. Details are available from Youth Services, 422-4990.

REGISTRATION FOR PROGRAMS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE IN GRADES FOUR THROUGH EIGHT, begins Aug. 29. Included are the "Kids' Gazette", a newspaper written by and for kids, and the "Library Skills Workshop" designed to show students how to use a public library for reports, projects and term papers.

NEW JOB LISTINGS AND JOB INFORMATION are now available in the Reference Department. The Federal Job Opportunity Listing for the Chicago area, a weekly publication of the US Office of Personnel Management, includes civil service job opportunities in several grade levels. Also available now is a resource guide listing books on civil service jobs that the Oak Lawn Library has. In addition, civil service test preparation books are part of the Library's collection. Those interested can ask at the Reference desk, second floor.

DON'T BE CAMERA SHY AT THE LIBRARY. Currently, a slide show is being developed by the Library for showing throughout the community. Purpose of the production is to highlight the services and resources that are a regular part of the Oak Lawn Library. Persons who are using the Library when the photographer is around probably will asked to be a part of the production. No date has been set for completion of the show, but staff is planning for mid-September.

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY will begin its book discussion groups on Sept. 8 and Sept. 9. Call Kathy Gaynes for more information, 424-4494.

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

DID YOU KNOW...that with the humidity we have been having, you can add 5 to 8 degrees to the actual temperature on YOUR thermometer, to know the real range the temperature is in Ouch!!

GOOD NEWS...they found an antidote for the viral infection annihilating the entire population of seals referred to in a previous column...but are there any left to inoculate? I doubt it. Oh, the marvels of modern medicine! Also, you need a "patient" present to inoculate...maybe the media can mount an ad campaign so any seals left will volunteer. Am I a cynic or a realist?! You tell me.

WHO'S TEMPTING WHO?...The movie "The Last Temptation of Christ" is really getting press coverage...and is proving to be a box office success. My observation at this point is: it's not the laity reacting to the movie that is causing the conflict - it's the questioning and objecting on the part of the ministry without having seen the movie that has led to the extreme publicity the movie has had...the problem I see is that when someone or some group over-reacts to something, more often than not it's because a nerve of truth has been touched, much like many lawyers being at their absolute best only when defending themselves against their own clients. It is claimed by some that there is theological evidence demonstrating that Jesus the Nazarene and Mary Magdeline did have an intimate relationship, as many people of today's "modern" world have, with the conventions of "marriage" not involved, and thus may the harshest of all condemnations been passed on the Mary Magdeline, and all undeserved...perhaps. This is much to think about, and objectivity is a MUST! IF this "theological evidence" is actually available, we need to see it. Then the REAL question becomes: "where has it been all these centuries?"

And I am Alyn

Washington Wants To Know

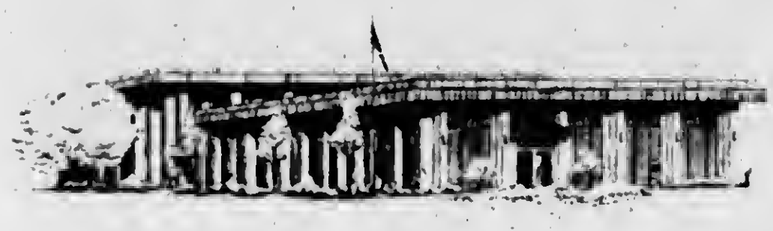
The Clean Air Act Amendments: Too Little Gain, Too Much Cost?

Many Americans, concerned about their freedom and their finances, are writing Congress trying to clear the air about the new Clean Air Act Amendments.

The annual cost to taxpayers and consumers of the new Clean Air legislation is expected to be between $40 and $50 billion.

The bill contains five sections covering ozone/carbon monoxide attainment, acid rain, vehicles emissions standards, adjustments to air quality standards and air toxins. Independent studies requested by Congress set the annual cost of this legislation at between $40 and $50 billion. Automobile emission standards are especially hard hit. The bill tightens the nitrous oxide emissions standard dramatically through 1990.

Many experts, including the National Automobile Dealers Association (NADA), oppose the more restrictive standards relating to automobile and truck emissions. They explain that any further tightening of today's motor vehicle standards will have a very minor impact on the nation's air quality, but would have a significant cost impact on motor vehicles and the people who buy them.



Anyone can write Congress on either side of this issue at the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510 and the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Daniels legislation passed

House Republican Leader Lee Daniels (R-Elmhurst) said legislation signed into law this week is designed to combat the growing problem of elderly abuse.

Daniels said Senate Bill 1714 creates the Elder Abuse and Neglect Act. Provisions of the new law provide for voluntary reporting of alleged or suspected abuse or neglect of persons 60 years of age or older. In response to incidences of abuse, the Department on Aging--under the law--will design and maintain a statewide program for assessing reports and providing necessary services to victims.

The law is a follow-up to the experimental Elder Abuse Demonstration Program which gathered information on the incidence of abuse in Illinois, the most effective intervention model, and the necessity and cost of a statewide intervention program.

During the three-year demonstration program, which expired June 30, 1987, over 640 reports of abuse and neglect were received. Findings from the program showed the typically abused older person to be female, 77 years old, widowed and functionally impaired. Financial exploitation and physical abuse were the primary forms of abuse reported.

Daniels said other legislation signed into law by Governor Thompson this week includes: Aggravated Battery(HB 3615), Long-Term Care Insurance(SB 1955, HB 1491), Prescription Drug Handbook(HB 3492), Teacher Contracts(HB 3499),Enterprise Zones (HB 4091), Hunting-Related Permits(HB 4052), Veterans Issues(HB 4269), and Grain Quality(HB 3415).

Miss Il. at Dahlia show

Miss Illinois-USA, beautiful Gina Zordani of Palos Heights, Illinois, will open the 51st annual Dahlia Show staged by the Southtown Dahlia Club. This year's event will be held at Orland Park Place, 153rd and LaGrange Road, Saturday and Sunday, September 3 and 4, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Gina will appear in person Saturday between 1:00 and 3:00 p.m. to give autographs and pose for pictures amidst the colorful Dahlias. Her appearance is sponsored by the Evergreen Banks.

The National Garden Bureau, which represents the home and garden seed industry, has brought deserved recognition to the Dahlia by proclaiming 1988 as "The Year of the Dahlia". To mark this eventful year, a great abundance of blooms and creative arrangements will be exhibited, Dahlias, like no other show flowers, provide many variations of size, color and unique petal formations. Southtown Dahlia Club experts will be on hand at all times to answer questions regarding Dahlia culture.

The Southtown Dahlia Club is a non-profit organization with over two hundred members.

United Way fund raiser

To fight the dramatic increase in such problems as AIDS, drug abuse and illiteracy, the United Way/Crusade of Mercy will attempt to raise $90.1 million during its 1988 fund-raising campaign, according to Campaign General Chairman James J. O'Connor.

O'Connor, chairman of Commonwealth Edison Company, announced the Crusade of Mercy goal at a reception for United Way volunteers in the historic Stock Exchange Trading Room of The Art Institute of Chicago on Thursday, July 28.

"AIDS, Alzheimer's Disease, alcohol and drug abuse, teenage pregnancy and suicide, illiteracy, health care needs of the elderly....these are just some of the health and human care needs that have increased," O'Connor said. The $90.1 million goal was set to address these, and other, issues facing more than 390 United Way-supported agencies.

The United Way/Crusade of Mercy, through its allocating members--the United Way Chicago and the United Way of Suburban Chicago--funds 390 health and human service care agencies. Hundreds of thousands of individuals are in some way touched by United Way agencies. The Mid-America Chapter of American Red Cross and the National Kidney Foundation of Illinois also benefit from the annual United Way drive. They receive direct grants from the United Way/Crusade of Mercy for the services they provide to the public on an area-wide basis. The annual fund drive is the largest United Way campaign in any one state in the U.S., and mobilizes thousands of volunteers from the corporate, government and not-for-profit sectors.

Pucinski winning GOP vote

Recent polls show Aurelia Pucinski running stronger among Republican voters than her opponent Ed Vrdolyak does among Democratic voters.

A poll by McKeon Associates shows Pucinski leading Vrdolyak 2 to 1 countywide and by a 5 to 4 margin in the traditionally Republican suburbs.

"This is a major failure for our opponents campaign," said Pucinski campaign manager Marty Marks.

He added, "An important premise of the Vrdolyak campaign is that he would attract many Democratic voters. Not only is he failing to do that, but many Republicans are responding very favorably to Aurie's approach of bringing reform to the courts."

The McKeon survey showed Pucinski leading Vrdolyak among Democrats by a whooping 75% to 15% margin and Vrdolyak ahead narrowly among Republicans by 50% to 35%.

A Chicago Tribune poll placed Pucinski ahead 55% to 27% and the story on the poll described Vrdolyak as "one of the most unpopular political figures in Cook County."

You can see the difference in the campaigns by the way people react to the candidates. Aurie is well-received and getting invitations to go to Republican areas, while Ed can't even walk in parades without getting booed," Marks said.

"Aurie's message is to restore integrity to the court system and that is something that appeals to people throughout Cook County regardless of party label," Marks concluded.

Guest Column

In his very first public speech delivered in 1832, Abraham Lincoln emphasized the importance of education when he said, "I view it (education) as the most important subject which we, as a people, can be engaged in..."

Although Lincoln's message about education was delivered more than 150 years ago, it is clear that his words are just as important today. Quite simply; education is a cornerstone of our society.

Our country's educational system provides our citizens with many opportunities to learn, to increase knowledge, and to increase awareness of the world around us. These elements have become even more critical today during our rapidly changing technological environment.

According to Bryant Robey, founding editor of American Demographics magazine, "Sustaining America's increasingly sophisticated and diverse economy depends upon higher percentages of its young graduating high school and college every year." It is evident that educated individuals make for an educated society.

A 1984 United States Census Bureau study reveals some interesting data on how a person's education relates to his or her income. Consider the following statistics: a person with a two-year associate's degree earns $1,346 for an average month, while a person with only a high school diploma earns $1,045 and a person who did not graduate from high school earns only $693 for the same period of time. A person with a bachelor's degree earns even more for the same period of time: $1,841.

One arm of our nation's education system that provides countless opportunities for educating our society is the community college. Established in Illinois in the late 1960s, community colleges are designed to meet the many diversified interests and needs of the community. A community college has something for everyone.

Closer to home, Moraine Community College was formed in 1967 with the belief that education contributes to the improvement of society by providing the means for the individuals to improve their quality of life.

Today, more than 20 years later, Moraine Valley still follows that same guiding principle by providing programs and services that benefit the more then 350,000 residents of the southwest suburbs.

Here's a few examples of how Moraine Valley Community College fulfills that original goal.

*For those who excel academically and want to earn a bachelor's degree, the Honors Scholar Program provides special challenges. The classes are smaller and the college's best faculty members teach in this special program.

*The college's Returning Woman program meets the special needs of women returning to school. Through a series of courses, women improve their writing and communication skills while they develop self-confidence and self-direction.

*Dislocation workers, or those laid off from jobs, can find counseling and retraining available through the Dislocated Workers Assistance Center.

*Another special population, the learning disabled, can find support and services at the college to help them in their college career through the Learning Development Support System. Included in the program are diagnostic assessment, counseling and special instruction.

And that's not all. Moraine Valley Community College offers cultural trips and tours, Weekend College, telecourses, a comprehensive Learning Resources Center, the Health Fitness Center, English as a Second Language, a theater program, and much, much more.

There's something for everyone at Moraine Valley. Take advantage of your community college today and follow in the footsteps of Abraham Lincoln.

Barbara Wilcox is director of Public Relations for Moraine Valley Community College in Palos Hills.

Sunday, August 28th, GOP picnic was quite a picnic with the largest turnout within years. Of course many former democrats were there celebrating with their leaders. Many acquaintances like Arlene Jillson, Dick McGuire, Jose Gallardo were just a few dedicated Republicans who enjoyed another year with fellow Republicans.

Frank Iovino, Orland Park and Jesse Mancha, Frankfort, Illinois were the tournament horseshoe champions. Thanks for a great time with the Worth Township Republican Picnic.

Happy Birthday to John Stella on September 1st and Jayne Powers, September 8th. Belated birthday greetings to Mary Lou Harker, Angelini Romero.

This column is dedicated to all the fine Leo's who celebrated their August birthday in the middle of summer and the hottest month of the year. Now hopefully we will enjoy a cooler September and prepare our gardens and yards for a more fruitful new year!

Laura Shallow: A Woman You Should Know

by Annette Dixon

After several hours of interviewing Laura, this interviewer felt that many young people can learn from the successful story of a woman in banking.

At age 16, Laura Shallow started her career at Standard Bank while attending Mother McAuley High School. While working part time, Laura completed her college degree at St. Xavier College in three years. She was chosen graduate speaker for her graduating class of 1978.

After graduation, Laura became secretary to the President of the Bank and Assistant Vice President in 1982 in marketing /advertising and public relations.

In 1984, Laura became the youngest person in the banks history to become a Vice-President. Her duties were to report to the President and Chairman of the Board, to develop and coordinate marketing plans and programs for a $285 million dollar holding company, representing two banks and an insurance agency, with five offices in the southwestern suburbs of Chicago.

Quite an accomplishment for a young person of 28 years old.

Laura further her education and attended the St. Xavier College Graham School of Management and received a MBA. She graduated in 1986 and received a distinguished academic award for high honors. Laura believes in hard work ethics. Hard, dedicated, work is Laura's philosophy. While many of us wrestle with our snooze alarms, Laura Shallow continues to climb the ladder of success.

In June, 1988, Laura became Vice President of Business Development for Standard Bank and Standard Bank of Hickory Hills and New Product Development.

Laura is a member of the Bank Marketing Association, Northern Illinois Chapter; member of the Chicago Financial Advertisers; member of the Bank Administration Institute; member of Midwest Lenders of Chicago. She finds time to attend two, one day seminars a year and enjoys learning. Laura said,"she would like to attend additional courses, possibly for another Masters.

As a dedicated professional, Laura involves herself with many alumni organizations. She became president of St. Xavier College Alumni Association of more than 1000 members. She accepted the position of president for four years, and again was the youngest elected president.

Community and Charitable organizations are Laura's interests, but being president of the Evergreen Park Chamber for 1988-89 requires a substantial amount of her time. "I am proud of our slogan, "Keep our community great in 88'." After being chairman for 1987, Laura still recalls the award Evergreen Park Unit received as #1 Unit in the State of Illinois. She is proud of this unit and contributes its success to the people within the community helping the unit become a success.

A goal of $49,000 was reached by door to door campaign, the auction, dinner dance and Evergreen's Cancer Closet. The Cancer Closet serves all Evergreen Park Residents and is operated by all volunteers.

Laura through her work orientated skills, finds time to get involved in St. John Fisher Church and Women's Club. As an extraordinary minister and Mass lector, Laura finds solitude. When asked, "How do you relax?" She said, "I enjoy just working!" "Do you have any hobbies?" "Yes, I love music and dancing," said Laura, "but most of my free time is spent now with my twin niece and nephew, Max and Barbara Shallow." "They are 10 months old and I love being with them." At that point she pulled out a 4" by 12" picture and delighted this interviewer with the precious pictures of two beautiful toddlers.

"Is there any other hobbies you could mention that help you to relax?" "Well," said Laura, "I would love to write a book someday about successful women in business!" Here is a book that will not 'once upon a time' begin with.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

ARIES/SCORPIO

Be wise, stay alert to new opportunities, they come "out of the blue" and you should not hesitate to act on them. Aries and Leo people are easy to work things out with.

TAURUS/LIBRA

You might think that something is over, but they come back to you to settle. You are not in a bad light, in fact, you have more going for you in your ability to think things out. Other people admire this and will tell you.

GEMINI/VIRGO

Joy comes in unusual way. This could be more money, but also property, a pay raise, etc. It is time to count your blessings. And, a communication arrives that also makes your days brighter.

CANCER

It is good to witness adults "jumping for joy", it shows that good things "can" happen for the deserving!" This is your week to do the jumping. A leo person helps too.

LEO

Read the above message. Also, there are some very helps coming your way. Your own family is involved too. I see a cooperative effort paying off well. Better health and more money, and some very pleasurable moments too.

SAGITTARIUS

Don't look back at yesterday and weep. Look at all you have learned and what you have done. This is a week of self-reflection and soon, satisfaction.

CAPRICORN

You soon experience a feeling of peace and are contented with what you have achieved. A rather lengthy conversation in person or by phone settles your mind and you are happy..again. Love is terrific too.

AQUARIUS

Dream on Aquarius, for, dreams become reality for those who trust in themselves. This has to do with love, health, financial security, and all that will sustain you. Think the colour Lavender and then plan your life. It works!

PISCES

Someone wants you to speak for them. Remember John Alden? Best to speak for yourself, and let others do the same. This is a week to have reached conclusions about how to increase your income. A person in Pisces also helps you.

MY SERVICES CAN BE DONE BY PHONE, MAIL OR IN MY OFFICE. CALL 636-4578 or 636-2233 for information or to make an appointment. OLCHS HISTORY SPEAKER

On September 7, 1988, the Social Studies Department of Oak Lawn Community High School will sponsor a unique experience for its history students. Mr. Reid Henri Lewis, noted explorer and educator, will present a performance of his nationally acclaimed multi-slide/stereo sound presentation of his recreation of the LaSalle Voyager Canoe Expedition.

Participants will receive the glory and spectacle from this time period, as Mr. Lewis narrates and recreates-with authentic costuming and stereo music and sound-his dual slide presentation of this recreated historial drama. Appreciation for the wilderness, ecology and the early-explorer's culture will be emphasized. Two years of preparation, training, and hand crafting canoes were necessary for Mr. Lewis and his crew of 20th century students and teachers to follow the 3,300 mile route of LaSalle through the worst winter in our nation's history-a winter which forced the crew to portage their equipment 527 miles over frozen rivers and fields. The audience will witness the frustration of the expedition as they view the scenes and relive near tragedies. A joyful and victorious end at the Gulf of Mexico confirms the belief that the spirit of determination and courage of our forefathers is still with us in the 20th century.

At the conclusion of the program, Mr. Lewis will accompany himself on the guitar and encourage the audience to join in song of the period. A question and answer period will follow. After the program, students will attend sessions whereby Mr. Lewis will demonstrate authentic dress, food, tools, and weapons of that period. Approximately 350 students will participate in the program that has been seen nationwide by many schools and endorsed by many educational organizations.

Citizens board blocks rate hike

The Citizens Utility Board (CUB) is asking the Illinois Appellate Court to force state regulators to rule on whether or not Commonwealth Edison customers deserve over $500 million in rate reductions.

CUB launched the court appeal in the wake of a recent decision by the Illinois Commerce Commission's (ICC) to consider a $480 million rate hike for Com Ed. That ruling effectively means that a decision on CUB's request for the rate decrease will be delayed until another four months. Consumers have been seeking a rate cut for Com Ed since February 1987.

Since last August, Commonwealth Edison has been seeking a massive rate increase to pay for three new power plants. But the utility's chances of receiving that rate increase were slim until June, when the ICC staff flip-flopped and proposed a two-step $480 million rate hike. Just one month earlier, those same staff members had urged a $300 million rate cut for the utility.

If approved, the $480 million rate hike would add about $70 a year to the average residential customer's electric bill at a time when Edison's rates already are the highest in the Midwest. CUB's $500 million rate reduction request would translate into about a $40 a year savings for the average customer.

McCarthy denounces Last Temptation

Joe McCarthy, Republican candidate for the Illinois Third Congressional District, recently denounced the movie, "The Last Temptation of Christ". In his denouncement, Dr. McCarthy called the movie an insult to all Christians regardless of their denomination, McCarthy went on to ask theatre owners in the area to please consider the sensitivity of the Christian community and please not run the movie in the Third District.

"We are not preaching censorship nor are we trying to deny anyone their First Amendment rights," said McCarthy. "We just want theatre owners to realize that some of us hold our religious beliefs very dear and that we find this movie very tasteless and offensive and do not want Christ demeaned."

Dr. McCarthy, a family practice therapist who works with teenage drug abuse and teen suicide prevention, added, "At a time when the nuclear family is being pulled apart by pressures in society, we don't need such an affront to our basic religious foundations, which in some families is the only thread holding the family together."

When asked how he could denounce a movie he has not seen, McCarthy responded, "There is no question as to what is in the movie. We have seen excerpts from the script. The director, Martin Scorsese, has admitted that he tried to make Jesus more man than God like. He has admitted to certain explicit sexual scenes involving Jesus. I find that insulting and in poor taste," McCarthy added.

McCarthy concluded, "I don't have to see child pornography to know it is disgusting and harmful to society. I don't have to see this movie to know that it is personally disgusting and esoteric."

When asked if he would participate in protests at theatres showing the movie, McCarthy said, "Only to the extent of monitoring admittance to the theatre by children and teens without proper parental chaperons and to let the theatre owners know how we feel about the movie and their insult to us by showing it. I will not take part in any attempt to prevent consenting adults from entering the theatre."

Lions Charity

If you've thought about discarding your old, obsolete or outworn eyeglasses, think again. The Lions of Illinois Foundation and Lions Clubs can use them.

Every year, the Lions and Lioness Clubs, in conjunction with the Lions service and philanthropic affiliate, the Lions of Illinois Foundation, collect more then 250,000 pairs of used eyeglasses and hearing aids. The glasses may have served their purpose, or you simply may have grown tired of them. Whatever the reason, Lions can use them all.

The eyeglasses may well be a godsend to a poor taxi driver in El Salvador, or they may provide sight for a bus driver in Kenya, or serve as eyepieces for poor families in Latin America, South America, Asia and Africa, and other poverty-stricken areas throughout the world.

Hearing aids, which are handled separately and distributed to Illinois residents who need them, come into the Lions of Illinois Foundation office, where they are sorted and sent out to be refurbished. The Foundation is the charitable and philanthropic affiliate of the Illinois Lions Clubs. To facilitate the Collection of Used Eyeglasses and Used Hearing Aids, the Lions have installed containers in many stores, offices, restaurants and public areas. Collected eyeglasses and hearing aids are sent to the Lions of Illinois Foundation, 7321 W. Lake Street, River Forest, Il. 60305.

Eyeglasses collected must then be sorted and packed for delivery overseas. Due to government restrictions on shipment of precious metals, not all eyeglasses can be shipped. These are salvaged and funds obtained help finance various other Foundation programs.

The money which funds the Used Eyeglasses and Hearing Aids programs comes primarily from Candy Day, the Lions main fundraising activity. Candy Day will be held this year on Friday, October 14. On that day, Lions will be out on the street corners and at train stations offering fruit and mint-flavored candy rolls and accepting contributions for same.

With government funds already drastically curtailed, it is more urgent than ever that the private sector make up the gap.

To donate either used eyeglasses or hearing aids, contact your local Lions Club or the Lions of Illinois Foundation, 7321 W. Lake Street, River Forest, Il 60305. The phone number is (312) 771-5800.

It brings out the Best in all of Us.

The sudden and tragic death of President Zia-ul-haq of Pakistan has not only removed a powerful leader in Southwest Asia but also dealt a severe blow to the U.S. sponsored Anti-Communist campaign in Afghanistan. While the loss of human life is most distressing, we cannot help but wonder about another aspect of this tragic drama.

President Zia not only ruled Pakistan with an iron fist but was also responsible for unleashing a campaign of fanaticism, intolerance and persecution against Ahmadi Muslims, a peace loving, highly educated and organized sect in Pakistan. He was rabidly anti-Ahmadyyat and had vowed to "exterminate the cancer of Ahmadyyat".

President Zia was personally committed and fully devoted to the harrassment and religious persecution of Ahmadi Muslims of Pakistan. He passed laws which stripped Ahmadi Muslims of their basic human rights. They could not claim they were Muslims; could not practice Islam and could not preach to others. Ahmadi Muslims were the innocent victims of a despicable campaign of terror, murder, plunder and ruthless suppression. This appalling lack of respect for human rights was blatantly followed and continued unabated, for many years. Ahmadis were murdered, their mosques destroyed or desecrated and hundreds of them are still languishing in the dreadful jails of Pakistan.

Amnesty International and other Human Rights organizations as well as the U.S. Government have documented these atrocities against Ahmadis.

The Ahmadis believe in the fundamental tenets of Islam which advocate submission, love, harmony and peaceful coexistence. They denounce and condemn violence and terrorism and do not subscribe to the commonly held concept of "jihad".

Their spiritual leader, Hazrat Mirza Tahir Ahmad, had repeatedly pleaded with Zia to stop this merciless persecution of Ahmadi Muslims. When all these entreaties were unheeded and rejected by Zia-ul-Haq, Hazrat Mirza Tahir Ahmad finally challenged President Zia, his followers and fanatic "Mullahs", to a "prayer duel" ("Mubahila"), on June 10, 1988. Hazrat Mirza Tahir Ahmad, Imam of the Ahmadyya Community, prayed to God Almighty to be the final Arbiter and destroy the one who was guilty of falsehood, fabrication and fraudulent hypocrisy. This message was sent by registered mail to Zia and all his followers and widely publicized in Pakistan. Within a few weeks of this awesome declaration, President Zia and his top aides perished in a crash while the Imam of the Ahmadis is alive and well and the movement is progressing by leaps and bounds.

We, as Ahmadi Muslims, firmly believe that Zia's death is a majestic sign of God, the Powerful, the Mighty and the Master of all the world.

He destroyed Zia because of his arrogance, tyranny and heinoue crimes against Pakistanis, in general, and Ahmadis, in particular. While we bemoan the loss of human life, we cannot help but bow our heads in gratitude to God Almighty who eliminated a despotic tyrsnt and provided a glorious sign of His Majesty, and His Power.

a weekly column

This column is written in order to celebrate grandparents' day on September 11, 1988.

By Annette Dixon

Ruth Etheridge, advocate of grandparents' rights, called Village View Newspaper to remind our readership to "Hug your grandchild today, and remember not all grandparents are allowed to see their grandchild."

"Who is listening to the children?"

Adult children of many parents are denying access to their children's grandparents primarily for three reasons:

1. Parent or parents are abusing the child and are hiding this and keeping it a secret.

2. Adult children are abusing/using and/or dealing in drugs.

3. Grandparents are no longer willing or able to subsidize their adult children financially.

Ruth Etheridge is well aware of these three reasons. She found out that just this was occuring in her daughter's household. She told me "We are forbidden to see three of our eleven grandchildren...these three being from one family".

As an advocate Ruth was instrumental, along with Maxine Neier, in getting HB 1333 passed, but they were not aLle to secure the bill in the Senate. Their hopes are not unrewarded, for State Representatives like John O'Connell (D-47) have helped Ruth with the bill.

In November, Ruth and other members of the grandparents' rights organization will pursue the bill which is asking for the Right for Grandparents to Petition the courts for visitation with grandchildren!

There are grandparents across the 50 states interested in seeing a bill like this pass within each state. At present, grandparents have a right to see/visit grandchildren even after the death of a spouse and/or divorce. What is now needed are grandparents' rights to visit/see grandchildren of adult children who do not wish for grandparents to visit with their own grandchildren.

—We all know this occurs in many families. I am asking, "Who is listening to the children?"

Please contact Ruth Etheridge at 352-7495 or Maxine Neier at 232-6312.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

ARIES/SCORPIO

Decision to be made, and you can handle it! This concerns housing needs and dealing with people who may be demanding of your time and energy. Say NO...if "no" will release you to concentrate on your needs and get the job(s) done.

TAURUS/LIBRA

Put more effort into your job area. You are sure to be praised for your accomplishments. In love matters, it is time to let your mate in on things you still want to do.

GEMINI/VIRGO

Things needed in the home should be gotten. Do not make loans unless they are absolutely necessary. There may be other ways to meet financial obligations.

CANCER

News about someone that you have had serious concerns for. You could be making a trip. Because you have good intuition, pay more attention, especially if they focus on your career or talent.

LEO

Love is very important to everyone, but for you it means your well-being! You can find more time to travel with your love, do things together and share your goals and dreams.

SAGITTARIUS

Everything comes to an end...and this is a time to "let go" of anything that is done or needs finishing. This applies mostly to your job, but can also include letting people who have made changes make them without feeling guilty for doing them.

CAPRICORN

Gains made through money transactions...and, what you gain must be put back into future gains, could be investing. This is also a week to make those contacts that can push you ahead. People are willing to talk.

AQUARIUS

Someone may want you to loan them money, or needs your signature on some document. If you can help, do it. This seems to be a safe thing to do at this time.

PISCES

You get the chance to sell something you have been trying to sell or want to sell. Also, it is a good time to take a serious look at your financial status and make plans to increase your income. Some of you will take on a special study.

O.L. LIBRARY RATES 100% IN SERVICE

The Oak Lawn Public Library rates 100 percent in service according to a recent community survey conducted during July by Dr. Faisal Rahman, Dean, Graham School of Management, St. Xavier College. The perfect score was recorded after approximately 800 persons were contacted by telephone or in person. More than 350 persons answered all of the survey questions.

Additional results of the survey indicated that two-thirds of those surveyed hold current library cards and use the library on a regular basis. More than 90 percent who have a card are satisfied with the hours of service and the collections of books and other library materials. A majority of those surveyed were aware that the library lent films and videotapes and conducted programs for children. A significant percentage did not know that the library provided talking books for the vision impaired, borrowed books from other libraries and provided tax forms.

A profile of the respondents showed a good mix of population in terms of age, sex, education and occupation according to Dr. Rahman's analysis. He said that "it is evident that the Oak Lawn Public Library is doing a superior job in serving its clients. It is, therefor, important that the library continue to maintain its current policies and practices."

Recommendations based on the survey include making the public aware of the special service for the blind and handicapped and of the availability of interlibrary loans especially for students and other professionals. Dr. Rahman also recommended that more special programs be developed for the increasing number of senior citizens in Oak Lawn.

The survey was conducted as part of a requirement by the Illinois State Library in order to qualify for Per Capita Grant funds from the state. Results will be used also to help develop a long range plan, another requirement of the Illinois State Library, due next year.

Tax exemption for local government

County Commissioner Carl R. Hansen (R. Mt. Prospect) was among over 5,000 county officials from all over the country that attended the 53rd Annual Conference this month. A member of the Taxation and Finance Steering Committee, he supported a resolution calling for complete tax exemption for local government public purpose bonds, which was approved by both the Committee and the Conference.

The conference, which broke all attendance records, covered a wide variety of issues important to county governments. Workshops at the conference explored the important issues facing our country today. Taxes, the war on drugs, solid waste disposal, the environment, AIDS, and the homeless are but a few of the topics that were covered at the conference.

Congresswoman Lynn M. Martin (R. Ill.) stood in for Vice President George Bush. She said lower taxes and 17 million more jobs nationally over the past eight years have resulted in greater economic health. Also, that sharp reductions in costs of borrowing have resulted in significant savings for local governments.

La Verne Ausman, Deputy Under Secretary for Small Community and Rural Development of Agriculture (USDA), gave an update to the delegates on how this summer's drought is affecting the nation. As chairman of the USDA Drought Task Force, Ausman also outlined the programs in place and legislation pending in Congress that will provide help that are most affected.

The conference delegates also adopted a new American County Platform and elected officers for the coming year. At the close of the conference, a new president, Jim Snyder of Cattaraugus County, New York, was sworn in.

Shireland horses can be seen daily

Take ten of the world's largest horses and hook them all up together to perform every day and you are on your way to equine history.

Ten grey Shire horses, hitched in five teams stretching over 60 feet in front of a huge, ornate circus parade wagon and driven by one man, is a feature part of the three live shows performed every day except Tuesday at Shireland located at the I-90 and Rt. 20 intersection near Hampshire.

Just seeing ten grey Shire horses in one place is unusual. The rarest and most beautiful of a breed that numbers less than 3000 worldwide, only eight of every one hundred Shires are born grey. Not all of these will meet the requirements of a hitch horse, which must be upwards of 18 hands in height (6 feet at the shoulders), and must be male. These hitch horses were chosen from some fifty greys which are part of the Shireland herd.

The largest breed of horses in the world, each Shire weighs around one ton. Just for comparison, a good size riding horse will tip the scales around 1100 pounds and stands 15 hands (5 feet).

The daily performances at Shireland include several exhibitions of Shire horses as they served mankind through the ages. The Shires are shown in armor ridden by midevil knights, as draft horses and farm animals, and as hitch horses with the circus parade wagon.

The entire Shireland concept is the creation of Thomas J. Smrt of Marengo who owns the largest collection of Shire horses in the world and who has ben restoring the English Shire breed from near extinction since 1982. This year over 90 foals were born at his Fox Valley Draft Horse Farms.

Shireland is located at the I-90 and Rt. 20 intersection near Hampshire, Il., and is open every day except Tuesday from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. with shows performed at 12:00 p.m., 2:00 p.m. and 4:15 p.m. each day. There are four cinemas, a museum, Shire horse tent with the giant horses on display along with mares and foals, a wash and groom exhibit where visitors can see the Shires cared for in their own horse beauty parlor, and a fine deli tent with inexpensive refreshments featuring Shireland's own special Shire Cola.

Hartigan brakes up scam

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan recently seized the facilities and records of a heating and air conditioning con artist who continued to victimize Chicago and suburban consumers in violation of a court order Hartigan obtained in 1986 to put him out of business.

Charles Hayes, who operated Old Chicago Heating and Air Conditioning and The Home Energy Store, Inc., located at 1711 Roosevelt Rd. in Broadview, had been prohibited from engaging in the heating and air conditioning business in Illinois and was ordered to dissolve the company by the Circuit Court of Cook County in April 1986 as the result of a consumer fraud suit filed by Hartigan.

Hayes, who used the business names of Energy Efficiency System, Glenview Heating, Trinity Heating, Budget Heating and Climate King, engaged in the selling, installing and repairing of home heating and air conditioning units and systems.

In the earlier civil action brought by the Attorney General, Hayes was found to be improperly installing and fixing heating and air conditioning systems and then refusing to issue refunds.

The defendant also has an extensive criminal background including convictions for armed robbery, aggravated battery, theft, and unlawful use of weapons.

Several area consumers victimized since March of this year are cited in documents Hartigan filed with the court yesterday. Other consumers who believe they have been victimized by the defendant should contact the Attorney General's Office at (312) 917-3580.

Highway District will be $730,000.00 of which the Highway District received half ($365,000.00). The other half is distributed to the twelve municipalities that make up Worth Township.

Esposito went on to explain the reason for the decrease was because a surplus of funds existed at the end of the 1987-88 fiscal year that was carried over to the current budget which enabled him, Esposito to levy less taxes for the 1989-90 fiscal year.

NEWSIGHTING

Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

IF IT DOESN'T EXIST, HOW CAN YOU FIND IT?...The National Geographic Society, which previously certified, in 1909, Robert Peary's discovery of the North Pole, now is casting serious doubts on Peary's claim, and these doubts are being written about in the 100th Anniversary Issue of the National Geographic...this is serious stuff. If you are the least bit curious about this subject, try reading HOLLOW EARTH by Bernard, and I believe you will understand the problem NGS is wrestling with...the book puts forth a theory that the earth is hollow, and there are openings at the "north" and "south" points...into the center of the earth. Haven't you ever wondered what all the governments of the world have been doing with their research groups on those "islands of ice?" I know what I think. What about you? I can tell you that this one book is so well researched and written that it will save you the effort to read 95% of the books listed in the bibliography. And if you pursue the subject, you just might notice something different about the moon the next time you look at it.

THE DOTSON DILEMNA...Like the recently rerun TV movie "Outrage," in which the jury found the judicial system guilty, and the murderer innocent, Gov. Thompson is facing an admission that the system was wrong, and he would do almost anything than have to admit this. Example: how could Dotson have been in jail for a parole violation, when he was innocent of the crime he was originally accused of, and therefore never should have been in jail in the first place? He's going to be able to sue the State of Illinois for "mucho" bucks, if he's around long enough to do it. Trouble is, he has more problems than he knows what to do with, and his situation just seems to get worse. I don't like what I see happening.

THE QUAYLE GUARD...Reports from the Indiana National Guard and the Pentagon show that his Guard unit had vacancies when he enlisted during the Vietnam War. The furor over this matter is, in truth, an indictment of the National Guard system. It certainly couldn't be a media hype to distract everyone from what is really going on, could it???

Write to me at P.O. Box 39, Oak Lawn, Il. 60454

And I am, Alyn

TIPS ON TRIPS

It's often possible to save money and have more fun on your vacation if you plan ahead. One good way to spread vacation dollars and visit several destinations is to take advantage of special packages and weekend rates.

Free travel literature is often available from travel agencies, airlines, tourism boards and hotels. For example, Best Western, the worldwide lodging chain, offers a free Road Atlas and Travel Guide at all its North American hotels. The chain's toll-free number—1-800-528-1234—is open 24-hours to provide hotel package information and "one stop" travel planning assistance.

Senior citizen discounts are often available with almost every aspect of travel, although many travel-related companies don't advertise these special rates. When you make your travel plans be sure to ask about reduced rates for seniors and be prepared to provide proof of age.

SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

Running A Service Business

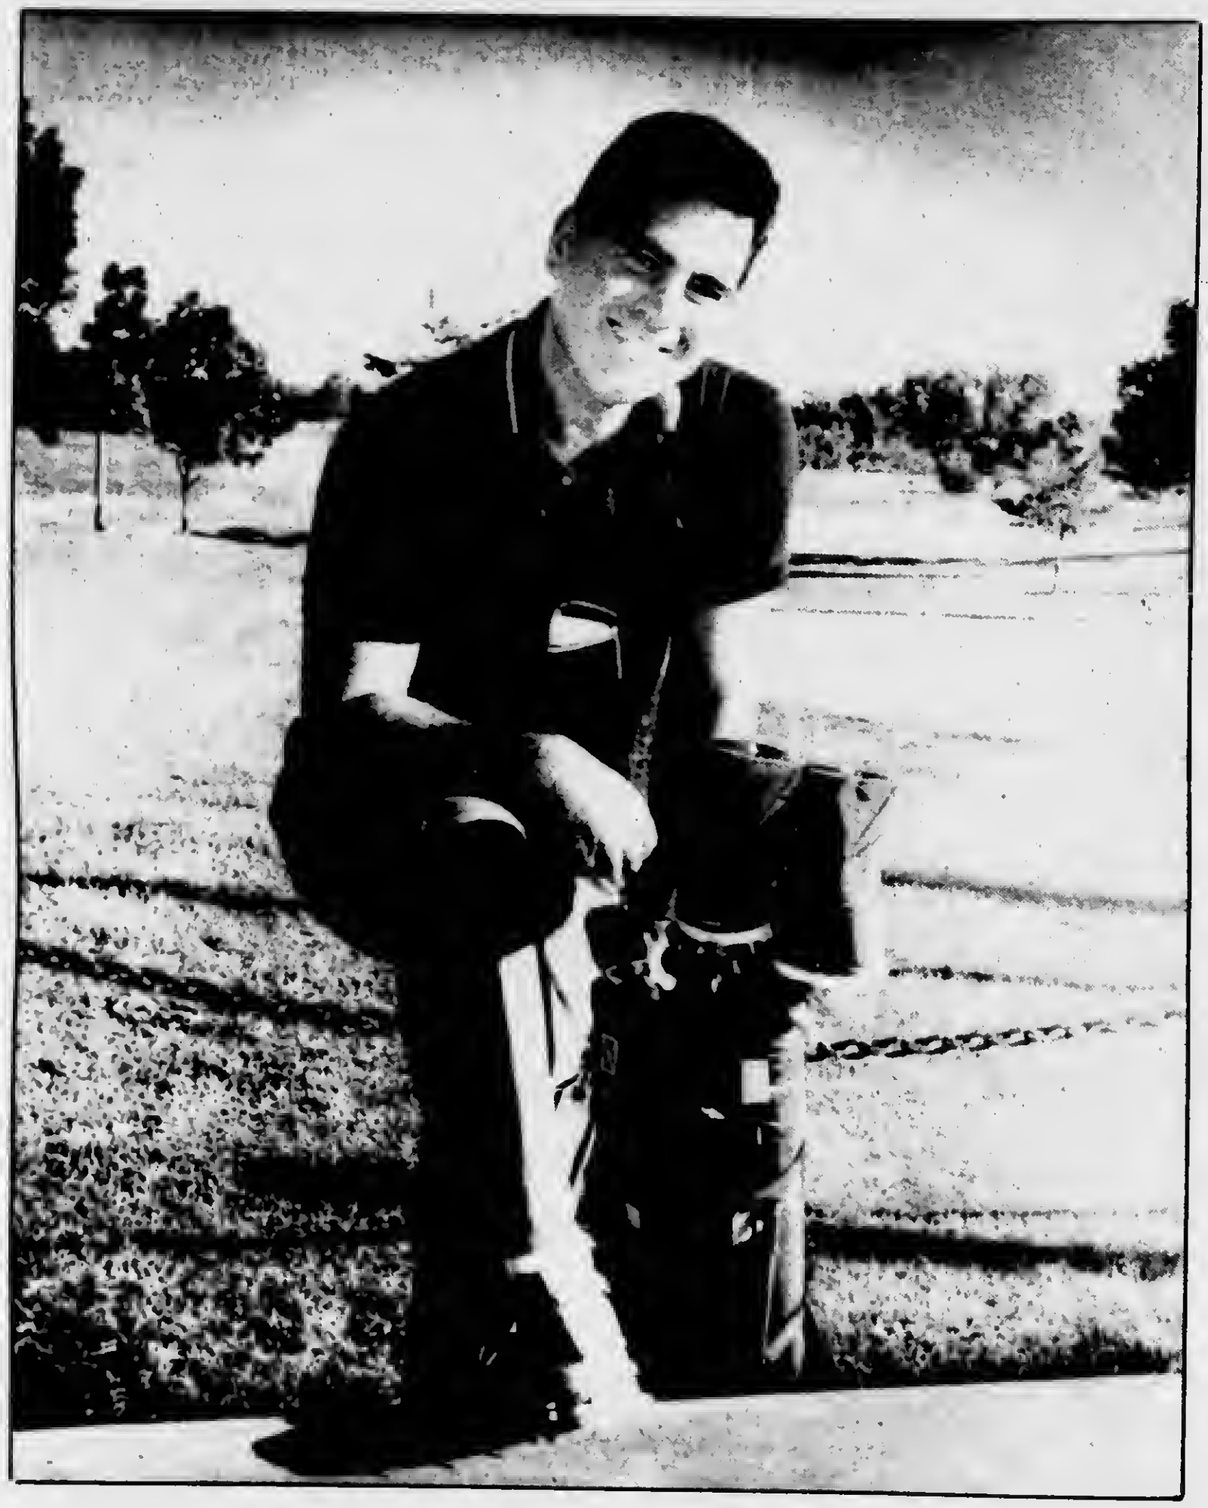
By Bette Otte

Ms. Otte is managing director of Orange County, California's "Nutri/System" Weight-Loss Centers. Ms. Otte is a member of Harvard's prestigious OPM Group (Owners, Presidents and Management). Nutri/System, Inc., is a pioneer in weight-loss research.

Satisfying customers should be the top priority in running a service business. I've found that if you and your employees follow these five basic principles, they will parlay into happy customers and a successful business.

1. Respect every individual's needs. Showing an active interest and belief in everyone's work will translate into quality service for customers.

2. Always present and demand a professional attitude among staff members and throughout the center. This will enhance a sense of pride.



3. Encourage employees to show enthusiasm, which is the result of a positive attitude and team spirit. It's contagious and will go straight to the client—they can't help but feel progress is being made.

4. Promote a "we're number one" attitude. Always display successes and achievements—for client and company alike. Use positive reinforcement.

5. Always remember that the first step to client success is to develop a personal, in-depth knowledge of each individual and convey the message: "We care."

Your employees are your bloodline to the client. If you lose touch with the client, you'll lose touch with where the business is going.

Weekend Tip:

I like to enjoy my weekends. That's why I do my banking weekday evenings at Oak Lawn National Bank. Their Drive-up and full-service Lobby are open until 8:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Annual Kiwanis peanut day September 23

On Friday, Sept. 23rd, the Oak Lawn Kiwanis Club Members will be out on the corners of Oak Lawn for the annual Peanut Day Fund raiser. These men and women, volunteers from the Key Club of Oak Lawn High School will be on the streets in their orange ponchos collecting donations and giving out bags of peanuts. This is the major fund-raiser for the year and all donations remain in our community. Ali donations go towards helping the non-sighted, handicapped and destitute members of our community who look to us for help. We also operate the summer camp for our handicapped children where no one is turned away. We need you assistance and if you miss our volunteers on the street, please send a donation to the Kiwanis Club of Oak Lawn.

Local business woman selected for award

Local Business-woman Marie Napolillo was introduce to a packed meeting of the Oak Lawn Chamber of Commerce on September 13th as the recipient of the 1988 Oak Lawn Citizen of the Year Award. Napolillo told the Chamber of Commerce that she was deeply moved by the accolades she received. Chairman Linda Macfarlane (Concordia Federal Bank for Savings) said of Napolillo, "It is difficult to put into words all that Marie has done for Oak Lawn, other business people and the unfortunate. This year we found the rose in our own garden."

Napolillo is a member and past officer of the Oak Lawn Lady Elks, the only female officer ever elected of The International Radiator Association and has been honored as the Woman of the Year previously by the Oak Lawn Business and Professional Women, in which she has been an officer. "I'd hate to think of Oak Lawn without her", said Chamber President Tom Gavin, "It is almost impossible to name any charitable activity or cause she hasn't been involved in.

Chamber Executive Director Bill Sullivan told the assembled Chamber that the response at the meeting would assure a sell-out. He said that tables of eight were being prepared and that the ticket price would be $22.50 per person. The gala banquet will take place at the Oak Lawn Holiday Inn at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 21st. Mayor Ernest Kolb will be on hand to deliver his annual "State of the Village" address and present the honors of the Village government to Napolillo.

Water Restriction

Following the most recent meeting of the South/Southwest Water Communities, the Village of Oak Lawn has decided to modify the water restriction measures currently in effect by removing restrictions on the hours of the day that residents may sprinkle. The odd/even portion of the conservation measures will remain in force, meaning that those residents whose address ends in an odd number may sprinkle on odd numbered calendar days and those whose address ends in an even number may sprinkle on even numbered calendar days. During that particular day there will be no restrictions on the hours during which they may sprinkle. This alteration became effective on Sunday, Sept. 4th.

Rousing rally for Russo

Congressman Marty Russo (D. 3rd Dist.) will have a "Rousing Rally" on Sunday, September 25, in the parking lot of the Condesa Del Mar, 12300 S. Cicero Ave., between noon and dusk.

Joan Murphy, co-chairman of this magnificent outdoor event, has stated that there will be free rides for adults and kids. Bingo (prizes), and continuous entertainment. Also free will be pop-corn, ice cream, pop, dancing, and face painting.

Also available will be food, beverages, games of skill, games of chance, and much more.

Murphy went on to say that a big screen TV or trip to Las Vegas will culminate the event with the biggest raffle ever.

Avid Bear fans will have the opportunity to watch the Bears game on big-screen TV.

Cong. Marty Russo

DALEY BILL TO PROTECT SENIORS

Legislation proposed by Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley to increase the penalties against anyone who seriously injures a senior citizen during the commission of a crime has been signed into law by Gov. James R. Thompson.

House Bill 3615, which will create the new criminal offense of "Aggravated Battery to a Senior Citizen," will go into effect next Jan. 1, Daley said.

It requires a mandatory prison term for criminals who inflict serious injury or permanent disability on a victim who is age 60 or older.

"I congratulate the governor and all the state senators and representative who recognized the need to give greater legal protection to seniors, who are often targeted as crime victims precisely because of their age," Daley said.

"But this bill could not have been as successful without the help of seniors themselves, who voiced their strong and vocal support for this measure," he added. "This is their victory as well."

Under current law, criminals who inflict serious or permanent injury on a senior are eligible for a sentence of probation if convicted.

Not only will probation be eliminated, but the possible maximum sentence for such a crime will increase from five years in prison to seven years behind bars under the new law, Daley explained.

"Some criminals regard seniors as easy prey, because they are less able to physically defend themselves," he said.

"This new law will send the message that attacking and seriously hurting a senior will result in greater punishment, including mandatory prison, and hopefully will make the elderly less attractive as victims to these thugs," Daley added.

Singled out for praise by Daley is 47th State Representative John O'Connell as a principal sponsor.

Retailers applaud signing of tax bill

Illinois retailers congratulate Governor James R. Thompson for signing into law House Bill 3007, which expands a taxpayer's rights in settling claims with the Illinois Department of Revenue.

The bill, sponsored by State Representative John O'Connell (47th Dist.), creates a pre-hearing conference settlement with the Department of Revenue where the taxpayer may be represented by someone other than a lawyer.

"Governor Thompson and the sponsors of this bill deserve praise for supporting this important legislation," said Illinois Retail Merchants Association President David F. Vite. "Public Act 85-1214 allows businesses and individuals handle claims with the Department of Revenue themselves before incurring the expenses of an attorney. The informal hearings will save time and money for citizens and the government, and that's just plain good business."

Effective immediately, the law's provisions must be established by Revenue Director Roger Sweet within 180 days.

Illinois Retail Merchants Association is the only statewide organization exclusively serving the needs of all sizes and merchandise lines in the industry.

BACK TO WORK WITH OUR TAX DOLLARS!

"The Election is approaching and many people are concern as to who the next president will be."

Our biggest concern should be who will be elected to run the congress, state , and country! Will it be a republican or democrat?

Ask yourself in which way will we benefit as "We The People"! Our taxes are increasing in both federal and state dollars and yet we are receiving less services within our communities.

Every community would like to be able to service their residents in the most efficient way possible, but with tax dollars.

Just look around at the street repairs, lights, garbage, sewer and curbs, etc.

Repairs on state and county highways are beginning to take forever. Central Avenue has been blocked for months, not to mention very hazardous at night.

Years ago, there would be 10 labors working within a 10 block radius repairing the street. Now you can't find more than two individuals working on the street at a given time.

If 'We The People' are going to pay a large tax bill, let's get our men back to work and receive the services back within the community.

Plows Council on Aging

While most life-improving services are thought to be required on a daily basis, essential services for senior citizens do not always fall into this category. Much needed assistance may very well be a once-a-year event. After many years of serving the elderly, PLOWS Council on Aging understands this and therefore implements programs of this yearly nature.

Two programs of this type that are provided for seniors in the southwest suburbs are Income Tax Assistance and the Seniorama Health Fair.

The Income Tax Assistance Program provides assistance to seniors who need help preparing their simple tax returns.

One final area of VOLUNTEER need is in the PLOWS office. Office VOLUNTEERS work as team members as they assemble client and membership mailings as well as the PLOWS Newsletter.

The Seniorama Health Fair is an annual event that offers health screenings, educational programs, and exhibits to senior citizens. This health fair is co-sponsored by PLOWS and Moraine Valley Community College every spring. Many VOLUNTEER works will vary and is determined by need as well as availability. The Office VOLUNTEER should enjoy working along side others in a clerical setting.

It has been said, "We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give." There are many opportunities for a person to VOLUNTEER time and talent through the programs at PLOWS Council on Aging. Please contact the PLOWS office, 422-6722, for further information.

LCMH sponsors clinic

Join us during Emergency Medical Services Week at Little Company of Mary Hospital's second Emergency Medical Services Family Fair and Teddy Bear Clinic on Tuesday, September 20, from 3:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. The fair will be held in the LCMH Annex Parking Lot, south of 95th Street between Mozart and Francisco Avenues.

Children are invited to bring their favorite teddy bear, stuffed animal or baby doll for a complete emergency diagnosis and treatment by hospital Emergency Department nurses. The idea behind the Teddy Bear Clinic is to help children become familiar with emergency medicine and reduce the fears often associated with hospitals and medical personnel.

Besides learning about how teddy bears, like people, can be helped by medicine, stitches and castings, children will also learn that tender loving care is a very special medicine that is freely distributed at Little Company of Mary Hospital.

PERSONAL NURSING SERVICE

Alternatives to hospitalization/homecare

Pamela L. Trost
Personal Nursing Service

Home care is a healthful solution to long term hospitalization PERSONAL NURSING SERVICE provides a full range of nursing care and therapies to a client and his/her family in the familiar surroundings of their home. PERSONAL NURSING SERVICE provides education to the clients and family members on how to function and cope with an illness. Professional assistance is available to a client 24 hours per day, 7 days per week, including holidays. Home care is like having hospital skills and dependability at your fingertips, in the comfort of YOUR home.

Home care promotes family integrity and the independence of the client to the maximum of his/her abilities. And, by relieving some of the stress associated with an illness of a loved one, home care contributes to a shorter recovery period, with less complications.

Home care is the legal right of each individual, and it is recommended by the American Association of Retired Persons that an individual research home care agencies to find the best agency to meet their needs. Not all home care agencies charge the same rates, or provide the same rates, or provide the same services. It is recommended by PERSONAL NURSING SERVICE to consider an agency that has received a State License to provide home care services. This will assure you that certain public health requirements are being met by the agency.

PERSONAL NURSING SERVICE is available to every individual regardless of age, race, religion, and it is becoming the ideal solution for minimizing the financial effects of an illness. Home care is approximately one-third the cost of an average hospital stay. And, insurance companies are adjusting payments to cover 80% to 100% of home care costs.

PERSONAL NURSING SERVICE will take care of all the paperwork involved with an insurance claim for their clients and wait for payments from the insurance company. If there is no insurance available to cover the costs of home care, PERSONAL NURSING SERVICE will adopt a payment plan according to the financial resources available to the client and family. Discounts and waiver of costs have been arranged by PERSONAL NURSING SERVICE. We believe the needs of the client are just as important as payment of the services.

If special equipment, such as an electric bed, or an I.V. pole is necessary, PERSONAL NURSING SERVICE will make arrangements with a supplier to have the items delivered to the client's home and set up accordingly. Once again, HOME CARE brings the services and dependability of a hospital to YOUR home.

Communicating with teens seminar

The teenage years- those words conjure up images of cruising in your dad's car, spending hours at the beach or just hanging out at the local hamburger spot.

But the teenage years can be a time of worry, frustration and isolation. To help those living and working with adolescents to better recognize the warning signs of a serious problem, Little Company of Mary Hospital is sponsoring a free seminar titled "Communicating with Teens: The Danger Signals" from 8:30 a.m. until 11 a.m. on Saturday, September 24.

"This seminar is designed for parents, teachers and any other individuals who come in regular contact with teenagers. We want these people to be aware of the danger signals of drug abuse, alcoholism and teen suicide," said Joan Cahill of the Health Promotion Services Department at Little Company of Mary Hospital.

"We will also address ways in which parents and teachers can help guide young people safely through their teen years."

Mary E. Weyer, R.N., Ed. D. and Robert J. Walsh, M.A., N.C.C. will conduct this seminar. Both are professional family counselors in private practice as well as parents of teens themselves.

The seminar will be held in the Education Building, 2800 W. 95th Street, Evergreen Park, and will begin with a coffee reception. The presentation will start promptly at 9 a.m. followed by an open forum for questions and answers. The seminar will conclude at 11 a.m.

"Communicating with Teens: The Danger Signals" is free to all, but reservations are required. To make a reservation, or to receive additional information, call the Health Promotion Services Department at Little Company of Mary Hospital at 422-6200, extension 5830.

Our Membership Club is free to anyone 50 years and older. Members receive assistance with insurance forms, community referrals, discounts on health education classes, screening programs, prescriptions and more.

Home Health Care provides comprehensive services at the patient's home. For those recuperating from acute illness, or those learning to live with chronic illness, services include skilled nursing as well as grocery shopping, meal preparation, transportation, and companionship.

On Call provides peace of mind to mature adults and their families. This emergency response system operates by means of a small unit with a button to push for emergency help.

SOCIAL SECURITY REQUIREMENTS

People getting Social Security checks have both rights and responsibilities. Among the responsibilities is the need to report certain changes that may effect a person's continued eligibility for benefits or for the amount of the monthly check. The report to Social Security may be made in person, by mail, or by phone.

Any change that might affect a person's check should be reported promptly; failure to report may result in an overpayment. If a person is overpaid, Social Security will take action to recover any portion of the benefits which should not have been paid. Furthermore, a person who fails to report a change or who makes a false statement may be subject to a fine or imprisonment.

Every report should include the name of the person about whom the report is made, the change or changes being reported, the date the change took place, and the claim number under which the Social Security benefits are being paid.

Some changes must be reported by all getting Social Security benefits. These include any change of mailing address, earnings of more than the annual exempt amount, travel or employment outside the United States, and imprisonment for committing a felony.

Depending on their circumstances, other beneficiaries must report a marriage, divorce, or annulment; the adoption of a child or the fact that a child has left the care of a parent; any change in school attendance for a student 18-19; or the death of a person who is receiving benefits.

People receiving benefits because of disability should also report medical improvement or return to work.

People needing help or who want more information about reporting a change should contact any Social Security Office.

Blake-Lamb new acquisition recently announced

Matt Lamb, chairman of Blake-Lamb Funeral Homes, the oldest funeral service organization in Illinois, recently announced the acquisition of a new funeral home property, Lain-Fern Funeral Home, located at 10001 S. Western Avenue. "The home will be renamed Blake-Lamb Lain-Fern & Associates. The building was constructed by Judge Fern a number of years ago, but the facility is as up-to-date and as equipped to serve the community today as it was then," said Lamb in making the announcement.

Rosemarie Lamb, president of Blake-Lamb, is dedicated to perpetuating the business of caring for families during the mourning process, always the most stressful period for family members. "None of the growth of Blake-Lamb has any meaning if our firm cannot continue the outstanding reputation we have so patiently built on everyday presence to people in need. It is my job to steer Blake-Lamb toward the future, and that old-fashioned concern is at the top of my priority list," she said.

Patrols to eliminate recycling thefts

The Village of Oak Lawn announced a program of stepped-up police patrols to eliminate theft from recycling program baskets that has plagued the recycling effort from the beginning.

Thieves have pilfered the baskets of recyclable aluminum cans and sold them for their own profit. This theft has accounted for 25% of all of the recycled aluminum on any given day according to Trustee Jay Bergamini (5th District).

The Village instituted an ordinance to prevent the theft in November. The ban has worked to cut down on the practice, but has not eliminated it. However, Bergamini said that the theft is less prevalent from levels it was at in the beginning of the program. "It was quite rampant when we first started, now its down considerable," he said.

The thieves are residents of nearby areas who travel to Oak Lawn after hearing of the recycling program. Bergamini said that the thieves simply drive up to the containers and fill their cars with aluminum cans. Mayor Ernest Kolb said that Arlington Heights has experienced similar problems with theft from its recycling program.

Bergamini asked the police department to increase patrols in residential areas to discourage the theft and to offer more visible police protection.

The recycling program will be expanded to all of Oak Lawn by the beginning of 1989, according to Bergamini. He said that by January or February of 1989, "we will be 100 percent recycling."

Trustee Ron Stancik (2nd District) said that some of his new constituents, who have just moved into Oak Lawn complained that they did not receive their baskets. He proposed having the Water Department provide residents with baskets as they have their water turned on for the first time.

Meyer Brothers, the firm that conducts the recycling program, is conducting efficiency studies to determine ways of [illegible] the collection [illegible] of the program to larger areas, said Bergamini.

ONE MOTHER'S DIGNITY

To my Mother, my closest, dearest friend and companion, and my own self-being. Florence B. Broadstone Aug.7,1927- Feb.12,1988.

By Bonnie Garza

In fall of 1984, my mother who at age 57 had to go onto disability due to various forms of arthritis, that affected her from performing her job as a cashier in a major store chain in the south suburbs. She had to fight for her disability pension not only from the company, but also the Social Security System for 2 years. Congressman Russo office had helped her and kept in contact with her. She finally was awarded full disability at the end of 1986.

Mom had seen several doctors in the last few years for the pain she was having in her arm and neck. No doctor really took her seriously or found out why she had this pain. Contributing it to her arthritis or even a mental condition.

Everything came to a head in April 1987, four days before Easter. I had been taking Mom to the doctors twice a week at that time. That Thursday when I got out there, she was in a lot of pain and having trouble breathing, I took her into the emergency room at Olympia Fields Hospital.

By the next night, the doctor informed me that they were pretty sure Mom had cancer. By Monday after a bronchoscopy, it was diagnose as being malignant cancer of the lung and they could not operate on her.

Radiation was the only possible treatment for that type of cancer cell. She soon started her treatments of massive dosages for 30 days. She got so sick. Nobody else really saw how sick she was or the terrible pain she was in, she hid it well. Night time was the worst time, that's when she would get sick to her stomach. The radiation managed to get the tumor dormant. At that time we were told that she had maybe one year to live or a little longer. I sense now I was the strength she needed at that time.

Mom made me promise not to tell anyone what the doctors had diagnose, not my Father, husband or brothers. It was a promise I kept to her, now I wonder if I did the right thing. She didn't want pity or anyone to go out of their way, because of her situation.

In May she started seeing an anesthesiologist for pain control. She received shots for the pain that only lasted at the most 24 hours. It left her temporarily deformed. Through the next few months, I took her in once a week for shots, sometimes twice. She had various medicines for pain, 3 or 4 control substances, plus other prescriptions. Morphine didn't seem to be relieving her that much either. Once she woke me when the pain had been so unbearable, she had taken six different medicines to try and relieve the pain. I thought she would OD, she really scared me that night. She slept for 5 hours, which was long since at the most she had only been able to sleep 2 hours because of the pain.

From April to August I lived at my parents home to take care of Mom. My Father's job kept him on the road a lot. Sometimes a road job lasted 2 - 4 days.

Mom seemed to improve somewhat during the next few months, but at Thanksgiving, I notice she was having more pain then normal. At her last appointment with the anesthesiologist in December, she made an appointment for her nerves to be cut on Jan. 2, or if not that, a direct flow of medication by a catheter continuously to control the pain. She kept saying, "I just want to get through the holidays."

On Christmas Day, she was in such terrible pain, she couldn't hand out the gifts to the grandchildren. It was that day, she told me she had made cassette tapes for everybody. I know now, she knew or felt she didn't have much time left, she had bought the tapes December 7, when I had taken her shopping.

December 28, we had a snow storm during the night, and Mom had a doctor appointment. It was 7 a.m. when I called her, a man answered, thinking I had dialed the wrong number, I apologized, he asked me who I was calling, I told him. He said he was a paramedic and they were taking Mom to the hospital, they may have to do a tracheotomy on her, and for me to get there immediately. I woke up my sons and husband to shovel out the drive. I got on the phone with the railroad, Dad was on a 4 day job, they managed to patch me through to him on the radio, Dad got home late that night.

Mom was having hallucinations all week. By Saturday, Jan. 2, 1988 we got another phone call from the doctors, asking us to come into the hospital, Mom may have to be put on a respirator/resuscitator, (life support machine). Mom was 59 years old.

My Father knew how Mom felt about life support machines, Mom made it known she

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jacki Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE SIGNS:

ARIES/SCORPIO
Know where to draw the line on spending. Do not let your partner demand that you speculate. Know what you are doing at all times this week...you are vulnerable.

TAURUS/LIBRA
Take a crash course in something that can add to your work area. You could be in for more money, but you must take the bull by the horns and apply self-discipline.

GEMINI/VIRGO
Be wise to people who expect you to do all of the planning, the work, and intitiate new ideas. You are not a machine! You too are a person that needs a lot of TLC. Let this be know before you wring yourself out.

CANCER
Try to do something new and unusual, something they would not expect you to do. Buy new things, go places, or take a short trip. You deserve this, you are a hard-worker!

LEO
Just because you can do most anything, does not mean that you have to do all of the work. Let others do their share! Like Gemini and Virgo, you appear to be an "easy-mark" so, this is the time to correct this image.

SAGITTARIUS
Real estate matters are in this weeks plan, do whatever you have to and make your home a place you want to go to. There is some tension this week, don't let it overtake you. Perhaps all you need is new colours.

CAPRICORN
Grab the brass ring, it is there now. But, do not push people this week, because they may be up-tight and not easily dealt with. Far better to know what YOU want and go for it, then others will come in..eventually.

AQUARIUS
You have two things going for you this week, one is your charming ways, and the other is money coming to you.

PISCES
Read the above message and add this: know the details of a commitment asked of you. Don't rush blindly into signing contracts. A Leo person helps in a very intuitive way.

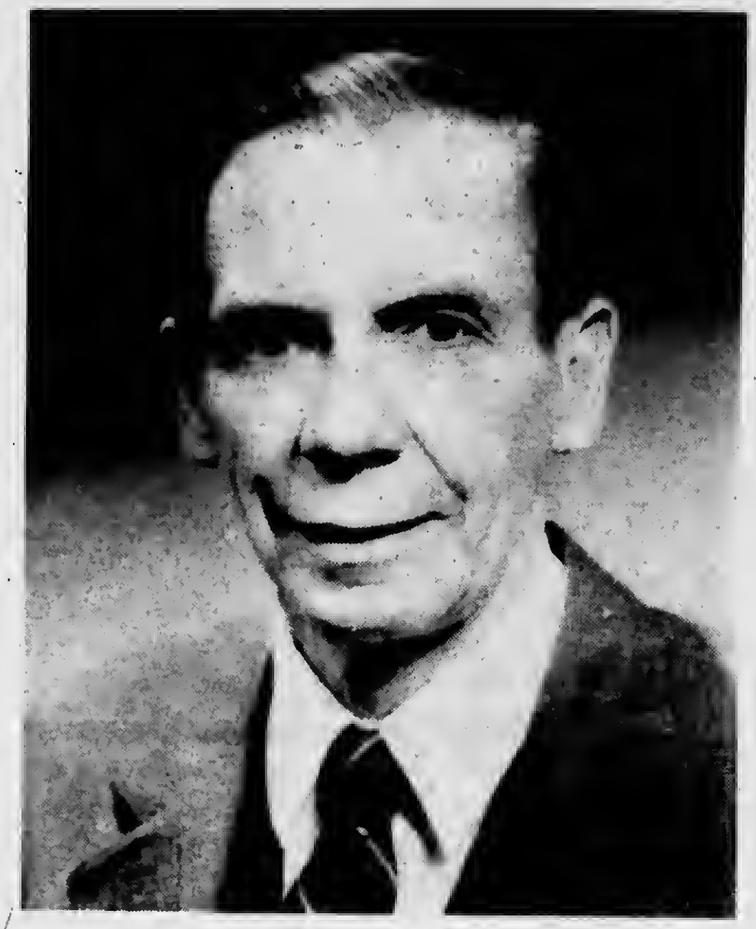
TIPS FOR FIRST-TIME TRAVELERS TO EUROPE

Here are a few tips to help make that first trip to Europe a pleasurable experience. First of all, pack wisely. Learn what the climate will be like at your destination and pack accordingly. Remember to take along only what you'll need. Those flying first class are allowed 66 pounds of luggage, those flying economy are allowed 44 pounds. Check your luggage on your home bathroom scale for weights.



Take most of your money in travelers checks. If these are lost, you'll be inconvenienced -- but losing your money could be disastrous. If your camera is foreign made, register it with U.S. customs before you leave. Otherwise, you'll have to pay duty on it when you return. Have ready about $10. worth of local currency when you land. You'll need it for tips, taxis, and small purchases. While in Europe, always change your money with recognized money changers--banks, airports, etc.

When you return, list all customs declarations clearly. You're allowed up to $100. Original works of art and antiques over 100 years old aren't subject to duty. While in Europe, you can mail gifts of under $10. duty free.

We're experts in the travel field. Our knowledge and years of experience will insure you of a memorable, care-free trip. Come see us soon.

One Mother's Dignity

didn't want to be on them. It was a decision he made when we saw her to put her on it. Dad said, "Bonnie, I'm sorry, I'm not ready to lose her yet."

Mom had respiratory failure as they moved her into the CCU Unit. The doctors felt she wouldn't live till the next day even on life support and told us to contact everybody who may want to see her. The hardest phone call for me to make was to my Grandmother, who is 89 years old, to tell her that her daughter was dying.

Mom proved the doctors wrong. She made it through that night and was able to be weaned on Wednesday, Jan. 6th., she had to be put back on it within 6 hours, she couldn't manage on her own. We were informed what would happen if they weaned her again and if she had to go back on it, she wouldn't be able to come home, and wouldn't come off the machine a third time. The cancer was active and rampant, and she would become a vegetable if she lived much longer. Mom made a decision then, she wanted off the machine, wanted to go home to die. A decision we all had to live with then, and for the rest of our lives.

Friday, January 9th on recommendation of doctors and the Minister, my Father and I went to the Chapel to make preliminary arrangements and to the cemetery. According to the doctors, there was no medical explanation why Mom was still alive. One doctor said, "It was as close to a miracle she has seen."

Monday, Jan. 11th we brought Mom home from the hospital. Hospital equipment, and oxygen was sent to my parents home through the Hospital Social Service Department. The American Cancer Society provided the equipment.

The Doctor sent out a DNR letter (Do Not Resuscitate) to the Chapel, Hospital and Paramedics. Hospice was also contacted.

Hospice, is a volunteer organization that works with terminally ill families and prepare them for the inevitable. Informing the care givers, (my Dad, brothers and me) what to expect and what to look for. Helping Mom as well and giving us a break.

Also, a visiting nurse was sent out twice a week. My Father and I were taught how to use the various machines, take blood pressure, and vital signs, I was shown some things in the hospital before we brought Mom home.

The doctor made weekly house calls, in today's society when house calls are unheard of.

The next four weeks was a living nightmare for me. No matter what I did or what I didn't do, my mother was dying in front of me, and there was nothing I could do about it. My brothers came every night after work and staying through the night sometimes. And they came on a telephone call, no matter what time I called them, if I needed them.

She went from strain baby food to whole food again in three weeks. She hit low points. Once she slept for 3 days, we couldn't wake her. She came out of it and did good for a while. We had Holy Communion with the whole family present, Dad, my brothers and sister-in-law, my husband, and 7 of her 9 grandchildren (2 were out of state).

But her bad days outnumbered her good days. Several times during that last month, we didn't think she would be with us the next morning. Mom told us what she wanted at the funeral. On January 29, my brother and I went to the florist to place the order for flowers. Some arrangements had to be changed at the Chapel also.

Thursday evening, February 11, she started running 104 temperature and could no longer bring the phlegm up. I called the nurse, she would be out the next morning. But I knew what was happening The blueness/grayness around her mouth, fingers and ankles were visible that morning.

The nurse came out Friday morning, she tended to Mom and within the hour she came out, told my Dad he shouldn't go to work that day. She went back to Mom and called us in. The Death Rattle, that so many refer to, my Dad and I was hearing. Mom couldn't speak, she look at Dad, then me, then to Dad, she closed her eyes, and died.

Mom and God gave us that last 32 days of life, not the doctors, to help us prepare for her death. And when she felt we were ready to let her go, I think that's when she was able to die. She died with her dignity, not hooked to machines in a strange hospital room or nursing home, and not a vegetable, but in her home, where she wanted to be.

The doctors were wrong, they told us Mom would die in her sleep (most patients do, they said), she died at 11:08 a.m. on February 12th, they were wrong, they told us we would only have her home maybe an hour, we had her home for a month and 1 day. It makes me wonder now if they were wrong on other things. Could they have operated? Would chemotherapy have helped? How many other things were they wrong about?

The nurse called the Doctor, I called my brothers, my husband, the Minister and my Grandmother. We waited for everyone to get there. We gave my brothers time with Mom alone. We all knew about the tapes by then and what Mom wanted us to do. I got the tapes out and I handed my brothers their tapes and I took mine. I placed the one that said family into the cassette player, and we listened to it, my Father, my brothers and I. Then and only then did I call the chapel to come for Mom.

My Dad said to us, as they took Mom, "That's how you will have to get me out of this house also, feet first."

One last note: I would like to thank all the people who said prayers for my Mother and us, and also their concern. But, I must say thanks to Annette Dixon, my boss for tolerating my absence and for her friendship she showed, and my husband and family who manage without me for seven months and never complained.

YES YOU DO, BUT NO YOU DON'T...It's not the shock syndrome, but it is a shock...as many as 70% of those women who thought they were experiencing PMS (premenstrual syndrome) really don't have it! This is according to Dr. David Rubinow, clinical director of the National Institute of Mental Health. He has stated that very specifically that between three and four million women "may be receiving treatment for a condition they probably don't have." Sounds like the precision of science at work. Wonder what they'll be saying next month. His apparent conclusion was the PMS is widely misunderstood." Hmmm...for those of you suffering this very real problem, whatever it is, it's still there! I wish their research could solve the problem.

WHAT'S A TUCKER?...It's a movie that I am going to see, and I hope you do too. It's an eye-opener on how the auto industry works...Tucker found out the hard way, and de Loren found out the same type of thing with his automobile. Yes, there is a price on ingenuity and imagination and creativity.

HOW GOOD IS YOUR MEMORY?...Now it is said that "surging grocery costs sent consumer prices up at a 5.2 percent annual rate in July. The drought certainly will have its effect, but can anyone recall what the consumer price increases have been over the last 10 - 12 years? It doesn't seem like 5.2 percent deserves terminology like "surging."

BEST BET...on the atom smasher...Texas! Because a deal is a deal, and it's my opinion when Texas agreed not to secede from the Union recently, which they had the legal right to do, they were probably guaranteed many things, and the collider could have been one of them. Just a thought!

THE BROOKLINE SYNDROME...looks like a liability for Dukakis. It was March 5, 1985, in Canton, China, where he delivered his comments on Brookline...part of it went like this: "...some friends of President Reagan occasionally refer to Massachusetts as the 'People's Republic of Massachusetts'..." He had been advocating revolution in China and it's importance. This is surprising stuff.

There is absolutely no reason for property taxes to increase at the rates they are doing lately. Village of Oak Lawn New Public Safety Building Receives Bids

By Brian Begy

Few bids for Oak Lawn's new Public Safety Building have been received by Village staff. In some cases, only one bid was received for each service needed, architect John Friega said at the Oak Lawn Board of Trustees Meeting Tuesday.

Many contractors have been overburdened with available work recently, leading to fewer bids for the project, according to Friega. "The trades are very busy." he said.

Village staff have not determined what to do about the lack of bids yet. Friega said that staff will have to examine the time delays caused by rebidding for various services. He said that scheduling difficulties may decide if rebidding must be done.

The Village advertised in some trade journals and local newspapers. Friega said that staff personally called some businesses to inform them of the opportunities. He said that the businesses said that they "couldn't commit at this time."

He said that it is difficult to get masons, carpenters and steelworkers lately. The Public Safety Building will require large projects that are difficult to find contractors large enough to do the job.

Friega said that it will be possible to delay awarding some of the contracts for a while. "There are certain trades that we can put off for a few months." he said.

In other business, Mayor Ernest Kolb said that he supported plans to revitalize the 95th Street area. He said that he had recently met with residents who were concerned about the project.

He said that the Village needs to increase the business of merchants along 95th Street. The business done by these shops has been taken over by shops in other communities. "We're losing a lot of trade to Chicago Ridge Mall," Kolb said.

The Village also gave out seniority awards to Village employees. Frank Gilbert was honored for 30 years of service. John Bulow was recognized for 25 years. Those honored for 20 years were James Blackman, W. T. Harris, Tage Stoor and Darrell Wiegman.

Those honored for 15 years were: Rita Akin, James Anderson, Wayne Beran, Roberta Cusack, Ronald McIver, and Marian Sullivan.

Those recognized for 10 years of service were: Steven Boyle, Peter Ciaccio, Peter Dubiel, Thomas Finn, Rita Hawking, Robert Johnson, Daniel Kotowski, John Olson, Paul Lunk, Timothy Scheidt, June Shanklin, Thomas Shervino, James Spallina and George Stuhmiller.

Politics make strange bedfellows! This was a comment made to me long ago and I didn't know what it meant until recently.

I am proud to say that I have been a Republican since 1961 when I registered to vote. I was educated in a Catholic school system in both primary and secondary education. My grandfather worked for Cook County as a street sweeper when the County hardly made its payroll. My husband's father started the Youth Division at 11th and State with his two brothers and Captain Delaney. Yes, I grew up in the political world of democrats. I wanted to be independent of government services and felt in order to serve oneself independently, one must own ones business.

Lately many former democrats are spouting their Republican views and calling it conservative. Are they concerned about Republican philosophies, or is this a united Cook County effort to build a power base and call it whatever, (Democrat, Republican or The New Party).

In order to win a county seat one must be a power structure within the Democratic Party and run as a Republican. This same method was used for U.S. Congress and State seats.

Are we the people going to be fooled by our candidates in the sheeps clothing. What is important to some are the issues in which many candidates will not address. Do we wait until October 15th, before we start reading what the issue are from our local candidates. As of now I am in receipt of only Congressman Russo's and Candidate Joseph McCarthy's news releases. Russo states what his stand is regarding passage of certain bills and McCarthy's news releases are what he is against. Neither have sent releases on what they will pursue or accomplish within the next year. State Rep. John McNamara has sent information to my old address, which is my home, although I have been located in a business residence for three years. (Everything that is relevant to the newspaper sent to my home is disregarded, sorry!) William Powell, Republican candidate for State Representative hasn't sent in anything except a fact sheet regarding he is no longer allowed to run his trucks out of his home location. Nothing relevant to his candidacy.

My guess is Bill is waiting for October 15 or thereafter.

Yes, politics surely does make strange bedfellows, only when instability occurs in Cook County.

Napleton Dealership Proposal Greeted with Concern from Neighbors

By Brian Begy

Questions have arisen about the proposed Ed. Napleton Dodge dealership to be constructed at 95th Street and Keeler Avenue.

The dealership will be built in the existing Venture shopping center. Napleton is renting the property from Venture on a long term lease.

David Sosin, attorney for Napleton requested a parking variation at a public hearing before the Oak Lawn Planning and Development Commission. The dealership was trying to get a 6.47 percent parking variation While debating about parking, the plan also received criticism from residents who live near the site.

Residents were concerned that the dealership would park new and used cars on the streets surrounding the dealership. Sosin said that no cars would be parked off of the site and that Napleton would not use 95th or Keeler for loading and unloading, as many dealerships do with other nearby streets.

The harsh lighting used on many dealerships to illuminate the lot at night brought criticism from those living nearby. Jack McGrath, member of the Planning and Development commission, said that he lives near a car lot and finds the lights "very irritating."

Russel Lissuzzo, of Palmer and Lissuzzo who designed the site, said that there would not be any problem with disturbing neighbors with the harsh lights, he said that the lights are fitted with special baffles to concentrate the light in the lot without shining on nearby areas. He explained that it would be possible to stand with one foot on either side of the property line, and have one foot illuminated and one in near darkness.

Residents complained that the lot would not have adequate drainage in the event of heavy rains. They said that Venture has more than adequate drainage facilities that prevents their basements from flooding even in heavy rains. They feared that the Napleton dealership wouldn't have such provisions.

Lissuzzo said that the dealership would comply with Metropolitan Sanitary District standards, and that they had designed the site with those standards in mind. He said that he expects the permits from the M.S.D. soon.

Daley Defends "Bill of Rights"

A case of voluntary manslaughter four years ago on Chicago's North Side has become the unlikely court battleground over the fundamental right of crime victims to testify at sentencing hearings.

In a filing with the Illinois Supreme Court, Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley argued that an unpublished ruling last year by the state's Appellate Court, if upheld, threatens the right of victims--or their survivors--to describe their losses to the court after the offenders are convicted.

The right was guaranteed under the "Bill of Rights for Victims and Witnesses of Violent Crime Act, which became law in 1984 following passage by the Illinois General Assembly, according to Daley.

Daley, a strong supporter of the Victim Bill of Rights when it was first proposed, said he strongly differs with the court's decision.

"Is it irrelevant for a would-be killer to anticipate the pain and loss that will result from a deliberately caused death?" Daley asked. "Is there something wrong with expecting killers to realize that their victims may have parents or spouses or children whose lives will be devastated by such a loss?"

Daley argued in his brief, however, that it is wrong to apply the Booth decision to non-capital cases, particularly since the nation's highest court noted its decision was guided by the fact that the death penalty is a punishment different from all others.

The U.S. Supreme Court also said its ruling implied "no opinion as to the use of these statements in non-capital cases."

Death penalty cases are unique, Daley noted, not only in the severity of the sentence but in the rules governing such proceedings.

For example, only those criminals facing the death penalty can elect to put their fates in the hands of juries rather than judges. Also, legislatures can require specific sentences for crimes, including life imprisonment, but cannot mandate the death penalty for any offense and can instead only allow it as an option.

Membership in the 20 year old Society is designed to be a national honor and incentive for top performance among high school students. To be accepted, candidates must excel in academics, extracurricular or civic activities.

Local students accepted as 1988 members include: Keith Oslakovic and Ramsey Merrill.

As members, these students will have the opportunity to compete for college scholarships through The Society's National Awards Program. This year, 140 colleges have earmarked more than $700,000 in scholarship funds for Society members.

Additionally, The Society sponsors members-only cash awards of up to $2,000 per recipient for higher education purposes, and its college referral programs recommend members for admission and grants-in-aid to 350 major colleges and universities.

To preserve the honor for students, members' names and their high school accomplishments will be listed in The Society's 1988 Membership Registry, which is published and distributed nationally.

Buy A Heat Pump And Receive 3 Thank-You Notes.

We like to think of it as a token of our appreciation.

You might prefer to think of it as a rebate.

Either way, now you'll find the advantages of buying a heat pump are almost as great as the advantages of owning one.

After all, a heat pump is the most energy-efficient heating and cooling system available. Designed to work like a central air conditioner in the summer, keeping your home cool.

And work with your furnace in the winter, keeping it warm.

That alone makes it a real value.

But add to that a rebate of $100 per ton of cooling capacity—the average being about 2½ tons, or $250—and a heat pump becomes more than an attractive investment.

It becomes an affordable way to keep your home comfortable, all year long.

Which is something you'll be thankful for.

Just "Bearly"

Football fever starts early in Chicagoland, and it doesn't take more than opening week to lure Bears fans away from the beaches and parks to - where else - Reilly's Daughter, for the next fun-filled season of The Bear Report.

Back again, and rowdy as ever, The Bear Report is one of the original local cable "Sports Talk Shows," often imitated, never duplicated. Produced by the production staff of Multimedia's Oak Lawn System, the show began three years ago as a sports show with a twist.

Hosted by Sportscaster Pat Benkowski, with Co-hosts Kurt Becker and Ron Rivera, and featuring a different Bears player each week as special guest, the show gives players and fans the rare opportunity to get together and, as Benkowski aptly puts it, "get bizzare."

Edward Stonich, 5th District Commander of the Department of the State of Illinois announced the representation of the 5th District.

This special induction was an unusual event in that Robert Michaels was a Past Commander and originator of the !st Burbank Post in 1985. According to Robert Michaels, "We started with only 15 members and by the end of 1985 we had 35 members." "Currently we have 161 members," replied membership chairman and Sr. Vicc Chairman Thomas Rogers. "Our goal is 200 members for 1988-1989 year," said Tom.

Elected by the entire district in the year 1985-86 was Casimir Lewandowski. Casey was 5th District Commander when the post was chartered and was instrumental in helping the post secure its charter. Russ Rusich was the 1st Division Commander for the Department of Illinois when he worked with Casey to get the charter for Burbank.

Many men and women are past and present commanders such as Pete Burbank, Len Zenaty, Effie Marros, Bernadette Clark, Gene Wojciechowski, and Steve Marros. They addressed the officers and members, inducting as officers, as indicated in the picture.

Congratulation's to outgoing Commander Richard Marren for the fine service and great events conducted under his command. Welcome to incoming Commander Robert P. Michaels who will enforce his leadership as he did in the past. And to the members, enjoy its' your post.

Rail Funds

U.S. Senator Paul Simon, (D.-Ill.) said Illinois will receive 11 percent of all federal rail construction funds to be released this month by a federal agency.

The Illinois senator announced grants of $580,000 each to improve freight rail connections in Keokuk and Manteno.

Simon led the effort to place the funds in the agency's budget for the Local Rail Service Assistance Program, which stretches private, local and state resources to save small rail lines vital to local economies. The agency now has told Simon it will release the funds this month to the Illinois Department of Transportation, which will oversee the projects.

Caps for Kids

"Caps for Kids" is sponsored by "Yarn Country" of Concord, CA. Caps are made from donated or scrap yarn (left over from projects) and knitted or crocheted by volunteers. Each cap may take 4 to 6 hours to make.

In 1987, volunteer's from 116 participating stores across the United States donated over 43,822 caps to needy children. Locally, Rose Marie Valencik's group of volunteers produced over 800 caps which were distributed to over 25 non-profit, non-religious organizations within the Chicagoland area.

However, demand for these warm, colorful caps has always exceeded supply and volunteer's are still needed. If you knit or crochet, please help. Make just one cap for a needy child or donate some scrap yarn for others to use. Yarn and patterns are available from Buttons & Bolts, 9722 S. Cicero Avenue, Oak Lawn, Il. 60453. Send a "S.A.S.E." for a pattern or stop in for a pattern and yarn.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH JACKI MARI

Copr. 1988 by Jack Mari

PSYCHIC PREDICTION FOR THE SIGNS:

ARIES/SCORPIO
Relax and let go...you cannot allow yourself to be uptight! You are not one that should let anger run your life! Be open to new opportunities, and be willing to make necessary changes. You are NOT TRAPPED!

TAURUS/LIBRA
Remember the old saying, "good things come to those who wait?" Well, your wait is over and it is time to let the good things come...but, you must believe in God and yourself!

GEMINI/VIRGO
Love is strong, and you have to believe this. There is help coming your way financially. Be sure that you know where to invest it, or even better, pay off outstanding bills.

CANCER
A family member may need some financial help or advice. You seem to be very intuitive this week...write those things down. A gentle and kind elderly person may want to give you something of value...accept it graciously.

LEO
You should lay the ground rules for some new project. Make it your business to know what is being spent for...and keep your finger on the pulse of what is going on.

SAGITTARIUS
You get a call from an old friend who may want to renew friendship with you. Be very open and accept an apology. This is also a week to buy new things, and see to appliances that need fixing.

CAPRICORN
Pay attention...you need to work more on your love life, take time...don't put all of your strength and energy into your work. Still, a very influencial person wants to work with you on their project. Remember, LOVE comes (or should come) first!

AQUARIUS
A surprise happening makes you very happy now especially since it means more money in your pocket. You could WIN something. A long term arrangement could be made concerning your housing needs...leases, contracts...etc.

PISCES
We all expect good things, some of us dwell on the bad that has happened in our lives....and all I can say to you is emphasize the positive and eliminate the negatives out of your life by thinking (meditating) on the colour BLUE this week. Think into your life what you want...it comes!

UIC High School Health Programs

High school students who are entering their senior year and interested in careers in the health professions can attend free high school-to-college transition workshops offered by the Early Outreach Program at the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC).

Workshops will be held on the UIC campus on Saturday mornings throughout the school year and will cover a variety of topics useful to the high school senior preparing for college.

Kent Pointdexter, a counselor at Early Outreach and coordinator of the program, said, "The workshop will focus on areas generally identified as difficult for new college students in their adjustment to college life. This is especially important for students hoping to enter the health professions because such careers usually require rigorous academic preparation and a steady high level of academic performance."

"The program is being offered for the second consecutive year free of charge, but we do require a serious commitment of time," Caldwell said. "Those enrolled must commit to attending all of the sessions, even those that may be of less interest to them. Some participation of parents, or a parent or guardian, in the Early Outreach Network also is essential."

To be eligible for the program, enrollees must be:

* in or entering their senior year of high school,

* a citizen or permanent resident of the United States,

* planning to enter college the fall following graduation,

* academically qualified, with a minimum grade point average of C and/or a minimum ACT score of 16, and

* planning a career in the health professions, including medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, hospital administration, public health, optometry, podiatry, veterinary medicine or an associated health profession, such as biocommunication arts, medical laboratory sciences, medical social work, medical records administration, nutrition and medical dietetics, occupational therapy or physical therapy.

To apply, or for more information, write to: Kent Pointdexter, Early Outreach, the University of Illinois at Chicago, Room 107 (m/c 969), 1919 W. Taylor St., Chicago, Il 60612; or call him at 996-0983.

Marist Students Set Record

Gavin marches on Capital Hill

Washington, D.C., Thomas (Bud) Gavin, Trustee from the Township of Worth, was among nearly 800 grassroots government officials who participated in a "March" on Capitol Hill to discuss problems, facing towns, townships and small cities.

Trustee, Gavin, met with Congressional Representatives of the 3rd Congressional District, during the National Association of Towns and Townships' annual conference held at the Hyatt Regency Capitol Hill in Washington, D. C.

"We let our congressional representatives know that local government officials and the residents of the Township of Worth has some serious problems with government regulations that are making it more and more difficult for us to operate, and with the lack of financial assistance to help us solve these problems being mandated from Washington: said Trustee, Gavin.

Too many salient topics were discussed the most important one, being the growing concern with all municipalities is the exorbitant and almost

Hartigan files fraud suits

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan announced today that Phillip Forillo has been arrested on charges of ripping off a series of senior citizens in South Suburban Cook County.

Forillo was indicted for aggravated home repair fraud. The indictments come under the 1986 Illinois Criminal Home Repair Fraud Act, which Hartigan wrote and successfully supported before the legislature.

Neil Hartigan

Forillo was charged after an investigation by Hartigan's newly created South Suburban satellite office of consumer fraud which covers Oak Lawn, Orland Park, Thornton and Stickney townships.

According to the indictments, Forillo operated Custom Siding in Lynwood and, dating back to November 1986, had collected more than $4,500 from senior citizens to perform home repair services but had failed to do the work.

In addition to charges filed by Hartigan's office, Forillo has been accused in three other instances of theft by deception in Will County and is scheduled for trial on December 9.

In another suit, Hartigan filed a lawsuit against a Chicago man, William Van Baker Jr., also known as William D. Baker, who held himself out to be a job search consultant but, after taking retainer fees as high as $1200 from clients, failed to provide them with any service whatsoever.

Any citizens who feel they have been defrauded by Baker should contact Hartigan's Consumer Protection Division at (312) 917-3580.

Cardinal Bernardin & Catholic Charities discuss budget

Joseph Cardinal Bernardin, archbishop of Chicago, asked Catholic Charities' Board of Advisors, which is comprised of more than three hundred business, professional and civic leaders, to accept some challenges and tasks at the Chicago Athletic Association. He especially called for their financial support for the basic human services of Catholic Charities which have suffered from shrinking public funds.

Cardinal Bernardin

"Government funding sources have just been terminated for one of the most basic and needed programs which provided casework counseling for our senior citizens," Cardinal Bernardin said. "This means older people who may be confined to their own homes, experiencing depression, anxiety and loneliness will no longer be able to receive sufficient or enabling services to free them from the captivity of their own emotions."

During its 1988 fiscal year, Catholic Charities of Chicago provided services to 559,012 individuals at a cost of $93,790,000.00 Operating expenses exceeded income and contributions by approximately 6 percent. This deficit was covered by using some of the agency's capital funds which mainly are comprised of legacy receipts. The deficit was caused by the unexpected additional operating costs of senior citizens programs and legalization services.

During Catholic Charities' 1988 fiscal year new developments included:

1) In December 1987, Catholic Charities' Continuum of Care Interagency Referral Committee came into full operation, permitting planned and emergency transfers of children within Catholic Charities' Department of Child Protection and Foster Care services and affiliated residential child care institutions.

2) Catholic Charities' consolidated into a single department its intake and referral operations at nine locations to improve coordination and consistency of services.

3) Legalization Outreach Services completed 5,300 applications from immigrants seeking lawful residency status under the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. Although the closing date for this program, with some exceptions, was May 4,1988, Catholic Charities will continue to provide assistance during the other phases of this program.

Automatic withholding law upheld

A ruling by the Illinois Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the state law allowing automatic withholding from the paychecks of parents who become delinquent in making their court-ordered child support payments, according to Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley.

The law, which went into effect in 1984, allows state officials to activate paycheck deductions if the delinquent parent falls at least one month behind on his or her support payments and ignores a "notice of delinquency" warning of the arrearage, said Daley, a major supporter of the law.

"This is an extremely important victory for the many thousands of Illinois families who rely on regular and reliable child support payments for the necessities of life," Daley said.

This week's high court ruling was the second major victory on child support matters achieved by Daley's office this year.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We are in desperate need of your help! Recently, we learned that every 90 seconds one of the young adults of our country attempts suicide, and tragically, one succeeds every hour.

There is an organization called "The National Teenage Suicide-Runaway Prevention Crisis Hotline", they originate from Chicago. Their affiliate Chicago organization is known as Metro Help.

In 1987 it was reported to this crisis prevention center by Illinois Bell that slightly more than 400,000 attempts were made to reach the crisis hotline. The National Metro Hotline was only able to answer approximately 37,000 calls. More than 360,000 young people who attempted to reach out were answered by a busy signal. It is devastating to think that this is only one crisis prevention center. I am sure the tragic similar statistics exist with other crisis prevention hotlines. My friends and I can no longer sit back and watch young people die.

The "SAY YES TALENT SPECTACULAR" will feature area young people and their talents, to be performed on stage, hoping to reach all who attend of making them aware of the crisis that exists.

Our "Talent Spectacular" will take place out-doors on October 21, in Wentworth Park, a division of the Chicago Park District located on Chicago's Southwest side, Midway Airpor area.

We are a group of caring people who want to make a difference Our non-profit event will take place, admission free and through the help of volunteers, our event will be a great success.

Sincerely
Terry Austin SCARED

Dear Editor:

It's about time! I am glad to see that Oak Lawn is finally putting forth a candidate for Congress. Considering our town's size and population, it seems a viable candidate for Congress would be in our midst. I am happy to see Joe McCarthy running; it feels great knowing one of our own residents has all of the qualifications necessary to do the job.

Although the candidate's individual positions on major issues is the most important factor in voting, I think it is great that we in Oak Lawn have a candidate with outstanding qualifications who is also a proven leader and thinks as we do McCarthy is a moral man who is against quotas, for a strong defense and truly reflects the thinking of most middle class Americans.

We can be proud of Oak Lawn and Joe McCarthy.

Sincerely
Eileen J. Michalski

Publisher's Pen

a weekly column

By Annette Dixon

Tuesday is a day when our typesetter is extremely busy doing her work for the weekend newspaper.

Tuesday is also a day in which I decided to become a literary genius and write a column.

Tuesday is the day after blue Monday when all the activity of a week is being concentrated.

Tuesday, October 4th, was a day of activity. As a female owned business, I concentrated on my bidding opportunity with the State of Illinois by reinstating my application for contract bidding.

Tuesday, also was socializing in the political field. Thank God I have help! There were three social events that was covered by the press.

Tuesday, since I was downtown in Chicago, I attended the cocktail reception in honor of Judge Carole Bellows at Ditkas City Lights Thanks to Ed McElroy, I became acquainted with the Judge and enjoyed attending her reception.

Tuesday, John Klein, Sales Manager attended Ed Urban's fundraiser. Urban is a candidate for State Rep. in the 38th District. His fundraiser was held at Silver Lakes Country Club. John and Dave Guido at 7:30 P.M. also attended the grand opening of the Calumet Republican Headquarters, formerly the Lyrie Show in Blue Island.

This publisher traveled back to Burbank and attended a special meeting at 7:30 P.M.

Tuesday, a day of extreme activity! Here's hoping that every day is not like our Tuesdays.

Daley warns company of phone fraud

Consumers throughout the Chicago arca are recciving mailings that solicit customers for a tclephone repair service, but include order forms that appear to be official bills from the phone company, Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley warned.

Daley said the mailings, issued by a company called "Phone First, Inc." are under investigation by his Consumer Fraud Unit after prosecutors received more than 30 inquiries from county residents.

"The potential for confusion is certainly there, when an order form contains language like 'current charges duc' and 'past due from last bill' when there was no last bill," Dalcy said.

"It's important for the public to realize this is simply another piece of solicitation mail, having nothing to do with their present telephone service and containing no obligation on the part of recipients," he explained.

Although the invcstigation is continuing and no charges havc been filed, Daley said hc was issuing the warning in hopes of preventing consumers from being misled into thinking it is a legitimate bill from Illinois Bell.

Officials from Illinois Bell have contacted Daley's office after receiving calls from some of the utility's customers inquiring about the "Phone First" mailings.

The "Phone First" company lists addresses of 324 Financial Pl., Chicago, and a post office box in Louisville, Ky., on its matcrials.

Illinois Bell has no business relationship with "Phone First" and is also investigating the mailings, according to Daley.

Dalcy urged anyone receiving a mailing and in particular any consumer who has sent in money, to contact his Consumer Fraud Unit at 443-4600.

Urban joins citizen's group demonstration

State Representative candidate Ed Urban (D-38) recently joined hundreds of concerned citizens in opposition to construction of a $420 million solid waste incinerator in soutneastern DuPage County. The group launched thousands of balloons in protest of the proposed incinerator which is planned to be located near Argonne Laboratory.

The balloons were used to demonstrate where air currents would spread the fly ash from the incinerator according to Angelique Maalem organizer of the event.

The incinerator plant, which would burn approximately 5 million pounds of garbage per day, was proposed by the DuPage County Board's Solid Waste Committee.

"The Solid Waste Committee has ignored the people of Darien, Willowbrook, Hinsdale, Downers Grove, and Clarendon Hills in planning for this site," Urban said. "One corner of the country should not be used as a testing ground for recently developed incineration technologies. The concentration of waste processing and disposal in other areas of the state has caused serious health problems that continue today."

Urban proposed that the Solid Waste Committee review its proposals and include a program for recycling at least 25% of the solid waste created in DuPage. The candidate agrced incineration would have to remain a part of waste disposal plans, although its effects could be reduced by the construction of smaller incineration plants.

"By recycling we can reduce the amount of garbage to be incinerated by at least one fourth, and possibly as much as one third if there is 100% cooperation by citizens and businesses," Urban said.

"We must develop a state wide plan for dealing with our garbage. Individual towns and counties can not tackle this problem alone. When I am elected the first legislation I will introduce will be to tackle the problem of waste disposal," Urban said.

Hartigan outlines consumer protection for next year

General Neil F. Hartigan recently opened a four-day Consumer Protection Seminar of the National Association of Attorneys General and outlincd thc areas of consumer protection that should bc givcn top priority over the ncxt year.

Hartigan, who is Chairman of the NAAG Consumer Protection Committee, stressed that the legal resources of attorneys general must be focused on areas that affect a broad range of consumers.

"We must concentrate on the kinds of consumer fraud and deceptive business practices that take advantage of consumers from every walk of life, including working people, senior citizens, and students," Hartigan said. "Citizens at every economic level and from every social background nced and deserve the strongest consumer protection the law can provide."

Hartigan targeted four areas for concentrated attention over the next year:

* health-related fraud
* fraudulent automobile sales practices
* developing a model system for state attorneys general to receive consumer complaints, mediate with businesses and companies, and resolve problems
* monitor proposed federal legislation and promoting national policy that will benefit the states in protecting consumers

Hartigan was named Chairman of the NAAG Consumer Protection Committee in June 1988 in recognition of his leadership in consumer protection at both the state and national levels.

Cancer center to open

The new Regional Cancer Center at Little Company of Mary Hospital and Health Care Centers will officially open its doors for business with a community open house from 3-5 p.m. on Sunday, October 16.

Located in the South Pavilion at Little Company of Mary Hospital, 2800 W. 95th St., the Regional Cancer Center required three years and $3 million to complete. It is now the most advanced cancer care center in the southwestern suburbs.

Under the direction of Dr. S. Javed Shirazi and operated by the five-member Board of Certified Radiotherapy Group, this center is a one-stop cancer information, detection, treatment and follow-up care facility.

"This Center represents a big step in cancer treatment in this area. We offer patients access to cancer specialists from different medical fields and the benefit of the latest cancer - fighting technology," said Dr. Shirazi.

The new Clinac-1800 high energy Linear Accelerator is the showpiece of the Center. This versatile machine is capable of producing different types of radiation which enables the treatment of both deep-seated and superficial tumors. Working in tandem with the Clinac-4 Linear Accelerator, this accelerator will permit precise radiation treatment.

Two new pieces of equipment, a simulator and a treatment planning computer, will aid physicians in planning radiation therapy.

In addition, one portion of the Center is dedicated to outpatient medical oncology care.

Center clients will also benefit from complimentary transportation to and from the Center in two vans designated specifically for that purpose. One van was donated by Dr. Shirazi and the other was funded through various donations.

Dr. Shirazi prédicts that between 80 and 100 people will be treated each day at the Center.

The community is invited to tour the facilities from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday, October 16. For additional information on the open house, call the Regional Cancer Center at 312/857/3722.

Over one million students from over 19,000 U.S. secondary schools entered the competition last fall by taking the PSAT/NMSQT in their junior year. Those who qualified as semi-finalists include the highest scorers in every state, and represent the top half of one percent of this year's senior class.

In addition, seven seniors received Letters of Commendation in the National Merit Program. These students placed in the top 50,000 of more than one million participants. The Letter of Commendation recipients are: Miguel Bilak, Justin P. Dohm, Jeffrey Engelmann, Kris Heim, Christopher Kurek, John Martini, and Anthony M. Muscolino.

An officer of the National Merit Corporation, which conducts the prestigious program stated: "The very high test performance of the young men who are honored as Commended Students in the Merit Program is indicative of exceptional scholastic ability." Further, "Being named a Commended Student in this very keen competition is a credit to these young citizens and to their schools, which play an integral role in their development."

Twenty five sets of remains were returned from Vietnam in July. Soon after, Vietnam announced suspension of cooperation on the M.I.A. and other humanitarian issues, "due to the Reagan administration's hostile policy" toward Vietnam.

In June Vietnamese officials toured both the Joint Casualty Resolution Center, and the U.S. Army's Central Identification Lab in Hawaii.

Documents in the hands of Dennis Adamscheck show intelligence cables sent in 1954 indicate the U.S. government officials had reliable reports that the North Koreans were handing over American POW's to the Soviets, who shipped them by train to labor camps. Evidence was also obtained from John Noble, imprisoned in 1945, and released in 1955 from a Siberean labor camp, and Al Dugan, U.S. Embassy employee, declared dead by Soviets in 1948, released from a Moscow prison in 1971. Further research is being done on new documents found in the National Archives, suggesting thousands of Americans P.O.W.'s vanished into the Soviet Union at the close of WWII.

Since General Vessey original trip to Vietnam last August, 77 sets of remains have been returned. 18 have been identified, BUT 59 of those sets of remains are either unidentifiable, or there is evidence they are the remains of those Indiginous to S.E. Asia, Not American Remains.

U.S.G and Laos met in August to continue negotiations on the Laos MIA/POW crisis.

Since 1987, 11 first hand live sighting reports have been received that have yet to be resolved.

Special Guest: Former Air Force Master Sergeant, and head of "America Won't Forget Our POW's", Dennis Adamscheck.

"Phone First" submits to fine

A telephone repair service company accused of designing its order forms to closely resemble Illinois Bell monthly statements agreed Friday to submit to a $5,000 fine. They will provide full refunds to consumers and maintain strict controls over its future methods of attracting customers.

Phone First Inc., signed a consent decree entered before Circuit Court Judge Sophia Hall to settle a lawsuit filed Wednesday by Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley.

Daley's lawsuit came after his Consumer Fraud Unit received over 200 calls questioning the firm's mailings.

Under the terms of the consent decree, Phone First must get prior approval for the next year of any phone or mail solicitations, which will be reviewed by Daley's office to make certain they conform to Illinois' consumer protection statutes.

All of the firm's customer records, including monies received from customers, will also be available for inspection by Daley's staff for the next 12 months.

Also, William Jackson, President agreed to dissolve his companion firm, called "The Phone Company," within 30 days.

Daley's lawsuit contained allegations that telephone solicitors would call potential customers and begin their sales pitch with the phrase, "This is the Phone Company calling."

"Anyone who heard that would assume the call was from Illinois Bell," Daley said "Putting a stop to this aspect of the firm's business practices was one of my top priorities in filing the suit."

And along with full refunds to anyone who registered a complaint with Daley's Consumer Fraud Unit, Phone First will also directly contact consumers to advise them of its services and explain that the company has no affiliation with Illinois Bell.

Southwest Symphony Orchestra celebrates 25th anniversary

Celebrating its 25th Silver Anniversary this season, the Southwest Symphony Orchestra has begun rehearsals for its first "Silverbration" concert scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 29.

The orchestra has been under the direction of its conductor Alfred Aulwurm from its first concert at Evergreen Park Community High School in the fall of 1964.

Formed after the demise of the shortlived Southwest Community Band which had been in existence for about two years prior to it losing its director, the Symphony's organizers quickly established a board of directors and an orchestra of about 70 instrumentalists.

Persons who attended the first April 28, 1964, organizing meeting that resulted in the creation of the Southwest Symphony were Aulwurm, concertmaster Daniel Seyman, Marty Winslow who became the orchestra's publicist, cellist Mary Orr, all then of Oak Lawn; Marvin Nelson of Evergreen Park and Charles Rullman who was connected with Sandburg High School.

The orchestra's first organizing meeting was held in the Oak Lawn home of Ted and Helen Oppenheim both of whom also participated in the group's deliberations.

Others who joined these persons to form the orchestra's first board were: Eugene Maurey and Fred J. Reuter of Palos Park; Julia Lorenz, Louis Olson, Eugene Spizzirri and Thorley VanHolst of Chicago; Mary VanderVennen of Worth; and Raymond Eastman, Mrs. Donald Boyce, Lewis Ahner, Anna Gasteyer, Banks Cheatham, Henry Hiorns and Henry Stanton, all then residents of Oak Lawn.

For 10 years the Southwest Symphony presented its concerts at Evergreen Park High School, but in the fall of 1974 the orchestra moved its performances to Mother McAuley High School where it continues to perform its concerts during its Silver Anniversary season.

The first concert of the orchestra's Silverbration season includes Beethoven's 5th Symphony, Matesky's Paganini Theme Variations, Ippolitov - Ivanov's Caucasian Sketches, Von Flotow's Stradella Overture and Lowe's "My Fair Lady."

Besides the orchestra's second and third concerts this season scheduled for Jan. 21, 1989, and April 15, 1989, respectively, other events being held to observe the orchestra's 25th anniversary are the Orchestra Guild's fund-raising auction and Silverbration Sunday, Oct. 16, and a gala Silverbration recognition dinner set for April 23, 1989, at the Oak Lawn Hilton.

Featuring an auction, entertainment and refreshments, Silverbration Sunday will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. on Oct. 16 at Trinity Lutheran Church at 9701 S. Brandt in Oak Lawn.

Although most of the orchestra's members come from the southwest suburbs and Chicago's southwest side, some come to the orchestra from communities farther away including Lockport, Park Forest, Olympia Fields, Calumet City, Steger and Griffith, Indiana.

Charter members of the orchestra who continue to perform with it are concertmaster Daniel Seyman, violinist Sera Samson , viola player Helen Oppenheim all from Oak Lawn, flautist Janet Puskar of Hickory Hills and trombone player Virginia Wurst of Hometown.

Instrumentalists who have been with the orchestra 20 years or more are Hedie Alt, Frieda Durkin, Ann Killelea, Edward Langer, Suzanne Wales and Marion Reilly.

Veterans in the orchestra for 10 or more years are Marion Nicholson, William Porcelli, Philip Coon, Norma Stuart, and Robert Chasanov.

Other members of the orchestra are: Renette Makowski, Robert Heck, Nancy Griffoen, Robert Sauter, Ken Kazin, Randy Beckendorf, Ann Kestner, David Batastini, Glen Kosche, Julian Krupa, Rudolph Kause, George Kulles, Neil Vanhuizen, Robert Lekberg, Vicki Urban, Glenn Brown, Ann Buettner, Gail Emerick, Julia Szymczyk, Helen Fruh, Lynn Larsen, Ruth Pieper,Tom Hallet, Betty Porter, Laura Kelly, Janet Alberts, Beth Strutzenberg, Robert Guenzler, R.J. "The trip to Washington allowed me to meet with other local officials from towns, townships and small cities to hear about what they are doing to make local government better and more responsive to the needs of residents," said Trustee Gavin.

Grassroots government gets more and more complex. We're confronted with more regulations from Washington every day, regulations that affect every person in Township of Worth.

WATER Facts & Fancies

Making hardened water soft can be accomplished with an ion-exchange water softener. As it enters the house, restaurant, hotel, or other points of use, the hard water is passed through a resin bed. This reduces the magnesium and calcium ions, reports the Water Quality Association. The softened water, with the hardening minerals reduced, is then available for use.

Interestingly, soft water is a good investment. With it, appliances work better and last longer. There are also real savings in soaps and detergents, longer-lasting clothes and linens, added pleasures in soft water baths, showers and shampoos and, most welcome, a lightening of nearly every household task.

Drive underway for O.L. historical Cook School

By Annette Dixon

Cook school, our only historical center for Oak Lawn, has been under discussion recently for demolition.

The Cook School petition drive, was organized by Bill Sullivan, director of the Oak Lawn Historical Society and Oak Lawn Chamber Executive Director.

Petitions of over 300 Oak Lawn residents urged the Village Board to preserve the facility. It has been known by Chamber members and historical buffs that the "Heart of Oak Lawn studies," indicate one or the other, either demolition or condominium structures.

Many factors are indicated by trustees of the village that renovation of Cook School would be both dangerous and costly to the residents of Oak Lawn.

My question to the trustees, "Is there any historical preservation that our village retained during it's growth?" We recently erected a train depot which is not utilized by the residents. We don't even have a marker indicating any historical point of interest prior to WWII. Now we are discussing our last hope of remembrance of history by demolishing a school building which is 83 years old.

We need to develope our knowledge in this village and learn who are the residents, The Board of Trustees (ONLY), or the residents of Oak Lawn and the Board of Trustees.

Russo gives flag

Babe Ahern, owner of the Evergreen Country Club, received the American flag from Congressman Marty Russo (D. 3rd Dist.) as his wife, Karen, looked on.

The flag was recently flown over the capital of the United States and is now flying over the Evergreen Country Club which was built in 1923 and is one of the oldest courses in Cook County.

Hartigan honored

Illinois Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan was recently honored by thousands of friends and one of the many dignitaries on hand was Judge Stuart A. Nudelman of the Circuit Court of Cook County.

Judge Nudelman is a candidate in the upcoming November election.

O.L. negotiates with Westinghouse over refuse

By Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn has to confirm its desire to negotiate with Westinghouse Corporation about refuse incineration, according to Trustee Jay Bergamini, (5th District).

Bergamini said that the Village has been inspecting Westinghouse capacity to eliminate Village garbage.

Westinghouse plans on recycling Village waste and incinerating what isn't recyclable according to Bergamini. Westinghouse will also provide services to safely eliminate the ash left over from the incineration.

Many of the materials in the ash are heavy metals such as mercury, and lead. This will prevent the ash from being placed in conventional landfill, according to Bergamini.

There is action being considered in the House of Representatives to make these metals considered hazardous materials, requiring that they be placed in special landfills, according to Bergamini.

Bergamini said, that the label of hazardous, could multiply disposal cost by as much as five times.

Westinghouse offered to integrate the ash with limestone to form harmless cement for construction. Bergamini said that the cement thus created meets all construction guidelines.

The plan will also provide for at site recycling of usable

McCarthy attends picnic

Joe McCarthy (C), Republican candidate for the Illinois 3rd Congressional district, enjoyed the day at Little Company of Mary Hospital's picnic. Dr. McCarthy said that in his opinion the four key issues to this campaign are no new taxes, the drug problem, education, including tax credits for private schools, and national defense.

Center discusses programs

Members of the professional staff and volunteers of the Crisis Center for South Suburbia are most anxious to discuss the programs of the Center with community schools, clubs, agencies and organizations.

Their topic--domestic violence. It's not a pleasant subject, but one that needs to be addressed. According to the FBI, a woman is beaten every 18 seconds and 41% of all American wives are beaten by their husbands at least once during their married lives. Over 40% of the women murdered in this country are killed by their husbands. Further, children who grow up in violent homes come to believe that violence is normal.

Those are some of the ugly facts about domestic violence. the ray of sunshine is CCSS, a not-for-profit agency. CCSS is able to provide shelter for some of the unfortunate victims and, in many cases, help them regain their self-esteem and rebuild their lives.

CCSS, begun by a volunteer in her kitchen, is still largely volunteer based. Volunteers are trained to provide hotline crisis intervention and as legal advocates. They perform general office work and assist the women and children living at the shelter.

Currently, CCSS is embarking upon a campaign to raise funds for a new larger shelter. "The Next Step", a dinner dance, Friday, December 2 at Georgio D'La Parco, 8800 West 159th Street, is part of this campaign.

Gavel changes hands

Richard E. Johnson was installed as president of the Chicago Chapter 2 of the Independent Accountants Assoc. of Illinois at their recent meeting at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Rosemont.

Judge Martin E. McDonough of the Circuit Court of Cook County presented the president's gavel to Johnson.

materials as opposed to a curbside recycling such as the Village now participates in.

The letter states that the Village will actually negotiate an agreement with Westinghouse by March 31st, according to Bergamini.

Mayor Ernest Kolb said that the letter is only an agreement to negotiate, not an actual contract. "This is not cut in stone."

In other businces, the Village officially lifted the lawn sprinkling restrictions, in place since early summer.

The Village awarded a 4 am liquor license to B. S. Moran in a narrow 4-3 vote.

The proprietors of the bar have agreed to enroll in a responsible serving course the Village organize according to Trustee Ron Stanick, (2 District).

Belated Birthday Greeting to Evelyn Baader, John Dillon, Oct. 10, and Homer Paige, Oct. 15, and David McElroy, Oct 17. Happy Birthday to Michelle Dixon and Matt Gilbert, Oct 27 and Mary Rosenbaum, Oct. 31.

Recently I was honored by being invited to a press conference and a debate. At the debate, Congressman Russo Member of House Ways and Means Committee, stated Reagan's deficit put us 1.2 trillion dollars more in debt. "Do we want to continue putting this country more and more in debt. We should seriously look into our defense spending, especially SDI, but lets strengthen our country through increase spending for veterans, seniors, education, small business, our environment plus funding for RTA programs. We can do this by a fair share of taxes from all corporation."

Joe McCarthy during the press conference stated he opposed military cuts for social aspects. "Mainstream should not be from Washington, D. C. to our kitchen table." We see a (suffocation) of welfare people who find it not profitable to move out of it. We're never going to get rid of poverty. The welfare state is for people who will never get out of it," said McCarthy.

Both candidates agreed Star Wars is too expensive!

(Editors Note) I found this debate interesting because neither candidate could address issues concerning the 3rd district. Unemployment is rampant among caucasian men 50 years and older. The statistics do not indicate accurate figures since many individuals are off of the Unemployment Compensation rolls. We have lost our manufacturing jobs, transportations jobs, steel mills, and unable to rebuild our lost numbers. Because of our two family incomes, men have survived, but ask them or yourself, "Are you making less not then 5 years ago?" We are!

Congratulations to Mayor Anthony Vacco on the surprise anniversary dinner on Oct. 13, which honored the mayor for 20 years of service as Mayor of Evergreen Park.

Opening night for the Follies at Candlelight Theatre for the press and friends was a delight. Follies, a very serious well produced musical, drama, is a workmanship of William Pullinsi and Anthony D'Angelo. The fusion of young and old, beauty and plain, happiness and sadness, became confusing at times because of timing problems within production. My only concern is what the effect is on a aged actress?

A woman you should know

A sequel of the series featuring women.

By: Annette Dixon

This series of women range from a golf course owner, swim coach, V.P. of Marketing, teacher. We salute all teachers who are dedicated to the everyday job of teaching our fine young men and women, especially in the inner city of Chicago.

What does an only child do or think? When Jane Skelly Ferrill grew up, she had the experience of living in Beverly Hills and attending private school at The Academy of Our Lady.

Roller skating, at the Swank Roller Rink on Saturday afternoon, bicycle riding, swimming at Memorial Pool, and walking to Blue Island were just a few adventures Jane had as a child.

"Were your days lonely as an only child?' "No," said Jane, "I enjoyed my father and mother and learned a lot from them. They gave me the drive and courage to explore on my own." "I made doll clothes as a child, read Nancy Drew Mysteries and also wandered to other communities by walking to the places I wanted to visit. Growing up was fun for me."

"After graduating from College, I was 8 1/2 months pregnant with our 2nd child, so as you can see I continued teaching while raising a family. I have taught in Chicago schools for 27 years."

This impressionable lady is remarkable in many ways. I have become acquainted with Jane Ferrill, Blue Island resident only because she housed Irish Exchange students from the YMCA recently.

Blue Island and its historical surrounding prepared me for a visit. at Jane's home.

When entering an enormous white oak porch, and observing a igantic 100 year old Victorian home, you can't help but wonder who resides here. After greeting 25 or more guests in the yard and 25 more on the porch, I entered the home Above the door is a glass stained window. There are stained windows in the front room and on the east wall of the front room, a fan design. The floor to ceiling windows clearly accent the room. It is no wonder that it takes a huge sum of money to restore a home like this

Our Popularity Increased By Degrees This Summer.

The hotter it got, the more you called on us for the electricity you needed to keep cool. In fact, on August 17th, you asked us for more power than ever before. A whopping 17,459,000 kilowatts.

It was just one of seven all-time records you set this summer. We're pleased we were able to meet every one of them. And, rest assured, we plan to keep meeting them in the years ahead.

After all, we don't ever take our popularity for granted.

NEWSIGHTING Copr. 1988 by Alyn Richard

"IT STINKS"...that's a direct quote from Michael Mullane, a 20 year Boston firefighter and district vice president of the International Association of Firefighters. He was responding to the smoking ban barring new police and firefighters from smoking ON OR OFF THE JOB, and this ban is strongly supported by Gov. Dukakis. My observation: what's next for Dukakis? This unprecedented law has obliterated the privacy of the home, and our very freedoms are in question...if elected president, who can believe that he won't force the same loss of freedoms on the rest of the nation. He certainly would be in a position to do it! The "reason" given for the ban - "to lower disability pension benefits paid by municipalities to public safety employees." With the "Brookline Syndrome" already in place in his policital background, the invasion of the private sector will not be far behind. When someone or something threatens the very Constitution our country was founded on, I feel bound to question it.

THE LAST TEMPTATION OF CHRIST...I'm glad I saw it..was not impressed by it..was not threatened by it..and feel only those that have seen it could understand all the controversy...To reduce it all to a single conclusion - if my faith and belief in God was like a house of cards in a windstorm, I would be afraid of the windstorm, and I probably would never realize I needed to strengthen my house...and instead, I would probably be pointing to the approaching windstorm, which may or may not hit!

SUPERCONDUCTOR...I've been saying TEXAS, and I continue to say TEXAS. I'm also continuing to wonder if it will ever actually be built. I am so grateful the people in the Fox Valley that will lose their homes and businesses still have the freedom to object. My heart goes out to them.

Hartigan warns about chairlifts

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan warned consumers that the full cost of purchasing a chair lift device may not be paid by Medicare. These warnings come after Hartigan's office has received inquiries from consumers who have been solicited by companies marketing these devices. Seat lift chairs operate by electric motor and help bring the user to a standing position.

Officials of the United States Department of Health and Human Services, Health Care Financing Administration, indicate that Medicare claims for seat lift chairs must be supported by an attending physician's certification. The certification must state that a medical condition exists which results in significant functional loss, that the seat lift is prescribed for treatment, that it has therapeutic value and the patient would be confined to a chair without a seat lift.

Even if a consumer's claim is approved, only a reasonable charge is allowed by Medicare. Since a wide range of prices exists in the seat lift chair market, a consumer may be responsible for any difference between the amount covered by Medicare and the chair's price.

The Attorney General has learned that many seat lift chairs are delivered prior to a determination of benefits from Medicare. Illinois consumers are cautioned that if their claims for reimbursement are denied by Medicare, they may face liability for the full cost of the seat lift chair.

The Attorney General is currently conducting an investigation into the sale of seat lift chairs in Illinois through his Division on Senior Citizens Advocacy. Consumers needing additional information or wanting to file a consumer complaint should either call 1-800-252-2518 (Springfield) or 1-800-243-5377 (Chicago).

Spending bills signed

When the President signed the last of thirteen appropriations bills into law on October 1st, it marked the first time in forty years that all major spending measures for the nation had been enacted by the beginning of the new fiscal year, and twelve years since the Congress had gotten the legislation ready for the President by the October 1st deadline.

Congressman Marty Russo (3rd-Illinois), in his fourteenth year in Congress, said that the difference this year was the budget process working smoothly, disciplined work in the Congress to meet the October 1st deadline and full cooperation from the Executive branch.

"I want to give credit where credit is due," Russo commented. "If the Administration had not worked with the Congress on this, we once again would have entered a new fiscal year on 'continuing resolutions', with the final tough spending decisions and specific dollar amounts not pinned down.

"Instead, the Administration people last fall sat down with Congressional people involved and reached some agreement on where we were going with the allocation of funds. I applaud the Congress and the Administration--the Congress for the discipline it brought to the process this year and the President for his full cooperation."

The appropriation bills are developed by the Appropriations Committee based on the guidelines determined by the Budget Committee and the reports from individual committees as to what their programs require.

Russo, a member of the House Budget Committee, commented, "In the early 1970's, much of the power of the purse lay with the Executive. The President presented the Congress with a budget. Authorizations, appropriations and revenue bills were piecemeal and taken up at random. Actions were often not completed until well into the fiscal year for which they were intended. We had to change the process."

Jane Ferrill

one. This home is one of Blue Island's historical homes and has been on the house walk twice. There is Red Oak and White Oak interior and exterior. With 8 rooms including 5 bedrooms and 2 baths, a living room, dining room, butler's pantry and a full basement and attic, it is no wonder Jane enjoys restoring and looking for antiques to furnish this home.

Jane enjoys her huge home with her mother, Helen Skelly and Nicole. Jane has three children, Julie Ferrill McGarry; Jim Ferrill; and Nicole. Both Julie and Jim are married and only Nicole lives at home. "I take in foster children for the SYMCA Crisis Intervention Program. The girls stay with us from one to twenty one days until they are reunited with their families or until they go to court."

Jane stated, "When the children were young, I always had neighbors children at the house. At that time we lived in Calumet Park. Children were around me, during the working hours at school, I love teaching teenagers."

"At Morgan Park High School, I taught Clothing Construction and was department chairperson for 15 years. The most interesting classes was when I taught the deaf, clothing design." Jane made all her own clothes, furnished the drapery for the house, plus made the chaise pads.

It all started when she was an adventurous little girl making doll clothes. She funded herself by sewing for 200 customers and doing their alterations; and she also worked for a dress shop, making dresses.

Jane's mother, Helen Skelly, started the business for Jane by making flyers and marching the kids up and down the street delivering flyers, promoting Jane Ferrill's Alteration and Wedding Dress business.

Jane not only designed wedding dresses, but made the bridesmaids dresses and accessories. She sewed for children and also made Barbie clothes.

We started the article about Jane's adventures as a child, but now she continues her adventures by stating that relaxation for her is getting on her 750 Honda and traveling to her favorite place which is Turkey Run, Indiana. Jane travels alone on her bike and camps for days in Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota or where ever the winds blows. She loves traveling on a Windjammer. Jane took several trips, 1986, 1987, and 1988, all on the Windjammer.

At the present time, Jane Ferrill is teaching at Wendall Phillips, a Home Economic Skills class. "How fortunate the students are in our suburbs, parents participate. Recently, over 1600 students were given a flyer to take home for parents day. Only 300 of them took it home. There were 250 personal letters also sent directly to each family to announce the meeting, and only 6 parents attended."

"If I have to leave you with one thing I want you to know," said Jane, "That I thank Nicole for introducing me to the new me, and to my ex-husband for his emotional support."

Editors observation is that Jane isn't through with her adventures. She someday would like to parachute out of a plane and eventually hang glide. "What a Gal!"

Russo receives medal for being a "Clean Air Champion"

Congressman Marty Russo (D. 3rd Dist.) was recently awarded a medal for leadership in the fight for clean air. Tania Banak, official of the Sierra Club of Illinois, made the presentation.

Congressman Russo was chosen as one of the "Clean Air Champions". This marked the achievement of Congressman Russo committing himself on Clean Air legislation.

Congressman Russo, a 7th term member, stated, "This issue goes beyond politics and provincialism. It's for our lives and for our children's lives. A majority of us have now written the Chairman of the Energy and Commerce Committee to urge a comprehensive evaluation and reauthorization of the Clean Air Act because the sad fact is that clean-air plans, including Illinois', are still not meeting air-quality standards, and other environmental problems must be addressed--acid rain, airborn toxins, ozone depletion and global warming. I'm pleased to receive the award. I'll be even more pleased to see environmental problems moving closer to the top of the congressional action list."

Don't Let the Market Make Your Business Decisions

Outsiders often view the stock market as an unpredictable beast, lavishing investors with wealth one moment and snatching it away the next.

Warren Buffett, perhaps America's most astute investor, offers a simple explanation of how the stock market works. This explanation appeared in the Berkshire Hathaway 1987 Annual Report to its stockholders.

According to Buffett, he buys common stock for Berkshire's insurance companies, "as if I were buying into a private business." He looks at the company's management, future prospects and the price of the stock. Buffett acts as a business analyst not a market analyst. "Eventually, our economic fate will be determined by the economic fate of the business we own."

Buffett follows the philosophy of Benjamin Graham, another reputable investor. He looks at stock market quotations as coming from a partner in business, a partner he calls Mr. Market. Each day Mr. Market offers to either buy your interest or sell you his for a given price.

Unfortunately, Mr. Market has severe emotional problems. One day he is euphoric and sees nothing but prosperity. That day he may even set a very high buy/sell price. Other times he's depressed, seeing only trouble ahead, so he offers a low price for fear you'll unload all your holdings on him.

One thing is certain, if you don't like Mr. Market's offer, he will be back. This means you can decide when to buy from or sell to Mr. Market.

The important thing to understand, Buffett cautions, is that "Mr. Market is there to serve you, not to guide you."

A simple explanation like this often eludes us when the media are reporting frightening stories about program trading, hedging, world influence and more. Yet all of these outside influences do not alter the fact that the stock market is simply a place to buy or sell shares of American business. Its purpose is to provide a central location where buyers and sellers come together to consummate their transactions.

The stock market is there to serve you. If you ignore the underlying value of the companies you own, you'll become a victim of Mr. Market's euphoria or depression. As a result, you could make disastrous investment errors.

Consider the 24 Karat Major Medical Plan from Time Insurance. Time's plan outshines the competition because more value has been built into every benefit you receive. Values like:

- Freedom to choose your doctor and hospital
- 15% non-smoker's discount
- Prescription drugs, ambulance, and x-ray coverage
- 100% coverage for pre-admission testing, second surgical opinions, home health care and more.

Group Insurance Available

In addition, because the 24 Karat is a hospital pre-certification plan, it uses a system of managed health care to ensure that every hospital treatment and service you receive is medically appropriate for you. For more information contact:

Oak Lawn Fire Department safety tips

Yes, it's that time of the year when children go trick or treating. Halloween is or should be fun time for children. It is the responsibility of the parents to provide young children with solid information to allow for a fun and safe Halloween night.

We believe this goal can be achieved through a team effort for all concerned by carefully following the Halloween safety tips provided by the Oak Lawn Fire Department to help protect your children.

1. When selecting costumes, look for "flame-retardant" labels.
2. Masks and other disguises should not restrict vision or breathing.
3. Children should wear bright colored costumes to make them visible at night.
4. Children should not eat any of the treats they collect until they have been carefully examined by an adult.
5. Young children should be accompanied by an adult.
6. Under no circumstances should children talk to strangers.
7. Young children should visit only people they know.
8. Advise children not to enter dark or abandoned buildings, or a stranger's house.
9. "Trick or treating" should be restricted to well-lit areas only.
10. Notify the police if there are any signs of tampering with treats.
11. Organized neighborhood parties are suggested instead of trick-or-treating in the evening or in case of inclement weather.

Napleton Dealership clears hurdle

By Brian Begy

The Village of Oak Lawn approved a parking variation for the proposed Ed Napleton car dealership, clearing one more hurdle for the dealership.

The dealership will be situated at 4101 W. 95th Street, in the existing Venture parking lot. The approval gave a 9.2% parking variation to Napleton.

The entire Napleton project has been opposed by area residents. They say that the new dealership will further disrupt their neighborhoods.

Residents complained that the Venture store is damaging their neighborhoods. Robert Gallagher who lives across the street, says that the Venture building is unsightly. He said that Venture uses a section of their lot to store truckloads of inventory that cannot fit in the store.

Gallagher also said that Venture uses the Keeler Avenue exit/entrance to move trucks on to Keeler Avenue. He said that their trucks have broken up curbs in his neighborhood.

Gallagher said that the Venture lot is unsightly and not well kept. "We have an ugly looking mess across the street." he said.

Another resident, Mike Sullivan, said that there would not be enough parking at the dealership. He said that because used car storage is counted as parking for legal purposes, there would not be enough parking. Sullivan said that some Venture patrons may not return as a result of poor parking.

Sullivan requested that a ban on loudspeakers, and lights be added to the parking approval.

Attorney for Napleton, David Sosin, said that Napleton had no plans to install loudspeakers. He cited testimony at a public hearing by architect Russell Lissuzzo who said that the lights would not be irritating or obtrusive.

Trustee Ed Barron (4th District) said that Napleton is "A good faith businessman." He saw no reason to expect problems in the future.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As we rapidly approach the November 8 General Election with media attention focused on the Presidential and a few local races, I would like to remind voters that they also will have the opportunity to vote on the retention of three Appellate Court and 44 Circuit Court judges These judges will be listed on the green judicial retention ballot, which is non-partisan and requires a yes or no vote for each of the judges seeking retention.

It is unfortunate that because of Greylord, public attention has been concentrated on the corrupt acts of a minority of our judiciary, while the accomplishments of the majority of our jurists have been ignored or even unfairly tainted as the result of guilt by association.

The United States Attorney's office has conducted the most thorough investigation of the Cook County Court system ever undertaken in any judicial system. As a result, I believe it is safe to say that those judges unscathed by this investigation can be considered men and women of integrity and honesty.

As one who associates with them daily, I know that they are hard working, conscientious persons who believe deeply in a fair and impartial judicial system, and who have proven themselves as competent and judicious.

Forty seven of these jurists, must now face the judgement of their fellow citizens--the voters of Cook County. I urge these voters to also be fair and impartial in their appraisal of these jurists, and to vote "yes" to retain them. And, yes, I'm one of those seeking your support.

Sincerely,
Paul F. Elward

McCarthy holds contest

Joe McCarthy, Republican candidate for the Illinois third Congressional district, recently announced a "NO NEW TAXES" contest. McCarthy said the purpose of the contest is to focus the Congressional race on one of the major differences between McCarthy and his opponent.

McCarthy has signed a pledge promising to hold the line on taxes. "There is no issue," said McCarthy, "That is more critical for the economic survival of the hard working families that make up the Illinois 3rd Congressional district.

The contest is open only to registered voters of the Illinois 3rd Congressional district.

McCarthy also announced a telephone campaign. Any registered voter of the 3rd district who answers their telephone "McCarthy for Congress" when an authorized McCarthy volunteer calls, will win $25 instantly and will have their name placed in the contest for grand prizes.

The grand prize drawing will take place at McCarthy's victory celebration party on November 8.

a weekly column

By Annette Dixon

In recent months I have not mentioned our POW's, therefore I will use this column to address this issue.

Dennis Adamscheck, founder of American Won't Forget Our POW's, recently spoke at a Task Force Omega meeting in Bridgeview. Dennis' speech was somewhat different from what I have heard in the past, because he is sure there are POW's from all wars in Soviet Union, China, Viet Nam, and Cambodia. Now he also states there are many people living in countries in which they have fought. The difference is that they are not living there against their will. "We would also like to hear from them on a one to one basis," says Dennis.

Dennis, a retired sergeant from the armed forces stated that, "He wrote a letter to our government asking for the return of all prisoners, from all wars, the men you left behind. I am not only prepared to rescue Viet Nam POWs, I committed myself and others to return WWII and Korean men and women."

"We have documented information from 1945 to 1978 that the Soviets held prisoners of war. In 1965, George Rezzio, a Romanian, escaped after 30 years in captivity. He walked over 3500 miles and stated that 900 Americans were alive in the camp in which he escaped.""In 1978 Congressman Larry McDonald entered evidence in a Congressional record that men from Korea and WWII were held in captivity in specific labor camps in the Soviet Union. The same Congressman Larry McDonald was on the Korean Airliner which was shot down on September 1, 1983 by the Soviets."

"After WWII there were 29,000 men and women held captive in the Soviet camps. After the Korean War, 3000 to 8000 were reported to be held captive in China and the Soviet Union. After the Viet Nam War, 2400 on the unclassified lists indicated captivity; now the list is classified information."

Dennis admitted that much of his research came from our own government files, all documented proof. He said, "The League of Families" have fought for the POW's in Viet Nam, and also after the Korean War. The group then was called "The Fighting Folk of the Fighting Men. They lost control, they hadn't gotten one prisoner out of Viet Nam."

"We should campaign to Gorbachev and ask for our people back! "The Soviets #1 in holding prisoners, let's bring them back." "Government can get CIA agents out of captivity, but yet they cannot get the enlisted men or officers out of camps," said Dennis.

"We keep harping on bringing back the MIA's. All we keep getting are caskets filled with dust or a few bones. A tooth or 7 bones cannot be a means of identification. Let's start concentrating on our efforts in bringing men and women in captivity home."

Dennis Adamscheck from Cloquet, Minnesota heard all the way in the North Woods about Task Force Omega, now we have heard from America Won't forget our POW's. Dennis said, "If there is only one POW left in captivity, should we forget him or her?"

Contact Dennis Adamscheck 1887 Demenge Road, Cloquet, MN 55720, he would enjoy hearing from you.

Answer All Question Through the Power of God

Gainer accuses Daley of "playing a tragic role" in the drug problem

Terry Gainer accused State's Attorney Richie Daley of "playing a tragic role" in contributing to the skyrocketing drug problem which has reached "crisis proportions" here in Cook County.

Gainer, the Republican candidate for Cook County State's Attorney, accused Daley of failing to press meaningful prosecutions against drug dealers and other repeat drug offenders, by plea-bargaining scores of drug cases into work release weekends in jail, and by totally dropping charges against hundreds of others.

Gainer explained that published reports indicate as many as 50 percent of the charges against drug offenders are dropped by Daley. Gainer's own review of official records for the month of May reveals that Daley let one of every four drug offenders go absolutely free.

Of those who are prosecuted, a shocking number are plea bargained into work release.

Gainer pointed out that major drug offenders account for nearly 17 percent of the prisoners assigned to work release. Of the 900 work release cases assigned to the Cook County Jail this year, 150 are drug related.

Daley made the following statement during a recent news interview:

"You wonder why we have so much violence? I think it's all drug related. I think it comes back to drugs. Because if our increase in crime is drug related, the violence is drug related. We have to understand that when someone is taking drugs for six months, a year, or two years, they really don't care if they're going to hurt you. They don't care if they're going to take a gun and shoot you. They don't care what they're going to do to the victim."

Gainer pointed out that Daley is "clearly and knowingly" permitting these dangerous criminals "to walk among us five nights a week" while they are plea bargained into easy weekends in jail.

"That's some victim protection!" Gainer said.

During the same recent news interview, Daley also defined work release sentences as being "for people who commit misdemeanor offenses, disorderly conduct, simple battery".

Gainer read from documented criminal case reports that showed one case after another of Daley having plea bargained repeat drug offenders and criminals charged with manufacturing and distributing drugs on the streets of Cook County. All of the cases involved felonies, and by Daley's own definition, didn't belong in the work release programs into which Daley had plea bargained them.

Gainer leveled his charges at a news conference in front of Chicago Police Headquarters. The 20-year law enforcement veteran explained that police officers were sacrificing their lives every day in the war on drugs...and that Daley rarely wasted an opportunity to "elbow his way onto stage" to share in the spotlight of the investigative and arrest results of federal, state and local law enforcement officers.

"We can be proud of their work," Gainer said. "They are bringing in good arrests.

"But Daley's actions are something else again.

"Richie Daley is playing a tragic role in the war on drugs by plea bargaining drug pushers and repeat drug offenders into weekends in jail."

"That's some message! That's some prosecutor!," Gainer said.

Gainer said there is no way he would permit convicted drug felons to be bargained into work release when he is elected Cook County State's Attorney.

"They must be punished. But more important, they must be kept as far away from our children as possible--and not just on Saturday nights," Gainer concluded.

Halloween Tips

Halloween is fast approaching and children are preparing costumes for the ghostly event. To make sure the holiday is fun for everyone, the Cook County Department of Public Health suggests ten safety tips:

1. Choose costumes with flame-retardant labels.
2. Brightly colored masks should be chosen for easy visibility at night.
3. Masks should not restrict breathing or vision. Better yet, use facial make-up.
4. Hemlines on costumes should be short to avoid tripping.
5. Parents should give children flashlights, not candles or other open flames.
6. Younger children should be accompanied by an adult or responsible older children. In fact, no one should "trick or treat" alone.
7. Know who your child will be with and where they will be "trick or treating."
8. Instruct children only to "trick or treat" at houses where lights are turned on. Tell them not to go inside any house or apartment.

Ingenious Inventions

The ancient Greeks invented a fast way to send messages from city to city about 500 B.C. The system was based on a series of walls close enough together so that each could be seen from the one next to it. Indentations along the top of each wall represented letters of the alphabet. To send a message, a person lit fires in the appropriate places on the wall. A watcher on the next wall saw the fires and relayed the message.

American Legion Post

#824 gets new name

By Michelle Dixon

There is a new community service organization in Bridgeview called, "The Community Legion of America." Make no mistake, it has no affiliation with the United States American Legion.

This group of people were in the Kenneth E. Perry Post No.824 of the American Legion, that met in Bridgeview at the Oremus Center They were a 4th District Post that was meeting in the 5th District, which was apparently a major discrepancy. In an October 14, 1986 article in the Daily Southtown Economist, George Bovcek, American Legion department judge advocate for the state, "told the Bridgeview Village Board that the Bridgeview Post 'appears to be violating national and state (American Legion) constitutions' and 'proceedings may arise to revoke the charter of the Perry Post.' "

In an August 4, 1988 letter from Herman M. Wurster, the chairman of the Sub Committee of the Department Executive Committee of the American Legion states that the "Kenneth E. Perry Post No.824 selling poppies in the Fifth District on May 27, 1988,..is in violation of the agreement that was reached on September 1, 1987 between the Sub Committee of the Department Executive Committee and the Kenneth E. Perry Post No.824." So in September 1988 their American Legion charter was revoked.

The new Kenneth E. Perry Post No. 1, of the Community Legion of America wants to carry on their traditions without being affiliated with the United States American Legion. Their primary objective is charity and service, and veterans, non-veterans, men, and women are invited to be members.

Again it should be stated that the Community Legion of America is in no way affiliated with the United States American Legion.

Supreme Court Judges make decision

One of the newest rights of crime victims--that of allowing state prosecutors to get a substitution of judges in criminal cases--was upheld last week by the Illinois Supreme Court, according to Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley.

Nine million tons of salt are applied to American highways each year for road de-icing.

Enacted last year, the law gives prosecutors the same ability long enjoyed by defense attorneys to automatically switch judges on grounds that the original judge is prejudiced against the state.

Daley, who fought for years to get the law and successfully defended its constitutionality, called the ruling a significant victory for crime victims.

"This is part of our ongoing struggle to give crime victims the same rights in the court system as those of their attackers," Daley explained.

Under the substitution of judges law, prosecutors must exercise their right within 10 days of the case being assigned.

The old law allowed prosecutors the ability to ask for a change in judges, but the right was not automatic as is now the case.

Marlboro presents their country music tour

By Annette Dixon

Donation of $1.00 from every ticket sold, fed the hungry. Second Harvest and Greater Chicago Food Depository were benefactors of Marlboro's Country Music Tour.

The winners of the talent roundup were the Thunder Riders, a five piece band plus a female vocalist. They were on tour at the Rosemont Horizon with Alabama, George Strait and Merle Haggard.

Spectacular staging was the increment which sets part the giants in the business. New computerized lighting, three suspended video sereens, and a rear-projection backdrop and a clear audio system made the magical experience happen.

Entertainers were delighting the audience by singing a few favorites. The young adults showed their approval by lighting matches. The most lights seen was during George Strait's performance. Alabama, scored a close second to the younger vocalist This new country star was a polished performer, with his good looks, college edueation, determination and hero worship of Hank Williams Sr.

Merle Haggard showed his exhaustion, for this was the end of the two month tour.

Alabama was the greatest, as ever. I have always favored Alabama as the only country rock group, not only because I lived in Alabama, but because their sound is sineere and crisp and listenable.

Being at the eoncert Oct. 23, and knowing dollars were going to the depository at 4529 South Tripp in Chicago, made me feel more a part of the Marlboro Country Tour.

Topinka and Daley were both panelists at the gathering, designed to exchange ideas on problems of particular interest to women in the community.
